STOKES' BIG OVATION

The Republican Gubernatorial Candidate Makes a Speech.

REFORM HALL CROWDED

U. S. Consul Griffin Lauds the Administration—F. R. Boocock Speaks.

Before an audience that completely filled Reform Hall, the principles of the Republican party in both National and State affairs, were presented last night. There was much enthusiasm displayed over the remarks of Rev. W. T. Griffin, chairman of the meeting; Frederick R. Boocock, of New York, and Gubernatorial Candidate E. C. Stokes, who arrived at a late hour from Elizabeth, where he addressed a mass meeting early in the evening. The meeting was enlivened with music by the Independent Fife and Drum Corps.

Mayor O. L. Jenkins called the meeting to order and Mr. Griffin was made chairman. Having lately returned from his post at Limoges, France, where he has been consul for eighteen years, he was thoroughly prepared to tell of the foreign interest in the coming election and to tell of the advantages of the Republican policy of protection to American industry. He referred to the fact that Limoges china can be purchased at a lower figure in New York than in Limoges.

Mr. Griffin then gave several reasons why he intends to vote for Roosevelt for President, namely, that he stands on principle and ready to meet every exengency, because he stands for progress and is a twentieth century man, because he is a true constitutionalist, every man, white, black, red or yellow, living north, south, east or west has the same constitutional rights and lastly because he represents the true spirit of live Americanism and wants to see the American flag fly in every port open to commerce. Mr. Griffin said that he had seen the American flag insulted, but it is different today. The flag is now respected in all parts of the world. The speaker also spoke of President Roosevelt as a man of destiny and referred to the great work of Secretary of State John Hay.

Frederick R. Boocock, of New York, was then introduced and he spoke for over an hour. He started in by saying that he believed that Roosevelt and Stokes would receive 80,000 plurality in this State and that by earnest effort it would reach 50,000. He referred to the destructive policy of the Democrats and the constructive one of the Republicans, and said that the prosperous condition of the saving's banks, the laboring man's institution, showed that the masses are satisfied with the fixed policy of the Republican party which is so essential to success. He spoke of the marvelous strides in foreign commerce all due to the protective tariff which he characterized as the safety valve of the country's industrial plant.

Speaking on State issues Mr. Boocock paid a glowing compliment to Edward C. Stokes, referring to his ability and the fact that he is well-versed in State affairs and can be entrusted with the State's interests.

At this time Mr. Stokes arrived from Elizabeth and was given a rousing welcome, while the fife and drum corps played "Hail, to the Chief."

Mr. Stokes began speaking at once by saying that he had no apologies to make for the Republican party and no doctor's certificate as to its sanity was needed. He then said that Cleveland, the only Democratic President in forty years, is to speak in New Jersey this week for Parker, and of Cleveland, Champ Clark says that his election was the greatest calamity since the fall of Adam. He then pictured August Belmont, who loves trusts, walking arm in arm with Pitchfork Tillman, who hates trusts, and Bryan, who referred to Parker as the Moses of his party, but added that Moses never reached the Promised Land.

Mr. Stokes then dwelt briefly on the fact that four years ago the Democrats were fighting for free silver and against militarism and expansion, but they are now very quiet on these subjects.

Referring to the power of this country, Mr. Stokes said that Venezuela was told to pay up and she did, the German war ships were told to go home and await the action of the Hague Tribunal and they did, Russia was told to respect the neutrality laws as regards China, and this was done. He then spoke of the hard times during the Cleveland administration when everything was so cheap, and mentioned an incident of a man who

SHOT TO SCARE FATAL

Boy Reveler Killed and Man Who Fired Prostrated.

ACCIDENT AT WESTFIELD

Sad End to Hallowe'en Celebration—Mr. Wilcox is in Jail.

Shooting to scare away Hallowe'en merrymakers last night, Harold M. Wilcox, a prominent citizen of Westfield, and an officer of the Aeolian Organ Company that manufactures musical instruments, shot and killed John Darling, fourteen years old, of that place. In their celebration a party of merrymakers made free with Mr. Wilcox's home at Park and Westfield avenues.

When Mr. Wilcox emerged from his home carrying a revolver they ran down the street. Mr. Wilcox saw them running and fired in the opposite direction. The party was composed of young men and women, and when they fled a crowd of boys and girls, from ten to fifteen years old, ran in the opposite direction.

Mr. Wilcox did not see this group, and the shot went among them, hitting the Darling boy. He must have had his mouth open, as the bullet apparently passed between his lips and entered the roof of his mouth, taking an upward course into the brain. When the bullet hit him the boy ran forward about fifty feet and then began to stagger. He then turned and ran across the street to the far sidewalk and then, again turning, he staggered diagonally back across the street into the group of children, almost to the spot where he was hit, and then fell dead.

He was carried to Mr. Wilcox's home, and Mr. Wilcox telephoned for Dr. Sinclair, but his services were useless. Mr. Wilcox then notified the police of what had occurred and also the County Physician, F. W. Westcott.

Mr. Wilcox is in the custody of the police and is held awaiting the action of the County Physician. He is forty years old, and has children about the age of those who participated in the affair. He is practically prostrated. Mr. Wilcox is a member of the Westfield and Westfield Golf Clubs. Young Darling's father, who is a cotton broker, with offices in New York, sailed for Atrica on a business trip last Friday.

TWO YOUNG MEN ENGAGE IN FIST FIGHT

CLIFFORD SCHORB SOUGHT SATISFACTION FOR MALICIOUS STORIES.

While friends on both sides sought in vain to stop the pugilistic display, Charles Woolston, of Fairview avenue, and Clifford Schorb, of West Second street, pounded each other on North avenue late last night, because of the latter's determination to gain satisfaction for alleged malicious stories circulated about himself and family. The mix-up lasted for several minutes and ended only when Schorb fell and Woolston hurried away.

Schorb walked hurriedly up the avenue at 10 o'clock and to friends who hailed him, he extended an invitation to "come along and see something." Stopping in front of Woolston's place of business he called him outside and with only a few introductory words, started hostilities. Taken at a disadvantage Woolston was struck several times before he could defend himself and after that he retaliated vigorously. Both young men showed the effects of the blows when the excitement was over.

Woolston denied starting the stories which had incurred Schorb's anger.

Boys seeking Hallowe'en excitement set fire to a pile of old shingles in a vacant lot adjoining C. M. Burt's residence on Washington avenue, last evening. They had been taken from the roof of the Burt home and being very dry made a huge blaze. The reflection was seen from fire headquarters by Chief Woolston and he ordered the department out. While there was no immediate danger a line of hose was laid and the flames were extinguished.

Girls' Doubles in Tennis.

The following were the results in the first round of the girls' tennis tournament in doubles, which were played on the Albert street courts yesterday afternoon: The Misses Bettman and Gardner defeated the Misses Whitney and Ostrom, 6-3, 6-0; and the Misses Taylor and Pierson defeated the Misses Bettman and Gardner, 6-3, 5-5, unfinished.

PRANKS ON HALLOWE'EN

Plainfield's Small Boys Owned the Town.

CUT UP HIGH JINKS

Some of the Capers of the Lads in the City and in the Borough.

While sedate little girls and their more effeminate brothers stayed indoors and played games last night, the prank-loving small boy exercised his usual Hallowe'en prerogative and ran rampant through the town. As a rule he contented himself with tick-tack, throwing corn and flour and hauling gates away but now and then something was done of a more serious nature. The policemen were all out one hour earlier than usual and they were kept on the jump during the entire evening.

The most serious affair which came beneath their notice was an attack upon Abraham Hart, of West Seventh street, by three boys, members of prominent families. A party in progress at Mr. Hart's home attracted their attention and they kept bombarding the house all evening. A servant who went to the door had ashes thrown over her and Mr. Hart gave chase to the crowd. He came upon them opposite Rowland Cox's residence and one of the larger boys then turned and tripped him up. He struck on his head and he claims he was assaulted before he could arise. He appeared in the city court this morning and preferred charges and the boys will be arrested.

Thomas Burke, of Lee place and West Third street, reported seventy-five feet of his fence torn down by boys, all of whom escaped before the police arrived. Another gang threw a stone through a window at the home of Mrs. Carney at Central avenue and Third street and narrowly escaped striking a visitor. Another stone was sent through a window at the Chinese laundry at 316 Park avenue, scaring the Celestial occupant into spasms. Business signs were exchanged without number and this morning many people were at a loss to know whether they were going in a barber shop or a dry goods store. A large grave stone was taken from Manning's marble yard and deposited on Dr. Lufburrow's front porch.

Up at Watchung the residences were almost turned upsidedown so great was the zeal of the prank players. Gates and fences were carried off and nearly all the vehicles in Bilyeu & Titus' blacksmith shop were toted away and dumped into Stony brook. Every pedestrian who passed through the "Notch" was deluged with flour.

While Captain Martin was drilling Company K in the armory, some joker let all the water out of the tank of his auto, left standing outside. He spent a half hour getting it to rights but in the meantime had every member of the company confined indoors. When they were finally let out they had to run the gauntlet, with four sturdy privates wielding barrel staves and more than one Company K man is wearing bruises today.

The North Plainfield Exempt Firemen observed the evening with a "ragmuffin" parade through the city and borough that was highly amusing. The participants were attired in grotesque costumes and a "country" band composed of Bers and David Bodine, Garret Shepherd and David Allen furnished music. Returning to the club house on Somerset street a supper was served and an hour or more was spent with Hallowe'en games. The rooms were prettily decorated.

Change in Trolley Schedule.

Commencing Friday the motormen and conductors employed by the Public Service Corporation will begin running through between Newark and Dunellen, instead of between Dunellen and Roselle, as at present. By that time it is expected that the new cash registers in the various through cars will be in operation. By this system the ringing up of a fare is indicated so that every passenger can see it. The system provides for full and half fares and transfers.

Mr. Shepard Not Available.

Unless the Independent Parker Club is able to secure a speaker of prominence no mass meeting will be held as intended. The president of the club, George S. Clay, has been unable to secure Edwin M. Shepard, of Brooklyn, to speak here, but Mr. Clay will endeavor to secure another orator.

BOROUGHITES IN REVOLT

North Plainfield Delegation Talk With E. C. Stokes.

SLASH COUNTY TICKET

Mayor Declares That His Friends Will be Loyal to Rest of the Nominees.

For half an hour last night Mayor N. B. Smalley and a delegation of North Plainfield Republicans, who declare they are determined to defend the interests of that borough, and Edward C. Stokes, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, were in conference at the Hotel Kensington, and during that time the boroughites impressed upon Mr. Stokes the reasons why they will not support the county tickets under present conditions. The Mayor gave a rehash of the attitude of the Somerville crowd and county leaders generally towards North Plainfield, which culminated in a rebellion twice defeating the county ticket and likely to do so again.

Mr. Stokes was told that North Plainfield contributes a large share of the county funds and is denied the right of representation or a fair division of the expenditures. The determination of the board of freeholders not to improve a foot of road in the borough or township was brought to his attention.

Joseph Frelinghuysen, chairman of the Republican executive committee, was charged by Mayor Smalley with having violated all precedent in putting men off the committee before their terms expired and supplanting them with others opposed to the North Plainfield's administration and the borough leaders generally.

Mr. Stokes was told that the Republican organization in North Plainfield is in the hands of men who joined with the Democratic forces to defeat the regular Republican municipal candidates last spring, and helped defeat C. M. Dolliver for Assembly one year ago.

"I believe that Somerset county will still be Republican with North Plainfield out of it and it will be better off," declared the Mayor. During the conversation, Mr. Stokes promised that if elected governor he will give the Mayor and his friends a fair show if they come to Trenton for anything. With this assurance and with a pledge of loyalty for the National, Congressional and Gubernatorial tickets given by the delegation the conference ended.

ALTON FEUD'S AFTERMATH

Three Damage Suits Against Telephone Company.

PAPERS ARE ISSUED

Mrs. Glaser Wants $10,000 for Injuries, and Her Husband Claims $5,000.

As an aftermath of the recent troubles at Alton in which residents of the village sought to prevent the Northeastern Telephone and Telegraph Company from erecting poles in front of the Theodore Glaser place, three damage suits were started in the Supreme Court yesterday.

On a summons issued by Mrs. Julia Glaser, papers were served on H. G. McCully, the acknowledged representative of the company at Newark, and Winfield Scott Stephenson, of Cranford, its right-of-way agent, making the latter a co-defendant in an action for $10,000 for damages to her property and injury to her person. It was Mrs. Glaser whose foot was crushed during the excitement of the day when the villagers rallied around her and sought to prevent the Northeastern employes from erecting five poles in front of land owned by her. She claimed that permission for the work had not been given and despite her protests, Agent Stephenson ordered the men to proceed.

At the same time these papers were served, others were handed them designating an action brought by Theodore Glaser for $5,000 for loss of his wife's services. Mrs. Glaser has been confined to her bed the greater part of the time since the affair and her husband's action is permissible under the law.

A third set of papers was served on the company for Winfield Scott Terry, of Alton, a Fanwood township constable, who demands $5,000 for false imprisonment and malicious prosecution. As an officer of the law, he arrested two of the telephone men who Mrs. Glaser charged with assault, and

ENACTED "REFORMATION"

Story of John Knox Against Mary Queen of Scots.

AT HOPE CHAPEL

Large Caste of Young People Take Part—Some Beautiful Scenes.

To the delight of an audience which filled Hope chapel to its capacity, last evening, "The Story of the Scottish Reformation, or John Knox vs. Mary Queen of Scots" was related in a novel and highly entertaining way. By means of five scenes in which eighty local people took part, and an illustrated lecture by Mrs. H. E. Monroe, of Washington, D. C., the historical struggle for supremacy was given in a manner that made a lasting impression. Splendid costumes were used in every part while the views were magnificent.

The character of "Queen Mary" was taken by Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, who seemed almost to live the part. Her expression was above criticism while the vehemence with which she spoke every word held the tense interest of the audience throughout. David Bowden, in the character of "John Knox," gave one of the most delightful interpretations ever witnessed in the city and it was hard to believe that it was not a professional rendition. The difficult lines were handled by him with telling effect and no part of them was lost. The most beautiful scene of all was the one in which Knox has his interview with Queen Mary at her court, yet the group effect was almost forgotten in the conversation between the two. The gay costumes, the Scottish and English soldiers and the calcium effects formed a charming picture that was longly applauded. The other scenes were "The grand processional," "The Students and Puritans," "The execution" and the grand chorus.

Mrs. Monroe's lecture interspersed the five and was easily followed through the clear enunciation and colored slides. The singing of the Tallamy brothers' quartette and solos by William Tallamy, Miss Julia Carman and Mrs. L. R. Howard were very pleasing.

Miss Carrie Dewey presided at the piano during the evening and those taking part in the various scenes were as follows:

Part I—"Grand Processional"—Puritan Maids: Mary Hendry, Mrs. A. B. Lewis, Mrs. Charles Dixon, Mary Duvier, Mrs. H. K. Lister, Katharyn Slade and Sadie Sweeney.

Part II—"The Student and Puritan Scene"—Puritans: Herman Albert, S. B. Howe, Jr., Arthur Fritts, Matthew Sweeney, Benjamin Evans, Grover Marsh, Herbert Finck; students: William N. Runyon, William Firstbrook, Fred Tallamy, William Tallamy, Thomas Hargreaves, John Fritts, George Cose, Bert Tallamy, Lewis Squires, Louis Tallamy, G. A. Broadbent, Hugh Gray, William Holbert.

Part III—"Court Scene"—Mrs. G. S. Simons, Dr. Julia Carmen, Grace Carroll, Mrs. Fredrick Mead, Mrs. F. W. Butler, Mrs. P. H. Cregar, Margaret Tracy, Mrs. J. S. Zelie, Mrs. Everett Kimball, Anna Gosman, David Bowden, I. W. Travell, L. E. Wightman, S. B. Howe, Jr., George Cose, E. W. Hedges, Everett Kimball, W. D. W. Miller, P. B. Cregar, Elmer Runyon, John Leal, William Tallamy, Hugh Sweeney, Harold Firstbrook; priests: Hugh Gray, John Fritts; princes: Herbert Finck, Wallace Morton; Scottish soldiers: Thomas Hendry, Donald McInnes, Asa Pope, William Gray, Robert Slorah, Robert Laughlan, Harold Hanson, Oscar Pearson; English guards: Sam Reid, George Bentley, Joe Gavett, Arthur Whitney, Malcolm Davis, Jerome Cline; train bearers: Anna Warnock, George Hunter.

Part IV—"Execution Scene"—Mrs. G. S. Simons, Edith Burt, Mrs. Walter Squires, Belle Slorah, Emma Foster, Flora Griffin, Laura Lowell, Marie Newman, Marguerite Vandeventer, Wilhelmina Patton, Elsie Slorah, Lilly Brakey, Mrs. S. B. Howe, May Squier, Jean Douglas, Edith Tracy, Bertha Jones, Ruth Titus, Edith Cairns, Everett Kimball, S. B. Howe, Jr., Herbert Finck, Wallace Morton, Lewis Squires, John Fritts.

Part V—"Grand Chorus"—Women representing Clans: Mrs. William Gray, Mrs. J. A. Cullinan, Mrs. Donald McInnes, Mrs. Thomas Hendry, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Oscar Pearson, Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. John Johnsson, Mrs. Charles Vincent, Miss Williams; men representing Clans: Hugh Sweeney, Joseph Sweeney, John Slorah, Charles Vincent, William Gray, Edwin Howes, Wallace Morton, George Slorah, James Cullinan, William Baker, John Johnson, Arthur Robinson, William Jones.

The entertainment will be repeated this evening and possibly Friday evening, owing to the large sale of seats.

POLICE CHARGE STRIKERS

Seven Jersey Central Section Hands in Custody.

RINGLEADER ESCAPES

Were Armed With Picks and Shovels, But Made No Determined Stand.

Spurred on by James Morello, a fiery Italian, the section gangs on the New Jersey Central between this city and Roselle went on strike this morning and were in a mood to cause serious trouble when they encountered the local police. Armed with picks and shovels they came down the tracks thirty strong and were met at Netherwood by Roundsman John Flynn, Patrolmen Overbaugh and Higgins and Driver O'Gorman. The officers charged upon the crowd and though some were inclined to give fight the majority beat a retreat. Morello and the other leaders escaped but seven of the strikers were captured. They were bundled into the patrol wagon and are now locked up at headquarters awaiting a hearing.

The Central officials recently announced a reduction of section hands' working hours from nine to eight with a decrease in pay accordingly. Though it was resented at the time no demonstration was made until today when Morello induced the gang at Roselle to quit. There were eight of them then and they picked up as many more at Cranford. At Westfield they had a fight with the gang there in which Foreman Caulfield was driven off and half his men fell in with the strikers. Caulfield telephoned to Fanwood and Foreman Hanan was now sitting for the crowd. His gang did not want to strike and the Morello crowd tried to force them along. They succeeded in getting two or three and then moved on to Netherwood.

Hanan telephoned the Plainfield police and as many of the men as could be hurried to the railroad tracks went out. The Italians were not expecting this move and as a result were not prepared to make any determined stand. The ones driven off are still hanging about the city and it is thought they will make another attempt to get other gangs to quit.

MYSTERIOUS BLAZE IN BENNET BRITTIN'S BUILDING

FIREMEN HAVE A HARD FIGHT BEFORE FLAMES ARE SUBDUED.

Starting mysteriously in the barber shop of Joseph Paskett at Clinton avenue and Front street at 11:15 last night, a fire spread through the first floor of the building owned by Bennett Brittin and caused $500 damage. The flames were first discovered by John Kriney and breaking in a door he aroused Paskett and a nephew who were sleeping upstairs. An alarm was sent in from box 49 and the department had to fight an hour and a half before the blaze was extinguished.

Paskett's stock was damaged $200 and was insured for $500. The loss to the building will reach $300 and it is also fully insured. Chief Doane made a thorough investigation today but could find nothing to indicate where the blaze originated.

While working in the place, Captain Feiring of No. 3 company, was rendered unconscious by a large cup rack falling upon his head. He fell to the floor amid water and debris and was in a fair way to receive serious injury when he was dragged out by John Kriney and Patrolman Arthur McGinley.

Wagon Stealer Caught.

Michael Hinton, a small colored boy, was caught by Patrolman Flynn, last night, industriously hauling a spring wagon along East Front street. He admitted stealing it from a yard and after a temporary resting place for it had been found, the two-legged horse was escorted to jail. To Judge Runyon this morning he said it was only a Hallowe'en joke and he was let go on a promise to take the vehicle back at once. The magistrate remarked that there was not so much fun in hauling it by sunlight as beneath the moon's rays but the moral effect was better.

Jury Verdict in Fireman's Death.

According to the verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of the death of Levi Able, fireman on the ill-fated milk train at Whitehouse, last week, no one is held responsible, it being the opinion of the jury that the accident was of such a nature that it could not have been prevented.

PARTIES ON HALLOWE'EN

Young Folks in City and Borough Enjoy the Time.

DANCE OF THE WITCHES

Society Event at the Casino Attracted a Merry Throng.

A dance of the witches under the patronage of well-known society folks of the city and borough, attracted a large number of guests to the Casino, last night, in observance of Hallowe'en. There were many novel features tending to make the affair one of the most brilliant of the autumnal season. The Casino was decorated generally with Jack-o'-lanterns, stacks of corn, while the favors, apples and corn, were brought into the assembly room in a wheelbarrow.

There were about one hundred persons dancing, mask and domino, and all of the figures pertained to Hallowe'en, some of which were cutting the cake for rings, wishbone, apple, lighted candle and ducking for apples. This was led by Thomas B. VanBoskerck in a manner that pleased everyone. His partner was Miss Otterson. All the guests were masked until midnight when the lights were put out and they circled about a huge caldron of green fire and disclosed their identity. Supper was then served by Marcel. The music for dancing during the evening was furnished by Austin. It was a progressive cotillion, the men progressing.

The patronesses of the affair were Mrs. Edward M. VanBuren, Mrs. A. L. Otterson, Mrs. L. E. Waring and Mrs. A. F. H. Strenli.

Among those present were these:

Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lovell, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Morris, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Shellabarger, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gaston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Osborn Bright, Mrs. James H. Hallock, the Misses Holly, Goddard, Stewart, Jenkins, and Miss Elizabeth VanBoskerck, Miss Elsie Burke, Miss Marjorie Gleney, Miss Edith Fisk, Miss Virginia Hageman, Miss Cornelia Hyatt, Miss Grace Kaufman, Miss Mary Anderson Reinhart, Miss Alice Rushmore, Miss Mattie Wadsworth, Miss Helen Bloodgood, Miss Helen Walbridge, Miss Anna Murphy and Miss Lucy Otterson; Thomas R. and George T. VanBoskerck, Orville Waring, Howard Huntington, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, Dr. F. C. Ard, Draper Bartlett, James Dodd, Charles Dupee, Owen Fleming, Francis Frost, Frederick W. Goddard, Archibald Henderson, Charles King, Harry McGee, James Middledith, Harry Munger, Dr. Norman H. Probasco, W. R. Rushmore, H. R. Stockton, Augustus Shepard, George Schoonmaker, A. Willis West, J. L. Vanderbilt, Marshall Adams, Effingham Pinto, Lewis Williams, James Williams, Mr. Scott and Messrs. Fisk.

The Alis club house on Arlington avenue was the scene of one of the most delightful affairs of the evening, where a party of young people held a social and dance. The earlier hours were devoted to "spooky" games and a programme of music after which dancing was enjoyed. Those in attendance were the Misses Madge Lewis, Aimee Emmons, Elsie T. Smith, Mary Collier, Bess Phillips, Ethel Fletcher and Ines Tolles, Messrs. Roy T. Phillips, Marcus Hoyt, Charles Woolston, Alfred Egan, Fred Hillman, Harold Chandor, Harold Phillips, Howard Mason and Walter McNaughton.

Mrs. Abraham Hart, of West Seventh street, gave a party in honor of her daughter, Miss Carola Hart, and Miss Edith Lockwood. Forty friends of the young women were in attendance and they enjoyed themselves until a late hour with appropriate games. The house was very prettily decorated with autumn foliage and flowers.

An enjoyable Hallowe'en party was that given at the home of Mrs. Mary McDonough, of Somerset street. There were forty couples present and the evening was present in dancing, playing games and listening to vocal and instrumental music. Supper was served at midnight. The affair was arranged by John and Edward McDonough.

As a appropriate opening to their social season, the Young Women's Club gave a Hallowe'en party last evening, which was a most delightful entertainment. About thirty young people were present, and the evening was spent in dancing, singing, and

AMUSEMENTS.

David Warfield will continue to play "The Music Master" at the Belasco Theatre, in New York, despite Klaw & Erlanger's efforts through their representative, Joseph Brooks, to stop him by injunction. Justice Leventritt, of the New York Supreme Court, Monday, handed down his decision in the now famous case of Brooks against Belasco and Warfield, in which the plaintiff sought to enjoin the star from further appearances in "The Music Master" except under the joint management of Brooks and Belasco. As Warfield, on his own declaration, long ago refused longer to act for a firm with which either Brooks or Klaw & Erlanger were connected, an injunction would have meant the sudden termination of Warfield's great success in "The Music Master," in which he is drawing crowds to the Belasco Theatre. Justice Leventritt's decision, however, completely defeats the efforts of Belasco's opponents. The injunction is refused for two very strong reasons. In the first place, in answer to Brooks' attempt to exercise an option renewing the old Warfield contract, Justice Leventritt says: "Undisputed proof by affidavit is offered that the theatrical seasons contemplated end about the first of May or at all events before the first of June. The alleged renewal was made by the plaintiff Brooks several weeks after this latter date."

Casino Concerts.

Lovers of good music are to enjoy a course of concerts of musical excellence this coming season. Many fine musical treats have been given in past seasons. Mr. Atterbury during recent seasons and Mr. Newman prior to that time, have introduced many of New York's foremost artists, who are remembered with great pleasure by the people. As these gentlemen have not the necessary time to give to arranging a course this season, the well known teacher of music, W. H. Miller, has taken up the work. He will give a series of three entertainments on the following dates: Nov. 17, Dec. 15 and Jan 19. Vocal and instrumental music will be about equally divided. Among the attractions will be the celebrated Male Choral Union, known as the Meistersingers, a body of twenty solo artists. Mr. Damrosch says of this chorus that it is the finest body of male singers in New York. Very many of the artists have a national reputation. Assisting artists will include Master John MacDonald, the boy soprano of St. Luke's P. E. church, of Brooklyn. This lad is thought by many critics to possess the finest voice of any of the choir boys in greater New York. Henry Knighton, a violin virtuoso of fine reputation, will also be heard in the first concert. At the second entertainment, will be heard the famous Kaltenborn String Quartette, of New York. These artists are so well known to the public, that the mere mention of their names ought to be sufficient. They rank among the finest organizations of the kind in existence. Miss Tabb, recently returned from Milan, Italy, after several years' of study, will be heard with the quartette. She has a mezzo soprano voice of great purity and beauty of tone. The last concert will be given by a quartette of vocal stars made up from three of the leading churches of New York and Brooklyn, the Marble Collegiate, Forty-second Street Presbyterian and Pilgrim churches.

Mrs. VanDuyne, of this city, has been visiting relatives at Millstone.

PARKER AT NEW YORK

Candidate Reiterates His Belief In Democratic Victory.

HERRICK AND HARRISON TO WIN.

Great Crowd In Madison Square Garden Cheer Judge's First Big Speech to What He Claimed a United Party.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Judge Alton B. Parker, at Madison Square Garden last night, appeared for his first speech of the campaign before a large assemblage.

In anticipation of hearing a speech from the Democratic candidate for president an enormous crowd filled the garden. The appearance of Judge Parker in the inclosure was the signal for a great burst of enthusiasm, and for several minutes a deafening roar of cheers went up from the audience.

It was the first time that the New York public had been given a chance to both see and hear the man who is striving for the presidency.

Mr. Straus made the opening speech. He said:

"On behalf of the Business Men's Parker and Davis association I thank you for this splendid demonstration in honor of our leader, which is as gratifying as it is deserving."

After the cheering that greeted Judge Parker had subsided he began his speech, talking slowly and at first in a low voice. He said:

"I have come in response to your invitation to address you briefly in what you justly term the stronghold of Democratic faith and of Republican revolt.

"My views are sufficiently known to you and all others whose suffrages the Democratic party has asked on my behalf. My words will be little more than a greeting from a candidate to his supporters who are in accord in believing that to the Democratic party, freed from dissensions, pledged anew to its old articles of faith and to its lofty traditions and united for victory, can better be intrusted the future of this country than to the Republican party, whose record for the past few years has been the embodiment of the idea that might makes right and that the end justifies the means—whatever they may be—a record which has represented a complete departure from cherished traditions and precedents and which has indicated complete intolerance of legal and constitutional restraints.

"It has been my fortune to take an active part in three presidential campaigns. The first of these resulted in the election, in 1876, of Samuel J. Tilden. The younger generation, which has come upon the scene since that time, can scarcely understand the forces which this great man had to meet and combat. He himself felt how unequal was the contest which he waged. He knew that he was devoted to the interests of his countrymen.

"The other presidential campaign in which I took an active part was that which, in 1884, resulted in the nomination, the election and the inauguration of Grover Cleveland. As I look back now upon this campaign I recall that its one dominating feature was the cry that the Democratic party could not be trusted to deal with the business interests of the country. From every Republican newspaper in the land went up that foul stream of personal abuse which made that canvass a disgrace to the party that resorted to these methods.

"The only excuse for these falsehoods was the fear that the gains of greedy monopolists would in some way be interfered with. What will it matter how prudent our investors may be? When other peoples have taken advantage of great economic opportunities how shall we, wearing industrial handcuffs, meet our responsibilities to our own people?

"The world does not furnish a parallel for the skill of our workmen. The inventive genius of our people is unequaled. It has so developed labor saving machinery as to cheapen the cost of production. What we need to do is to cultivate foreign markets for manufactured products, thus enabling our mills to run to their full capacity, thereby securing steady employment for our workmen. That policy was suggested in that last and great speech of President McKinley, which has troubled the stand patters ever since.

"Its development requires that imported raw materials required by our manufacturers shall be obtained on the most favorable terms, and it demands that we shall cultivate agreeable relations with all foreign countries.

"It has been a very great pleasure to greet so many thousands of ardent Democrats boasting once more a united party. You—with the multitude of stanch men composing the party in this state—are to be warmly congratulated. Well may you be proud. You have a vigorous, harmonious and enthusiastic organization. The nominations recently made by your convention are worthy of the glorious history of the Democracy of this state. An able, independent and upright governor is assured in the person of Judge Herrick, and Congressman Harrison is singularly fitted to stand by his side.

"They and their associates will be elected because they deserve to be elected. The state will be carried, I believe, for them and for the national ticket, because there will be added to the strength of the Democratic hosts thousands of independents and Republicans who realize that the time has come for a change of measures and of men—a change that will set our faces once more toward the policies of government which our fathers marked out."

ARMIES FACE TO FACE

Russian and Japanese Troops Closing For Bitter Struggle.

FIERCE ATTACK ON PORT ARTHUR.

Advance Corps Mining and Counter Mining—Both Throwing Explosive Hand Grenades That Scatter Death and Wounds.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—St. Petersburg advices this morning say that everything indicates that both the Japanese and the Russian armies south of Mukden are ready for a resumption of hostilities, if indeed fighting has not already begun. General Kuropatkin reports that the Japanese have received re-enforcements from the south and Pengwangcheng. Their concentration seems to have been accomplished, and they are ready to resume the offensive both east and west of the railroad. There is no official estimate of the strength of the Japanese re-enforcements, but correspondents place it at from 40,000 to 60,000.

It is believed here that the second battle on the Shakhe river will prove to be as much bigger and more serious than the first as the first was more serious than the battle of Liaoyang. General Kuropatkin is confronted by an exceedingly difficult problem. He is pitted against a Japanese force stronger, even despite its recent losses, than that first opposing his southern advance.

A Chefu dispatch says that a general assault upon Port Arthur has developed into a fiercely raging battle. The Japanese have flung heavy forces against the fortress in their third attempt to secure a commanding position.

The Japanese infantry are now using mechanical devices which enable them to throw grenades with great accuracy and rapidity.

In the meanwhile another body of Japanese assaulted the trenches on the slope of Itihlung mountain. The Japanese trenches extended to certain portions of the slope and stopped some distance above the extreme Japanese outpost, where the ascent of Rihlung mountain became almost perpendicular.

Mukden advices say that at the present moment the trenches on both sides are crowding with troops and at many places the Japanese and Russians are within hailing distance. At the isolated hill of Mammalon, in the plain where the Russians ten days ago captured fourteen guns and bayoneted 800 Japanese, the rival forces are only 600 paces apart.

The situation is perhaps the most remarkable in military annals. Two armies, each with the other as an objective, are approaching while constructing siege works, the making of which both sides are accelerating, each morning revealing the work done overnight to the observation stations on every hilltop.

Russians Shell Another Ship.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Foreign Secretary Lansdowne and Count Benkendorff, the Russian ambassador, further discussed the composition of the international commission which will inquire into the North sea incident. Subsequently there was a meeting of the cabinet. Mr. Balfour had half an hour's audience with King Edward before the cabinet meeting. A dispatch from Tangier states that officers of the Baltic fleet there admit that while going to Tangier they shelled a British collier which was carrying no lights.

First Victim of Subway Express.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Hundreds of persons saw Christopher Frawley, an electrician, killed by an express train at the Fourteenth street station of the subway. He was the first victim of an underground express train since it was opened to the public. Following his death the news of the accident spread through the crowd on platforms, and passengers waiting for trains became panic stricken and fled to the street.

Theater Stampede at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 1.—While a matinee was in progress at the Grand Opera House here a moving picture machine caught fire and instantly filled the house with smoke. A stampede followed. Several ladies fainted and were trampled upon in the rush, but no one was seriously injured. The fire was extinguished before any damage was done.

"David Harum" Hotel Burned.

HOMER, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The National hotel in this village has been destroyed by fire. The hotel was made famous in "David Harum" as the Eagle tavern. The flames were got under control at 1 o'clock last night. The loss will be about $12,000. The hotel will be rebuilt.

Killed Her Husband.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Mrs. Mattie E. Carter last night shot and killed her husband, William E. Carter. She then sent for an officer and gave herself up. She says the shooting was for an attempted assault on her daughter, Carter's stepdaughter. The Carters are negroes.

Died From Injuries on Gridiron.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 1.—Elmer Erickson, captain of the Stoughton high school football team, is dead at a hospital here of concussion of the brain. Erickson was injured in a game with Mount Horeb high school Saturday.

British Veteran General Dead.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Nov. 1.—General C. C. Mason, a distinguished British officer, who served thirty years in India with the Madras army, is dead at his home near Greensfield, aged eighty years.

CIRCLED THE FAIR.

Airship Arrow's Flight Over St. Louis.

KNABENSHUE SAILED LIKE A BIRD

Cheering Crowds Greeted Baldwin's Flying Machine at the Cascades as It Alighted While Under Perfect Control.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1.—After circling in every direction at a height of 2,000 feet above the Cascades, in sight of thousands of cheering, enthusiastic spectators on the world's fair grounds, A. Roy Knabenshue of Toledo, in command of Thomas S. Baldwin's airship, California Arrow, returned to the place from which he started, covering three and a half miles, part way against an eight mile wind.

Knabenshue started from the Aeronautic concourse at 3:37 p. m. and returned at 4:05 p. m. On the return trip the airship sailed slowly over the exact spot from which it had risen twenty-eight minutes previously and glided about 100 feet farther west, where it settled gracefully to the ground.

The descent of the Arrow was the signal for a great demonstration. Dozens of eager hands were upstretched to grasp the frame of the flying machine, which, with its navigator, was carried around the concourse on the shoulders of shouting men. Hats were thrown in the air, and when Knabenshue called for three cheers for his home town they were given with a will, and another round followed for Knabenshue and Baldwin.

Knabenshue had only praise for the flying machine he had directed. His own share in the achievement was secondary in his eyes to the manner in which the California Arrow had supported the claims of the inventor.

"There was not a moment," said Knabenshue, "when I did not have complete control of the airship. It needed but the slightest pressure on the helm to change the direction of the vessel, and the 'old Arrow' responded to every demand that I made of it.

"I also profited by the lesson I learned on the first flight, and when I found that the motor was working smoothly and evenly, furnishing all the power necessary for a successful demonstration, I let well enough alone and did not attempt to increase the speed of the motor, for that was what caused the motor to break on my trial last Tuesday.

"The sensation was most pleasant. I did not have time to think about danger. In fact, there was no real danger. An operator of the Baldwin Arrow needs only to have an average amount of nerve, a little experience as an aeronaut and he can make a successful flight."

Higgins at Ogdensburg.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The largest number of voters ever gathered at a Republican rally in Ogdensburg crowded the opera house last night to hear Lieutenant Governor Frank W. Higgins, the Republican candidate for governor. St. Lawrence university students added to the enthusiasm by singing and cheering for Mr. Higgins and President Roosevelt. The appearance of Lieutenant Governor Higgins and party was greeted with great cheering and the waving of small American flags. Senator George R. Malby presided.

Anglo-American Peace Treaty.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Dr. W. Evans Darby, secretary of the Peace society of London has presented to President Roosevelt a memorial from the society urging that a treaty of arbitration be negotiated between the United States and Great Britain. The president informed Mr. Darby that he was in entire sympathy with the movement and that already steps looking to such a treaty had been taken; indeed, that negotiations for such a treaty now were in progress.

Before He Takes the Plunge.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Jonkheer R. de Marees Van Swinderen, minister from the Netherlands, called on Secretary Hay to say farewell, as he is leaving Washington for Holland to arrange his private affairs there before returning to his post here to be married to Miss Glover. He introduced as the charge of the mission during his absence Mr. du Tuyll, the new secretary of legation.

Cossacks Charged Rioters.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to Reuter's Telegram company says that the issuance of an order by the governor general of Warsaw for the troops to fire at assailants instead of in the air if they were pelted with stones led to a demonstration at Wola and that Cossacks with drawn swords charged the mob, many persons on both sides being wounded.

Johnstown Block Destroyed.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 1.—Fire early last night destroyed the Cobaugh block, on Franklin street, and the residence of ex-Mayor L. D. Woodruff, on Water street, causing a total property loss estimated at $45,000, only partially covered by insurance. Five lodges of various secret organizations occupied rooms in the Cobaugh block and lost all their paraphernalia.

Kaiser Gift Set Up.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Emperor William's gift to the American people, the bronze statue of Frederick the Great, was placed on its pedestal on the esplanade of the Army War college at 10 o'clock this morning. The members of the Germany embassy staff were present and had a first view of the statue.

Learn how to operate the voting machine. Read carefully the explanations given on page eight. "Do it now."

Probably never before in the history of American political campaigns has a candidate been greeted with such a demonstration as accorded Judge Parker last night. The Sun says the cheering lasted twenty-four minutes and consequently it is reasonable to believe that it continued longer.

Not only the supporters of Mayor Smalley's administration, but Republicans generally throughout North Plainfield are stirred over the fact that two out of the five voting machines assigned to Somerset county by Secretary of State Dickinson have been placed in the borough where there are only two voting districts, realising that the Somerville leaders have again attempted to work one of their wily games to prevent independent voting. The letters by "A Borough Republican" and John Valiant, published in The Daily Press, have had the effect of arousing the indignation of boroughites who believe that they see an effort on the part of those responsible for the voting machines being placed in North Plainfield to defeat the independent action which has characterized recent elections. There are twenty-seven districts in Somerset County and twenty-two of these will use the simple method of registering their choice and that is by a plain printed ballot on which pasters may be placed. It is not on record that North Plainfield asked for there voting machines or that its Republican voters were even consulted. The voter as a rule does not understand how to operate the machine when he wishes to split his ticket. Fortunately there is a way for him to learn. The machines are now on exhibition in the borough and it is the duty of every man holding the right of suffrage to acquaint himself with the new method of registering his preferences on Election Day.

HIGH SCHOOL BATTALION OFFICERS PASS EXAMS

HARRY G. THOMPSON WILL BE THE MAJOR.

As the result of the examination of the Plainfield High School battalion officers the final list of cadet officers has been published and the commissions and warrants will be awarded in the near future. There are still, however, a few officers which remain vacant, and to fill such places there will be another examination in the first week in December. Many of those who were temporarily appointed failed in their examinations, and there were not enough other competitors to take the places of those dropped.

As the orders published yesterday announced, the following will be the officers for the coming season: Major, Harry G. Thompson; adjutant, Chester H. Briggs; quartermaster, Jerome G. Cline; captain, Percy M. Brown; captain, Stuart Freeman; lieutenant, Hudson Burr; lieutenants, L-ttie Palmer; sergeant major, Walt-Rugen; first sergeants, Phillip Leichtentritt, and Emil Jahn; sergeants, Milton St. John; Joseph Jones, Joseph Osgood, and Adelbert VanBrackle; corporals, Louis W. Fisher, Paul Brakely, Albert Codington, Harry Brager and Tredwell Slauson.

Borough Democrats to Meet.

Peter Larsen, of the Building Trades Council, of Philadelphia, will speak at the North Plainfield Democratic headquarters, 79 Somerset street, tonight at 8 o'clock. Mr. Larsen has addressed meetings in Jersey City, Trenton and other places in this State during the campaign and is well versed on the subjects upon which he speaks.

—The waiters at Truell Inn will give a vocal and instrumental concert tomorrow night at 8:30. An enjoyable evening is anticipated.

voted for free wool and got within five cents of having it.

Coming down to State issues Mr. Stokes said that the slogan of the Democrats is "let us forget," and they are now forgetting the race track iniquity, the ballot-box stuffers, the State House scandals when $10,000 was used for painting the building. "These things I do not charge against the Democrats," said Mr. Stokes. "There are two kinds of Democrats, according to Allan McDermott, "Angels and the other fellows," and it is to the other fellows that I refer.

"On the question of equal taxation, let me say that the constitution demands this. For thirteen years my opponent, Mr. Black, was a member of the State Tax Board and not a recommendation did he make on the subject of equal taxation. In 1895 he wrote a letter in which he said that the taxes paid by the railroads were equal and in 1896 as a member of the tax commission he signed a declaration to the effect that he could not devise any better system of taxation.

"There is just one question I would like to ask Mr. Black. 'Why didn't he recommend a change in the tax on railroad property?' He is an expert in tax matters, being paid by the State to learn these things. The platform of the Republican party declares for equality of taxes between the railroads and the individual in accordance with laws governing the same. Plainfield now receives $8,396 from the State in taxes. If the Democratic idea goes in effect she would get $2,803. North Plainfied now gets $3,386 and under the change proposed she would get nothing for there are no railroads in that municipality.

"On May 27 last Mr. Black lectured in a Presbyterian church in Jersey City and then said that the taxation matter was one for debate and Mr. Black now a member of the tax commission voted to adjourn further discussion of the subject until after election."

In conclusion Mr. Stokes paid tribute to President Roosevelt and the preceding Presidents, and after the meeting adjourned an informal reception was held affording all an opportunity to meet the candidate.

Wants Some Information.

Editor, The Daily Press:

John Valiant's letter published in your paper yesterday impresses me with the conviction that it is high time to call a halt on the Somerville crowd of political tricksters. I would like to ask who ordered voting machines for North Plainfield? By what authority are they placed there? Why should North Plainfield's two districts be supplied with them when there are but five machines alloted to the twenty-seven districts in Somerset County? Is it not a fact that many voters will not cut their ticket for fear they will make a mistake while operating the machine and thus defeat their intention and does this not explain why the machines are placed in both districts of the borough? The Somerset County Republican machine is afraid of the independence of North Plainfield and its latest scheme is too plausible on its face to need any explanation.

Sheridan Jones' Downfall.

Sheridan Jones, the well known local colored man, was riding on the rear end of a cart loaded with tar paper on East Front street, this morning, when the pin suddenly pulled out and the rider went down. The entire load fell upon him and but for timely assistance rendered by Chief Kiely and Officer O'Gorman who were nearby, he would have fared badly. One leg was badly sprained and he suffered a dozen or more bruises.

FEAST OF HANDEL MUSIC

Supurb Programme of Monday Afternoon Club.

SPLENDID RENDITION

Dr. Waldo, Miss Hubbell and Mrs. J. K. Myers Participate in the Affair.

A rare treat was enjoyed by the members of the Monday Afternoon Club and an equal number of guests yesterday afternoon at the Casino, when a programme of Handel music was given in connection with the year's club study, "England from 1750 to 1800."

Mrs. Robert Lowry, the president of the club, prefaced the entertainment with an interesting sketch of Handel, the master musician whose genius was said to turn into gold whatever he touched in musical composition, songs, cantatas, operas and oratorios. With rare felicity of voice and touch the following programme was rendered to a highly appreciative and enthusiastic audience:

Sarabande in F. Major, 'cello, Dr. Waldo; Angels Ever Bright and Fair, soprano solo, Mrs. Cox, (from Theodora"); He Shall Feed His Flock, contralto solo, Miss Hubbell; Come Unto Me, soprano solo, Mrs. J. K. Myers; Bouree in G. Major, 'cello, Dr. Waldo; Rejoice Greatly, soprano solo. Mrs. Cox, (from "The Messiah"); Adagio, from a Lomata, 'cello, Dr. Waldo; I Know That My Redeemer Liveth, soprano solo, Mrs. Cox, (from "The Messiah"); Largo (from "Xerxes"), 'cello, Dr. Waldo; accompanist, Miss Jessie Utter.

Dr Waldo's sympathetic touch and true skill won for him the hearty applause of his listeners, to whom he once accorded an encore. Mrs. Cox from Middletown, N. Y., has a voice of wide range and great clearness, the selection "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," from "The Messiah," giving special delight to the audience. Miss Hubbell in the contralto solo "He Shall Feed His Flocks," charmed her hearers with the depth and purity of her tones and Mrs. J. K. Myers, soprano solo, "Come Unto Me," gave great pleasure with its expressiveness and sweetness. Miss Utter's accompaniments on the piano and Dr. Waldo's on the 'cello, were worthy of the high character of the music and the skill of the vocalists. After a rising vote of thanks to the artists, the officers received the guests and a social hour was enjoyed over the tea cups.

Much credit is due the entertainment committee of which Mrs. Elliott T. Barrows is chairman, for the tasteful decoration of the stage and the successful management of the social features of the afternoon.

Hallowe'en games. A "fortune cake" was passed around, and much merriment was caused by the discovery of the ring, the dime, and the thimble, which were concealed in it. A feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome leather wrist bag to Miss Mamie Leahy, who will shortly leave for the Adirondacks, in appreciation of her services to the club.

Eugene MacLaughlin gave a Hallowe'en party in the barn at his home in Somerset street, last night, there being about seventy-five young people present. The barn was decorated with Jack-o'-lanterns, corn stalks and pumpkins. Dancing was the programme of the evening which was continued until a late hour when supper was served.

For the benefit of the chapel expenses, a Hallowe'en social was given at the residence of William VanCourt, of Oak Tree, by the members of Marconnier chapel. The affair was largely attended and all spent a pleasant evening with the usual games and pranks. A fair sum was raised for the support of the chapel by the silver offering which was taken up.

A genuine old fashioned ghost party was the one given in the St. Mary's School hall by the church choir. The prizes for the best costumes went to Miss Josie Murphy and Andrew Mc Keon. Games, novel and various, made the evening pass quickly, and appropriate refreshments were served at a late hour. The committee was the following: Miss Julia Daly, Miss Annie Daly, Miss Katherine McCann, Albert Matthews, William O'Keefe and Joseph O'Keefe.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Charles O. Black, the Democratic candidate for Governor, also several county political aspirants, were in town yesterday morning and addressed a good sized body of men in the open air.

The Women's Foreign Mission Circle, of the Baptist church, will meet Thursday afternoon at Mrs. W. H. Manning.

Miss Lottie Wilson, of West Sixth street, is detained by illness.

DOINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Typographical Union, No. 299, will meet tomorrow evening when a full attendance of members is desired.

Old Glory Council, No. 62, D. of L., will hold a dime sociable Thursday evening, November 3, at the home of Mrs. William O. Chamberlin, 415 East Third street, at which there will be a drawing for a center piece.

One of the matters that claimed the attention of the State council of New Jersey, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, at the session held in Trenton last Wednesday, was a report from the board of officers about the proposed trial of Wrightstown Council on charges of insubordination. The trial will take place early this week. It appears from the record that this council refused to pay its share of the assessment levied by the State Council last year for the orphans' fund. It is claimed that a number of the State officers have tried to induce the council from its position and pay the tax, but the members will not give in and so charges were preferred against the council just before the recent session.

The annual meeting of the Great Council of New Jersey, Degree of Pocahontas, was held last Tuesday in Asbury Park. Great Pocahontas Mrs. Estelia B. Ragen, of Paterson, submitted a report covering seventy-five printed pages. Twelve decisions were reported and approved. Among the most important were the following: "Question: Can a council adopt a paleface from another reservation? Answer: Yes, if a dispensation is applied for and received from the great Pocahontas. Is a male member eligible for either collector of wampum or keeper of records? Answer: No. Can a sitting Pocahontas be nominated for the office of representative? Answer: No. Only those who have attained the rank of past Pocahontas are eligible for that position."

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The offering this year at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church for the chapel fund amounts to $4,800, the offerings a week ago Sunday amounting to $1,000.

Rev. J. H. Collett, of Philadelphia, preached at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church Sunday morning and evening at rally day services. The sum of $324.19 was raised during the day which liquidates the church debt. In the afternoon Rev. E. E. Jackson gave a talk.

Owing to the number of weekly notices to be given out at the Sunday services at the First Baptist church, it is quite likely that it will be decided to publish a bulletin, similar to those issued by several other churches in the city. It has been found that with the mere announcement at one service the members of the church and congregation find it difficult to remember all the happenings of the week.

The women of the First Baptist church will be in attendance in the Sunday-school all day tomorrow packing a barrel for the old folks of the Baptist Home for the Aged at Newark. Donations of groceries and linen will be greatly appreciated and contributions of money are very much desired. The Baptist Home Society observes next week as "Harvest Home," when the hearts of the old folks are made made young by kindly remembrances.

A Congress of Mothers' Manager. Mrs. H. G. Phillips, of North Plainfield, was elected a member of the Board of Managers of the New Jersey Congress of Mothers at the fourth annual meeting of the New Jersey Congress, held in Trenton.

Charlie Williams' Freedom Over. The longest period of freedom which Charles Williams has enjoyed since his downward career began, terminated this morning when he was sent to jail for twenty days by Judge Runyon. He owned up to being the culprit who has been stealing loaves of bread from the back of E. H. Clevely's restaurant, left there early each morning by a baker. He told the magistrate that he had not been locked up since a year ago October 11, and that it was the only twelve months which he had passed over without arrest since he was a young man.

—Fancy asparagus is included in the White Label brand of canned goods at Neuman Brothers'. Just the thing for dinner

CARD OF THANKS.

Heartfelt thanks are extended by Abram VanCleef and family to the many friends who evinced sympathy with them in the affliction borne of the death of his beloved wife and their mother.

BELL SCORED BY OFFICERS.

Sworn Affidavits Accuse Commanders In Cripple Creek Riots.

DENVER, Nov. 1.—Sworn affidavits signed by several members of the national guard of Colorado have been made public, in which officers of the guard are charged with ignoring information regarding leaders of mobs which deported miners and with instigating disturbances preliminary to deportation.

The principal affidavit is by Major Francis J. Ellison, who was an officer of the troops at Cripple Creek under Adjutant General Sherman Bell, General Reardon and Major McClelland. He charges that he offered to Bell evidence that would clear up the Vindicator explosion. No steps, he charges, were ever taken in the matter, though he asserts that his information would have led to the arrest and conviction of the men responsible for the placing of the infernal machine.

He charges that under the special direction of Major T. E. McClelland and General F. M. Reardon, postmaster at Victor, a United States official, a series of street fights were instigated between men of Victor and soldiers of the national guard on duty there. He swears that each fight was planned either by General Reardon or Major McClelland and carried out under their actual direction.

General Bell and the militia officers concerned deny every allegation, and the former says Ellison will be arrested and prosecuted on several criminal charges. Bell says that Brigadier General Chase, who was court martialed, they allege, and forced out of the guard, instigated the affidavits.

Higgins at Potsdam.

POTSDAM, N. Y., Nov. 1.—F. W. Higgins, Republican candidate for governor, spoke to an audience of 1,200 people in the opera house at Potsdam. Mr. Higgins' remarks were addressed principally to the farmers. He said that great interest had been taken in the development of agricultural interests by the Republican party and that money expended to bring about these results had been handled with such care and shrewdness that New York state was now the leading agricultural state. He spoke of the great advantages that had resulted from the establishment of the rural free delivery. Senator White of Syracuse and Senator Malby of Ogdensburg followed Mr. Higgins in addresses on political issues.

BRITT AND GANS.

Battle For Featherweight Championship of the World.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—At the Mechanics' pavilion last night Joe Gans of Baltimore and James Britt of San Francisco met in the ring in a prize fight that carried with it the title of world's champion of all lightweights. The weight question, which has been agitating the followers of pugilism for several days as far as Gans was concerned, was adjusted to a nicety, and the men entered the ring at the specified notch of 133 pounds.

At the ringside bets were made at even money that Gans would win within fifteen rounds.

Britt was introduced as the featherweight champion of the world.

Gans was presented as the lightweight champion of the world.

Britt went at once into his favorite crouch, and they sparred for some time. Britt shot his left twice in quick succession to Gans' body, but they were not forcible. After some more sparring Britt hooked left to the body again and followed it with a right to the head. Both men missed rights and lefts for the head. Britt shot his left to the body and missed a right for the head. Gans apparently sizing up Britt's reach. Gans missed a straight right for the head. Britt was short with left for the body and missed a left for the head as the bell rang. The work in the round was light, Britt having a slight advantage.

Gans permitted Britt to do most of the work. Britt's blows were of a light nature and did no harm.

HARVARD SPORTS.

Annual Fall Handicap Events on Soldiers' Field.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 1.—The notable performances at the annual Harvard fall handicap track meet at Soldiers' field were as follows:

Half mile run, won by C. Brinsmade; time, 2 minutes 2 seconds.

One hundred and twenty yard hurdles, won by R. E. Nason; time, 17 1-5 seconds.

One hundred yard dash, won by O. F. Rogers; time, 10 seconds.

Four hundred and forty yard dash, won by L. B. Dorman; time, 52 1-5 seconds.

Two hundred and twenty yard dash, won by H. K. Craft; time, 23 seconds.

Two hundred and twenty yard hurdles, won by W. McPherson; time, 26 3-5 seconds.

Eight hundred and eighty yard run, won by C. Brinsmade; time, 2 minutes 2 seconds.

Mile run, won by S. C. Dickinson; time, 4 minutes 30 3-5 seconds.

Two mile run, won by R. Grant; time, 10 minutes.

Pole vault, won by M. Wells; height, 9 feet 6 inches.

Shot put, won by F. H. Schoenfuss; distance, 45 feet 11 inches.

High jump, won by O. Snyder; height, 5 feet 9½ inches.

Dick Bernard at Jamaica.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Dick Bernard, at 15 to 1, easily won the Richmond handicap, six furlongs, at Jamaica, defeating a good field. He made the fast time of 1:12 3-5. Ascension was second and Hamburg Belle, the favorite, third. Toscan and Mamie Worth were the pacemakers to the stretch, where Dick Bernard came up on the outside and won by three lengths. Thirty-third, the winner of the third race, was bid up to $2,200 by A. Z. De Arman. The stable bid the customary $5 and kept the horse.

Closing Races at Delmar.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1.—Getaway day at Delmar brought out well balanced races, and close finishes were the order. Only one favorite, Wakeful, was returned a winner, but the successful horses in all the races were well played. Mainspring broke the track record for a mile and an eighth, setting a new mark of 1:54, lowering Little Scout's record of 1:54½, made last year.

New Mown Hay at Worth.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—The racing season has closed in Chicago. New Mown Hay won the Orland stakes, the feature of the getaway day at Worth. Mad Mollah was second, a head in front of Ananias. The stake was worth $2,130 to the winner.

Thorn Hedge at Latonia.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 1.—Thorn Hedge easily captured the feature event, a handicap steeplechase over the short course at Latonia, from Red Car, the favorite. Three favorites, two outsiders and a second choice divided an ordinary Monday card.

Ames Jury Disagree.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 1.—The fourth trial of former Mayor A. A. Ames, for illegally receiving money from women, has resulted in a disagreement. The jury, after having been out seventy hours, reported its inability to agree, and the court discharged the jurors. It is likely that all the indictments will be nolled.

Shot to Frighten Merrymakers.

WESTFIELD, N. J., Nov. 1.—Shooting to frighten Hallowe'en merrymakers last night, a bullet fired by Harold M. Wilcox, a well known citizen, struck John Barling, aged fourteen, in the mouth. He staggered across the street and dropped dead.

After Three Years.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Nov. 1.—A note has been found in a bottle at Bay Mills, signed by the captain of the steamer Hudson, saying: "Steering engine given out. We are all going down. Goodby." The boat foundered about three years ago, and no one was saved.

FASHIONABLE FRILLS.

How Women's Sleeves Will Disport Themselves During the Winter.

That the sleeve proclaims the garment is one of the unwritten laws of la mode, for no point in a gown's makeup will "give it away" more completely than a last year's sleeve, with its excessive fullness below the elbow.

The sleeve of the up to date corsage will have the fullness pushed up above the elbow, but in the matter of jackets there will be a greater diversity, and it is on the coats that the leg of mutton sleeve will flourish most.

The young girl's gown pictured is of blue broadcloth. The little jacket is trimmed with black braid applied in bretelles over the shoulders and looped in a pretty fashion on each side of a tiny vest of white velvet dotted with pin spots of black. The chemisette is of cream linon banded with heavy lace, which forms the standing collar. A draped girdle of black satin finishes the waist. The skirt is box plaited on each side of the front width and laid in side plaits around the hips and back. A waved trimming of braid is about the skirt, and the box plaits are held in place by passementerie frogs.

FASHIONS IN FURS.

Correct Things In Pelts—Moleskin Still a Favorite.

As is usual with capricious Dame Fashion, she is only constant to a constant change, and as we have for the last few seasons seen fit to adopt furs with long hairs the decree has gone forth for this year that the pelts with a flat pile are to reign.

Moleskin will be in evidence again, and broadtail and caracal, together with pony skin, will share honors on the furrier's list. Another fur—a newcomer, by the way—is a dyed red sable known as kolinsky. Entire coats are made of this pelt, and it is to be used as a trimming on many of the brown cloth costumes.

Mink is one of the standard furs that are always exclusive when of the finest quality. In the illustration the smart stole, with muff to match, is of mink and is something entirely new in stoles. It is arranged with two wide ends in front, each end finished with three full tails. Above these ends there is a cravat also carried out in the same fur and finished with six smaller tails. The shape of the muff is one of the season's novelties. The fur is drawn up on wide ribbon strings so that it may be carried in the hand as a bag or worn in a flat muff shape. This handsome muff is finished with a fringe of tails. The hat which is pictured with the mink set is made of golden brown velvet in a novel and becoming shape, turned up very sharply at the back and trimmed both there and under the brim in front with a wide band of brown chenille embroidery caught with brown silk cabochons. The turned up brim is fastened with a new art ornament in leaf colorings, and at the back, dropping over the hair, is a cluster of shaded brown ostrich tips.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy."

"Now, as you say, L'Huillier had with him four ships, and it is well known that his gentlemen had with them certain ladies of distinction, among these a mysterious dame reported to have earlier traveled in portions of New France. The name of this mysterious female is not known, save that she is reported to have been a good friend of a sous-lieutenant of the regiment Carignan, sometime dweller at Quebec and Montreal, and who later became a lieutenant under L'Huillier. It is said that this same mysterious fair, having returned from America and having cast aside her lieutenant, has come under protection of no less a person than his grace Philippe of Orleans, the regent. Now, as you know, the bank is the best friend of the regent, and this mysterious dame, as we are advised by servants of his grace's household, hath told his grace such stories of the wealth of the Messasebe that he has secretly and quickly made over the control of the trade of those provinces to this new bank. There is story also that his grace himself will not lack profit in this movement!"

The hand of Conti smote hard upon the table. "By heaven! it were strange thing," said he, "if this foreign traveler should prove the same mysterious beauty Philippe is reported to have kept in hiding. My faith, is it indeed true that we are come upon a time of miracles?"

"Listen!" broke in Varenne, his ardor overcoming his obsequiousness. "These are some of the tales brought back—and reported privately, I can assure you, gentlemen, now for the first time and to yourselves. The people of this country are said to be clad in beauteous raiment, made of skins, of grasses, and of the barks of trees. Their ornaments are made of pure, yellow gold, and of precious gems which they pick up from the banks of the streams, as common as pebbles here in France. The climate is such that all things grow in the most unrivaled fruitfulness. There is neither too much sun nor too much rain. The lakes and rivers are vast and beautiful, and the forests are filled with myriads of strange and sweet-voiced birds. 'Tis said that the dream of Ponce de Leon hath been realized, and that not only one, but a score of fountains of youth have been discovered in this great valley. The people are said never to grow old. Their personal beauty is of surpassing nature, and their disposition easy and complaisant to the last degree—"

"My faith, say on!" broke in De la Chaise. "'Tis surely a story of paradise which you recount."

"But, listen, gentlemen! The story goes yet farther. As to mines of gold and silver, 'twas matter of report that such mines are common in all the valley of the Messasebe. Indeed the whole surface of the earth, in some parts, is covered with lumps of gold, so that the natives care nothing for it. The bottoms of the streams, the beaches of the lakes, carry as many particles of gold as they have pebbles and little stones. As for silver, none take note of it. 'Tis used as building stone."

"In the name of Jehovah, is there support for these wonders you have spoken?" broke in Fraslin the Jew, his eyes shining with suppressed excitement.

"Assuredly. Yet I am telling not half of the news which came to my knowledge this very morning—the story is said to have emanated from the Palais Royal itself, and therefore, no doubt, is to be traced to this same unknown queen of the Messasebe. She reports, so it is said, that beyond the country where L'Huillier secured his cargo of blue earth, there is a land where grows a most peculiar plant. The meadows and fields are covered with it, and it is said the dews of night, which gather within the petals of these flowers, become, in the course of a single day, nothing less than a solid diamond stone! From this in time the leaves drop down, leaving the diamond exposed there, shining and radiant."

"Ah, bah!" broke in Fraslin the Jew. "Why believe such babblings? We all know that the diamond is a product not of the vegetable but of the mineral world!"

"So have we known many things," stoutly replied Varenne, "only to find ourselves frequently mistaken. Now for my part, a diamond is a diamond, be it born in a flower or broken from a rock. And as for the excellence of these stones, 'tis rumored that the lady hath abundant proof. 'Tis no wonder that the natives of the valley of the Messasebe robe themselves in silks, and that they deck themselves carelessly with precious stones, as would a peasant of ours with a chain of daisy blossoms. Now, if there be such wealth as this, is it not easy to see the profit of a bank which controls the trade with such a province? True, there have been some discoveries in this valley, but nothing thorough. 'Tis but recent the thing hath been done thorough."

The Prince de Conti sat back in his chair and drew a long breath. "If these things be true," said he, "then this Monsieur L'as is not so bad a leader to follow."

"But listen!" exclaimed Varenne once more. "I have not even yet told the most important thing, and this is rumor which perhaps your grace has caught. 'Tis whispered that the bank of the brothers L'as is within a fortnight to be changed."

"What is that?" queried Fraslin, quickly. "'Tis not to be abandoned?"

"By no means. Abandoned would be quite the improper word. 'Tis to be improved, expanded, increased, magnified! My lords, there is the opportunity of a life-time for every one of us here!"

"Say on, man, say on!" commanded the prince, the covetousness of his soul shining in his eyes as he leaned forward.

"I mean to say this," and the spy lowered his voice as he looked anxiously about. "The regent hath taken a fancy to be chief owner himself of an enterprise so profitable. In fine, the Banque Generale is to become the Banque Royale. His majesty of France, represented by his grace the regent, is to become the head banker of France and Europe! Monsieur L'as is to be retained as director-general of this Banque Royale. There are to be branches fixed in different cities of the realm, at Lyons, at Tours, at Amiens, at Rochelle, at Orleans—in fact, all France is to go upon a different footing."

The glances of the Prince de Conti and the Austrian met each other. The Jew drew a long breath as he sat back in his chair, his hands grasping at the edge of the table. Try as he might, he scarce could keep his chin from trembling. He licked out his tongue to moisten his lips.

"There is so much," resumed Varenne, "that 'tis hard to tell it all. But you must know that this Banque Royale will be still more powerful than the old one. There will be incorporated with it, not only the Company of the West, but also the General Company of the Indies, as you know, the most considerable mercantile enterprise of France. Now listen! Within the first year the Banque Royale will issue one thousand million livres in notes. This embodiment of the Compagnie Generale of the Indies will warrant, as I know by the secret plans of the bank, the issue of notes amounting to two billion livres. Therefore, as Monsieur de la Chaise signifies, he who is lucky enough to-day to own a few actions of the Banque Royale, or even the old actions of Monsieur L'as' bank, which will be redeemed by its successor, is in a way to gain greater sums than were ever seen on the face of any investment from the beginning of the world until to-day! Now, as I was about to ask of you, Monsieur Fraslin—"

The speaker turned in his chair to where Fraslin had been but a moment before. The chair was empty.

"Our friend stepped to the door but on the instant," said De la Chaise. "He is perhaps—"

"That he has," cried Varenne. "He is the first of us to profit! Monsieur le Prince, in virtue of what I have said to you, if you could favor me with an advance of a few hundred louis, I could assure my family of independence."

Monsieur le Prince! Monsieur le Prince—"

Monsieur le Prince, however, was not so far behind the Austrian! Varenne followed him, tugging at his coat, but Conti shook him off, sprang into his carriage and was away.

"To the Place Vendome!" he cried to his coachman, "and hasten!"

De la Chaise, aristocratic, handsome and thick-witted, remained alone at the table, wondering what was the cause of this sudden commotion. Varenne reappeared at the door, wringing his hands.

"What is it, my friend?" asked De la Chaise. "Why all this haste? Why this confusion?"

"Nothing!" exclaimed Varenne, bitterly, "except that every minute of this day is worth a million francs. Man, do you know?"—and in his frenzy he caught De la Chaise by the collar and half shook him out of his usual calm—"man, can you not see that Jean L'as has brought revolution into Paris? Oh! This L'as, this devil of a L'as! A thousand louis, my friend, a hundred, ten—give me but ten louis, and I will make you rich! A day of miracles is here!"

TELEPHONE'S EXPANSION

Great Increase in Business of Local 'Phone Company.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Big Electric Batteries to be Installed—Larger Switchboard in a Short Time.

The rapid progress in telephony is scarcely noted by the average person though he be a constant user of the telephone. In looking back some few years to the time that the telephone was introduced here and comparing the equipment with that of today it is remarkable in itself for it represents the best thought that men have been able to give to this means of quick communication. It is only a comparatively short time ago that an entire new plant was built in this city, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company purchasing a property on Park avenue and erecting a building to suit its needs. A new switch board was installed as was also a new motive power plant with all the latest devices to give the best service.

The increase in the company's business, largely due to the reduction in the rental rates to as low as $30 a year, has made it necessary to add a section to the present switch board, one that will provide for over three hundred more subscribers. Considering that the increase in the future will keep pace with that of the past few years, it will be only a matter of three years or less when another entire change will be made.

This announcement was made yesterday by Manager Charles W. Runyon, of the local exchange. When asked if the present plant did not represent the best known equipment, Mr. Runyon said that this was undoubtedly true, but that improvements are constantly being made and as soon as they become of practical use the company installs them. These changes are all made with a view to reducing the amount of work and yet not interfere with the efficiency of service.

One change likely to be considered seriously during the next year or two will be that of installing what is known as the common battery. This is located at the exchange and does away with all batteries used in individual telephones. The common battery is used in New York because it gives the best service on short distances, but it has never been considered as much of a success on long distances. The kind of a battery used here at present is calculated to make talking and hearing much better.

If it is decided to put a common battery in the local exchange additional room will have to be provided for and it is quite likely that another story will be built on the Park avenue building. It would require one entire room for this kind of a battery. In some respects this has a decided advantage over the kind now used, as all battery trouble can be attended to in the exchange instead of taking a man's time to go to the individual telephone.

Undoubtedly other changes will be made in the operation of the local exchange within a short time. The company is planning to connect a number of new telephone subscribers just as soon as the new section to the switchboard is installed.

Mr. and Mr. George Homan moved yesterday from the Stillman building on West Front street, to the New Madison on Madison avenue.

POLITICAL CHAT.

There will be a Democratic rally in Excelsior Hall, Scotch Plains, Saturday night at 8 o'clock, the speakers being Prof. George E. Mueller, of Pennsylvania, and Captain Edward M. Farrar, U. S. Army, retired.

In character and ability Mr. Martine is the peer of Mr. Fowler. He is of the people and will always be found voting for the people's interests. Mr. Fowler is of the trust class. All his sympathies are with the great corporate interest which are stifling competition and making the people pay more than they should for nearly everything they buy.—Washington Star.

Former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., of Newark, said the other day: "We will elect a Democratic governor and we want to elect a Democratic legislature. The press will say that Senator Smith wants a Democratic legislature because he knows he will be elected United States Senator. I do not want the office and will not be a candidate for United States Senator if it is offered to me. I want a legislature that will take care of State affairs and will make corporations pay their just share of taxes. I want you to go out and work and prevent them from rolling up a majority of votes as they claim they will. If you do that I believe that our views will be upheld and we will have a Democratic government in Washington, in Trenton, in Essex and in Newark."

Now that the campaign in Elizabeth is at its height, something of a forecast can be made as to the probable outcome so far as the municipal election is concerned. There does not at this time seem to be any doubt in the minds of many leaders but that Mayor Patrick Joseph Ryan, Democrat, will be re-elected for another term of two years in addition to the five years which he will have served by January 1. Nothing short of a Republican landslide, it is declared, can defeat him. There is a hot fight for freeholders, but it seems reasonable to those who profess to know to predict that the Democrats will elect three out of their four candidates and probably all. The Republicans, however, are very hopeful of electing two freeholders and if there is a tidal wave for their party they count upon making a clean sweep for the entire freeholder ticket.—Dispatch in Newark Evening News.

HOW TO VOTE.

CLOSE THE CURTAIN, by moving the handle to the right side of the machine.

PULL THE STRAIGHT TICKET KNOB bearing the name of your party over to the right, UNTIL THE BELL RINGS. This turns a pointer down over every name on your party ticket.

IF YOU WISH TO SPLIT, turn back the numbered pointer from over the name you wish to cut out, then turn down a pointer in another party line, over the name of the candidate for whom you wish to vote for that office.

A vote will be registered for each name and question THAT HAS A POINTER OVER IT, when the voter moves the handle to open the curtain.

HOW TO VOTE A STRAIGHT TICKET.

1st—Move the Handle of the Curtain Lever to the right as far as it will go.
2d—PULL THE STRAIGHT TICKET KNOB bearing the name or emblem of your party over to the right UNTIL THE BELL RINGS.

This turns down all the Pointers of your party to a voting position, exposing an X above the names of the candidates you wish to vote for.

3d—LEAVING THE POINTERS AS THEY ARE, move the Handle of the Curtain Lever to the left as far as it will go.
This will count your vote, and set the machine for the next voter.

BOY'S SLAYER COMMITTED

Harold Wilcox Must Wait Action of Coroner's Jury.

MAKES A STATEMENT

Declares to Officials He Thought Revolver Contained Only Blank Cartridges.

At first inclined to condemn his action in the bitterest terms, the sentiment of Westfield's citizens against Harold M. Wilcox, who shot and killed fourteen-year-old John Darling while playing Hallowe'en pranks, has changed greatly since yesterday. Almost prostrated by the terrible affair he was taken to the county jail at Elizabeth yesterday, to await the action of the coroner's jury and those who saw him had naught but sympathy to offer. The death of the boy is felt by him as keenly as it is by the bereaved mother, as he has three small children of his own. As he was being taken away to a cell he assured the officials in broken tones that he had never meant to hurt any of his annoyers as he believed the revolver contained nothing but blank cartridges.

Official investigation into the affair began yesterday when Coroner Horace Livengood empanelled the following jury: William Tuttle, Jr., Hiram L. Fink, Mahlon Ferris, Louis Oliff, James Moffett and W. I Keeler. The body was viewed, following an autopsy by County Physician Westcott, but no witnesses were examined. After a brief conference it was decided to adjourn until Thursday and hold Wilcox without bail in the meantime. While at the Westfield police station he was not locked up but allowed the freedom of the main office. His business associates in the Aeolian Company were ready to furnish security for any amount but none was asked for.

Henry P. Darling, the boy's father, sailed from London for South Africa on a business trip, a few hours before "Jack" was killed. This was learned through cablegrams sent out Monday night. Funeral services over the body will be held from the Darling home tomorrow afternoon with Rev. Dr. Wight, of the Methodist church, in charge.

BODY OF MRS. TALLIANT BROUGHT HERE FOR BURIAL

DIED SUNDAY AT HER HOME IN PORT RICHMOND, STATEN ISLAND.

The body of Mrs. Josephine Brown Talliant, a former well known resident of the borough, was brought to this city yesterday and interred in the family plot in the North Plainfield cemetery She died Sunday morning at her home in Port Richmond, S. I., after an illness with Brights disease.

Mrs. Talliant was the widow of the late Cyprian L. Talliant, who died in 1888. The latter was a prominent New York merchant in the sixties, having a large upholstering business on Thirty-third street. Coming to Plainfield in 1875 the family located on Rockview avenue and later removed to Manning avenue. Mrs. Talliant was a prominent worker in the First Methodist church during her residence here, taking great interest in all religious matters. She lived a consistent Christian life and was identified with many charitable and benevolent acts.

The deceased leaves two daughters, Josephine F., who is the wife of John B. Sharp, of Port Richmond, and Anna L., the wife of Charles S. Greer, editor of the Journal, Rockville, Conn., formerly city editor of the old Plainfield Evening News.

A COLORED MASS-MEETING.

Arrangements Completed to Hold One Friday Night.

Arrangements have been completed for a mass meeting to be held in Reform Hall on Friday night in the interests of the colored voters of the city. It will be given under the auspices of the Republican party and prominent speakers have been secured, including Hon. William F. Powell, Minister to Hayti; George Douglass, of Newark; Dr. J. C. Anderson, of this city, and Charles N. Robinson, of Camden.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, of this city, will be chairman of the meeting. Those to have charge include Dr. J. C. Anderson, Rev. E. J. Urudup, Rev. Scott Wallace, Charles Shelton, Spencer Conway, A. S. Venable, John Maury and Charles Irby.

CITY BOARD OF HEALTH ANALYZING CHEAP CANDY

FURTHER SALES TO BE FORBIDDEN IF IT IS POISONOUS.

Profiting by the North Plainfield school authorities action, the city Board of Health has taken up the matter of cheap candies in which injurious dyes are used for coloring. At the regular meeting yesterday afternoon, it was reported that during the month an inspection of the candy stores, particularly those in the vicinity of the school buildings, where a large variety of very highly colored confectionery is sold. Samples were taken and will be analyzed for poisonous coloring matter and flavors. In the event of any injurious substances being found, prompt action to prevent further sales will be taken.

The regular reports read showed that eight cases of contagious disease exist locally, all of which are under quarantine. Permits for the collection of garbage were granted Walter H. Ingraham, August Norway and William Winkichols, for offal to Swift & Company and to sell milk to William Mernagh. The work of dairy inspection has continued and of sixteen samples of milk analyzed, two were found to be of poor quality. During the month there were sixteen marriages, sixteen births and twenty-two deaths.

FALL EXHIBITION AND HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL COMBINED.

Combining the annual fall exhibition of the physical department and a Hallowe'en social, a very pleasant event took place at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night. The gallery of the gymnasium was well filled, as the exhibition opened with a maze run led by Pionier, one of the leaders of the evening class. This was followed by a dumb bell drill conducted by Physical Director Henckle. Neal and Pionier led the apparatus work by classes, using the horse, parallels, and buck for their exhibition. The moves were well performed, and showed practice and talent on the part of the performers.

At the conclusion of this class work on the apparatus, a special squad consisting of Neal, Pionier and Menzenbach gave an exhibition on the parallel bars. Their work was enthusiastically applauded. On the high bar, Bentliff, Hansen and Smith led the special work, and went through the moves, some very difficult, in a very creditable manner.

After an exhibition in tumbling by Hansen and Bentliff, which won considerable applause, two picked teams captained by Smith and Heinecke, contested for basket ball honors. The two teams were not evenly matched and the score was 30 to 12 in favor of the former team. Smith's work on the basket ball team was a feature of the game, his goal shooting being remarkable.

Co. K's Fair.

Following out the suggestion submitted by the advisory committee a week ago, the members of Company K desired to hold their annual fair from February 13 to 25. A permanent committee on the fair will be appointed by the Captain before the next meeting. The idea of holding the occasion for such an extended time seems to meet with universal approval, as the armory was so crowded last year, that it was uncomfortable. So far no definite plans have been made for the fair, though it will probably be conducted on the same plan as the former occasions.

Dr. Blair Practicing.

Dr. Thomas Blair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Blair, of East Second street, has started to practice medicine in Morristown. He is a graduate of the Plainfield High School in the class of 1895, and attended Princeton University, where he graduated from the academic course in 1899 He afterward took a three years' medical course in the New York Homeopathic Medical School. Dr. Blair has recently completed an eighteen months' course in the Rochester hospital.

Ham Kean Optimistic.

Hamilton Kean, chairman of the Republican County Committee, was among those attending the mass meeting in Reform Hall on Monday night. He expressed great satisfaction with the prospects in the county, believing that the entire ticket will be elected by a substantial majority.

STRIKING SECTION HANDS RETURN TO THEIR GANGS

EIGHT FINED IN THE CITY POLICE COURT THIS MORNING.

Discouraged by the hot reception the local police gave them at Netherwood yesterday, nearly all of the New Jersey Central section hands gave up the idea of striking and went back to work this morning. The only ones still holding out are those stationed at Roselle and no one knows what has become of them since they scattered before the bluecoat charge.

James Morello, the leader of the strikers, and seven of his compatriots caught yesterday, were lined up before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning. Morello pleaded guilty to inciting the different gangs and defiantly declared that he "didn't care whether he was sent to prison or not." He was fined $10 and the others $5 each. The latter were Dominico Tobia, Michael Merro, Dominick Valentine, of Westfield; Fred Smith, Joseph Back, Harry Skadensky and Thomas Vannode, of Cranford. Only three of them had paid the fines up to noon.

PLANS FOR DEDICATION OF NEW HIGH SCHOOL COMPLETE

PROMINENT OFFICIALS TO ASSIST IN CORNER-STONE LAYING TOMORROW.

The dedication exercises of the new Plainfield High School will take place tomorrow, beginning at 2:30. Prominent city officials will be present and will take part in the ceremony, while Dr. William R. Richards, former pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will make the invocation. The pupils of the various schools will attend, the sessions closing at 12:30, while the members of the High School, and of the Whittier departments will march to the corner of Arlington avenue and Ninth street in a body.

The order of exercises in detail is to be as follows:

Music, LaVere's band; invocation, Rev. Dr. William R. Richards; song, "Plainfield High School," school, written for the occasion by Louise M. Taylor, class of 1903; address, Craig A. Marsh, Plainfield High School, class of 1872; dedicatory song, "Alma Mater," school, written for the occasion by Mary Lock, class of 1900; address, Dr. John B. Probasco, president of the Board of Education; laying of the cornerstone, Mayor Olin L. Jenkins; school song, "The Red and the Blue," school, adapted by Vincent B. Miner, class of 1903; benediction, Rev. Erskine M. Rodman; music, LaVere's band.

The public is invited to these exercises, which on account of the season of the year will not last over one hour. If the weather is unfavorable, the exercises will take place on the next clear day.

Directors of Public Library Meet.

The November meeting of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library was held last night. The special committee for preparing report of the library and periodical list reported the printing and delivery of 500 copies each. A letter was received from W. D. Weaver, chairman of the library committee of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, stating that he had obtained a set of American Institute of Electrical Engineer Circular tour books, 11 volumes, which he had placed at the disposition of the Plainfield Library. On motion the gift was accepted and the secretary was directed to extend to Mr. Weaver the thanks of the Board.

Reformation Repeated.

The story of the Scottish Reformation was repeated at Hope chapel last evening before an audience which tested the capacity of the building. The various scenes were given smoothly and the production was in every way a decided success. Mrs. G. Stuart Simons and David Bowden, in the leading characters, were even more delightful than on Monday night and they were accorded unstinted applause.

Real Estate Changes.

William Jeffery, the real estate agent, has effected the following sales: Nos. 12, 14, 16 West End avenue, Norman Barnes to William Birrell; three lots on Woodbine avenue, Investor's Realty Co. to William Birrell; six lots on Rushmore avenue, Investor's Realty Co., Henry P. Vosseller; plot on Park avenue near Woodbine avenue, William Birrell, to Chief Gregory, of Newark.

VOTING MACHINES UNFAIR

The Boroughites Not Pleased With Their Location.

WILL STOP CUTTING

Prominent Residents Declare They Were Forced Upon Them for a Purpose.

The location of two voting machines in the borough has led to a widespread discussion among the residents and as a rule the action has been condemned. Many of the voters have written to The Daily Press about it while others have expressed themselves in person.

One prominent business man of the borough said yesterday: "A surprise is in store for the leaders of last spring's 'Citizen's Party' in the borough who are now recognized as bosses of North Plainfield by the Somerville politicians who control the Republican machine in Somerset County. They thought they could nominate a county ticket to suit themselves and then compel dissatisfied Republicans to vote for it by means of the voting machine.

"In this they will find themselves mistaken. North Plainfielders are intelligent enough to see through a ladder and they will find a way to show these citizen bosses that they cannot use North Plainfield as a tool to serve the ends of Somerville."

Another Republican who has resided all his life in the borough said: "'Last spring Messrs. Honeyman and Cooley, Dolliver and others were out in open and organized opposition to the regular Republican candidates and succeeded in defeating all but one of them. These same men are now putting themselves forward as the leaders of the Republican party in the borough. They are in charge of the campaign. They elected the delegates to the county convention. They refused to allow the name of any North Plainfielder to be presented to the convention as a candidate. They insisted upon the nomination of men whom they knew a great part of the borough Republicans opposed. They delivered the votes of the North Plainfield delegates to Somerville to be used as the bosses there dictated. They contrived to have two out of the five voting machines in the county located in the borough, in order to force votes for the straight ticket. They believe that the Republicans of the borough will not see through their game and will fall blindly into the snare. They will find themselves sadly mistaken when the voting machines are opened.'

"Still another said:

"'New Jersey will give a Republican majority so large that the vote of North Plainfield or of Somerset County will cut no ice. The Legislature will be Republican in any event by at least twenty majority on joint ballot, so that the vote of Somerset's members of Assembly will not be needed for any party purpose. This is recognized by North Plainfield people who are familiar with the shabby treatment the borough has received and will continue to receive from the Somerville politicians and their allies in the borough. They will not stand for the county ticket nor for the men who last spring were against the Republican party, and who now masquerade as its high priests.'

"A Washington Park voter declared to a reporter for The Daily Press:

"'I believe that the Republican county ticket will be badly cut in the borough on Election Day. Many people resent the selling out of North Plainfield interests to Somerville. The U. S. Grant Club, for many years a stalwart Republican organization, is now dominated and officered by men who only last spring were at the head of a movement to defeat the Republican ticket. That ticket was nominated in open caucus and without opposition. These men might easily have nominated whom they chose if they had tried. But they wanted control and now they haven't. It will be strange if the Republicans of the borough will support them or their ticket.'

"Another Republican said: 'I see by the papers that there are only five voting machines in all Somerset County and yet two of the five have been placed in North Plainfield. This is certainly most unfair. I did intend voting the straight ticket, but I do not propose to stand for any such methods and I will split my ticket on Election Day. I guess those people will find out that they can't force us to do just as they please.'"

ENDEAVORERS ENJOY NOVEL HALLOWE'EN SOCIAL

GUESTS REPRESENT SPIRITUAL WORLD IN GHOSTLY FORM.

The Hallowe'en social under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Presbyterian church, held last evening in the church parlors, was a decided success. It was largely attended and was unique in character. As each guest arrived he was met by two forms in ghostly apparel, and ushered into the church where other white robed figures confronted him. By means of sheets and pillow cases he soon took his place in the spirit world and awaited the arrival of other victims.

The usual games were played and much amusement was caused by the unique costumes, as all were masked and it was with difficulty that the various ghosts identified one another. A feature of the entertainment was a recitation by Miss Bessie Pound, which was well rendered. At a late hour in the evening refreshments were served by the committee. The decorations consisted of corn stalks and lanterns.

MEN'S CLUB LISTENS TO STORIES OF TRAVEL

ENTERTAINING PROGRAMME PRESENTED AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Two descriptions of European trips, vivid and interesting, were given at the meeting of the Men's Club, of the Congregational church, last evening, by the officers of the club William B. Wadsworth, the president of the club, gave a general description of his travels, while the vice president, Alexander Millar, spoke particularly of the Rhine.

About forty members of the club were present and the evening was an enjoyable one. In addition to the description of the travels, two tenor solos were rendered by Elmer Cutting. He was accompanied by Clifford Braider. Mr. Wadsworth spoke of the amusing incidents of his trip, and described the country through which he passed in a delightful manner. Mr. Millar's address was more confined to a description of the winding river, and of the scenes from its banks. The speaker said that he was especially impressed with castles and cathedrals which were passed on a trip up the river, and his narration of the legends and traditions of these old castles was instructive and picturesque.

Following the speeches, refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Charles Steiner and H. C. Nomer.

MOTION DENIED.

The Court Refuses to Dismiss the White-Zeglio Damage Suit.

Move to dismiss the damage suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. Frank White against Dr. P. J. Zeglio, was made by Craig A. Marsh at the opening of the November term of court at Trenton, yesterday. The counsellor argued that the plaintiffs had not complied with certain demands made. W. S. Angleman, appearing for the Whites, presented argument which was heard by the court, it afterward denying Mr. Marsh's motion.

The suit was instituted two years ago because of injuries which Mrs. White received by falling through a defective vault owned by Dr. Zeglio.

A Chrysanthemum Display.

Lovers of flowers will have an opportunity of seeing a very pretty display of chrysanthemums at the greenhouses of Stephen A. Ginna at Carlton and Watchung avenues tomorrow and Friday. The varieties are more numerous and attractive than ever and attendants will show visitors about.

Plains Democrats to Rally.

The Democrats at Scotch Plains and vicinity will hold a big mass meeting in Excelsior Hall Saturday night. Hon. George Blair, of New York, and Captain Edward M. Farrar, a retired army officer, are to be the speakers.

Labor Leader Addresses Democrats.

Peter Larsen, of Philadelphia, a representative of the Allied Trades of that city, addressed the members of the North Plainfield Democratic Club at their headquarters last night.

U. of P. Musical Clubs to Come Here.

Plans are being formulated to have the University of Pennsylvania Glee, Mandolin and Banjo Clubs appear at the Casino in the near future.

PLENTY OF PLACES TO GET ELECTION RETURNS

THE DAILY PRESS AND CLUBS TO HAVE PRIVATE WIRES.

The unusual interest evidenced this year in the election has resulted in a number of private telegraph wires being engaged for election night. A greater number than usual have been arranged for about the city and at each place there is sure to be a large and eager crowd. The Daily Press has arranged for a private wire and just as soon as the returns are recived from the city, county, State and the whole country, they will be displayed on a sheet opposite The Press office.

Other wires will be operated at the Casino and Park Club, where arrangements have been made for social features as well. The Timbo Social Club and the Democratic Club will also have wires.

Among the places where returns will be received and announced is at the Y. M. C. A., while a private wire will carry the news to the large number of interested persons who will gather at Republican Headquarters. The Western Union Telegraph Company has made every preparation this year to give quick and accurate service owing to the importance of the election and it should be possible for people in this city to know considerable of the result quite early in the evening.

LOCAL GOLF SEASON DRAWING TO A CLOSE

YET CONCLUDING DAYS WILL SEE INTERESTING EVENTS.

The closing days of golf at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club give promise of being of unusual interest to the members and their friends, as several special events have been arranged by the committee in charge. On Saturday there will be in addition to the weekly competition for the Golf Committee and Gaston cups, a tournament for women at nine holes. Already there have been received nearly twenty entries and this number is likely to be increased.

Much interest is now being centered in the election day events, the programme being an attractive one. In addition to the events on the schedule, which include the play for the Greens' Committee Tankard and Holiday cup, there will be an approaching and putting competition at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon with a prize for men and one for the women. This will be open to all club members except the junior associates. Entries must be made before 3 o'clock on the day of play, by the prospective contestants, writing their names on the large bulletin card on the regular board.

The committee has arranged to reserve the sixth hole after 3:30 for this competition.

There will be no special social events at the club in the evening, as the members have accepted the cordial invitation of the Park Club to be present at the club and receive the election returns. Other features will be provided for the pleasure of the guests and a good time is promised all who attend.

There will be the usual weekly competitions at the Park Golf Club on Saturday and on Election Day there will be play for the Holiday cup and approaching and putting contests. In the evening the members, many of whom are members of the Park Club, will go to the latter place and join in the programme provided for the evening.

To Celebrate Anniversary.

The thirteenth anniversary of Monroe Avenue Chapter of Epworth League will be commemorated in the chapel on Friday evening. An interesting prorgamme has been arranged. William N. Sortor will make the address of welcome, as president of the league, and an address will be made by Rev. William H. Morgan, D. D., of Central M. E. church, Newark. The anniversary committee is composed of the following members of the society: William N. Sortor, John J. Praed, N. Mansfield Smith, Miss Georgietta Beekman, Miss Margaret Williams and Rev. George Mooney.

T. A. B. Association's Ball.

St. Mary's T. A. B. Association will hold a ball in their hall on West Fourth street, Monday evening. The committee in charge is W. Shaefer, D. B. Doyle, J. Hines, James O'Keefe, M. Higgins. Eugene O'Reilly will furnish music.

C. N. FOWLER TO SPEAK

Last Republican Mass-Meeting Tomorrow Night

GOOD MUSIC SECURED

Congressman Will Talk on National and Local Issues—List of Vice Presidents.

Local Republican leaders intend to make the mass meeting in Reform Hall tomorrow night, the banner one in the series, and a record-breaking crowd is expected to hear Congressman Charles Newell Fowler, who will be the principal speaker of the evening. This will be his first visit to the home of his opponent, James E. Martine, and what he will have to say will surely interest every voter. He will talk of National affairs and will incidentally have something to say about the conditions in the Fifth Congressional district as well as in Union county.

It is expected that Congressman Fowler will be accompanied by all the county candidates, and the local candidates will also be present. The committee of arrangements has engaged good music and as usual seats will be reserved for women until 8:15. As this will be the last Republican mass meeting efforts will be made to present strong arguments in favor of a continuance of the party in power.

This is the list of vice presidents for the meeting:

STRUCK BY FENDER ESCAPES WITH POSSIBLE INTERNAL HURTS.

Laughingly running across West Fourth street in play, yesterday afternoon, Helen McCarthy, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McCarthy, was struck by a trolley car and escaped serious injury by the narrowest margin. Seeing her danger, the motorman lowered the fender and striking her about the feet it threw her into the network. When the car was stopped she jumped off and to all appearances was unharmed. When taken home, the child was found to have sustained a deep gash in the chin and may possibly be hurt internally. She has been confined to her bed since the accident.

WM. G. E. SEE DEAD.

Passed Away Suddenly in Jersey City Yesterday Morning of Heart Disease.

William G. E. See, for many years a resident of this city, where he served as a Councilman, died yesterday in Jersey City, He dropped dead from heart disease. Mr. See was a lawyer and for twenty-six years was a successful practitioner in Jersey City. He was considered one of the best of parliamentarians and while a member of the Common Council he displayed exceptional ability as president of that body. He was forty-seven years old and leaves a wife, the daughter of the late William L. Stout, of this city, and a son, Chester Stout See. The funeral will be held from the late home tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Last Matinee Race.

Closing a very successful racing season, the last of the weekly matinee races at the Gentlemen's Driving Park will take place Saturday afternoon. A good programme has been arranged, and it is expected that the usual number of entries will be filed before the day of closing. It is not yet known what horses will be entered in this week's races, though several of those on the track last week will be among the contestants for turf honors. Three trotting and pacing races will be run, the 2:20, 2:27, 2:40 classes, in addition to a running race.

HIGGINS AT PLATTSBURG.

Candidate For Governor Addressed Three Meetings Last Night.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Lieutenant Governor Higgins in his speech in this city last night referred, among other things, to Judge Herrick's Plattsburg speech of Oct. 19. Three large meetings were held, and Mr. Higgins spoke at each. Mr. Higgins said in part:

"The campaign now drawing to its close has been conspicuous for the vituperation and abuse poured forth by our opponents. In their lust for victory and the fruits of victory they have raised themselves above the bad eminence they have heretofore enjoyed in their efforts to discredit the Republican party in this state. No reputation has been spared, no character has been respected." Mr. Higgins then spoke of the statement credited to Judge Herrick that he wanted the vote of no one who meant to vote for President Roosevelt and then said:

"This attack on President Roosevelt, bitter, partisan and personal, is in keeping with the policy of the Democratic party in this campaign. What does the independent voter find to attract him in the partisan who repels the votes of those who regardless of party ties honor and respect our upright and patriotic president? Judge Herrick is to be commended for his frankness, and I trust that his wishes may be respected and that his insolent rejection of Republican and independent support may for the honor of the president of the United States meet the rebuke it deserves."

Mr. Higgins also referred to the Furnaceville matter and discussed state taxation.

FALL SPORTS.

Gans Would Fight Britt Again—An American Chess Champion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Al Hereford, manager for Joe Gans, the champion lightweight pugilist, said last night, "If Britt will fight Gans at Baltimore my club will hang up a purse of $15,000." Of the fight Gans said, "Britt would have won had it continued." Referring to his failure to win the championship Britt said: "The decision was fair. I could not help it. Gans kept slipping to the floor without being struck. He also kept hanging on to me, and I tried to fight him off. I went in to win, and in my opinion I would have knocked Gans out had the fight continued."

Gay Boy at Jamaica.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Three favorites, two second choices and a long shot divided the money at Jamaica. Gay Boy easily won the Gowanus stakes by two lengths and a half from the favorite, Et Tu Brute. Little Em, at the prohibitive price of 2 to 9, scored an easy victory in the last race.

American Won Chess Championship.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—W. E. Napier, late of Brooklyn and Pittsburg, won the British amateur chess championship by defeating Shoosmith of this city in a match, the final score being: Napier, 2; Shoosmith, 0; drawn, 2.

Dr. Leggo at Latonia.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 2.—Dr. Leggo, at 8 to 1, captured the Covington Autumn stakes, the six furlong feature event, in a driving finish with Ethel Day at Latonia. Four favorites won.

J. H. Ward of Poughkeepsie Dead.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 2.—James H. Ward, one of the oldest business men of this city, died last night at the Morgan House. He was prominent in many Poughkeepsie institutions. He was at one time president of the Retail Merchants' association and at the time of his death was president of the Poughkeepsie Building and Loan association. He was one of the founders of the electric lighting company, a director of the Merchants' National bank and a trustee of the Presbyterian church. He leaves a widow and one son, William T. Ward. He was sixty-nine years old.

Senator Scott In West Virginia.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 2.—The Republicans here closed a big demonstration last night when Senator Nathan Bay Scott of the national Republican executive committe made a stirring address to a large audience. J. H. Gaines, candidate for congress in the Third district, also spoke. There was a display of fireworks in honor of the occasion, and a large parade escorted the speakers to the stand.

Pius Suffering From Gout.

ROME, Nov. 2.—Pope Pius, who for two days has been slightly indisposed, was visited by Dr. Lapponi, who found that his holiness was suffering from an attack of gout and rheumatic pains in the legs, the latter caused by sudden changes in the weather. Dr. Lapponi advised complete rest, and the pope reluctantly consented to the canceling of all audiences that had been fixed for the next two days.

Engineers' Strike at Spring Valley.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., Nov. 2.—The strike of the hoisting engineers has made 5,000 miners idle in the Spring valley coal fields. The engineers will, it is said, get no support from the miners, who are strongly opposed to their enforced idleness. Efforts are being made to get the engineers to join the workers' organization and return to work.

World's Fair a Financial Success.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—According to a financial statement issued by the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company covering a period from the opening, April 30, to Oct. 1, there was a balance in the treasury at the latter date of $841,253.59. The total receipts were $22,673,721.19 and the total disbursements $21,832,467.00.

PARKER AT NEWARK

Presidential Candidate's First Speech In New Jersey.

"TRUSTS FURNISH CAMPAIGN FUNDS"

"We Favor Healthful Prosperity That All May Share, but Will Fight All Powers That Oppress the Masses."

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 2.—Thousands of enthusiastic New Jerseyites crowded into the Roseville Riding academy here last night to listen to Judge Alton B. Parker deliver his first speech in this state. His audience, which was an enormous one, was one of the most enthusiastic that has assembled in New Jersey this campaign.

In no speech previously delivered during the campaign did Judge Parker devote so much of his time to scoring the trusts as he did last night. In his speech he directly accused the Republican party of fostering the corporations, naming the beef trust and the coal trust in his charges.

Judge Parker said in part:

"It has given me great pleasure to accept the invitation of your committee. I have come to your city to make in this campaign the first speech which it has been my fortune to deliver outside of my native state.

"Another feature that adds to the pleasure of my coming among you is that of the population of New Jersey more than 200,000 are natives of my own state of New York. I, therefore, not only feel that I come among you to speak to you and through you to the people within your borders and to the people of the country, but my visit has this still closer relation that after all I am only speaking to my neighbors and friends.

"There is no parallel in history for a development like ours. In former times population spread slowly and gradually over the forests and plains of Europe, but it was not composed of people all moved by the same ideas and inspired by a common purpose.

"But there are other directions in which we have departed widely from our early traditions and which now menace our people industrially. We all know that during the last quarter of a century vast changes have taken place in our industrial condition—changes that have tended to do away with competition and have placed the leading industries of the country in the control of a few men. We have been warned against this tendency from time to time by thoughtful and farseeing men, but the warning has not been heeded.

"Because we are opposed to the purchase of the electorate and have felt it our duty to say so those who would corrupt it to the end that their power to plunder the people may continue cry out in these closing hours of the campaign that the business interests would not be safe with a Democratic administration. This cry is false, and those who utter it know it. We favor a healthful prosperity in which all the people may share. We would encourage the accumulation of property and would protect the present possessors of it in that possession under all circumstances. But we would do all we could to take away from the combinations and trusts that power to oppress the people which they now exercise. In other words, we would put forth every effort to thwart their illegal methods of collecting tribute. Illegal methods of making money do not constitute legitimate business, although those who resort to them may pose as business men. Our purpose is to deprive so far as possible these illegal combinations of their present illegitimate advantage.

"As I have taken occasion to say before and I deem it my duty to say again the trusts are furnishing the money with which they hope to control the election. I am sorry to be obliged to say it. If it were not true I would not say it to gain the presidency or any other earthly reward. But it is true, and, that being so, it became my duty to warn the people of it. This I did in an address to the people on the 24th day of October, more than a week ago. What happened? The president summoned Senator Knox to his presence. From that consultation Knox emerged to give an interview which, he said, the president had approved. It was not sparing, to say the least, in its criticism of myself. He did not, however, meet the charge. He did not deny it. He could not, nor could the other party to the consultation.

"On Friday last, in a public address I called attention to the fact that it had not been met and could not be. Promptly it was given out that Mr. Cortelyou would make answer to the charge—Cortelyou, the chairman of the Republican national committee; the one time private secretary to the president, later a member of the cabinet as head of the bureau of commerce and labor, and as such having the right to obtain the secrets of the so called trusts. Secrets which under the statute may not go beyond the president if he so desires. And then it was almost as promptly denied that he had any such purpose.

"The New York Tribune publishes a dispatch from Washington under the head of 'Cortelyou falsely accused,' with a subhead saying that he 'has not extorted campaign contributions from corporations.' It gives what purports to be the statement of a man who withholds his name. He is described in the Tribune article as 'a man who knows all that occurred at Mr. Cortelyou's last call on the president.' Whether it was the one or the other is left in doubt. But in any event it is of no consequence which one it was, for these grave charges cannot be met anonymously. There are only two persons who can interest the people on this subject. If they have anything to say the people would like to have it said promptly.

"Weeks have passed since the New York World, the New York Times and the Brooklyn Eagle made charges covering fully this the most vital question before the people—charges that were reproduced in every part of the country—the former propounding ten questions, beginning with 'How much has the beef trust contributed to Mr. Cortelyou?' There has been plenty of time to answer these questions, but they have not been answered, and they will not be.

"It is for the people now to say whether the trusts of this country shall be permitted to control its national elections in order that their power to levy tribute may be continued."

TREATY WITH FRANCE.

Arbitration Agreement Signed by Hay and Jusserand.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Secretary Hay and Ambassador Jusserand signed a treaty providing for the settlement by arbitration of any possible disputes between the United States and France. It is drawn on the lines of the Anglo-French arbitration treaty.

The only persons present when the seals were affixed were Secretary Hay, Ambassador Jusserand, John T. Coughlin, acting chief of the diplomatic bureau, and Secretary Hay's faithful messenger, Edward Savoy. The preliminaries occupied very little time.

While the treaty is the briefest ever negotiated here, every line of its short text is full of meaning. Out of deference to the United States senate, to which this treaty will be submitted when it assembles in December, the state department is not able to make public its text. However, it is very much like the treaty which was negotiated Oct. 14, 1903, by Lord Lansdowne for England and Ambassador Cambon of France.

It is the opinion of the officials here that this convention does not in any way threaten the predominance in this hemisphere of the Monroe doctrine.

The treaty is to be followed very soon by one between America and Italy, and there is reason to believe that some progress already has been made in that direction.

Fatal Shooting In Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Two cases of murder and suicide of similar nature occurred within two hours of each other. Joseph M. Skale, a butcher, fatally shot his wife and then himself. The shooting is said to have been due to business troubles growing out of the fact that the wife in her own right was the proprietor of a meat shop. Shortly afterward William Kuhlman, publisher and president of a mining company, was shot and fatally injured by his former partner, Henry Holtze, who immediately killed himself. Holtze is said to have believed that he had been swindled by Kuhlman.

Douglas on the Tariff.

SALEM, Mass., Nov. 2.—The Democratic candidate for governor, William L. Douglas, discussed the effect of the tariff on the boot and shoe industry at a dinner to Essex county Democrats by the Democratic Club of Massachusetts. He held that the tariff "cuts the boot and shoe workers both ways. It decreases their earnings and increases their expenses." He declared that in no way was the tariff a benefit to the boot and shoe worker, but that "the tariff on raw materials probably reduces wages from 5 to 10 per cent."

Louis Stark Killed While Hunting.

NYACK, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Louis Stark, superintendent of the Corbin mills at Park Ridge, was shot and instantly killed by the discharge of a gun at Pearl river, Rockland county. Stark, in company with two other men, went hunting. One of the party was removing a shell from a gun when it exploded, the bullet entering Stark's brain, causing instant death.

English Steel Men at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 2.—A trip to the Homestead and Duquesne plants of the Carnegie Steel company was the first event of importance in the visit of the members of the British Iron and Steel institute to Pittsburg. The party was escorted by some of the prominent officials of the United States Steel corporation and the Carnegie Steel company.

Electric Engine Made Fast Time.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 2.—The big electrical locomotive being built for the New York Central Railway company by the General Electric and American Locomotive companies was taken out to the Hoffman's four mile race course, equipped with the third rail, and without coaches attained a speed of seventy miles an hour.

Two Quarrymen Killed by Blast.

MILLTOWN, Ind., Nov. 2.—The premature explosion of a blast at the Eichel limestone quarry resulted in the death of Foreman William Engleman and James Miller. Harvey Heath and Neal Miller were seriously and several others severely injured.

Couple Held For Burning Hotel.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2.—James A. Mathews and Mrs. Lora Allen, both of this city, have been placed under arrest charged with burning the Grand hotel at Point Chautauqua two years ago. The hotel was one of the finest on Chautauqua lake.

Prominent Democrat Shot.

WASHINGTON, Kan., Nov. 2.—Dr. N. L. Smith, chairman of the Washington county Democratic central committee, was shot and killed here by S. H. Bonar, a farmer. They quarreled over a bill.

LONDON IS ALARMED

Russian Fleet Suddenly Leave Port of Vigo.

GIBRALTAR PREPARES A WELCOME

British Capital Stirred by Sailing of Admiral Rojestvensky's Ships Without Warning—Cabinet Meeting Today.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—London has been bewildered all day long by alarming reports indicating a renewal of the Anglo-Russian crisis and showing that the utmost activity is prevailing at Gibraltar.

The announcement of the sailing of the Russian squadron from Vigo, leaving only four subordinate officers to give evidence at St. Petersburg and then testify before the international commission, is considered here to be a breach of the agreement, and the interchange of visits between Ambassador Benkendorff and Lord Lansdowne followed, the foreign secretary subsequently seeing various members of the cabinet.

Count Benkendorff went to Buckingham palace and spent nearly half an hour with the king. Later the ambassador again visited Lord Lansdowne, who also received Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty; Premier Balfour, Captain Prince Louis of Battenberg, the director of naval intelligence, and Admiral Sir John Fisher, senior lord of the admiralty.

A dispatch from Vigo, Spain, said that all the Russian warships left there at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Russian squadron was followed by the Spanish cruiser Extremadura.

A Gibraltar report says that the garrison has been mobilized and the artillerymen have been ordered to take up their positions at the different batteries of the rock.

The channel squadron has been ordered to be in readiness at an hour's notice.

Vice Admiral Beresford's flagship, the battleship Caesar, fired a gun recalling all the officers of the channel squadron on board their respective ships. All the ships are cleared for action.

British warships are strictly patrolling the straits.

King Edward has privately expressed keen displeasure with the tone adopted by a certain section of the London press toward the agreement to submit the North sea case to an international commission.

It is expected that after the cabinet meeting today a decision will be reached as to the date, place of meeting and personnel of the commission.

The Russian government has appointed Admiral Kaznakoff, a member of the admiralty council, as one of the international commission on the North sea affair.

A Tangier report says that the officers of the Russian war vessels now here are awaiting the coming of Vice Admiral Rojestvensky.

American Fleet For Gibraltar.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The European squadron, which has been visiting English ports for several weeks past, has started for Gibraltar and will spend the winter cruising in the Mediterranean. The several vessels of the fleet will meet in the English channel and make the cruise in company.

Could Not Stay Away From Children.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Because he could not remain away from his children Grabielo Talarico must stand trial for murder in Columbia county. Before he was taken from this city by Deputy Sheriff Drum, Talarico admitted his identity, which he denied when arrested on Monday. He also admitted that he shot and killed Giuseppe Arcuria at Stockport because of the murdered man's attentions to his wife. When asked why he returned from San Francisco, where he fled after the crime, Talarico replied that he could not remain away from his four small children.

The Peace Treaty With France.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The news of the signing of the arbitration treaty between France and the United States in Washington yesterday is received here with the warmest expressions of approval, particularly in government circles, where the treaty is regarded not only as a strong bond between the two republics, but also as an important extension of Foreign Minister Delcasse's series of peace treaties.

Howard Garrison Shot at Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2.—Howard Garrison, eleven years old, was shot and probably fatally wounded while participating in a Hallowe'en celebration here. A crowd of youths were making a demonstration in the street when a window near by was raised and three shots fired into the gathering. Charles Green, a negro, has been arrested on suspicion.

Two Killed by Dynamite.

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 2.—Two men are dead, two fatally injured and one severely hurt as the result of a dynamite explosion in the Batson oil field, near here. The pumping foreman was also badly injured, but will recover. Dynamite had been placed in the Guffey company's well to loosen the casing when it exploded.

General C. P. Grant Shot Himself.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Nov. 2.—General Charles P. Grant, formerly commander of the First brigade of the Connecticut national guard, committed suicide by shooting. A note left on the bureau explained to his wife that business troubles were the cause.

Members are asked to contribute to the interest of the meeting by bringing information regarding the topics of the month: "The Menace of Mormonism," and "Work Among the Mexicans."

At the home of Miss Lizzie Stafford, of Grove street, Monday night, a missionary study class was organized for a study of Japan in all her phases. An encouraging commencement was noted in the presence of nine young persons who signified a desire to join the class. It was decided to meet every Monday night at the home of Miss Stafford. Little else outside of effecting an organization was accomplished Monday night.

In addition to the regular morning service at 11 o'clock evensong will be sung each Sunday at 4 o'clock at St. Stephen's church. On Sunday the service will be one of Thanksgiving for the present and of intercession for the future. The pastoral letter of the Bishop of the Anglican church will be read publicly in the church at the morning service and appropriate remarks for the beginning of the new pastorate will be made.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, who, a month ago, thought he might be compelled to give up his pastoral work for the present, is much gratified to learn that this will not be necessary. After an examination by two specialists and a final examination by Dr. Janeway, of New York, Monday, he learns that his throat troubles have entirely disappeared and that there is a decided improvement in his general physical condition.

John T. Hunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Townsend Hunn, of Prospect avenue, has returned to Silver City, New Mexico, after a summer spent at home.

FANWOOD BOWLERS DEFEAT Y. M. C. A. TEAM.

LOCAL MEN ARE DOWNED IN THREE STRAIGHT GAMES.

For the first time since the bowling season commenced, the Y. M. C. A. team met defeat at the hands of the Fanwood Club team last evening. The local bowlers were worsted in three straight games, their opponents putting up their usual crack game. The Fanwood team has a reputation of bowling in the seven and eight hundreds. Sheelen, of Fanwood, was high man, with a score of 200. In the games the scores were as follows:

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

While looking over some business papers belonging to her son Charles, who was killed at Trenton Junction Wednesday night, Mrs. Wade came across a paid up life insurance policy for $2,000 in an old line company. None of his friends or family knew that he carried any other insurance than the amount carried in the J. O. U. A. M.

Since the Fanwood Township Committee made the Northeastern Telephone Company pay for a franchise to run wires through the township every body has taken a whack at the company. The resident of New Market are now having their innings and several suits are threatened.

Several new names were added to the registry yesterday by the Board of Registry at the meeting held yesterday in the town rooms. This was the last opportunity to register for the election on Tuesday unless by order of the court.

A business meeting of the Woman's League was held yesterday afternoon in Meyers' Hall. Considerable business relating to the work to be done for the Industrial School during the coming winter was transacted.

Several arrests are threatened by some of the victims of the Hallowe'en jokers on Monday night. As it only happens once a year they will probably cool off and in a few days forget the incidents.

The local Democrats have arranged for a rally in Excelsior Hall, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The speakers are to be Hon. George Blair, of New York and Captain Edward M. Farrar, U. S. A.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

In response to a call from the comptroller of the currency, Banking and Insurance Commissioner David O. Watkins has completed a statement of the condition of the state banks, saving banks and trust companies of New Jersey at the close of business on September 6. The statement has been delayed longer than usual on account of the failure of or two of the institutions to send in the required returns promptly. There are in the state fifty-eight trust companies with aggregate resources of $138,817,833,51; eighteen state banks with resources of $12,785,674.99 and twiuty-eight savings banks with resources, of $84,952,856.27.

A person who signs himself "F. O. R. Ward," and Plainfield his residence, had a communication in yesterday's New York Sun regarding the New York subway and among other things he says "that apart from its great practical benefit, the most attractive feature of New York's new subway is the finish of the stations. There can be no doubt that the beauty and variey displayed in the tile decorations of the different stations are attracting more attention, as far as the general public is concerned, than any other feature of this great work. But it is positively disheartening to find that it is all to be spoiled by having the stations placarded with a lot of gaudy advertisements."

William Jeffey, the real estate agent, who recently purchased the property at 95 Duer steet, in the borough, has just completed a number of improvements, including the installation of modern plumbing, new heater. He has also cleared the lot of all the old trees and has had the ground ploughed up and the lawn put to the proper grade, which together with a new piazza, a four-foot stone walk to the front door and a two-foot stone walk to the back door, the front and sides of the lawn set off by a row of nice bushes makes the property one of the most attractive in the borough. In the removal of a large maple tree from the sidewalk in front of the house it took three horses and fifteen men to do the work.

—Among the features at the Casino on Election night will be the appearance of the Eureka Trio in the vaudeville show.

—Stephen H. Schleif, the Park avenue baker, who is the Democratic nominee for Freeholder, has been a resident of Plainfield for twenty years and a successful business man for twelve years. He is in every way qualified to serve as a Freeholder, and if elected is sure to serve the best interests of all.

Miss Julia Meaney, of this city, has been spending several days with relatives at High Bridge.

Miss Clara Long, of Park avenue, has been visiting her cousin, Miss Elizabeth Long, of Somerville.

THE AMERICAN MOTTO

DESIRE TO "GET THERE" DETRIMENTAL TO MANHOOD.

Undermines Health and in Many Instances Destroys Nobility of Character—Perpetual Rush.

If we may judge by its effects on those who obey its command, our slang motto: "Get there"—is not an elevating or ennobling one. On the contrary, it is brutalizing. It appeals to the lower and not to the higher instincts in man, says Orison Swett Marden, in Success.

Yet this motto is quoted all over our land. It is demoralizing the law; it is creeping into the pulpit; it speaks from our schools; it looks out of the eyes of the ambitious; it undermines health; and it frequently destroys all nobility of character.

The old-fashioned, slow and sure method of attaining a competency are tabooed. The man who spends half a lifetime in making a fortune is regarded as "slow." Short-cut processes, at any cost, are the demand of the hour. From the time a boy enters school, he is goaded on by unnatural ambitions. He is not satisfied with steady, permanent growth. He must progress by leaps and bounds. Boys and girls are encouraged by their parents to get ahead in their classes, even if they must burn midnight oil and risk their health in order to do so.

Business and professional men are so accustomed to "hurry-up" methods and forcing processes that they find it impossible to relax even after business hours. They want to be on lightning express trains all the time. They cannot enjoy their evenings at home. They are uneasy; their minds are continually on the alert. Constantly living at high pressure, they have lost the power to slow down. Indeed, the modern business man is like a horse which has been trained to run on a track. He is not willing to trot or walk, but must run all the time as if for dear life.

It is pitiable to watch a typical American going to business in the morning. He is not content to sit quietly and relax until the train carries him to his destination in the city. Long before that he leans forward in his seat and makes ready to leap off while the train is moving. With every muscle tense, an anxious, worried expression in his face, and a nervous twitching of the hands, clutching his cane, umbrella, parcel, or the back of the seat in front of him, he wastes enough energy and strength before he reaches his office to execute the labor of half the day.

The same feverish intensity and anxious haste are seen in restaurants, at lunch counters, on the streets, and wherever men and women are intent on business. Yet these people wonder why they are so exhausted at night! They do not realize that every muscle and every nerve in their bodies have been draining off their reserve energy all day, squandering vitality as the leaks in a dam steal the reserve power which would have ground a grist, sawed lumber, or woven cloth had it been forced through the mill wheel.

The life of the average American is feverish unhealthy and unnatural. We are in too great haste with everything, and consequently, lack poise. In the perpetual rush to "get there" we are in very great danger of losing our equilibrium.

Even boys and girls are trying to be leaders. They want to do something unusual—something that will bring them into publicity, and get their names and photographs into the papers. An average student is eager to lead his class, not because he loves knowledge much, but because he loves distinction more. A young clergyman overworks in an effort to be popular. A lawyer becomes prematurely old in trying to keep pace with his practice. A man of affairs keeps himself loaded down with responsibilities, with directorships and memberships in a score of institutions until a paralytic stroke, or heart failure, puts an end to his abnormal activities.

Old age is overtaking men and women in middle life. Under our forcing system people hardly reach full growth before they begin to show signs of decay. What a travesty on life it is to see aged men and women in their thirties and forties!

This pushing and crowding, jamming and elbowing, and rushing at express speed from day to day, from the nursery to the grave, is not life; it is a race for death.

PORT ARTHUR SIEGE

St. Petersburg Fears For Her Manchurian Stronghold.

JAPANESE CONTINUE TO HAMMER IT

Kuropatkin Is Threatened With Flank Movement to Enfold Mukden and Cannot Advance Without Re-enforcements.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A special from St. Petersburg says that despite the brave defense of General Stoessel at Port Arthur a feeling of discouragement is prevalent over the situation. Advancing by parallels close to important fortifications, the Japanese are compelling their opponents to be constantly on guard, and these new tactics are almost impossible to frustrate. Though less spectacular and less costly in men than their former wild and desperate assaults, the methods now being used by the mikado's forces are considered to be far more certain of success.

A Mukden report says that the Japanese may now make a desperate effort to flank General Kuropatkin and compel him to surrender Mukden. If General Kuropatkin is convinced that the Japanese are now numerically superior he may decide to draw off, as it would obviously be unprofitable to risk a general engagement until the vast armies to be placed under his command can reach Manchuria. Whatever happens, however, it is not likely that the Japanese can take Kuropatkin unawares. Repeated reconnoissances beyond the Japanese lines betray the strength and purposes of Field Marshal Oyama's movements. If the Japanese really intend to advance it is likely they will do so immediately and not await the arrival of the eight Russian corps, the first echelon of which is already at Mukden.

A Hancheu report says that everything is quiet all along the line. The trenches of the opposing parties are so close that there are many small collisions, especially during the night. The Japanese on Oct. 30 and 31 heavily cannonaded the Russian right and center, but the attack did not develop into the expected advance. The Russians shelled a village opposite their right flank on Oct. 31. An immediate volume of smoke was seen, followed by the sound of a heavy explosion, and it is supposed that one of the Russian shells exploded a magazine or ammunition train inside the Japanese lines.

Captain Skidonenko was killed on Oct. 28. He had just finished a reconnoissance of the Japanese lines and entered the hut in the village of Dalyantan to write his report when a Japanese shell came in the window and mortally wounded the captain and killed or wounded a number of his men.

A Tokyo report says:

"On Oct. 28 the bombardment of Port Arthur with heavy and other siege guns was continued, and its effect was good.

"Two hundred and eighty-five effective shells have been counted, and besides these several other shells took effect on the forts of Anshu mountain, Itz mountain, Paiyu mountain and on a hill 203 meters high.

"Our naval guns were directed against Sitaiyangkou, Itz mountain, Anshu mountain, Kunchienchuntseying, Paiyu mountain and Sungshu mountain. They exploded a magazine on the Sitaiyangkou fort.

"Five Russian ships which were being used in clearing mines were also bombarded. Three of them were heavily damaged, and the other two were set on fire.

"Other siege guns of different caliber bombarded the trenches lying between the forts and the old Chinese walls."

Russian Reserves Pillage Shops.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—A dispatch from Kiev states that during the mobilization of the reserves in the Kaneff district disorders among the men called out occurred at several places. Liquor shops and houses of Jews were pillaged. At Kaneff troops fired upon rioters and wounded three of them. Similar rioting occurred at the Kazan railroad station.

Farr Charged With Fraud.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—By the decision of the court of appeals of the District of Columbia William Farr, charged with the use of the United States mails to defraud, will have to stand trial before the United States circuit court of the middle district of Tennessee. The indictment against Farr charges that he as "dean of the Nashville College of Law" endeavored to sell for $10 honorary degrees of doctor of laws.

Explosion at Vesuvius.

NAPLES, Nov. 2.—The cone on the crater of Mount Vesuvius which formed during the late eruption fell into the crater with a tremendous roar. There immediately ensued explosions that shook the whole mountain, followed by the emission of an immense black column, which gradually spread, falling in the form of ashes over the surrounding country within a radius of twenty-five miles.

Colonel Flagg a Suicide.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 2.—Colonel A. M. Flagg, who until a few weeks ago was editor of the Duluth News-Tribune, committed suicide late yesterday by drowning. Colonel Flagg, who had been in ill health for some months, recently took a vacation and went to his old home in Rockford, Ill. He returned shortly, but was unable to resume his work.

PRISONER IN A BEAR TRAP

A California Hunter Was Delirious When Rescued After Captivity Lasting Two Days.

Hiram Lake, a homesteader living in the Fish sprngs region, near San Bernardino, Cal., was held a prisoner for two days in a bear trap which he encountered while hunting. That section in the past has been noted as being a favorite place for bears, and as a result traps are quite frequently found. Lake was pressing his way through the brush when he felt something grip his leg, and an excruciating pain shot through his body as the rusty teeth of the trap cut through his boots and sank into the flesh.

He fired away all his ammunition, vainly trying to attract attention, and then used his lungs, calling for help until increasing pain and exhaustion over came him, and he sank insensible. When he revived another day was breaking. He threw all his weight upon the trap, but owing to the manner in which he was imprisoned and the pain which every motion caused, he was unable to release himself, and undoubtedly would have perished, had not assistance come in the person of a trapper named George Young.

Young found Lake in a delirious condition, his leg being swollen almsot double its normal size, and he was tugging with his teeth at the steel trap. It was necessary to throw him down and bind his arms behind him before he could be released. For two days he was cared for by Young, who then started with him for Bakersfield, fearing that unless he received expert attention blood poisoning would set in where the sharp teeth of the trap had lacerated the flesh.

WHAT TO WEAR.

Some Colors Which Are New to the World of Chiffons.

Ashes of roses in an up to date shade of this old fashioned color will take the place in popularity held last year by mole. This ashes of roses is a sad pinkish mauve in many gradations of tone and is particularly fetching in mousseline velours.

Coral pink is another exquisite color, and a charming cloth gown is made in this hue of satin cloth. The skirt is three tiered, with a plain front panel. Each tier is trimmed with a narrow fold of the material, below which are "vanishing plaits" tailor pressed instead of stitched down. The little straight bolero has its fullness worked off in tiny horizontal plaits fastened loosely down the front with small shell buttons and further adorned with wide castellations of cloth edged with gold braid and piped with dull green silk. The same tabs or castellations appear on the wide loose sleeves, under which are gathered undersleeves finished with pointed cuffs.

Most attractive is the little hat illustrated. It is of blue corded panne velvet caught at the side and trimmed about the crown with white ostrich feathers. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE BLOUSE BEAUTIFUL.

Colored Wash Shirt Waists Now Thought Smarter Than White.

The dainty, fresh and natty blouse shirt waist that makes for neatness, smartness and variety shows no sign of declining in popularity when worn with the tailored coat and skirt gown.

There are several new models, among them the surplice and sailor waists, but the most exclusive houses that handle these dainty affairs stick to the old designs in wash materials, those with stitched plaits as far as the bust line having the long shouldered effect and a wide box plait down the front, with mannish small sleeves.

The new materials for waists are charming, and the colored fabrics are

this year considered smarter than the ubiquitous white stuffs that have had such a vogue.

The favored materials are cotton hopsack, homespun, cheviot and the new striped, wash and French flannels, showing all the brown, mauve, copper and reddish tints of the fashionable color scheme.

For more ceremonious occasions waists of filet and brussels net will be very much worn, trimmed in different designs with a half inch soft fiber braid of the same color as the waist material and matching the skirt worn with them.

A dainty separate bodice for evening wear is built of white chiffon with a tucked off the shoulder yoke, about which is a puffing of wide Dresden ribbon, then a ruffle of oriental lace, again a ruffle of Dresden ribbon, and so on, alternately filling in the space to the girdle. The sleeves are formed of two rather tight, full puffs of chiffon, between which is a puffing of Dresden ribbon. The elbow sleeves finish in a fall of oriental lace.

A stunning waist is pictured here of brown silk, with the bretelle-like pieces of copper glinted satin shirred across on cords. The double breasted effect finishes at the neck with revers inset with Russian lace. The chemisette and collar are of pale yellow mousseline. Originality shines forth in the sleeves, which are leg of mutton at the top, rather directoire in the middle and decidedly odd at the bottom, with their deep tight cuffs inset with a V of corded satin. Buttons and belt buckle are of enameled bronze. JUDIC CHOLLET.

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

THE GREATEST NEED.

There sprang now with incredible swiftness upward and outward an Aladdin edifice of illusion. It was as though indeed this genius who had waved his wand and bidden this fairy palace of chimera to arise had used for his material the intangible, iridescent film of bubbles, light as air. Wider and wider spread the balloon of phantasm. Higher and higher it floated, on it fixed the eyes of France. And France laughed, and asked that yet other bubbles should be blown.

All France was mad, and to its madness there was joined that of all Europe. The population of Paris doubled. The prices of labor and commodities trebled in a day. There was now none willing to be called artisan.

"TELL HER IT IS THE LAST."

Every man was broker in stocks. Bubbles, bubbles, dreams, fantasies—these were the things all carried in their hands and in their hearts. These made the object of their desire, of their pursuit unimaginably passionate and frenzied.

With a leap from the somberness of the reign of Louis, all France went to the extreme of levity. Costumes changed. Manners, but late devout, grew debonair. Morals, once lax, now grew yet more lax. The blaze and tinsel, the music and the rouge, the wine, the flowing, uncounted gold—all Paris might have been called a golden brothel of delirious delight, tenanted by a people utterly gone mad.

It was a house made of bubbles. Its domes were of bubbles. Its roof was of bubbles, and its walls. Its windows were of that nacreous film. Even its foundations had naught in them more substantial than an evanescent dream of gauze-like web, frail as the spider's house upon the dew-hung grasses.

Yet as to this latter there should be somewhat of qualification. The wizard who created this fairy structure saw it swiftly grow beyond its original plan, saw unforeseen results spring from those causes which were first well within his comprehension.

Berated by later generations as an adventurer, a schemer, a charlatan, Law originally deserved anything but such a verdict of his public. Dishonest he was not, insincere he never was; and as a student of fundamentals, he was in advance of his age, which is ever to be accursed. His method was but the forerunner of the modern commercial system, which is of itself today but a tougher faith bubble, as may be seen in all the changing cycles of finance and trade. His bank was but a portion of a nobler dream. His system was but one vast belief, one glorious hope.

The Company of the West—this it was that made John Law's heart throb. America—its trade—its future! John Law, dead now and gone—he was the colossal pioneer. He saw in his dreams what we see to-day in reality; and no bubble of all the frenzied Paris streets equaled this splendid dream of a renewed and revived humanity that is a fact to-day.

But there came to this dreamer and doer, at the very door of his success, that which arrested him even upon his entering in. There came the preliminary blow which in a flash his far-seeing mind knew was to mean ultimate ruin. In a word, the loose principles of a dissolute man were to ruin France, and with it one who had once saved France from ruin.

Philippe of Orleans found it ever difficult to say no to a friend, and more so if that friend were a woman; and of the latter sort, none had more than he. Men and women alike, these could all see only this abundance of money made of paper. What, then, was to prevent the regent, all powerful, from printing more and yet more of it, and giving it to his friends? The regent did so. Never were mistresses better paid than those of Philippe of Orleans, receiving in effect faithlessness in return for insincerity.

The notes of the private bank of Law were an absolute promise to pay a certain and definite sum, not a changeable or indefinite sum; and Law made it a part of his published creed that any banker was worthy of death who issued notes without having the specie wherewith to pay them. He insisted that the payment should mean specie in the value of the day on which the note was issued. This item the regent liked little, as being too irksome for his temper. Was it not of record how Louis, the Grand Monarque, had twice made certain millions for himself by the simple process of changing the value of the coin? Dicing, drinking, amorous Philippe, easy-going, shallow-thinking, truly wert thou better fitted for a throne than for a banker's chair!

The royal bank, which the regent himself hastened to foster when he saw the profits of the first private bank of circulation and discount France had ever known, issued notes against which Law entered immediately his firm protest. He saw that their tenor spelled ruin for the whole system of finance which, at such labor, he had erected. These notes promised to pay, for instance, fifty livres "in silver coin," not "in coin of the weight of the standard of this day," as had the honester notes of Law's bank. That is to say, the notes meant nothing sure and nothing definite. They might be money for a time, but not forever; and this the director-general was too shrewd a man not to know.

"But under this issue you shall have all France," said the regent to him one day, as they renewed their discussion yet again upon this scheme. "You shall have the farming of the taxes. I will give you all the foreign trade as monopoly, if you like—will give you the mint—will give you, in effect, as I have said, all France. But, monsieur my director-general, I must have money. It is for that purpose that I appoint you director-general—because I find you the most remarkable man in all the world."

"Your grace," said Law, "print your notes thus, and print them to such extent as you wish, and France is again worse than bankrupt! Then, indeed, you have worse than repudiated the debts of France."

"Ah bah! mon droie! You are ill to-day. You have a migraine, perhaps? What folly for you to speak thus. France hath swiftly grown so strong that she can never again be ruined. What ails my magician, my Prince of Golconda, this morning? France bankrupt! Even were it so, does that relieve me of this begging of De Prie, of Parabere, and all the others? My God, Monsieur L'as, they are like leeches! They think me made of money."

"And your grace thinks France made of money."

"Nay; I only think my director-general is made of money, or can make it as he likes."

And this was ever the end of Law's reproaches and his expostulations. This, then, was to be the end of his glorious enterprises, thought he, as he sat one morning, staring out of the window when left alone. This sordid love for money for its own sake—this was to be the limit of an ambition which dealt in theories, in men, in nations, and not in livres and louis d'or! Law smiled bitterly. For an instant he was not the confident man of action and of affairs, not the man claiming with assurance the perpetual protection of good fortune. He sat there, alone, feeling nothing but the great human craving for sympathy and trust. A line of carriages swept back across the street at his window, and streams of nobles besought entrance at his door. And the man who had called out all these, the man for whose friendship all Europe clamored—that man sat with aching heart, longing, craving, begging now of fortune only the one thing—a friend!

At last he arose, his face showing lean and haggard. He passed into another room.

"Will," said he, "I am at a place where I am dizzy and need a hand. You know what hand it means for me. Can you go—will you take her, as you did once before for me, a message? I cannot go. I cannot venture into her presence. Will you go? Tell her it is the last time! Tell her it is the last!"

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

LARABEE'S MURDER IN PERSIA.

Two of the Ringleaders' Heads Exposed on Bayonets.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Mr. Pearson, United States minister to Persia, has cabled the state department that he has emphatically reiterated his unequivocal demand for the just and proper punishment of those responsible for the murder of Dr. Larabee, the American missionary.

Mr. Pearson also reported that he had just been told by the minister for foreign affairs, who received his information from the crown prince, that six of the accessories to the murder while endeavoring to escape were killed by Persian soldiers and that the remainder of the gang is being pursued actively.

By way of retribution for Larabee's mutilation the Persian military commander had two of the ringleaders decapitated and their heads exposed on bayonets.

THANKSGIVING NOV. 24.

President Has Issued the Regular Annual Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The president has issued the Thanksgiving day proclamation, setting aside Thursday, Nov. 24, "to be observed as a day of festival and thanksgiving by all the people of the United States, at home and abroad."

The proclamation was issued from the state department by Secretary Hay. It acknowledges the debt of the American people to God for the blessings upon the nation during the past year, in which "reward has waited upon honest effort," and calls on the nation devoutly to give thanks unto Almighty God for the benefits he has conferred upon us as individuals and as a nation and to beseech him that in the future his divine favor may be continued to us.

Mystery in Hendrix Death.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 2.—The police are making every effort to ferret out the mystery which surrounds the death of a young man named Hendrix found dead here. Hendrix was dressed in his militia uniform, and his citizen's clothes were found at the armory of the Montgomery Grays. A complete set of burglar's tools was near him, and on Hendrix's person were nitroglycerin, dynamite, fuses, a glass cutter and a pistol. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by electricity. Hendrix was very prominently connected. He was last seen in company with a strange man who had been spotted by the chief of police. This man is believed to have been an expert burglar, who in some way had secured the confidence of Hendrix.

Williams Now Dean of Hierarchy.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—By the death of Archbishop William H. Elder of Cincinnati Archbishop John J. Williams of this city becomes the dean of the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic church in the United States. He is in his eighty-third year, having been born on April 27, 1822. There was a difference of about three years in the ages of the two prelates, Archbishop Elder having been born in 1819. Cardinal Gibbons is the next oldest in the hierarchy. He is seventy years old.

SPORTING NEWS.

FOOTBALL.

Manager Bentley, of the Plainfield High School team, has not yet announced what team they will play Saturday.

The practice of the Orange Field Club last evening was very gratifying to the captain, and to the players. A large number of the players turned out, and a snappy practice was held. The following members of the team were out last night, and will comprise the squad which will play against Alis Saturday: Smith, McVey, Sherwin, Tobin, Todd, William McCullough, John McCullough, Hellyer, Shepard, Emmons, Hamilton and Kenyon.

The Leal's School football team will meet the Montclair eleven in this city on Saturday. The game will be the fourth in the league for the local team. Winning their first game with the Carteret School, they have been defeated in both the succeeding games with the Newark Academy and with Pingry School. They will practice hard this week, in the endeavor to win the game Saturday. Their defeats have in a way been advantageous to them for the fact that they have pointed out some of the weak points. If the knowledge has not come too late, there is still a chance for the Leal's boys to make a showing in the interscholastic league.

The Plainfield High School will have for their opponents Saturday their old rivals, the Rutgers Prep. team. Though in baseball the local team has been victorious, they have not been able to defeat the eleven for several years, and this year they will make a special effort to square accounts with the New Brunswick team. Last year the score was 23 to 0 against the High School, while the Prep team defeated the team of 1903 by an equally bad score. Those who will play in the game on Hope Common Saturday morning for the Plainfield High School are the following: Taylor, fullback; William Douglass, right half; Jack Douglass, left half; Williams, quarterback; Bogart, center; Freeman, left guard; Stager, right guard; Bentley, left tackle; Jahn, right tackle; Rockwell, right end; Jones, left end.

In preparation to the game between the Orange Field Club and the Alis footbal teams, both elevens will be out this week for hard practice. The O. F. C. will have practice on Thursday and Friday, the latter meeting being a signal practice. Alis will also meet on these nights, and will have a strong team to go up against the State challengers. So far no team has been able to defeat the Orange Field Club, and the game Saturday will be the hardest which they have yet played. The Alis players have all been in the game before, many of them having played together before, and although they have not played as many games as the O. F. C. aggregation, they have developed a strong team play which will be hard to gain ground against. The line will be heavier than the Field Club's, though the backs will weigh about the same.

BASKET BALL.

The Whittier and the Leal's second team will play basket ball in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this afernoon. The game will begin at 4:15 o'clock.

Both the first and second basket ball teams of Leal's School were out for practice Monday night on the Y. M. C. A. floor. They put up a good game, and the scrub held the first team down in good style. Those who compose the second team at the present time are the following: Endicott, Howard, Valiant, Rowland, Underhill and Millar.

The Whittier School and the Leal's second basket ball teams will meet on the Y. M. C. A. floor this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The two teams have never met before, and the contest will be an interesting one. The Whittier School boys have played more games than the Leal's team, though the latter will outweigh them by a few pounds. The line up of the Whittier team will be as follows: Alpaugh, center; Woodhull and Loughlin, guards; Briggs and Fountain, forwards.

TENNIS.

The second round in the girls' tennis tournament at the Plainfield High School was played yesterday afternoon on the Ablert street courts, and resulted as follows: Miss Bettman and Miss Gardner were defeated by Miss Taylor and Miss Pierson, 6-3, 6-2. In the last round for the championship in doubles, Miss Cogan and Miss Hasbrouck tied with Miss Taylor and Miss Pierson, each winning four games. The remainder of the set will be played off tomorrow afternoon, starting at 3:30. Miss Cogan was the winner of the girls' singles, while Miss Taylor was the runner up. Miss Pierson and Miss Hasbrouck played a very even game so that the contestants in the finals in doubles are closely matched and the points hard fought yesterday afternoon.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The trial contest for the leaders corps in the Y. M. C. A. junior department will be held tomorrow afternoon in the gymnasium. There will be about ten entries for the contest, and the five receiving the greatest number of points will be appointed leaders. The apparatus work will cover the horse, buck, low bar and high bar.

DIAMOND DUST.

Undoubtedly the last baseball game of any importance to be played this year will be on Election Day between the Hoboken Club and the Bayside. The game will be played at St. George cricket grounds, Hoboken, and will be for the championship of Hudson county and the gate receipts. Waller will probably pitch for the Bayside.

GRACE CHURCH'S RECEPTION.

Annual Affair Last Evening Largely Attended.

Following a service which began at 7:30, last evening, the members of Grace P. E. church held their annual reception in the Guild rooms. The attendance numbered 250 and the affair was a delightful one in every respect. Refreshments were served by the Guild and a social hour was passed during their disposal.

The reception was in charge of the entertainment committee of the Guild of which Mrs. W. T. Maxwell is chairman.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Press Want Ads pay.

—A fire drill was held at the Watchung School in the borough, this morning. The pupils gave a creditable exhibition.

—Small lima beans, the kind that add relish to dinner, are included in the White Label canned goods at Neuman Brothers'. They never fail to please.

—The members of the High School Mandolin and Glee Club will be permanently selected at the close of this week. The candidates have been practicing for the club for several weeks, though it is not yet known who will comprise the various clubs. Samuel Howe will be the leader of the club instead of having a leader from the student body, as has been the custom in former years. Last year the leader of the Glee Club was Charles P. Titsworth, and the head of the Mandolin Club was Chester H. Briggs. Both will be in the club this year, though the management will not be in their hands.

Henry H. Apgar Dead.

Following an illness of one year, Henry H. Apgar, a life-long resident of Somerset county, died at his home between Far Hills and Liberty Corner, Sunday night. He was in his eightieth year and was very well known in this city. He was the stepfather of Counselor Herman O. Hance, who formerly lived in the borough. A wife and two daughters survive him. The funeral was held from the Bedminster church this afternoon.

Called to Hoboken.

Rev. H. F. Randolph, formerly of Grace M. E. church, but now pastor of St. James' church, Elizabeth, has received a call to the Hoboken M. E. church. He has not yet given a decision.

The Third Ward Republicans will meet at the Casino tonight.

There will be a meeting of the Democrats of the township and borough of Fanwood in the Casino at "The Homestead," Fanwood, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Busy Times at the Casino.

Last night was a busy one at the Casino. There was a rehearsal by the Oshkosh Glee Club, the Board of Registry and Election was in session and the Independent Parker Association held a meeting. At the latter meeting only routine business was considered. As yet it is not known whether a mass meeting will be held or not, as there is uncertainty about a speaker.

Burning Grass Call Out Department.

As the result of a rubbage fire yesterday afternoon, the grass in the lot at the head of Franklin place on East Fifth street, burned dangerously near two barns, on the adjacent property. Upon notification the hose wagon was sent to the scene of the fire, only to find that several small boys had beaten the flames out with sticks.

Democratic Smoker.

Tomorrow night the North Plainfield Democratic Club will hold a smoker in their club rooms at 79 Somerset street. Every body is cordially invited.

COMPLETE REGISTRY SHOWS A LARGE INCREASE

TOTAL 4,761 VOTERS IN THE CITY AND 1,461 IN THE BOROUGH.

The registry of voters in the city was completed yesterday and it shows an increase in nearly every district over that of last year. This is accounted for by the fact that this is a Presidential year and the election is of unusual importance.

The total registry of 4,761 is divided as follows:

The vote registered in this city last year is as follows:

First ward—First district, 634; Second district, 308; Second ward—First district, 689; Second district, 319; Third ward—First district, 592; Fourth ward—First district, 504; Third district, 519. Total, 3,564.

In the First district in the borough the registry is 718, and in the Second district 748.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS HAVE A GHOST SOCIAL

GRACE M. E. YOUNG PEOPLE GIVE A PLEASANT HALLOWE'EN AFFAIR.

In the rooms of the Good Government Club on Somerset street, the members of the Grace M. E. church Epworth League enjoyed a Hallowe'en "Ghost" sociable last evening. In addition to appropriate games such as hunting pumpkin seeds, throwing apples through horse shoes and others a delightful programme was given.

It consisted of selections by the "Ghost orchestra," composed of members of the committee assisted by Miss Edna Sebring, an original reading by Mrs. Dyckman Winckler and a vocal selection by Miss Mabel Rose, of Elizabeth. The rooms were appropriately decorated.

Th committee which had charge consisted of the Misses Della Voehl, chairman, Minnie Marsh, Addie Marsh, Grace Clark, Tina Voehl, Mrs. Anna Moss and Messrs. Russel Harden, Benjamin Schuck, Frank Merritt, Clifford Brokaw and Andrew H. Wilson.

PLEASANT WORDS FOR FORMER PLAINFIELDERS

NEWTON, MASS., RESIDENTS WANT THEM FOR OFFICIALS.

In the issue of the Newton Circuit, of Newton, Mass., of Friday, October 28, there appears an article of interest to Plainfielders. It refers to Christopher M. Goddard, brother of George H. Goddard, who was a resident of this city for fifteen years, and Albert A. Tilney, formerly of this city. These pleasant words are said concerning them:

"It has been learned with regret during the past week of Mr. Christopher M. Goddard's refusal to permit his name to be used as a candidate for re-election to the school committee. Of the energy and skill which Mr. Goddard has shown in assisting to solve the many and perplexing problems which have come before the committee during the three years of his incumbency it is unnecessary to speak. It is sufficient, perhaps, to say that rarely has the Sixth ward been represented by a man who has brought to the discharge of his duties a more earnest and sincere purpose faithfully to serve his ward and city, or greater capacity, fidelity, and ability for the accomplishment of his work.

"Of the candidates who are suggested to succeed Mr. Goddard the most prominently mentioned is Mr. Albert A. Tilney, of Grant avenue, who already has the support of a large number of citizens. Mr. Tilney is an honor graduate of Yale, and was captain of the track team in his senior year. After graduation he entered the New York office of Harvey Fiske & Sons, one of the leading banking firms of New York and Boston. In 1895, when he took charge of their Boston office, he moved to Newton Centre and has since been prominently identified with the interests of the village. If elected Mr. Tilney will bring to the discharge of his new duties a mind well trained in scholastic matters and business ability of no mean order."

Lost or Stolen?

Mrs. Leonard Calloway reported to the police, this morning, the loss of a pocketbook containing $50. She was not certain whether she had dropped it somewhere or whether it had been stolen from her.

NEXT ORACLE NUMBER NEARLY DOUBLE IN SIZE

HIGH SCHOOL PUBLICATION TO GO IN CORNER-STONE.

Especially appropriate to the dedication exercises, the November issue of the Plainfield High School Oracle will be a special number, and will be nearly double the size of the ordinary edition. There will be several extra features in the Oracle beside the regular monthly news.

The object of the special issue is that the paper may be put in the corner stone, and in the paper will be the names of all the pupils in the school alphabetically arranged, the names of the faculty and of the Board of Education, the societies in the school and their officers, including the athletic association, the senate, and the battalion, together with the class officers. There will also be a list of the contractors in the new building, and of the former principals, and teachers of the school.

In addition to the Oracle, there will be placed in the corner stone a photograph of the faculty, and of the Board of Education, and several other manuals and records of the school and of the city.

Approaching Marriage.

Miss Ida Frances Connett, of this city, and Edward Clark, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Brooklyn, will be married Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Lillian F. Muirheid, of 125 Liberty street. Rev. J. O. McKelvey will officiate.

HIGH SCHOOL IS DEDICATED

Elaborate Exercises Mark the Laying of the Corner-Stone.

DR. PROBASCO'S SPEECH

Craig A. Marsh Makes Address—Rev. Dr. Richards Delivers Invocation and Rev. E. M. Rodman Benediction—Band Accompanies Pupils' Chorus.

Amid elaborate demonstrations of school spirit, one of the most picturesque scenes ever witnessed in this city took place this afternoon at the laying of the corner stone of the new Plainfield High School. Quantities of red and blue ribbon were in evidence at the ceremony, while school songs and enthusiastic addresses marked the occasion was one which will be long remembered by those who were in attendance. For twelve years, Plainfield has waited for this ceremony, and it is not surprising that it should be greeted with such rejoicing.

New High School.

A large temporary platform was built over the foundation at the northwest corner in order to accommodate the speakers and invited guests. Among those who occupied this platform were Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, State Superintendent Baxter, Deputy Superintendent Betts, Dr. Green, principal of the State Normal School; Dr. William R. Richards, of New York; members of the Plainfield Board of Education, members of the North Plainfield Board of Education, former members of both Boards, members of the Board of Health, Superintendents of schools in the following places: Jersey City, Newark, Paterson, Trenton, Passaic, East Orange, South Orange, Montclair, and towns in the vicinity, members of the State Board of Education, Mrs. George L. Babcock, Ernest R. Ackerman, Alexander Gilbert, William M. Stillman, and J. K. Myers, who offer prizes annually, and the Misses Mary Lock, and Louise Taylor, who wrote the school songs.

The dedication exercises began with a selection by LaVere's band, followed by the invocation by Rev. Wm. R. Richards, former pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, now of the Brick church, New York. The singing of the school song "Plainfield High School," was the next number of the programme. The song was written by Miss Louise Taylor, a graduate of the class of 1903. It was appropriate in wording, spirited, and well sung by the school. The pupils had been trained in singing the special music for the ceremony by Charles L. Lewis, of the faculty.

An address by Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, a graduate of the class of 1872, followed, in which he spoke of the occasion as one of great importance, and one which means much to the city. His remarks were appropriate and deserved the applause with which they were received.

At the conclusion of this address, the dedicatory song, "Alma Mater" was sung by the school. This song was written by Miss Mary Lock, of the class of 1900, and is as follows:

'Tis a day of jubilation,
And of great good cheer;
'Tis a day of consummation,
As we gather here!
'Tis the harvesting of labors
Many years have sown,—
As our hands with eager gladness
Lay this cornerstone!

CHORUS:

Alma Mater! loud we hail thee!
Staunch our hearts and true;—
Standing firm beneath our banner,
'Neath the Red and Blue.

Few the days that we as students
In thy halls may 'bide:
Time shall fill our vacant places
From the ranks outside.
Time shall swell the rising chorus
Of thy love and praise
Thro unnumbered sons and daughters,
In unnumbered days! [CHORUS.

Alma Mater thus we view thee
Rising stone by stone!
Confident behold thy future
In the far unknown;—
As we praise our God to bless thee,
Be our guard and guide,—
Long as 'neath His shining heavens
Firm thy walls abide! [CHORUS.

After the song, Dr. John B. Probasco, president of the Board of Education, delivered the following address:

"Members of the Board of Education and citizens of Plainfield:

"The occasion for which we assemble today, the laying of the corner stone of the new High School of Plainfield, will be one memorable in the history of the city. This building now being erected will be one where the youth of our city of whatever color, creed or nationality may receive that knowledge and wisdom which will fit them for future usefulness in the society or community in which they may live.

"In the spring of 1847 a Town Meeting was held; Dr. C. H. Stillman was chosen first Superintendent of Common Schools, and eight Trustees were elected, one from each of the religious societies in Plainfield. During the summer following, the Trustees decided to provide places for accommodating the school children. They arranged with James Leonard for thirty dollars per month for the use of his building, formerly a hatter's shop, situated on West Front street. Another room was engaged in what had been a cabinet shop, East Front street.

"These hurriedly improvised school rooms with temporary teachers were in readiness for active work the latter part of August, 1847, when the doors were opened and the children gathered. The average attendance of scholars the first four months was 150, as officially reported December 25, 1847.

"The first Public School was erected October, 1848; 254 children were in attendance. The first High School was erected in 1867. The present attendance, November 1, 1904, in the Plainfield schools is 2300.

"New buildings have been erected every few years to accommodate the children, until we have at the present time eight school buildings completed and filled to overflowing. As usual the reports that have come from the various colleges, show that our pupils maintain an excellent standing. This is owing to our able and efficient Superintendent and his able corps of faithful and talented teachers.

"There is no way in which a city government can better appropriate its funds than by the building of institutions of learning where the children of the city may be educated at the public expense. With the doors of our public schools wide open, inviting every child to enter, ignorance in our country is a crime. It is the duty and should be the pride of the citizens of Plainfield to provide for the instruction of the children entrusted to their care.

Superintendent Maxson.

"We desire that every child should possess the means of a good education so that they may grow up to be useful in the city, exerting great influence for good, and be a strength to the government under which they may live and desire protection. I know not what wiser donation any government can bestow than providing instruction for the masses.

"If a private person deserves the applause of all good men who founds a single hospital or college, how much more are they entitled to the appellation of 'public benefactor' who, by the side of the church in every city or town, erect schools for the dissemination of knowledge. Education must be universal.

"It is well when the wise and learned discover new truths, but how much better to diffuse the truths already discovered amongst the multitude. Every addition to true knowledge is an addition to human power, and while a philosopher is discovering one new truth, millions may be propagated among the people. Diffusion then, rather than discovery, is the duty of our day.

"With us the qualification of voters is as important as the qualification of governors and even comes first in the material order. The theory of our government should be not that all men, however unfit, should be voters, but that every man, by the power of reason, education, and sense of duty, shall become a voter. Education must bring the practice as nearly as possible to the theory. As the child now is, so will the sovereign soon be. How can we expect the fabric of the government to stand if vicious materials are daily wrought into the framework?

"Education must prepare our citizens to become municipal officers, intelligent jurors, honest witnesses, legislators, or competent judges of legislation; in fine, to fit all the manifold relations of life; for this end it must be universal. Education alone can conduct us to that enjoyment which is at once best in quality and infinite in quantity.

"If, almost on the day of landing on the New England shores, our ancestors founded schools and endowed colleges, what obligations do not rest upon us, living under circumstances so much more favorable both for providing and using the means of education.

"With nothing in our past history to discourage us, and with much in our present condition and prospects to animate us, let us rejoice that it is our fortune to live at a time when we may expect to behold more wonderful advancement in our city, in all of its great interests, and especially to see greater progress and success attend the cause of education.

"May this building soon to be completed, stand a memorial of the efforts of those who have labored so faithfully for its erection, and a monument to the enlightened public spirit

TALK TO FIRST VOTERS

E. R. Ackerman Addresses Young Men on Politics.

INTELLIGENT VOTING

Business Man Gives Some Advice on Necessity of Using Good Judgment.

"Editor, The Daily Press:

"Many young men will have the privilege next Tuesday of casting their first vote.

"This step of allying ones self with a party is one of the most important acts in a man's life, for the habit once formed of affiliating with a party is not easily broken unless some national crisis seems imminent and then it is only with reluctance that party ties are severed, if the path of duty and honor lies in a direction or with a party other than that of the voters previous predilections and preferments.

"If a young man were given the privilege of being interested in a firm or association where the reputation and character had been of the highest for a long period of years, would he not prefer rather to align himself with the individuals comprising it, rather than with an association of individuals who had played with Repudiation on two successive National occasions If reputation is made by many acts and lost by one dereliction therefrom, certainly the Democratic party has doubly lost its right to claim the suffrages of every intelligent voter by its erratic action in 1896 and 1900. Then again no law on the statute book is irrevocably fixed, even though a candidate for the Executive may so state that it is, for Congress possesses the right by a two-third vote to over-rule the Executive's wishes and very frequently exercises its prerogative. Why, therefore, should a young man desire to vote for a candidate for Congress who openly espoused the cause of Repudiation on two successive occasions and was the ablest champion of Bryanism that that candidate had in this part of New Jersey?

"It is alleged that Mr. Fowler was only present at a few roll calls the last session of Congress, but it should be understood that that does not signify he was not in his seat on many another occasion for roll calls are not an incident that is of regular observance like at school, but because a test is necessary of a quorum's presence and the point is often raised by a member of the opposite party for frivolous reasons or for filibustering purposes. Mr. Fowler has devoted much of his time in research upon the financial question and while Congress may have been frittering away its time, as it often does, on matters of no interest to a particular district, Mr. Fowler may have been employing his abilities in fortifying himself for the time when his knowledge would in such case be of immeasurable value to the whole country. Where is the man, woman or child that has had business of any kind or nature that has communicated with Mr. Fowler and has not received prompt and courteous reply, as well as having his or her matter looked into with all possible dispatch? If there be such a one, I would like to have his or her name and address.

"I know Mr. Fowler well, and I can assure any hesitating voter that if Mr. Fowler is not returned to the next Congress, it will be not only a State but a National calamity.

"Very respectfully,
"Ernest R. Ackerman."

To Tear Down Buildings.

Alex Kane has purchased from the Plainfield Trust Company the Force house and barn on West Second street, near Park avenue, and has been given ninety days in which to remove the buildings. He also has an option on the old row of buildings owned by the Plainfield Trust Compay and located on Park avenue. The company expects to begin the work of erecting its new bank building at the corner of Park avenue and Second street, April 1 next. In the meantime, the work of removing the buildings and preparing plans will go on. Mr. Kane will demolish his newly-purchased buildings and sell the lumber.

Daughters of the Cross Luncheon.

Under the auspices of the Daughters of the Cross, a large charity luncheon was held at the Park Club this afternoon at 1 o'clock. There were over 125 guests present. In addition to the luncheon there was a sale of fancy articles. The affair was in charge of a committee consisting of Mrs. J. C. Peck and Mrs. George T. Rogers.

MACBETH'S TRAGIC LIFE

Subject Discussed by Prof. Edward Howard Griggs.

OUTLINED THE PLOT

The Fourth of the Shakespearean Series Heard by a Large Audience.

Swept on by an uncontrollable ambition, challenging fate at every turn, and finally falling under the natural consequences of sin, Macbeth's life was a tragic one as was vividly portrayed yesterday afternoon by Professor Edward Howard Griggs, in the fourth of his Shakespearean lectures in Vincent chapel. The title of the lecture was "The Tragedy of Ambition," and the theme was clearly presented.

The visible consequences of the sin, the inevitable punishment which the natural forces of the world work upon the criminal, and the horrible results of Macbeth's deeds are, as the speaker said, pictured with Shakespeare's usual co-operation with the laws of humanity. So completely is the author's dramatic instinct displayed that in spite of the thrilling tragic scenes with which the play abounds, the nervous tension of the reader is always relieved by the introduction of some descriptive and beautifully poetic passage. None of the horrifying murder scenes are presented on the stage, as in the drama "Julius Caesar." The point of view in these two tragedies is different, so that in Macbeth the tragic scenes are presented only indirectly, and yet none of the force of the play is lost.

The lecturer outlined the plot of the drama at some length, referring to the various characters, and comparing them with other creations of Shakespeare's pen. He spoke of the three main tragedies of passion, Othello, Lear and Macbeth, the first representing the passion of jealousy, the second rage, and the last ambition.

Professor Griggs pointed out the fact that the play was perhaps written in a hurried manner as would be suggested by the rapid, impetuous movement of the verse; yet there is no ethical force incomplete, as in the "Merchant of Venice," no problem unsolved as in "Hamlet." Professor Griggs' reference to the character of Lady Macbeth was decidedly interesting and instructive. The possessor of an indomitable will, she added to her husband's wavering resolve her remarkable nerve, until swamped in crime, he exclaims "I am in blood stepped in so far that, should I wade no more, returning were as tedious as go o'er," and from that time pursues his murderous course, blindly, while his wife breaks beneath the strain, and succumbs to death. In the eventual ruin of Macbeth, is seen the natural outcome of a passion, which, uncontrolled and irresistable, spurred on by the prophecies of fate, and by a woman's taunts, leaves its owner entirely in the power of circumstances and a challenger of destiny.

WHITTIER VS. LEAL'S

The Former Team Won in a Well-Played Basket Ball Game.

In a well played game of basket ball in which both teams were evenly matched, the Whittier School five defeated the second team from Leal's School by the score of 9 to 6. The game was played yesterday afternoon on the Y. M. C. A. floor and was largely attended. The features of the game were the playing of Loughlin, of the Whittier School, and Howard's shooting on the Leal team.

The following was the line up of the two aggregations: Whittier—Briggs and Loughlin, forwards; Alpaugh, center; Woodhull and Fountain, guards. Leal's second—Howard and Underhill, forwards; Millar, center; Rowland and Valiant, guards. Referee, Collier; umpire, Chapman. Goals from the field, Loughlin, 2; Fountain, Briggs, Howard, 3. Goals from fouls, Loughlin.

Japanese Studies in Mission Work.

Interesting papers in connection with the year's study of Japan were read at the meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room. The second paper on "The Island Empire," was given by Miss Florence Marsh and another paper followed on "Japan Folk-lor" by Mrs. George Chapman. Current events were given by Mrs. George Bachelor.

THE MISSES COGAN AND HASBROUCK WIN

IN FINAL ROUND OF P. H. S. GIRLS' TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Winning the final round in the girls' tennis tournament at the Plainfield High School, Miss May Cogan and Miss Margaret Hasbrouck are the champions in doubles for the year 1904. They defeated the Misses Taylor and Pierson in a hard fought match yesterday afternoon on the Albert street courts. The score was 7-5, 5-7, 6-2. In the first two sets, the two teams played a remarkably even game, contesting each point for a long time. Rallies several minutes in length were frequent. They turned the tables on each other in these sets, Miss Taylor and Miss Pierson bracing in the second, and winning out by the same score.

In the final set, the players seemed tired out, and the game was not as good. The losing pair appeared outclassed, and the victory was comparatively easy for Miss Cogan and Miss Hasbrouck by the score of 6-2. The Girls' Athletic Association has not yet purchased cups for the winners of the tournament in doubles, though it is thought that they will procure them in the near future. It is the plan of the association to have the cups presented when the field meet honors are awarded to the boys of the school.

ENTRIES FOR RACES AT THE DRIVING PARK

COMPLETE LIST FOR SATURDAY'S EVENT ON THE TRACK.

The programme for Saturday's races at the Plainfield Driving Park has been completed, and the event will be an attractive one. There are a large number of entries for the three trotting and pacing races, while the same horses that ran in the running race last week will be on the track Saturday.

The following is the card for Saturday's races:

2:40 class—Sadie Smith, owned by L. D. Wood, of this city; Lady Trevel, owned by J. H. Green, of this city; Sunday, owned by D. Darby, of this city; Cegier, owned by H. Uhrhahn, of this city; Alcottie, owned by M. Hodges, of Somerville; Brightston, owned by B. Thorn, of Rahway; Aleysia, owned by N. B. Smalley, of this city; Ruby Stranger, owned by H. Evans, of Westfield.

Trouble From Hallowe'en.

The aftermath of a Hallowe'en prank will take place in the city court tomorrow morning when Percy Phillips, Charles Koff and John Miller will be arraigned on a charge of assault brought against them by Abram King, of West Seventh street. The complainant alleges that they annoyed him at his home all evening and that when he went out to remonstrate he was tripped up and struck several times.

Kept Wedding a Secret.

Mrs. Catherine Honan, of West Fourth street, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Mary L. Honan, to Eugene A. Reid, of this city, formerly of Nashua, N. H. The ceremony was performed on Wednesday, October 26, and was kept a secret by the young people until yesterday.

Fainted in a Carriage.

While returning to her home on Watchung avenueg in a carriage last night, Miss Dolly Bolsterli had a fainting spell and she fell receiving a slight cut over the left eye. The ambulance was summoned and she was taken to the hospital for treatment.

Miss Addie Weaver, of Brooklyn, has been visiting her father, Peter V. Weaver, of this city.

IRVING CLARK MARRIES

Takes Miss Nivin, of Moorestown, As His Bride.

MANY GUESTS PRESENT

Ceremony Performed by Rev. William P. Finney, the Bride's Pastor, Assisted by Dr. Zelie.

Miss Elizabeth De La Cour Nivin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Farr Nivin, of Moorestown, Burlington county, and Irving Wayne Clark, son of E. B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, were married last evening at 6 o'clock in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, in the presence of a large number of guests from this city and distant points. Rev. William P. Finney, pastor of the Moorestown Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Adele Nivin, of Moorestown, as maid-of-honor, and the best man was Frederick Clark, of Philadelphia, cousin of the groom. The ushers were Arthur Clark, of Philadelphia, cousin of the groom; Sydney Arthur Babson, of Orange; Malcolm Bonsall, of Morristown; Owen Fleming, W. L. Glenney and Lawrence Tweedy, of this city.

While the wedding march was being played by Arthur Drake, organist of the church, the bride accompanied by her father, who gave her in marriage, was preceded up the aisle of the church by the ushers and the maid-of-honor. At the altar they were met by the groom, best man and officiating ministers. Following the ceremony the bridal party left the church for the home of the groom's father, where a reception was held for the immediate family.

The decorations at the church were quite elaborate. There was an arrangement of chrysanthemums and southern smilax about the pulpit platform, the prevailing colors being green and white. At the home where the reception was held the floral decorations were very attractive. There were pink roses and chrysanthemums in the parlor, while in the dining room there were pink roses, chrysanthemums and white cosmos, a large basket occupying a position in the centre of the table being filled with these flowers.

The bride was gowned in mousseline satin, trimmed with Brussels lace, wore a veil and carried lilies of the valley and bride roses. The maid-of-honor's gown was of pompadour net with pink girdle, and she wore a white beaver hat with pink chiffon strings, and carried pink chrysanthemums.

The ushers were boutonnieres of lilies-of-the-valley.

The bride was the recipient of a large collection of gifts, of great value and use, including silver and goldware, cutglass, linen, furniture and many other articles.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Clark left the city to enjoy a honeymoon. Upon their return they will reside in this city. Mr. Clark is a graduate of Princeton Class '02, engineers, and holds a responsible position with the Phoenix Assurance Company, of London, in the New York office. Both he and his wife have a host of friends and acquaintances who extend their best wishes for their future happiness and success. Owing to the long illness of the groom's father it was arranged to have the wedding celebrated in this city, it being impossible for him to make the trip to Moorestown, the home of the bride.

The music at the reception was furnished by the Imperial Orchestra, directed by Charles M. Suhr. The selections as well as the 'cello solos by Robert Reitz, of New York, were well rendered and greatly enjoyed.

Joseph Bomann Buried.

Funeral services over Joseph Bomann were held last night from the late home on Putnam avenue. Addresses were made by George McCandless, of Philadelphia, and S. A. Ridout, of Baltimore, while James F. Parker, of this city, offered prayer. The remains were interred in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, today.

Italian Benefit Society.

A certificate of incorporation has been filed in the office of the Union county clerk by the Plainfield Italian Sick and Benefit Association, the trustees of which are Michael Colucci, Leonardio Damoino Vencenzo.

—Neuman Brothers recommend the White Label brand of small lima beans. They are guaranteed to be among the best in the market and make an excellent addition to dinner.

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

Public Library Notes.

The Library's previous list of 100 good short stories, printed in The Daily Press February 11 and 18, proved so popular, that another list has been compiled, which it is hoped may be equally so.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL ARGAIN SEEKERS.

Paul Nachtway, of Watchung avenue, carries a full line of foreign and domestic cheeses, his delicatessen store being one of the best in the city.

The coal handled and sold by Boice, Runyon & Co., of Park avenue, is noted for its cleanliness and general satisfaction in giving heat with the less possible waste.

There is absolutely no danger in using milk, cream, butter and eggs purchased of Marchant Brothers, of North avenue. The greatest care is exercised in the selection.

If your furnace or range needs any attention consult A. H. Enander, of Park avenue. He will promptly attend to all orders. He also contracts to do first-class plumbing and heating.

Try Nagle's sarsaparilla and blood purifier. It's the best thing for you in your present run down condition. He also has extracts of malt, beef, wine and iron, which will be good for you.

No experimenting, no injury to walls and no heavy charges if W. H. Pope is allowed to wire the house for electric lights or bells. His men are all experienced and he guarantees all contracts he undertakes.

Greer & Greenwood, the latest outfitters in gentlemen's furnishings of all kinds, would be glad to hear from you if you need any fall or winter goods. They are handling the best stock, and supplying the best customers.

An inspection of Lindsay & Company's farm on Mountain avenue, will convince you that everything connected with the output of milk from the farm is perfectly clean, and that the utmost attention is given to the work.

Eggerding's cigars have been used by Plainfield smokers for many years and they are still giving entire satisfaction. The "know-how" is needed in cigar making just the same and may be more as in other lines of manufacturing.

It's a little early to think of Thanksgiving dinners, but when you do buy your turkey, go to VanSickle, of North avenue. You might as well have good meals between now and Thanksgiving, and if you trade with VanSickle you'll have something to be thankful for.

Most people say they don't care to take up amateur photography because of the bother of developing. That's where the fun comes in and a few trials will suffice to make anyone an expert. Frank H. VanWinkle, of North avenue, the camera supply man, will make suggestions upon request.

Though real winter weather does not come for a month yet, it is time to think of heavy underwear. One of the departments in I. H. Boehm's big store is devoted to the sale of these garments and for the next few weeks they will be let go at rock-bottom prices. The exhibition at Boehm's millinery department is still on.

No need to put off getting that suit or overcoat if the system of credit inaugurated in Plainfield by the People's Credit Clothing Company is taken advantage of. Goods may be obtained without security and the terms of payment are made to suit the purchaser. The firm's showrooms are located at 131 East Front street and Manager Adelberg is always pleased to open new accounts.

Catarrh and Hay Fever.

Liquid Cream Balm is becoming quite as popular in many localities as Ely's Cream Balm solid. It is prepared for use in atomizers, and is highly prized by those who have been accustomed to call upon physicians for such a treatment. Many physicians are using and prescribing it. All the medicinal properties of the celebrated Cream Balm are contained in the Liquid form, which is 75 cts. including a spraying tube. All druggists, or by mail. Had Almost Given Up In Despair.

Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure Brought Health.

It is with a feeling of thankfulness that I write you this letter, and if it will be of any benefit to suffering humanity, you have my permission to publish it.

I was suffering with my kidneys when I saw your advertisement offering a free sample of Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure. I got the sample and was so much benefited by it that I continued taking the medicine, and now I am entirely well. I had tried many things to relieve me of the awful pain in my back and when I had almost given up in despair, Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure brought the relief for which I had so long hoped.

ARROW FLEW INTO SPACE.

Baldwin's Airship Escaped Attendants and Was Soon Out of Sight.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—While Captain Baldwin of San Francisco, inventor of the California Arrow, and several assistants were returning the airship from the place it landed in a St. Louis county cornfield after its unsuccessful flight to the world's fair aeronautic concourse the lead rope was dragged from the hands of Baldwin's assistants, and the airship broke loose and soared into the air. When last seen the airship was drifting rapidly in a northwesterly direction.

The airship escaped just as the persons towing it into the concourse had reached the immediate vicinity of the fair grounds. There was a trolley line to be crossed, and it was necessary to pass the prow of the craft over the trolley wire and catch the down hanging rope and then release the rope that hung from the rear. In the darkness those manipulating the ropes miscalculated, and both the front and the rear ropes were released at the same time. In a twinkling the buoyant airship, from which had been taken twenty-five pounds of ballast and which was not even incumbered with Aeronaut Knabenshue, shot up and was gone. In the dim light projected by the nearest arc light the yellow balloon loomed indistinctly, but for enough space of time to show the light wind was carrying it toward the northwest.

There was absolutely nothing for Baldwin, Knabenshue and the other members of the party to do but accept the situation and make the best of it. After some little discussion as to the probable direction, Baldwin said he believed the Arrow would descend to the ground within an hour. The party then proceeded on to the concourse, where the announcement that the airship had escaped caused general consternation among the crowd that had remained expecting to see the Arrow brought back.

The Arrow should land easily and unless a high wind rises should be none the worse for its unauthorized ascension.

CANNOT HOLD OUT LONGER.

Port Arthur Garrison Now Believed In Extremes.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—St. Petersburg advices this morning say that there is considerable anxiety there over the military situation. Little news has been received from Mukden, General Sacharoff's report merely indicating that matters were at a deadlock around Shakhe. The Japanese have made some tentative moves on both flanks, which were checked, but there are no signs yet of a general advance by their army.

Foreign reports from Port Arthur are decidedly gloomy. While the authorities continue to profess confidence in General Stoessel's ability to hold out, the popular feeling is that the heroic garrison, which already has made a historic defense, must now be near the limit of human endurance.

A Vladivostok report says that great excitement has been caused there by the arrival in port of a number of commercial vessels with much needed supplies. There has been a heavy snowstorm, and winter is setting in. Most of the naval attaches have already left Vladivostok. General Artamanoff, chief of division, who has been quartered there, has left.

VAUGHAN TOOK IT COOLLY.

Manager of Loring Hotel Shot Dead In Dispute Over Bill.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—A quarrel over a receipt for the payment of a board bill resulted in the killing of Hayden Y. Loring, manager of the Loring hotel, near the exposition grounds, by Norman M. Vaughan, manager of the Elks Publishing company. Vaughan fired several shots at Loring, all of which took effect, and he dropped dead. The shooting was witnessed by Vaughan's thirteen-year-old sister, Oma, who stood near Loring, it is said, beseeching her brother not to fire.

Vaughan quietly left the hotel, boarded a street car and went downtown, where he was arrested on the street after having talked for an hour with several friends, to whom he did not mention the shooting. Vaughan refused to make a statement other than to say he had fired in self defense.

Higgins at Cobleskill, N. Y.

COBLESKILL, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Lieutenant Governor F. W. Higgins, addressing a Republican meeting here last night, said in part: "Judge Herrick in his speech at Plattsburg said that he wanted no man to vote for him who had voted for Theodore Roosevelt. I am heartily in accord with him along this line, but I am not in accord with the charges he made against the president of the United States when he called him a Devery politician. It is a disgrace to hear one make such a statement."

New Cruiser Stood Speed Test.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—With perfect weather and sea conditions the armored cruiser West Virginia went over the Cape Ann course for her official four hour speed trial and developed an average speed of 22.14 knots per hour. The contract with the United States government, for whom the vessel was built, called for a sustained average speed for four hours of 22 knots per hour.

Fall of Barge Killed Two Men.

QUINCY, Mass., Nov. 3.—A big steel barge which was being built for the Standard Oil company at the Fore River Shipbuilding company's yards slipped from the blocks and fell upon a number of workmen. The gates of the yard were closed immediately after the accident, but reports from the workmen within were to the effect that two were killed and five injured.

WILL ASK FOR DEWEY

British Government Want Our Admiral on Commission.

VERDICT ON NORTH SEA KILLING.

Hull Jury Say "Fishermen Were Killed Without Warning or Provocation" by Shots From Russian War Vessels.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—It is officially announced that the basis for the British-Russian agreement to submit the North sea incident to a commission insures an amicable settlement without a sequel. The understanding is complete.

Now that the war rumors have been cleared away, it is possible to state that Great Britain disclaimed any intention of trying to detain the Russian squadron, which could only be interpreted as a hostile act.

It transpires that five and not four Russian officers left the squadron at Vigo and are now on their way to St. Petersburg. The fifth is Captain Clado, Admiral Skrydloff's chief of staff.

It is now regarded as almost certain that the commission will sit in Paris and be composed of five naval officers, one Russian and one British, each power to choose another member and the four to select a fifth. Russia has practically named Admiral Kaznakoff and Britain Sir Cyprian Bridge, although the latter selection is not absolutely settled.

Great Britain expressed her intention of asking that a United States naval officer sit on the commission, whereupon Russia announced that she would select a French officer. There is a strong intimation that Great Britain will invite Admiral Dewey to be one of the commissioners.

Officers of such a character as those mentioned insure the acceptance of the findings of the commission by both countries and the world.

Late advices from Hull say George Henry Smith and William Leggett were at about 12:30 a. m. on Oct. 22, while out fishing with trawls aboard the British steam trawler Crane, with board of trade marks exhibited and regulation lights burning, killed by shots fired without warning or provocation from certain Russian war vessels at a distance about a quarter of a mile."

This is the text of the jury's verdict at the coroner's inquest on the fishermen victims of the North sea tragedy. At the request of the British government, represented by the Earl of Dysart, solicitor of the treasury, this conservative award was rendered by the first court of inquiry preceding the sessions of the international tribunal. The government asked the jury not to find a verdict of willful murder or manslaughter because "delicate negotiations are going on, which should not be made more difficult, and they ought not to let any one think they had prejudged the case before having heard both sides." In consequence the jury simply set forth the facts proved by the evidence of physicians, experts on explosives and the trawlers themselves.

The testimony consisted of medical evidence, by which it was proved that the death of Smith and Leggett was the result of shell and machine gun wounds. Then an expert identified fragments of shells by private marks, which, he said, were undoubtedly Russian, and the stories of captains and mates of the trawlers. These latter related that while they were engaged in their regular work the ships of the Baltic fleet in two squadrons emerged suddenly from the haze and, throwing the glare of their searchlights on the Gamecock fleet, without warning and disregarding flare green lights, the fisherman's signal, and though within actual speaking distance of one vessel, commenced a cannonade which the fishermen at first, not realizing the danger, enjoyed, thinking it was a sham fight. The firing lasted half an hour.

To each of these witnesses was put the vital question regarding the presence of a foreign vessel or torpedo boat. Each with equal positiveness denied that at any time preceding or during the firing was a Japanese, British or other foreign vessel seen by them or the accompanying fishing fleet. It was also stated that there were no Japanese among the crews and that none of the trawlers carried arms of any description. One of the skippers, replying to a question by the coroner, said that during the five weeks he was in the North sea he had not seen any warships until that night.

It is reported that the channel, Mediterranean and East Indian squadrons have received instructions to shadow Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet throughout its progress.

Admiral Rojestvensky is expected to arrive at Tangier today.

A British man-of-war at Malta is busily coaling, preparing to watch the Baltic squadron.

Acquitted of Whipping Negro.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 3.—A special from Edgefield, S. C., says: "G. P. Sawyer and M. R. Prince, the two chain gang overseers charged with whipping to death Wade Hartley, were acquitted here. The state failed to prove that the deceased came to a violent death or that the defendants did him any violence."

Eva Booth to Command.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 3.—A telegram from Salvation Army headquarters in Toronto announces the new commissioners for the army in the United States and Canada. Miss Eva Booth, who for eight years has been in command in Canada, will be commander in the United States, with headquarters in New York.

INDEPENDENT VOTE.

Judge Parker Says It Holds Balance of Power.

FLIGHT OVER CONNECTICUT PLANNED

Democratic Presidential Candidate Spoke Before Germans In Cooper Union and at Mass Meeting at New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Judge Parker set out "whirlwinding" again last night, making two speeches, one at Carnegie hall and the other at Cooper Union, here.

The judge was in tiptop form. His campaign managers are only sorry now that they did not send him on a tour of the country. They believe that if they had done so there would be no doubt now of Democratic success.

The judge went first to Cooper Union, where the "Watch on the Rhine" was being intermingled with the "Star Spangled Banner," and thousands of the sons of the fatherland and their descendants awaited him.

The German-American Parker union had invited the judge to address the German voters, and hearty welcome was prepared.

A flight over Connecticut has been planned by the Nutmeg State managers, stopping at Bridgeport, Hartford and New Haven.

At Carnegie hall a big crowd was in waiting to give the Democratic candidate for the presidency a greeting. It was several minutes before the applause which signaled his appearance on the platform died away. Then the judge spoke briefly in part as follows:

"I have come here from a crowded meeting of another great body of independent voters—from the German-American meeting at Cooper Union.

"We have no more independent, no more law abiding, no more useful, no more loyal body of citizens than those who acknowledge themselves the offspring of the great Germanic mother, the fountainhead of much which is best in our modern civilization.

"In the hands of the independent voter lies the balance of power, and it is well that this is so. A country deprived of the advantage of an independent vote strong enough to determine the result of an election when moral issues are at stake has sunk to a point where mere political advantage and selfish greed alone are recognized as swaying human action.

"I recognize on behalf of the Democratic party that the support in this campaign of the independent vote gives not alone an assurance of victory, but an abiding faith that that for which we are contending is the right.

"Now, what are the issues upon which you are called to adjudge in this campaign? In very fact they are both few and simple.

"We have grown tired of seeing individuals made rich by legislation, and we fear the results which have arisen and will arise from familiarizing our citizens with the idea that wealth is to be acquired through governmental favoritism.

"The instant it is recognized as accepted doctrine that the government of the United States is a dispenser of favors that instant it becomes, I had almost said, the "duty" of every great combination of capital to seek to control the government.

"Moreover, in its train this great evil of partial monopolies fostered by the tariff has brought its twin sister, domestic monopolies, to feed upon the people.

"And the highest reward which I shall hope to gain will be that I have kept the covenant now made with you, to be your constitutional and your dutiful representative, to the end that we, the people of the United States, may live over again in experience and in result the historic days of simplicity and prosperity in this land born of high resolves and nurtured in the truth of principles.

"To all this I stand pledged."

Bradley Martin-Phipps Wedding.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—Helen Phipps, daughter of Henry Phipps of Pittsburg and New York, and Bradley Martin, Jr., were married at Kiltarlity parish church, Inverness-shire, Scotland, by the archdeacon of London, Dr. Sinclair. The ceremony was largely attended by local society and friends from London. Henry Phipps gave away his daughter, who was attended by her sister Amy as maid of honor. There was a large reception afterward at Beaufort castle.

Honeymoon Auto Tour In Europe.

FLORENCE, Italy, Nov. 3.—Miss Elizabeth Carruthers and W. G. Beale, both of Chicago, were married here yesterday. The civil ceremony occurred at the historic Palazzo Vecchio, the seat of the municipality of Florence. The witnesses were Francis B. Keon, the American consul, and Dr. Paggi. The religious service took place at the English church of St. Mark, the Rev. H. Tanner officiating. The couple left this city in an automobile for Pisa, the Riviera and Paris.

Mayor of New York at Hudson.

HUDSON, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Mayor McClellan of New York city addressed a big Democratic mass meeting here last night in the Elks theater and afterward spoke at an overflow meeting held at the Democratic clubhouse. Corporation Counsel Delaney of New York also addressed both meetings.

Russia to Recognize Passports.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The state department received a cablegram from the American embassy at St. Petersburg which warrants it in the assumption that the Russian government will soon agree to recognize passports of American Jews traveling in Russia.

DANDELION AT JAMAICA.

Remsen Handicap Won by the Favorite In 1:06 4-5.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The Remsen handicap, five and a half furlongs, the feature of the closing day at Jamaica, was easily won by the 15 to 20 favorite, Dandelion. The distance was run in the fast time of 1:06 4-5.

Dandelion broke in front and made all the pace, winning by two lengths from Gamara, who in turn was the same distance in front of Pasadena.

Bar Le Duc, a 50 to 1 shot and practically unbacked, won the second race by a head from Brigand.

Racing at Woonsocket.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Nov. 3.—Great Medium, the favorite, won the concluding heat in the 2:27 trot in a head and head finish with Rose Mack at the Trotting park. Little Heart, the favorite, broke badly in the 2:10 pace and was distanced in the second heat. The race went to Alfalfa in straight heats.

Thorn Hedge at Latonia.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 3.—Thorn Hedge easily won the feature event at Latonia, the handicap steeplechase over the short course. Determination, Thorn Hedge and Kurtzman were the three successful favorites. Belle's Commoner broke down in the second race after being heavily backed.

German Golf Cup For America.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—The finals in the tournament for the golf championship of Germany were played here yesterday. The championship cup was won by Dr. G. O. Walker, an American, with Franklin H. Mason, the American consul general at Berlin, as runner up.

Tufts Team Not a Factor.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 3.—Brown defeated Tufts at football in very easy fashion here by a score of 41 to 0. At no time was the Tufts eleven a factor in the scoring. Brown's offense was very strong, gaining five and ten yards at each rush.

RESERVOIR BURST.

Nine Winston-Salem (N. C.) People Killed by Freed Water.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 3.—A reservoir of the municipal waterworks, located near the center of Winston-Salem, N. C., broke at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, causing the loss of nine lives and the injury of four or five persons.

D. L. Payne, a traveling man of Greensboro, was very badly hurt, but may recover, though his condition prevents his removal to the hospital now.

The north side of the reservoir, which is thirty feet high, tumbled over, falling upon the home and barn of Martin V. Peeples. There were about 800,000 gallons of water in the reservoir, and the mad stream rushed northeast to the Southern railway cut and thence to Belos Landing, a distance of half a mile. Four tenement houses were washed several hundred yards.

There were several miraculous escapes. A colored man and his wife, named Davis, after their house was turned over floated upon the stream of water on their bed to the railroad junction, a distance of 500 yards. They lodged upon a heap of rubbish and walked out without a scratch.

BIRTHDAY OF PANAMA.

President Amador Says the Country Enjoys Absolute Peace.

PANAMA, Nov. 3.—Today being the anniversary of the independence of the republic of Panama, the occasion was celebrated in various ways throughout the country. On the invitation of President Amador, General Davis, governor of the canal zone, attended a te deum mass, with many zone employees. The anniversary was observed by President Amador in the issuance of a proclamation reviewing events in Panama since it became an independent government. The whole country, this proclamation says, enjoys absolute peace. Referring to relations with the United States, President Amador said:

"The high ideals that I am pleased to recognize in the official acts of the United States government, our best and noble ally, induce me to wait in confidence that all pending differences will be ended as the honor and true interests of both nations demand."

Was Convicted on False Testimony.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Governor John L. Bates has pardoned John J. Fitzgerald, a Cambridge peddler, who was sentenced to the state prison five months ago after conviction on a charge of felonious assault upon Mary A. Kean, a nurse of Brighton. The young woman recently declared that her accusation against Fitzgerald was false and was due to jealousy. Fitzgerald was sentenced to a term of not less than three nor more than five years.

Struck on Health Plea.

NORTHFIELD, Vt., Nov. 3.—Three hundred granite cutters employed by E. S. Ellis & Co., and Cross Bros. struck, their grievance being that the surface machines are said to be not properly inclosed. Dust from the machines, the men claim, fill the shops, endangering the health of the employees.

Bond Government Returned.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 3.—Election returns confirm the success of the Bond government. Completed polls of St. John's west show the election of Sir Edward Morris, minister of justice, and his two Bondite colleagues by an aggregate majority of 1,321 votes.

Death of a St. Louis Boodler.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—J. A. Sheridan, a former member of the house of delegates, who was indicted on a bribery charge and convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years, is dead at the Jefferson hospital from tuberculosis.

WOMEN'S SYMPATHY

Is Proverbial — Plainfield Women No Exception.

How much we owe to the sympathetic side of womankind. When others suffer they cheerfully lend a helping hand. They tell you the means which brought relief to them that you may profit by their experience. Read the testimony given here by a Plainfield woman:

Mrs. R. Wortman, living with her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Cook, of 204 Somerset street, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results for severe pains across my back and hips, which no doubt was caused by the kidneys being out of order. It was painful for me to stoop or bend forward and I could not sit ten minutes in one position but had to be continually changing about. I used many different kinds of medicine recommended for kidney trouble but I could not see that any of them benefitted me. Doan's Kidney Pills were procured for me at L. W. Randolph's drug store and it is the only remedy I ever used that gave me any benefit."

TAFT AT ALBANY.

Secretary of War Denies Parker's Charge of Extravagance.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Secretary of War William H. Taft was the principal speaker last night at the largest Republican mass meeting held here since the opening of the campaign. Before an audience that crowded the largest hall in the city he spoke for an hour and three-quarters in defense of the Republican federal administration and the conduct of affairs in the Philippines.

In replying to Judge Parker's charges of administrative extravagance he took up each item of the national appropriation, dwelling particularly upon the appropriations for river and harbor improvements and coast fortifications. He answered Mr. Olney's assertion that the Roosevelt administration had been one of "swagger and blood" by calling his hearers' attention to the defenseless condition the country would have been in had Mr. Olney's action in the Venezuela matter resulted in war, as, he claimed, it nearly did result.

The speaker declared that Judge Parker was unreasonable in objecting to the expenditure of public money to enable Governor Wright of the Philippines to cable his reply to the charges regarding those islands made by the Democratic candidate. "It seems to me," said he, "that Judge Parker is pleading the baby act." Secretary Taft dwelt upon the recent letter of H. Parker Willis regarding the Philippines, saying that it was refuted by figures.

TEN MINERS KILLED.

Mine Cage Fell 1,700 Feet at Auchincloss Shaft.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 3.—Ten miners have been crushed to death or drowned in the Auchincloss shaft of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company at Nanticoke near here. The victims, with the exception of one, are said to be Poles and Slavs.

The men had taken their position in the cage to be lowered into the shaft, the total depth of which is 1,700 feet. At the bottom is a sump filled with water. The shaft is a double one, with two carriages. When the signal was given the engineer began to lower the cage, and, it is supposed, the engine got beyond the control of the engineer.

One of the cages shot upward to the sieve at the top of the shaft, and this caused the other cage, carrying the men, to become overbalanced, and it fell to the bottom of the shaft. A party of rescuers was organized quickly, but the work of rescue was difficult. The sides of the shaft were torn out by the car in its mad run to the bottom, and the foot of the shaft was filled with debris of all kinds. The bodies were horribly mangled. Those that were not killed outright by the fall were drowned in the sump.

Fairbanks at Thirteen Points.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 3.—From Michigan City to Lafayette Senator Charles W. Fairbanks' special train stopped at thirteen different points. In his first speech of the day, at Michigan City, the senator referred pointedly to the charges against Chairman Cortelyou, contained in the recent speeches of Judge Parker. All of the senator's addresses were warmly applauded. At Logansport the secretary of the treasury, Leslie M. Shaw, joined the party, and afterward Senator Fairbanks addressed the evening meeting at Lafayette.

DYNAMITE EXPLODED

Disaster at Mount Vernon Hurt Forty.

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT IS UNKNOWN.

Italian Guard on Box of Explosive Has Disappeared, and It Is Thought He Was Blown to Atoms. Two Others May Die.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—A terrific explosion of dynamite occurred at Mount Vernon, causing injuries to about forty persons. It did damage to property that is estimated at $100,000.

It is feared that one life was lost. An Italian who was guarding the box containing the dynamite has not been seen since the explosion, and it is believed that he must have been blown to atoms.

A box containing a hundred pounds of dynamite lying close to the tracks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and under a bridge which crosses the tracks at the foot of Bond street was exploded in some unknown manner. Red flags had been placed as danger signals at either end of the box, which was also guarded by an Italian workman.

The explosion was felt within a radius of five miles. Glass was shattered within a distance of a mile and a half.

The bridge over the tracks was completely wrecked, the ironwork being twisted into all manner of shapes. Windows were broken in every direction, and in several instances stoves were knocked down and the houses set afire.

John C. and William H. Sullivan were eating dinner at their home at 29 New Haven Railroad street when the dynamite exploded. John was blown off his chair through a swinging door leading to the kitchen and was smashed up against a gas stove in the kitchen. The stove was overturned, and the man's clothing caught fire. He was so badly burned that he may not recover.

William Sullivan was knocked under the table by the concussion, and his chest, back and head are masses of cuts and bruises.

About thirty-five or forty other persons are reported to have been cut by flying glass or otherwise injured, but their hurts are said not to be serious.

Most of the persons injured were caught by falling ceilings and walls in the houses near by. Stoves in stores and dwellings were overturned, and many fires were started. The whole police force was called out, and the fire department was called out to answer many alarms. Although the bridge over the railroad tracks was wrecked, the trains were not delayed for any considerable time.

Chief of Police Foley at once arrested William F. Ryan, foreman of the gang of workmen employed on the blasting operations, and many witnesses are now held while an investigation is in progress.

ESTIMATES FOR ARMY.

Aggregate $103,686,780, $22,242,612 Less Than Last Year.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The estimates of the war department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, aggregate $103,686,780. This is $22,242,612 less than the war department estimates submitted a year ago and $3,832,388 less than the total appropriations made for the use of the war department for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1905.

The amount estimated as necessary for the military establishment, which embraces the cost of maintenance of the army and of the Military academy at West Point, is $72,705,156, being $4,650,006 less than the appropriations for the present year.

Prince Fushimi at Honolulu.

HONOLULU, Nov. 3.—The Pacific Mail steamship Manchuria has arrived here, having among her passengers Prince Fushimi of Japan, who is en route to the United States. The landing of the prince was the occasion of a big demonstration. Several thousand Japanese followed his carriage in a street procession, which included a number of veterans of the war between Japan and China. A general holiday was observed by the Japanese residents of Honolulu.

Bandits Sure of Capture.

CODY, Wyo., Nov. 3.—The fleeing outlaws who murdered Banker Middaugh here were overtaken on Grey Bull river, where they had stopped to get breakfast and rest their jaded horses. The robbers hastily mounted and took to the open. The posse followed, and a running fight took place. The capture or killing of the desperadoes is now a question of hours. They are in the open country and cannot again get out of sight of the determined men on their trail.

Cable Line to Roanoke Opened.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 3.—The weather bureau's cable from Nag's Head to Manteo, Roanoke island, North Carolina, was opened at half past 6 o'clock last night. The first message was a greeting from the Manteo chamber of commerce to the chief of the weather bureau in Washington. The laying of the cable is in line with the extensive improvements the government has undertaken in the service between Norfolk and Hatteras.

Takahira Improves.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—A favorable report was given of the condition of Kogoro Takahira, Japanese minister to the United States, who is convalescing from an operation for appendicitis at the Hotel Majestic. W. T. Bull announced that no complications have arisen.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 3, 1904.

The voting machine is operated for the benefit of voters at No. 82 and 85 Somerset street, in the borough, and in the City Clerk's office, on North avenue, every night from 7 to 9.

Political meetings tonight—Reform Hall—Republican mass meeting; Charles N. Fowler will speak.

Saengerbund Hall—Republican mass meeting.

Borough Democratic headquarters—Smoker.

Borough Good Government headquarters—Rally and smoker.

Just a couple of hours before Congressman Charles Newell Fowler, the Republican candidate to succeed himself, arrived in town today, our esteemed contemporary, The Courier-News, placed a large sized likeness of their (?) candidate in a front window. In the language of the Mayor of Pluckemin, "Don't it beat all."

Now that you have fulfilled a part of the duty of citizenship by registering, it is incumbent upon you to vote understandingly. Learn at once how to operate the voting machine correctly, so that no mistake be made by you in recording your choice. Study also the candidates and select only the best men for the offices. Digest what the Newark Evening News wisely says on this subject for no better advice was ever given:

"When political parties conscientiously nominate men of high character and acknowledged ability, it is the duty of the members of such parties to give such nominees their full and hearty support. Political parties are a necessity, and when they do what is right they are entitled to be rewarded for their good work. The intelligent and conscientious man who looks over his party ticket and finds that it is filled with proper candidates, will vote it straight, as encouragement to those who have made every reasonable effort to place good men in nomination. But he will not vote it straight if the candidates are unfit. He will cut it, scratch it, paste it and change it until it suits him; and will then cast it and have it counted. The duty of supporting the straight ticket ceases the moment a crooked or incompetent candidate is placed upon it. A voter's duty to his city, county and State is infinitely superior to that which he owes to any party. In a word, the intelligent, conscientious voter will repudiate his party's candidate if the latter is unworthy to be entrusted with public affairs; and in doing this he is fulfilling his highest obligation to his party. Where tickets are made up at the dictation of machines and at the order of unscrupulous bosses, they are very apt to contain the names of unfit, untrustworthy men, placed on the ticket as rewards for work accomplished. It is too true that many such are before the people, particularly on city and county tickets. These the voters should refuse to support. They are in no wise obligated to vote for bad men; they are, on the contrary, in duty bound to scratch them and substitute the names of men in whom they have confidence. Voting a straight ticket may or may not indicate cowardice or slavery, but a ticket scratched for adequate reasons is an indication that the voter acted carefully, thoughtfully, intelligently and with a full and conscientious appreciation of his duties as a citizen."

PERSONAL.

Frank Pennoyer, of Newark, who has been visiting friends here, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Talford, who have been living at Uxbridge, Mass., for some time, have returned to Plainfield to live. Mr Talford has been engaged in newspaper work.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Use Press Want Ads.

—John Matthews and family, of Lancaster, Pa., have rented A. I. Smalley's house, 257 Somerset street, and taken up their residence in the borough. Mr. Matthews is an automobile enthusiast and the owner of a fine steam automobile and these fine November days, he is enjoying the good roads around Plainfield.

LAWYER'S PROTEST AGAINST VOTING MACHINE

ISAAC P. RUNYON MAKES SOME SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS.

Editor, The Daily Press:

While so much discussion is going on in the borough over the two voting machines and the motive which prompted the placing of two machines in the borough, I felt that I would not be out of place in expressing my views on the subject.

First. I am opposed to the voting machine because, I feel there will be many infirm persons who will not vote with the machine that would otherwise vote, it being so simple for an elderly and infirm man to ask a member of the family or a neighbor to arrange his ticket and all that was then necessary would be to deposit it in the ballot box. Now, those persons, almost to a man, be they Democrat or Republican, will not take the trouble of learning the business of operating a voting machine.

Second. If voting by the machine will in any way have a tendency to deprive a citizen of voting for the candidates he desires to vote for then it certainly should be condemned by all fair minded men.

Third. It seems strange that the borough should be so well supplied with voting machines and so many districts in the County of Somerset are anxious to have a machine, but cannot get one. Why all this favoritism, if it can be so called, is shown the borough? Republican voter says that the powers that be want borough Republicans to vote right; that it is not so easy to cut tickets with the machine, and it certainly looks so, though he had sighted the real reason. No sufficient reason has appealed to me to cut the Republican ticket in the past and I want to see the whole Republican ticket from top to bottom elected this fall; but, in the interest of fair play I feel that there should be a new club started in every district of the County of Somerset called "Anti-Voting Machine Club," and the members not vote until the machines were done away with or else placed in every district in the State of New Jersey. Isaac P. Runyon.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

DOINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Typographical Union, No. 399, at its meeting last evening, elected two applicants.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., had a busy business session last evening. Two candidates were initiated, seven were elected and six propositions were received. In the social period Prof. Grigoletti, of Binghamton, N. Y., gave a series of highly interesting card tricks.

The local Elks are rehearsing regularly for the memorial service which is to be held this month in the First Presbyterian church. Bryant's poem, "Thanatopsis," is to be used in music form. A rehearsal is to be held in the lodge rooms this evening and all the members are asked to be in attendance.

AMUSEMENTS.

One of the greatest difficulties to be solved in the performances of "Parsifal" is made by the number of invisible choruses in the Grail scenes. Two female choruses and a choir of boys are stationed in the fly galleries on either side of the stage. Only by chance can they hear the orchestra, so the question of getting the proper pitch is a very serious one. A conductor is with each. Various methods were experimented with and finally Mr. Savage found a little melodeon of four and one-half octaves, that folds up in a leather case little larger than a suit case. It is a most ingenious instrument, complete as far as it goes, and splendidly adapted to the purpose for which it is used. In a production in which everything must be packed in the smallest possible compass this little organ is regarded as a great acquisition. Parsifal is now drawing big houses at the New York Theatre.

LITERARY.

The Popular Science Monthly for November opens with an extended and elaborately illustrated article on "The International Congress of Arts and Science," by William Harper Davis. This is followed by addresses given before the congress, including "Present Problems of Inorganic Chemistry," by Sir William Ramsay; "The Light of the Stars," by Professor E. C. Pickering; "The Fundamental Concepts of Physical Science," by Professor Edward L. Nichols; "The Methods of the Earth Sciences," by Professor T. C. Chamberlin; "Utilitarian Science," by President Starr Jordan; and "The Evolution of the Scientific Investigator," by Professor Simon Newcomb.

The Republican mass meeting to be held in Reform Hall tonight will undoubtedly be the last one in this campaign with the exception of the colored meeting to be held tomorrow night at Reform Hall. The local Republican leaders feel as though good work has been accomplished thus far in the campaign and they are much pleased with the large increase in the registration figures. According to this year's figures there are 1,197 more registered voters than last year and the Republicans believe that they will benefit considerably by the increase. On the other hand the Democrats are hopeful, believing that they will get a large portion of this increase.

Third Ward Republicans Elect.

The Third Ward Republican Club held a meeting at the Casino, last evening, and elected these officers: President, John W. Murray; treasurer, Ernest R. Ackerman; secretray, John H. Cose. All arrangements for Election Day were completed.

The Woman's Home Mission Society of the East New Jersey Baptist Association will hold an all-day meeting tomorrow in the First Baptist church. Sessions begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Miss Burdette, a sister of Robert Burdette, from the Chicago Traning School, and other good speakers are expected.

The Sunshine Society of Holy Innocents' Episcopal church, Dunellen, will hold a fair and bazaar in Friendship Hall, New Market, on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening. The usual cake sale will take place on Saturday afternoon in connection with the bazaar in the hall. Several booths will decorate the hall, in which will be found aprons of all sizes and kinds, fancy articles, household goods, home-made candy, cakes, etc. Ice cream, lemonade, etc., will be on hand at usual prices.

Office of the Street Commissioner.

City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

To JOHN T. NICHOLS, or unknown owner of No. 801 to No. 807 West Fifth street, known as No. 500 and No. 502 Grant avenue.

Pursuant to the requirements of section 3 and 6 of the ordinance of the city of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance concerning the construction, maintenance and repair of sidewalks," approved April 10, 1899, amended by ordinance approved August 4, 1902.

You are hereby notified and required on or before January 10, 1905, to construct a sidewalk abutting on the premises owned by you, situate number 801 to number 807 West Fifth street, in the city of Plainfield, Union county, and state of New Jersey, which sidewalk shall be constructed of bluestone flagging, smooth and even on the service and properly laid in one course under the direction of and on such lines as shall be given by the Street Commissioner; the flags shall not be less than four feet long transversely to the length of the street, not less than two feet wide lengthwise of said street, and not less than one and one-half inches thick in the thinnest part.

In default of compliance herewith, the Common Council are authorized by law to order the required work to be done and paid for, to make the amount of the expense and costs a lien upon the said abutting lands in front of which such work is done, to be collected in the manner provided by law and to bear interest at the same rate as other assessments; or payment may be enforced by action in any court of competent jurisdiction, as provided by the statute.

ANDREW J. GAVETT,
Street Commissioner of the City of Plainfield.
Dated, Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 3, 1904.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Nov. 6: "The Study of Missions."—Isa. lx, 1-9.—Mission Study Rally Day.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES.

The whole of this chapter is a paean of praise to Jehovah. The viewpoint is afar from the holy city which has been the seat of Jehovah's sanctuary. His people have been in captivity and under oppression and contempt. Violence and injustice have made havoc of all settled order. Iniquity and impurity have held high carnival. Peace and quietness are nonexistent.

In all this chaos and fear one clear voice is heard above all the babel of sounds. It rings full and true, buoyant and hopeful. It rouses the despairing to higher conceptions of their God and His purposes among men. It begets new hope and courage. Life is worth something once more. All is not in ruin. The old order has passed that a better one may be established. Men breathe easier because they begin to understand better the course events are taking. Jehovah still rules. Israel has been unfaithful, and the Lord has sent disaster as correction, but His truth endures and shall not change.

The promise shines as never before. Zion shall be made glorious. This prophecy, in the latter chapters of Isaiah, embodies the highest hopes of those who through ages of darkness looked for the coming of a day of light. It has had partial fulfillment; it is still the highest pinnacle of prophecy and in its completeness not yet reached. How it thrills one to read it at the present time, when such events as we have seen in our day give it new meaning and force!

All nations are to be blessed by the light which shall shine from Zion. Our God is to be God of all the ends of the earth. Israel is His messenger to proclaim the good news to all who sit in the darkness. Ah, that is the very difficulty! Israel was called of Jehovah to call all men to Him. She became proud and treacherous and rebellious; she lost her place. But were the purposes of God frustrated?

Jehovah has risen. His truth has shone upon men. Manhood has been glorified in Jesus Christ. There is hope for every man. He also is a son of God. This evangel is to be declared to all people. They are to be evangelized, organized and taught all the truth of God. This is the work to which the church of Jesus Christ, the new spiritual Israel, is called.

We are awaking to this responsibility, but are not yet fully aroused. The signs of the times are hopeful, however. We are getting a sense of neighborliness in these days such as men could never have had before. The oneness of the race is coming to be to us more than an academic proposition, more than a theory of origin. It is getting into our business relations and beginning to affect our social conditions. More and more it is intermixing in our political affairs and civil institutions. It takes longer to adjust ourselves to its recognition in our religion. But we are coming to it, even if slowly. The proof of this is in the fact that we are taking some interest in the religious condition of other folks. We are coming to think of their salvation as a matter with which we have something to do.

The average Christian has not been very deeply absorbed in this subject as yet. The evidence of this is found in the amount of money he has devoted to this work, the time he has given to its consideration and the real anxiety he has felt for its success.

We need now to begin in all our leagues a special course of study of our mission fields, the forces at work and our part in the carrying on of the enterprise. There is no lack of recent literature on the subject. Get the members of the chapter at work on the different phases of the matter, so that by papers or talks they may give the results to all. It is easy to get pictures that illustrate the life in the various lands and bring forcibly home to the heart the great need of these people and our ability to help them.

May we never prove apostate and recreant to our mission, as did Israel of old. Let us give the gospel in this generation to all men. We can do it. Will you do your part toward it?

Moral Courage.

When the psalmist wrote, "The beginning of wisdom is the fear of the Lord," he might surely have said, with as much justice, it is the beginning also of all true courage, for of this we may be certain—that if only we could learn to fear God more we should undoubtedly live to fear man less. If the sanction of our every action came from within, from our trained moral and religious conscience; if we made the godlike image the sole criterion of our conduct, the first and last court of our appeal; if we could trust the thought that inspires us as we trust the voice of the living God, then in all confidence and humility might we not exclaim with the psalmist, "The Lord God is on my side; I will not fear, for what can man do unto me?" What, indeed, can man do unto him with God on his side, unto him who speaks in the name of God?—Rev. G. Lipkiro of England.

A Bad Lodger.

Conscience is one of the worst lodgers to have in your house. When he gets quarrelsome, there is no abiding with him—ill at lying down and equally troublesome at rising up. A guilty conscience is one of the worst curses of the world. It puts out the sun and takes away the brightness from the moonbeam. A guilty conscience casts a noxious exhalation through the air, removes the beauty from the landscape, the glory from the flowing river, the majesty from the rolling floods. There is nothing beautiful to the man who has a guilty conscience.—C. H. Spurgeon.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 6.

Topic.—Some of God's promises that cheer me.—II Pet. i, 1-4. (A promise meeting.)

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

The promises of God as given in His word appeal in some way to almost all His people, yet there are promises that are especially precious to particular people or at particular times. One of the most precious facts concerning the promises of God is their number—over 30,000—and with the number their variety. Peter has well called them "exceeding great and precious promises." They are not few in numbers and limited to a small number of people, but like the sands of the sea for multitude and capable of being applied to every phase and condition in human life. The sinner mourning over his sin may read the precious promise, "Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." The child of God passing through the deep waters of affliction can hear God say, "When thou passeth through the waters I will be with thee, and through the rivers they shall not overflow thee, and when thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burned." To the sin burdened and care worn comes the Master's precious promise, "Come unto Me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest." To the Marys and Marthas there is the promise, "Thy brother shall live again;" to the lonely, "So I am with thee always," and to the dying, "In my father's house are many mansions," and "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord." Thus it might be continued almost without end. No situation of sin or sorrow or adversity can be found in life but what there is a promise in the word of God to cheer the one passing through it.

We should, as the children of God, lean more absolutely upon the promises of God than we do. They are "exceeding great and precious," and yet while we know them and can repeat numbers of them from memory we do not always lean upon them in the hour of need. We have the promise that "all things work together for good to them that love God," and yet when adversity comes to many who profess to love God, instead of accepting this truth they have their faith shaken in God and in His promises. No wonder therefore that they do not cheer and comfort us. But such an attitude toward God's promises is a miserably false one. If we faced bankruptcy and our earthly father who was immensely rich had said to us, "If you get into financial difficulty draw on me," we would not spend sleepless nights worrying and wondering if we had an earthly father and if he really would do what he said. If wise children we would take him at his word, and then, by increased love and honor toward him, repay him for his help. Let us trust God in the same way. Let us take Him at His word to us. Let us, as His children, accept His promises in the hour of need, and then to repay Him let us love Him more and consecrate our lives more entirely to Him. He cannot fail us, for "He is faithful that promised."

Interviewing Dr. Clark.

Just after Dr. Clark touched English shores, completing a voyage from South Africa, he was interviewed for the Christian World of London. Some things he said are of wide significance. When the reporter asked him, "You have found no signs of decay, no instances of failure?" he replied:

"No signs of decay, but everywhere tokens of present increase and future promise. Here and there, but not very often, I have heard of societies that have fallen off or dropped out, but these have been comparatively few. And I have had opportunities of comparison. Twelve years ago, when I first visited Adelaide, there were five Junior societies. Now South Australia has 160. When I first went to Victoria there were six societies there; on this last visit I was told of 230. And the unions, made up of many societies, grow and prosper. Nearly all are doing splendid work. Only in one union did I find anything like sagging, but I am convinced that that was only temporary and that the union in question has already entered on an area of progress. As a matter of fact, it has taken up the increase campaign.

"Some of my most interesting experiences were in South Africa. Of course there have been somewhat strained relations since the war, and there are now two unions—the Dutch and the British. But there are two Boers on the South African executive committee, and at a meeting in the great hall of Adderley Street Reformed church, Cape Town, there were duplicate mottoes in English and Dutch and the hymns and prayers were in the two languages. Friendliness cannot be forced, but Christian Endeavor is one of the influences that make for unity."

Gifts.

Labor and rest,
These are the best
Blessings that heaven gives,
And happy he
Who makes them be
His gladness while he lives.
With every day
To wake and say,
Thank God for work and light!
And when at last
The day is past
Thank God for rest and night!
This is to find
Sweet peace of mind;
To know life's precious worth!
God's gifts to take
And with them make
A paradise of earth!

The Domestic Woman

Has She Really Gone Out of Fashion?

"In my mother's time women would mend their husbands' socks over and over again, and now I'm blessed if a woman wants to mend the same hole twice!" grumbled the bachelor.

"I beg your pardon," remarked the up to date woman. "Woman is as domestic as ever. She is only a revised edition of domesticity. Times have changed. It is not necessary for a woman to perform a multitude of heavy tasks that formerly kept her drudging and gave her no time to cultivate her mind. Woman does not have to spin or knit or make soap. All these things are now so cheap that it would be no saving for her to undertake them. You speak of darning the same hole twice, and yet do you realize how much cheaper stockings are than they used to be and how it is really poor economy to waste time mending a sock that can be renewed for so little? No wonder the old fashioned women were slow and their intellectual improvement was slight. They had to be meek and conventional in thought and deed, for their laborious round of homely duties left them no opportunity for anything else."

"And a mighty good thing too! Look at the new woman movement and see what an unnatural set of freaks it gave us."

"I am glad you are using the past tense; it shows you are observant, for my friend, the 'new,' the very 'new,' the mannish woman is dead. You see a few stalking around with cropped hair and outlandish clothes, blunt of speech and of manner, but for the greater part they belong to the past generation, not to the rising one. Their habitat is the region of women's clubs, a region peculiar to itself and not of any importance whatever to the rest of the feminine world, which means nearly all of it. I picked up the other day a magazine which belonged to the time when the new woman and the bicycle alike were rampant. Pictures of new women decorated every page. There were photographs of women cyclists in bloomers and stiffly starched shirt waists. There was even a picture of a woman blacksmith! The aggressive new woman tone was rampant. Now, look around you today. Where are the bloomers and the bicycles and the rampageous women?"

"I must admit they have toned down a bit, but they still want to go in offices and shops instead of staying at home. I tell you the domestic woman is dead."

"She is not; she is more admired than ever. Home and marriage and the bringing up of children have all been raised to a plane never before attained. Women, thanks to their brains and monetary independence, are able to marry for love and not for the sake of getting a home. They do not, it is true, perform manual tasks—machinery can do that cheaper and better—but they use their brains; they are companions to the men they marry. When necessary they help swell the income and keep the home in comfort by the exercise of their talents. New York this winter flocks to see a celebrated singer, the mother of seven children, and she is such a good mother that every penny she earns goes for her home and her adored children, and her sweet, kindly, motherly nature shines in her very smile, and her audiences love her for it.

"I know of a young couple, the husband a struggling young lawyer, and the wife—I suppose you would call her a new woman—works all day as clerk in another law office. In the old days I suppose she would have stayed at home and been sweetly domestic. Nowadays she does better—she doubles his tiny income. They have a dainty little home, in which she takes great pride, and every evening while Mr. Young Lawyer sits at the desk poring over his books and papers his dear, industrious little wife takes her needlework and sews in the shadow of the lamp while she watches him from time to time. So they both work together and help each other. Don't you call that woman domestic even if she is new woman enough to work in an office?"

CHAPTER XXXVII.

THE MIRACLE UNWROUGHT.

"You do not know my brother, Lady Catharine."

Thus spoke Will Law, who had been admitted but a half hour since at the great door of the private hotel where dwelt the Lady Catharine Knollys.

"'Twould seem, then, 'tis by no fault of his," replied Lady Catharine, hotly.

"And is that not well? There are many in Paris who would fain change places with you, Lady Catharine."

"Would heaven they might!" exclaimed she. "Would that my various friends, or the prefect of police, or heaven knows who that may have spread the news of my acquaintance with your brother, would take me out of that acquaintance!"

"They might hold his friendship a high honor," said Will.

"Oh, an honor! Excellent well comes this distinguished honor. Sirrah, carriages block my street, filled with those who beseech my introduction to John Law. I am waylaid if I step abroad, by women—persons of quality, ladies of the realm, God knoweth what—and they beg of me the favor of an introduction to John Law! There seems spread, I know not how, a silly rumor of the child Kate. And though I did scarce more than name a convent for her attendance, there are now out all manner of reports of Monsieur John Law's child, and—what do I say—'tis monstrous! I protest that I have come closer than I care into the public thoughts with this prodigy, this John Law, whose favor is sought by every one. Honor!—'tis not less than outrage!"

"'Tis but argument that my brother is a person not without note."

"But granted. 'We have seen his carriage at your curb,' they say. I insist that it is a mistake. 'But we saw him come from your door at such and such an hour.' If he came, 'twas but for meeting such answer as I have always given him. Will they never believe—will your brother himself never believe that, though did he have, as he himself says, all France in the hollow of his hand, he could be nothing to me? Now I will make an end to this. I will leave Paris."

"Madam, you might not be allowed to go."

"What! I not allowed to go! And what would hinder a Knollys of Banbury from going when the hour shall arrive?"

"The regent."

"And why the regent?"

"Because of my brother."

"Your brother!"

"Assuredly. My brother is to-day king of Paris. If he liked he could keep you prisoner in Paris. My brother does as he chooses. He could abolish parliament to-morrow if he chose. My brother can do all things—except to win from you, Lady Catharine, one word of kindness, of respect. Now, then, he has come to the end. He told me to come to you and bear his word. He told me to say to you that this is the last time he will importune, the last time that he will implore. Oh, Lady Catharine! Once before I carried to you a message from John Law—from John Law, not in distress then more than he is now, even in this hour of his success."

Lady Catharine paled as she sank back into her seat. Her white hand caught at the lace at her throat. Her eyes grew dark in their emotion.

"Yes, madam," went on Will Law, tears shining in his own eyes, "'twas I, an unfaithful messenger, who, by an error, wrought ruin for my brother and for yourself, even as I did for myself. Madam, hear me! I would be a better messenger to-day."

The old wrinkle of perplexity gathered between the brows of the woman before him. Her face was clouded, the changeful eyes now deep covered by their lids.

Lacking the precise word for that crucial moment, Will Law broke further on into material details. "To be explicit, as I have said," resumed he, "everything seems to center about my brother, the director-general of finance. He took the old notes of the government, worth not half their face, and in a week made them treble their face value. The king owes him over one hundred million livres to-day. My brother has taken over the farming of the royal taxes. And now he forms a little Company of the Indies; and to this he adds the charter of the Senegal Company. Not content, he adds the entire trade of the Indies, of China and the South Seas. He has been given the privilege of the royal farming of tobacco, for which he pays the king the little trifle of two hundred million livres, and assures to the king certain interest moneys, which, I need not say, the king will actually obtain. In addition to these things, he has lately been given the mint of France. The whole coinage of the realm has been made over to this Company of the Indies. My brother pays the king fifty million livres for this privilege, and this he will do within fifteen months. All France is indeed in the hands of my brother. Now, call John Law an adventurer, a gambler, if you will, and if you can; but at least admit that he has given life and hope to the poor of France, that he has given back to the king a people which was despoiled and ruined by the former king. He has trebled the trade of France, he has saved her honor, and opened to her the avenues of a new world. Are these things nothing? They have all been done by my brother, this man whom you believe incapable of faith and constancy. Good God! It surely seems that he has at least been constant to himself!"

"Oh, I hear talk of it all. I hear that a share in the new company promises dividends of two hundred livres. I hear talk of shares and 'sub-shares,' called 'mothers,' and 'daughters,' and 'granddaughters,' and I know not what. It seems as though half the coin were divided into centimes, and as though each centime had been planted by your brother and had grown to be worth a thousand pounds. I admit somewhat of knowledge of these miracles."

"True, Lady Catharine. Can there not be one miracle more?"

Lady Catharine Knollys bent her face forward upon her hands, unhappiness in every gesture.

"Sir," said she, "it grieves my heart to say it; yet this answer you must take to your brother, John Law. That miracle hath not yet been wrought which can give us back the past again."

"This," said Will Law, sadly, "is this all the message I may take?"

"It is all."

"Though it is the last?"

"It is the last."

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

THE LITTLE SUPPER OF THE REGENT.

Paris, city of delights; Paris, drunk with gold, mad with the delirium of excesses, Paris with no aim except joy, no method but extravagance, held within her gilded gates one citadel of sensuality which remained ever an object of mystery, a source of curiosity even in that dissipated and pleasure-sated city. In the Palais Royal, back of the regally beautiful gardens, back of the noble rows of trees, beyond the gates of iron and the guards in uniform, lived France's regent, in a city of libertines the prince of libertines. In a city where there were more mistresses than wives, he it was who led the list of the licentious. In a city of unregulated vice and yet of exquisitely ordered taste, he it was who accorded to himself daily pleasures which were admittedly beyond reproach. How unspeakably unbridled, how delightfully wicked, how temptingly ingenious in their features the little suppers of the regent might be—these were matters of curious interest to all, of intimate knowledge to but few.

It was one of these famous yet mysterious gatherings that the regent of France had invited the master of that great and glittering bubble house, wherein dwelt so insecurely the affairs of France. John Law, director-general of the finances, controller of the Company of the Indies, was chosen by Philippe of Orleans for a position not granted to the crafty Dubois or to the shrewd D'Argenson, the last of that strange trinity who made his council. John Law, gallant, graceful, owner of a reputation as wit and beau scarce behind that of his sudden fame as financier, was admitted not only to the business affairs of the gay duke, but to his pleasures as well. To him and his brother Will, still associated in large measure in the stupendous operations of the director-general, there came the invitation of the regent, practically the command of the king, to join the regent after the opera for a little supper at the Palais Royal.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.
FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

DOG'S SPIRIT TALKS.

RIDER HAGGARD HAS PUZZLE FOR PSYCHIC SCIENTISTS.

Famous Author Relates Story of Remarkable Dream That Told Him His Canine Pet Lay Dying in a Ditch.

London (Eng.) Special.

A remarkable story of his dog, Bob, is told in a letter to the Times by H. Rider Haggard, the novelist. Bob has been killed by a railway train, and Mr. Haggard has had a dream which he considers was caused by telepathic communication from the dog, which sought to call his attention to its plight. Mr. Haggard tells the story of his dream as follows:

"On the night of Saturday, July 9, I went to bed about 12:30, and suffered from what I took to be a nightmare. I was awakened by my wife's voice calling to me from her own bed upon the other side of the room. As I awoke the nightmare itself, which had been long and vivid, faded from my brain.

"All I could remember of it was a sense of awful oppression and of a desperate and terrified struggling for life such as the act of drowning probably would involve, but between the time that I heard my wife's voice and the time that my consciousness answered to it, or so it seemed to me, I had another dream.

"I dreamed that a black retriever dog, a most amiable and intelligent beast named Bob, which was the property of my oldest daughter, was lying on its side among brushwood, or a rough growth of some sort, by the water. My own personality, in some mysterious way, seemed to me to be arising from the body of the dog, which I knew quite surely to be Bob and no other, so much so that my head was against its head, which was lifted up at an unnatural angle. In my vision the dog was trying to speak to me in words, and, failing, transmitted to my mind in an undefined fashion the knowledge that it was dying.

"Then everything vanished and I woke to hear my wife asking me why on earth I was making those horrible, weird noises. I replied that I had a nightmare. I told her about the fearful struggle and that I dreamed old Bob was in a dreadful way and was trying to talk to me and tell me about it. Finally, seeing that it still was quite dark, I asked what time it was. She said she did not know, and shortly afterward I went to sleep again and was disturbed no more."

(English Author Who Had a Strange Dream About a Pet Dog.)

Mr. Haggard learned afterward that the dog was killed that night, perhaps three hours before he had his dream. He therefore confesses himself forced to explain the matter by telepathy.

"The dog Bob, between whom and myself there existed a mutual attachment," he said, "either at the moment of his death, if his existence can conceivably have been prolonged until after one o'clock in the morning, or, as seems more probable, about three hours after that event, did succeed in calling my attention to its actual or recent plight by placing whatever portion of my being that is capable of receiving such impulses when enchained by sleep into its own terrible position; that subsequently, as that chain of sleep was being broken by the voice of my wife, calling me back with some last despairing effort, while that indefinable part of me was being withdrawn from it."

Appended to the letter and certificate by the veterinary surgeon, who inspected the body of the dog, which he says must have been in the water three days, is a certificate signed by Mr. Haggard, Angela Haggard, Lilias R. Haggard, L. R. Hildyard and Ida Hector as witnesses of the nightmare story having been told at breakfast on Sunday morning.

Mr. Haggard says he will welcome any investigation by competent persons.

Henry Rider Haggard, who had this remarkable dream or vision regarding the death of a favorite dog, is one of the leading writers of fiction, especially as relates to adventures in Africa. He was born in Bradenham, England, June 22, 1856, and was educated privately. As a young man he served in South Africa in official capacities, being at one time master of the high court of the Transvaal, and also was lieutenant and adjutant of the Pretoria Horse. His first book was published in 1882, and since that time a number of entertaining volumes have emanated from his pen. Mr. Haggard is now a justice of the peace.

HIGH SCHOOL DEDICATED

of the citizens of Plainfield which has so liberally supported that great forward movement in the educational work of our city. And may our boys and girls who shall complete the liberal courses of instruction here provided, go forth well equipped for the struggle of life, in whatever sphere they may be called upon to enter."

Mayor Olin L Jenkins superintended the laying of the stone, after the box had been inserted, and sealed.

The following articles were enclosed in the box placed in the corner stone: Organization of city government, organization of Board of Education and by-laws, organization of Board of Health and sanitary code and report 1903, general ordinances of the city, photograph of Dr. Stillman, manual of police department, manual of fire department, half tone pictures of No. 1 Steamer Co., Hose Co. 1, 2 and 3, chemical, No. 1 truck, Chief's wagon, headquarters and Chief Engineer Doane, directory of Plainfield, new map of Plainfield with "Plainfield Facts," presented by E. M. French, programme for grammar graduation 1904, programme for High School graduation 1904, history of movement for new High School from its beginning in 1892, data regarding contractors, sale of bonds, etc., Oracle, June 1904, Oracle, October 1904, containing names of Board of Education, teachers and High School with their officers, views of new building from Oracle, May 1904, photo of present building, the Stillman School, photo of class of 1904, copy of invitation, copy of programme, course of study of High School, bound volume of reports of Board of Education, 1892-1903, containing O. B. Leonard's sketch of Plainfield Public Schools, names of present corps of teachers, cards of Board and guests, copy of The Daily Press, Thursday, November 3, 1904, copy of Courier-News, Thursday, November 3, 1904, report of Muhlenberg Hospital 1904 and copy of by-laws, Farmers' Almanac 1904, views of Plainfield presented by Mulford Estil, report of Organized Aid Association 1903, report of Plainfield Relief Association 1903, and a report of Children's Home Association.

The exercises closed with the benediction by Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, M. A., after the singing of the school song, "The Red and the Blue."

The Board of Education took its first action toward the erection of a new building in the fall of 1892, when it planned to borrow money sufficient to put up a building costing $70,000. The first postponement in the action of the Board was caused by a Legislative law during the following winter which deprived the Board of its power to borrow money.

In 1898, on account of the growth of the school, the Board of Education leased the property on the corner of Madison avenue and West Fifth street, for the purpose of transferring the grammar grades, and leaving the main building free to the High School pupils and to the preparatory class.

The school had so grown by 1900 that the Board took action, and gained permission from the Common Council to borrow $100,000, only to have the school law again nullified before the money could be secured. This same action on the part of the Board was repeated three times since, with the same result.

Finally for the sixth time, the Board took action January 4, 1904, asking the Board of Estimate for the issue of bonds to the amount of $125,000, $13,000 for the purchase of a lot, and $112,000 for the erection of a building. The Board of School Estimate, consisting of Mayor Olin L. Jenkins, Leslie M. Daniel, Robert L. Lee, Leander N. Lovell and Charles F. Abbott, granted a certificate for this amount to the Common Council. The Common Council voted to issue the bonds.

Walter Cook, of New York, the eminent architect, was engaged by the Board to conduct a competition for the selection of an architect. Fifteen plans were presented and on October 5, 1903, Herbert D. Hale, of Boston and New York, and his associate, Henry G. Morse, were chosen architects of the new High School. A second prize was given to Hartwell, Richardson & Driver, of Boston and a third prize to Marband & Haskell, of New York

The first bids for the erection of the building exceeded the appropriation so much that they were all rejected. The plans were modified, new bids were received, Aug. 9, 1904, and final contracts were awarded as follows:

General contract, John Abbott & Son, $82,076; plumbing, Dennis J. Galbraith, $5,115; heating and ventilating, Geo. J. Tobin, $14,214.40; electrical work, Allen B. Laing, $1,975.

The mason work is being done by B. F. Tallamy & Bro. The box to go in the corner stone was made and presented to the Board by D. W. Littell

The bonds have been twice sold, the first time to Ladenberg & Co., in July, 1903, at $101.13, who declined to take them when the school law was declared unconstitutional. Two sites have been purchased and two sets of plans have been prepared, the first site and the first plans having been rendered inadequate by the growth of the school before the Board could secure money to erect a building. Since action was first taken by the Board the High School has nearly doubled in numbers and twenty-seven new classes have been started in the graded schools.

The contract calls for the completion of the building August 1, 1905.

FOOTBALL.

Both the Alis and the Orange Field Club team will be out for practice tonight in preparation for the big game Saturday. This will be the star game of the season so far, as both teams are confident of winning, and will put up a hard struggle. The betting on the result of the games still continues, Alis still giving odds. The line-up of the two teams will be announced at a later date.

DIAMOND DUST.

Christy Mathewson, of the New York Nationals, is at his home on Grant avenue for the present. He has decided not to go to the Pacific Coast, but instead will go on a hunting trip. He intends to spend most of the winter at home.

Equivocal Political Prediction.

When James E. Martine asked Fowler to explain why he was present only four times during the latest session of Congress, Mr. Fowler said that the roll call was merely a formality. That is just what the voters of this district are going to show his candidacy to have been—a mere formality.—Elizabeth Times.

CORNER-STONE CEREMONIES

Craig A. Marsh Makes An Appropriate Address at Exercises.

THE SILVER TROWEL

Songs Rendered by the Pupils and the Programme of the Exercises Given in Detail—Mr. Marsh's Speech.

Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, in his speech at the dedication of the new Plainfield High School building yesterday afternoon, dwelt for some time on the importance of the ceremony, its significance to the pupils of the Plainfield schools, and to all Plainfield, and commented on the part this city has had in the advancement of education. His speech was a feature of the exercises, and one full of value to all who had the good fortune to hear it.

The glad spirit of the occasion was equally well shown in the enthusiasm with which the songs were sung, and the reception with which the addresses were greeted. School colors were everywhere, and the various member of the classes decorated themselves with their class ribbons.

The song, "Plainfield High School," which was sung by the pupils of the High School and the Whittier department, was very appropriate to the occasion, and was exceedingly well rendered. Charles L. Lewis, the musical director of the school, led the singing. The song, written by Miss Louise M. Taylor, of the class of 1903, was as follows:

"Now our hearts are filled with gladness,
To greet this happy day;
Banish every thought of sadness
As the cornerstone we lay.
'Tis the day so long expected,
And will soon rise to view
A new home at last erected
For our banner, Red and Blue.

"Oh, the tie which closely binds us
Is the loyal love we share
For our school, which always finds us
Quick for her to do and dare.
Heart and mind to her devoting,
In work and sport we're true
To the flag above us floating,
To our banner, Red and Blue.

"We'll bestow our praise upon her,
Her battles fairly fight;
We will strive her name to honor,
To find favor in her sight.
And, tho' Time close ties may sever,
The memory, strong and true,
In our hearts will live forever,
Of our banner, Red and Blue.

"To each one is given the duty
Day by day his life to build.
May our structures stand in beauty
When our hands by death are stilled.
Straight and tall, no stain displaying,
May the walls stand fair to view,
We our cornerstones are laying
'Neath our banner, Red and Blue."

When Craig A. Marsh, of the class of 1874, was introduced at the conclusion of this song, he made the following address:

"This is a memorable occasion. The time chosen for these ceremonies imparts to them an added significance. We are in the midst of preparations for the quadrennial battle of the ballots. The prize to be won or lost in that contest, is national governmental power over eighty millions of our own people, not to speak of our eastern possessions, and international power and influence such as are now possessed by no other nation. On the issue of the contest depend not only the welfare of the great political parties but, as many believe, business and national prosperity and the future status of this youthful nation among the great powers of the world.

"That whilst girding our loins for such a momentous struggle, we set apart this day, and, putting all else aside, assemble here with fitting ceremonies to lay the corner stone of a public high school building, is a striking recognition of the worth of the high school, of the dignity of the calling of those whose work is to be here performed, and of the paramount importance of the educational functions of our government. However engrossed the American people may be in the affairs of government, local, State or national, it is well that they never lose sight of the great truth that underlying our institutions of free government which Lincoln said were 'of the people, for the people and by the people,' is the sine qua non of proper education of the people to make them fit to govern. In an important sense, the whole people are directly concerned in the effort to

WILCOX JURY DISCHARGED

The Coroner's Jury Failed to Agree Upon Verdict.

PROSECUTOR TO ACT

Mr. English Orders That Defendant be Taken Back to Jail—The Proceedings.

Failing to agree after an eight-hour conference, the jury impanelled by Coroner Livengood to inquire into the death of John Darling, the Westfield boy shot and killed by Harold M. Wilcox Hallowe'en, was discharged last midnight and the slayer was sent to the county jail. The case will now go out of the Coroner's hands to Prosecutor N. O. J. English and the chances are that Wilcox will be held without bail to await the action of the Grand Jury. The six Westfield citizens selected by Livengood considered the facts of the shooting yesterday from 4 o'clock until 12 and it is understood that five were for holding the prisoner and one for acquittal.

The inquest began at 1 o'clock and twelve witnesses in all were examined. Three physicians, Dr. W. R. Tubbs and Dr. Sinclair, of Westfield and Dr. Green, of Elizabeth, who performed the autopsy, told of their findings. The report that the bullet had entered the boy's mouth, they said, was erroneous, as it had struck the shoulder and then penetrated the lung, causing a hemorrhage. Six children who were with the Darling boy around Wilcox's home, submitted testimony which changed the whole tenor of thought and which undoubtedly influenced the jury in its consideration. They declared that Wilcox was on the ground near the porch and that he spoke to the boy before the revolver was discharged, saying that "he would shoot unless he went away." The prevailing impression was that Wilcox had hurried to the porch and fired toward the ground not knowing that young Darling was behind a bush. The children who testified were Ivy Sinclair, Charles Codding, Jr., Harriet Codding, Marjorie LaRue, Dudley Green and Marjorie Phillips.

Wilcox was in attendance at the inquest with his counsel, R. V. Lindabury, and he had been in the room some time when Prosecutor English arose and demanded to know why he had been brought from Elizabeth to attend the proceedings. He declared that it should not have been done and he ordered the police to take him away, at the same time telling them they had exceeded their authority. Wilcox was accordingly sent back to the county jail.

Funeral services over the slain boy's body were held yesterday afternoon and it was one of the most impressive events Westfield has ever seen. Four hundred school children attended and beside large set pieces purchased by subscription, each one brought an individual floral tribute. Rev. Dr. Wright, of the Methodist church, was in charge.

PREVENTED PROBABLY A SERIOUS FIRE

LOUIS VAN NEST GAVE ALARM AND FLAMES WERE EXTINGUISHED.

Through the foresight and watchfulness of Louis VanNest, a carrier for The Daily Press, a serious fire was averted at the home of M. Kates, 341 Leland avenue, Tuesday afternoon. The carrier leaves The Daily Press at this house and in placing a copy of the paper under the door mat his hand touched the porch, which he discovered was very warm.

This led the boy to raise the mat, but seeing nothing unusual there he walked off the porch and looked under it. There he discovered a huge pile of papers all in a blaze. Two children, one a son of Mr. Kates and the other the daughter of a neighbor, were standing nearby. Young Van Nest at once informed Mrs. Kates of the fire and water was obtained quickly to extinguish the blaze. In a short time the whole porch would have been in a blaze and the house been threatened with destruction. The fire was started by the children who were playing beneath the porch and they did not realize their danger or that of the house. Mrs. Kates was very appreciative of the kindness of The Press carrier.

ORGANIZED A. A. MEETS

Secretary Declares Wife Desertion is Increasing.

SHE QUOTES FIGURES

Address by Alexander Johnson on Aid Work and Officers Re-Elected.

Detailed reports outlining the year's work and addresses appropriate to the gathering, made up the programme at the annual meeting of the Organized Aid Association in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church, last evening. The attendance was not as large as on previous occasions but those present evinced rapt interest in the proceedings.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Dr. H. M. Maxson, and in the absence of Secretary Tyler, Boardman Wright was elected to fill the office. Mr. Wright, who is treasurer, submitted this report: Total receipts from all sources, $834 36; disbursements, $812 52, leaving a balance of $11.84. Dr. Murray rendered the report of the district committee, which was brief, and Miss Sadie M. VanBoskerck, the general secretary, reviewed her work and observations for the past twelve months.

In it she asserted that wife desertion is on the increase in this city and she urged that steps be taken to bring the fact to the attention of the authorities in such a way that more drastic measures will be exercised in dealing with men of this calibre. To bear out her statement she submitted these figures: During 1901-1902, desertions, 14; willful non-support, 9; 1902-3, desertions, 10; willful non-support, 11; 1903-4, desertions, 11; willful non-support, 19. She recommended that a committee be appointed to collect statistics of non-support cases in Union County, this committee to work with similar bodies from other towns, and submit their findings to the Board of Freeholders.

Continuing Miss VanBoskerck made a plea for neglected children in this city and spoke for older brothers and sisters.

"There are many young girls," she said, "living a riotious, downhill life in Plainfield because they are left to grow up in immoral and degraded homes."

During the past five years, thirty children were taken from bad homes and placed where the surroundings and influences were good. In only one instance was it necessary to take a child to court, but she suggested that it might be better if a children's society or an especial committee were provided in order to look after legal perplexities. The total applications for relief during the year, she said, were 769, an increase of 106. In caring for them she had been materially aided by the City Union, King's Daughters, and Overseer-of-the-Poor Ayers, both of whom she praised highly. In closing she made an appeal for donations of clothing, saying that many garments were sent out of the city when "they could be put to good use at home."

Following Miss VanBoskerck, an address was given by Alexander Johnson, of the New York School of Philanthropy, on the subject, "The Public's Servants and Their Master." It was highly absorbing and contained many helpful suggestions for organized aid work, particularly with reference to the enforcement of laws.

Before adjournment the following officers were re-elected: President, Dr. H. M. Maxson; vice presidents, John Dunn Miller, Mrs. J. K. Myers and Mrs. Frederick G. Mead; secretary, William S. Tyler; treasurer, Boardman Wright.

Will Make Apology.

In the city court this morning, Percy Phillips was found guilty of assaulting Abram Hart, of West Seventh street, on Hallowe'en. Sentence was suspended on his promising to go to Mr. Hart and apologize. The Daily Press was in error yesterday in stating that Mr. Hart had preferred a similar charge against Charles Eoff. The latter had nothing to do with the affair, nor was he with the crowd of boys which had been annoying Mr. Hart during the evening.

Daughters of Liberty Social.

Under the auspices of Old Glory Council, No. 62, Daughters of Liberty, a pleasant social was given last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Chamberlain, of East Third street. The affair was largely attended and was not only successful from a social point of view, but from a financial standpoint. About fifty dollars was raised for the benefit of the council. Games were played, and refreshments were served at the latter part of the evening.

GRANT CLUB HOLDS REPUBLICAN MASS-MEETING

ADDRESSES BY T. H. ROBERTS AND J. F. REGER.

In the partially completed new Saengerbund Hall, a Republican rally was conducted by the U. S. Grant Club last evening. It was called to order by Charles M. Dolliver, president of the club, who introduced former Mayor Charles Place as chairman. The latter introduced Col. T. H. Roberts, of New York, a war veteran, who spoke for an hour on National issues. At frequent intervals he was roundly applauded especially when he declared the flag raised in the Philippines was there to stay.

He was followed by John F. Reger, of Somerville, who spoke upon the State issues, explaining clearly that the Democratic remedy for equal taxation would be unequal as it would benefit such counties as Hudson only, and leave a county like Somerset not better off. He discussed the qualifications of the candidates and owing to the lateness of the hour said he would forego further talk upon National issues.

The candidate for the Assembly, Irving Hoagland, was then brought forward. E. E. Cooper, candidate for Sheriff, was also introduced. Former Mayors Place, Cooley and Needham, T. S. Armstrong, E. A. Overton, Dr. Richard Meldenke and others occupied seats on the platform.

BEAUTIFUL DISPLAY OF CHRYSANTHEMUMS

FOUR HUNDRED PLANTS ON PUBLIC EXHIBITION.

It has always been the yearly custom of Stephen A. Ginna, of Watchung avenue, to invite all lovers of flowers to his conservatory to see his beautiful chrysanthemums. The usual invitation has been extended this year and a large number of persons have thus far availed themselves of the opportunity to see this display, probably not equalled in this part of the State.

There are over four hundred plants in the collection this year, seventy varietes, including several new ones. The plants are displayed in Mr. Ginna's handsome barn, where there is more room. Special attention is directed to two plants, one named for Mr. Ginna's wife and the other for his daughter, Mrs. Erickson Perkins, who is now visiting her parents. The one named for Mrs. Ginna is a cerise and the one for the daughter a gold and bronze.

Probably one of the most valued plants is a white one, eleven inches across the top. There are many white ones, interspersed with the yellow plants, presenting a rare sight of beauty. Other colors include the bronze, pink, red, garnet, while one called the Black Hawk, attracts unusual attention. In addition to the display of chrysanthemums and orchids of which Mr. Ginna is especially fond, he is showing a fine collection of other flowers, including carnations, one of which is a sprout from the celebrated $30,000 carnation called the Lawson. There is probably no finer display of flowers in a private collection to be found in this part of the country and Mr. Ginna is pleased to have his neighbors and the people of the city enjoy it with him.

BOYS' CLUB TO OPEN.

Reorganization and Regular Class Work Will Take Place Next Week.

Reorganizing for the coming year, the Boy's Club will open Monday evening at the club rooms on Sycamore avenue. The plans for the coming year cover essentially the same points which have been taught in former years, and if the attendance is as large as is expected, this year's work will be even more successful than heretofore.

Monday and Tuesday evenings will be devoted to organization and enrollment, the classes beginning later in the week. Olaf Saugstad is the superintendent of the club, and will have direct management of the work during the next season. The classes this year will include mechanical drawing, carpentry, pattern making and moulding.

—John Williams, of West Front street, is building a residence for himself on Jackson avenue, between Somerset street and Watchung avenue. It will have all improvements and will cost about $4,000.

A MISSIONARY MEETING

Women's Home Society of East New Jersey Baptists.

ALL DAY SESSIONS

According to Report One Hundred and Ninety Missionaries Are Being Supported.

Nearly one hundred delegates are in attendance at the annual conference of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the East New Jersey Baptist Association being held today in the First Baptist church. They represent nearly all of the churches in this association. Miss Emma Baker, of Newark, the president, is presiding at the sessions.

After the devotional exercises led by Miss Baker, the address of welcome was given by Mrs. J. H. Chamberliss, of the First Baptist church, in the absence of the president of the home society, Mrs. D. J. Yerkes, who is detained at home by illness. She spoke of the importance of the home work and dwelt upon the duty of every mother to her home, thus assisting to advance the best interests of the society.

Miss Baker, of Newark, sister of the president, gave the response, in which she thanked the members of the First Baptist church for their cordial greeting.

Then followed the roll-call which showed that nearly every church in the association was represented. The next number on the programme was a brief address by Mrs. Post, who has been engaged in the West in mission work, but who is now spending some time in this State in enlisting the sympathy and support of the women in her work. She said that there are now 190 missionaries on the home mission field and she urged a more generous contribution of money toward the work.

The report of the treasurer showed receipts during the year of $42.60, expenditures of $42.20, which with the balance on hand from last year, makes a total of $18 in the bank.

The rest of the morning session was then devoted to a discussion of several questions relating to home missions. This was an open conference in which members from the various churches took part.

An adjournment was then taken for dinner which was served in the Sunday-school room of the church. The committee in charge comprised Mrs. Harold Serrell, chairman; Mrs. C. H. Robins, Mrs. Hannah Flanders, Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. S. H. VanHorn, Mrs. S. W. Dunning, Mrs. J. B. Probasco, Mrs. M. A. Zook and Mrs. Stephen Joseph. The waitresses were Miss Ada Fountain, Miss Edith Cairns, Miss Annis Kinsman, Miss Helen Robins, Miss Violet Lawrence, Miss Hattie French, Miss Pauline Denton, Miss Conan.

The afternoon session was resumed at 2 o'clock and among the features was the address of Miss Burdette, corresponding secretary for the society.

Dr. J. B. Probasco.

A Still Alarm.

A still alarm of fire at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon called the chemical engine to the home of Edward McCarthy on West Fifth street. Upon the arrival of the firemen it was discovered that a gas stove had been acting in an unusual manner and something in the oven caught fire. The blaze was extinguished before the firemen reached the house. There was no damage. The fact that Mrs. McCarthy is ill with typhoid fever was the occasion for considerable anxiety.

Reformation to be Repeated.

The "Story of the Scottish Reformation" given in Hope chapel Monday and Tuesday evenings before large attendances will be repeated tomorrow night. Reserved seats for this occasion will be thirty-five cents and general admission twenty-five. The plan is at Schreiner's pharmacy.

GUN CLUB IS ACTIVE

Local Organization Arranges for Tournament Nov. 19.

AT THE DRIVING PARK

Invitations to be Extended Many Organizations — Fifteen Events Scheduled.

Not since the days of the Middlesex Gun Club, which twelve years ago was one of the leading clubs in the city, has the prospect of a successful season in trap shooting appear so bright as at the present time. Though from time to time local shooters have attempted to reorganize the sport and have held shoots on a small scale, no big shoots have taken place in this vicinity.

At a meeting last night, the newly organized Plainfield Gun Club, arranged to conduct an all day shoot in this city Saturday, November 19, at the Plainfield Driving Park. The affair will be an elaborate one, the following being present in this city on the occasion:

Neaf Apgar, of this city; T. H. Keller, Jr., Jack Fanning, Sim Clover, "Pete" Emmons, of Trenton; Marshall Harrington, trap editor of Forest and Stream, and others.

Invitations will be extended to the following clubs in the vicinity: Rahway Gun Club, Bound Brook Gun Club, Trenton Shooting Association, South Side Gun Club, of Newark; Brookside Gun Club, of Scotch Plains, and the Independent and Grant Avenue Gun Clubs, of this city. All unattached shooters are also invited to participate in the various events.

There will be fifteen events, every third being a sweepstakes. Inter-State rules will prevail, except "no bang, no bird." The shooting will start at 10 a. m. Merchandise and cash prizes will be offered. In addition to the events there will be several individual matches arranged between local shooters. It will be the first fall tournament of the new organization and all indications point to its success.

Among the local shots who will be invited and will probably enter in the different events are the following: Dr. B. F. Leonard, Dr. C. W. Leonard, Dr. Lufburrow, Den Gavin, Henry Haurand, Lou VanDyke, Alec Ayers, Herbert Overbaugh, "Pete" Feiring, Dr. Lucky, Robert McCormack, George Johnston, Edward Hand, Van Goodman, "Oy" Wilcox, Scott Terry, "Bill" Terry, Charles Keller, C. W. Kranse, and others.

A complete programme of the events of the day will be issued next week. The committee in charge is as follows: Neaf Apgar, Henry P. Vesseller, Phil Jahn, R. E. Sebring and Charles E. Kelley.

MARK ANNIVERSARY OF EPWORTH LEAGUE

EXERCISES TONIGHT AT MONROE AVENUE M. E. CHURCH.

The thirteenth anniversary of the Monroe Avenue Chapter of the Epworth League promises to be one of the best ever held by that organization. The various chapters of the group to which the Monroe Chapter belongs have been invited to attend and responses have been received from a number, promising to send delegations. Dr. William H. Morgan, pastor of the Central M. E. church, Newark, who has been secured to deliver the anniversary address, has chosen the subject of "Consecrated Personality."

The musical features of the programme are worthy of note. A quartette composed of John W. Daub, John Osborn, Louis Tallamy and Juan A. Babcock, will sing several selections and Ernest Higham will render two violin solos, being accompanied by his brother, Councilman J. Stephen Higham.

At the close of the exercises a social hour will be spent in Epworth House. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

Card of Thanks.

The directors and secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. wish to express their hearty thanks to the residents of Plainfield for their kindness in entertaining the delegates at the recent Boys' Conference. M. H. Probasco, Chairman Reception Committee; Kenneth Robbie, Secretary Boys' Work; O. S. Rogers, Chairman Boys' Work Committee.

Declares He Was Faithful in the Performance of His Duties and Never Dabbled in Stocks—Great Enthusiasm.

With hearty cheering Congressman Charles Newell Fowler, as well as the county and local delegates were given a rousing reception last night at Reform Hall at the final Republican mass meeting to be held in this campaign. The affair reminded one of the campaign days when enthusiasm was at its highest point and the presence of the leaders added interest to the meeting. The seating capacity of the hall was fully tested. As each one entered the place, an American flag was presented. These were waved wildly while the speakers were presenting strong arguments.

Ernest R. Ackerman called the meeting to order and on his presentation of the name of Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, the latter was chosen chairman. Mr. Marsh spoke briefly. He said that he had been chosen chairman because a remark he had made concerning his friend and neighbor, Albert H. Atterbury, who resided at the Democratic meeting a few nights ago. At that time Mr. Atterbury talked against time, awaiting the revival of John Sharp Williams. When he heard this he said that if he was chairman of a meeting he would not talk over three minutes.

He then referred in a few words to the local candidates, stating that James F. Buckle, the candidate for Mayor, was the Teddy Roosevelt kind of a man, broad guaged, fearless and always ready to sacrifice personal interests for the welfare of the people. "Of course, he will be elected," declared Mr. Marsh and we will give him such a majority that it will tend to bring other men of like calibre into office."

Referring to Collector F. H. Smith, he said that all would be sorry to lose him as a collector, but he desires to go higher and all should help him.

Mr. Marsh then introduced the speaker of the evening, Congressman Charles Newell Fowler. As the representative arose he was cheered for fully a minute.

After a few pleasantries, Mr. Fowler said that he was once a school teacher and he then learned that it was wise to teach only what he believed was true and this principle had followed him during his public career. Continuing, the speaker said in part:

"Campaigning work is rather pleasant. It affords an opportunity to meet true friends and make new friends. I assume that the position of a speaker is that of the teacher to whom I referred and a person should not attempt to make a statement unless he is sure of his facts. I heard recently that during the past few months I speculated and won and lost millions and that I am worth millions. I want to say that I never bought nor sold a share of stock in the New York Stock Exchange. I have not speculated and won and lost millions, neither am I worth millions. I have also heard that I have been attending to business. I always do, whether it is public or otherwise. One does not want to be misled by what some people say.

"Some people think that Congress is run like a kindergarten, where the children raise their hands to attest their presence every morning. Some men have nothing to do and they remain in their seats in the House—others have much business to attend to and seldom occupy their seats. Congress is a sort of a clearing house and the busiest members are sometimes those who go out and bring in business."

Mr. Fowler then directed his attention for a few minutes to State issues and condemned Charles C. Black, the Gubernatorial candidate and referred to his thirteen years' service under pay from the State, during which time he failed to accomplish anything tending toward equal taxation. He made a strong appeal for honest men to occupy positions of trust in the State.

The speaker then gave an interesting review of the country's growth educate the humblest child in the lowliest public school in the land. Whether his parents consent or resist, the whole people have said he shall be taught, for his own good not only, but for the good of his country.

"Perhaps the best type in American history of the symmetrically educated man, that is to say, educated harmoniously as to all his faculties, physical, moral and intellectual, or, as Milton defined a complete education more than two centuries ago, possessing such an education 'as fits a man to perform justly, skilfully and magnanimously all the offices, both private and public, of peace and of war,' was our first president; and Washington was so impressed with the importance of the principle to which I have referred, that he gave it prominence in his immortal farewell address. 'Promote them,' said he, 'as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. In proportion as the structure of government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion be enlightened.'

"The State of New Jersey, which from the dawn of our national history has ever done its full share toward maintaining the ideals of our forefathers, early made provision for free public schools, and it is one of the things of which Plainfield is most justly proud, that in this community are to be found the earliest landmarks of the free public school system of New Jersey, and that its distinguished citizen, the late Dr. Charles H. Stillman, was the pioneer who blazed the path.

"Who shall say how much of the prestige and prosperity of this city are due to the early establishment and continuous maintenance of the free public schools of Plainfield, unsurpassed, as they have been, in matters of curriculum, discipline and personnel of trustees and instructors? That our common schools have not only been the means of attracting to this city many of our most desirable residents, but have been among the strongest of the influences tending to maintain the moral and intellectual tone of our people, and to preserve the administration of our local government on a high plane, free from anything like scandal, chicane or corruption, is my firm conviction, after an experience as the legal advisor of successive administrations covering more than twenty years.

"With a record of nearly sixty years of such wise and successful management of our public schools under the old system, it may seem unfortunate that we should now be confronted with a change. The Legislature, after several ineffectual efforts, finally made such a change last year. The principal change consisted in taking away from the Board the power of determining how much money should be expended for current expenses and for new school buildings. The Board may still initiate proceedings, but the power to decide is now lodged in a new board known as the Board of School Estimate, made up of the Mayor, two members from the Board of Education, and two members from the Common Council. That Board is charged with grave responsibilities. The office of Mayor has become of greater importance than ever before, for as a member of the Board of School Estimate, he is likely to hold the balance of power. The office of Councilman has become of greater importance, for two councilmen with the Mayor defeat measures which have the unanimous approval of the Board of Education, and perhaps of a great majority of the citizens as well. If our voters are made to realize these facts, and it shall result in their taking even greater care than heretofore in the selection of public officials, the new school law will prove a public benefit. So far, it has worked admirably. The money for the high school building whose corner stone we lay today, was ordered by the unanimous vote of the Board of School Estimate, and the action of the Common Council in conducting and expediting the necessary legal proceedings was likewise unanimous. This was an auspicious beginning, and I trust a happy augury.

"If I may be permitted a personal reference, you will let me tell you how much I appreciate the honor of participating in these ceremonies. My heart is in them, for I was born on this soil, as were my father, and his father, and in the high school yonder, which this noble building is to replace, I prepared for college, and passed some of the happiest days of my life. Graduating at the age of fifteen, too young to enter college that year, I had the good fortune of a post-graduate year in that old High School building. That had one bad effect, however, for it enabled me to enter the sophomore class at college a year later at the age of sixteen, and left only three years of college life. I hope that there has been a reform in this respect since I graduated.

"How well I remember the old high school days! How well I remember the old teachers and much of what they taught—better than almost anything learned in later years. Among the teachers were Principals Merwin, Beach and Lybolt, and they made an indelible impress upon all who sat under them. The public did not then, nor does it now, yield to those who teach, their just dues. One teacher in the old high school, a friend of the school, now Bishop Vincent, who lived next door and often addressed the pupils, two professors at college, and one at the head of Columbia Law School, the greatest and best-loved teacher of all, Prof. Theodore W. Dwight, imparted to me more than I gained from all the books I ever read. I do not mean mere learning, but how to think, to feel, to aspire and to work. These men developed character and inspired high resolve. They made every man who sat at their feet determined to make the very best of himself, and to strive mightily to be the best of all.

"We want more of such men in our schools and colleges, men who realize that there is no higher calling than that of the teacher of youth, and who will be content to practice that calling not merely as a temporary employment, but as a life-work. Why have we not more of such men? Because the public does not rightly appreciate the value of their services. Because a man with the gift of imparting knowledge and stimulating youth in the way I have described, possesses the capacity to win the great rewards of success in the other learned professions. He would prefer to teach, but he must also live, and if the laborer is worthy of his hire, no less is this skilled laborer in the intellectual field worthy of compensation approximating at least what his talents would command, if devoted to mere self-aggrandizement.

"If you agree with me as to the paramount importance of education under our Republican form of government, and the wisdom of obtaining for our youth, instructors of the best capacity and the highest character, I trust that you will also agree with me in the logical education from these premises, that it is a duty of self-interest not only, but of the truest patriotism to stand for adequate compensation to the teacher in our public schools. Let each of us see to it, so far as in him lies, that those to whom are confided the high duty and responsibility of fitting our future citizens, 'to perform justly, skilfully and magnanimously all the offices, both private and public, of peace and of war,' are accorded consideration and respect and honor commensurate with the value of their services to the community, the State and Nation.

"And now what of the young men and young women for whom we are erecting this building! I would counsel you, first of all, to learn to love these growing walls. As these walls of stone which we now behold shall form the foundation of the beautiful building which the genius of its great architect will enable us to erect, so may they be the symbol of the broad and strong foundation of character and culture which you shall here prepare, or which shall be built your future careers. If you fail to catch the spirit of affection and veneration for these halls, you will miss one of their choicest benedictions. Every graduate of Old Union, with bared head and moistened eyelids, sings from his heart the inspiring words of Fitzhugh Ludlow:

"Let the Grecian dream of his sacred stream,
And sing of the brave adorning
That Phoebus weaves from his laurel leaves
At the golden gates of morning.
But the brook that bounds through Union's grounds
Gleams bright as the Delphic water,
And a prize as fair as a god may wear
Is a dip from our Alma Mater.

Then here's to thee, the brave and free
Old Union, smiling o'er us;
And for many a day, as thy walls grow gray,
May they ring with thy children's chorus."

Next I would counsel you to bear constantly in mind that just in proportion as you shall be able here, symmetrically and harmoniously, to develop and control your physical, moral and intellectual faculties, will be your chances of success in the business of life.

"But what constitutes true success? Not money, nor fame, nor power. Get all of them if you can, but I can point you to men who possess them all, but whose lives have been miserable failures—selfish existences without happiness or even contentment for themselves or benefit to their fellow men. Character is what counts—counts most for the possessor and most for all affected by it. And character cannot be concealed. Do we not know, almost instinctively, men of lofty ideals, whose word is truth, and whose conduct always squares with integrity and honor; men who never think of revenge, but who meet trouble and danger with calmness and courage; who do not inquire merely what obligations are imposed by law or set down and signed and sealed, but what are the higher obligations which reside in honor and good faith; men who will make any sacrifice demanded by principle, but who are incapable of anything unprincipled, or mean or low.

"In my experience, such men, besides achieving the business or professional success which almost invariably springs from these qualities, have been the happiest men I know. Even in their controversies, they are the most formidable adversaries. 'Thrice is he armed who hath his quarrel just.' But the longer you live, the less you will esteem mere material success, and the more you will value well-earned self respect, and the commendation of right thinking men. The friendship of such men as I have described is, after all, next to the love of those in the home, our dearest treasure. Lord Bacon realized this to the full when he said: 'One of the principal fruits of friendship consisteth in this, that it reduubleth our joys and cutteth our griefs in half.' To deserve and gain and keep the confidence and esteem of such men, they are the victories worth the winning.

"If in your future career, you shall become the victim of foul-mouthed slander; if, in your own experience, you shall bitterly realize the truth of Hamlet's tragic declaration: 'Be thou chaste as ice, as pure as snow, thou shalt not escape calumny,' imagine your happiness when you find, as you will, that men will say of you: the aspersion cannot be true; that man is incapable of doing a mean action. You will feel then, as Charles Lamb expressed it, 'as if you had done a good action by stealth, and it had been found out by accident.'

"The public schools of Plainfield have sent many such men and women out into the world. May this High School continue that work while the Republic endures."

At the conclusion of this speech, Mayor Jenkins using the silver trowel, which was presented to him by the Board of Education, presided over the laying of the stone. The trowel was a gift to the Mayor, having been formally presented by the President of the Board of Education, Dr. J. B. Probasco. It was appropriately engraved with an inscription commemorative of the occasion, and is the permanent property of Mayor Jenkins.

As the stone was laid into position, cheers and applause burst through the air, the enthusiasm of the pupils and of the spectators being unbound. Not till the strains of the school song, "The Red and the Blue," were struck up by the band did the cheers of the crowd, which filled the street bordering on the park, subsided and give place to the voices of the pupils as they sang the following song to the tune of "The Princeton Tiger:"

We are the Plainfield High School,
We're ready for the fray,
Red and Blue will go before,
To show the way, rah, rah, rah,
We love our Alma Mater,
She is always firm and true,
On to victory we will proudly
Carry the red and blue.
We're the boys who come in on the run to victory, Sis! Boom!
And we'll always fight till the battle's fairly won, Sis, Boom!
Hurrah, Hurrah, Hurrah, Hurrah, rah, rah, rah, rah, Sis, boom! Bah!

Against Hallowe'en Pranks.

Editor, The Daily Press:

The tragic ending of the celebration Monday night at Westfield, emphasizes the necessity for action by the authorities of suburban towns, to prevent the lawlessness of the young hoodlums who disregard all property rights, in their boyish pranks—so called My boy of twelve asked permission to join the boys here Monday night. I replied "Yes if they violate no law, if they do, come home at once."

Upon my arrival home at 7:30 p. m. I asked why he did not go with the boys, his answer was "I new they would do wrong and so I did not go."

Last year I frightened the boys with blank cartridges, this year the cartridges were not blank, but the Fanwood boys were more fortunate than their neighbors, as I was able to restrain my temper, and impulse to shoot, but had I done so, I fear it would have been to harm rather than scare some one, while deploring the sad accident. I have the greatest sympathy for Mr. Wilcox, whose present predicament might have been mine also. Fines and imprisonment would restrain their lawless propensities, and deter them from breaking into a wagon shed and stealing a wagon, as they did here Monday night, and would no doubt prevent a recurrence of a Westfield calamity.

THE ASCOLI COPE.

J. Pierpont Morgan Has Presented the Stolen Relic to Italy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The ancient ecclesiastical Cope, which was stolen from the cathedral of Ascoli, Italy, two years ago and later purchased by J. Pierpont Morgan, has been presented to the Italian government by Mr. Morgan. The presentation was made through Baron Edmondo des Planches, the Italian ambassador. The Cope is now in the Victoria and Albert museum at South Kensington, England, to which it was loaned by Mr. Morgan.

In announcing that the precious relic was to be presented to his government Baron des Planches paid a high compliment to Mr. Morgan and said that it was a most gracious act upon Mr. Morgan's part and would win for him the gratitude of the whole Italian people.

The Cope was presented by Pope Nicholas IV. to Ascoli, his native place. It is a French work of the thirteenth century and is one of the finest specimens of fetial art of that period.

It was in 1902 that the Cope was stolen from the cathedral of Ascoli, while repairs were being made on the building. Every effort to trace it or discover the thieves failed until last July, when a letter from a director of the galleries of Florence said that the Cope was on exhibition at South Kensington, where it appeared as the property of "a well known American collector."

A month later a sensation was caused at Ascoli when Mgr. Saniarelli, the rector and several priests were summoned to appear before the court which was investigating the theft of the Cope. Rocchiggiani, a photographer who had been arrested in connection with the case, committed suicide by hanging in his cell. Rocchiggiani left a note stating that he was innocent and intimating that the real thief was one high in Italian circles. No trace has been obtained of the culprits.

Held Up Train to Get Crooks.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 4.—Pop Shipman and Will Murphy of Martins Ferry, both noted crooks; Clyde Hawley of Bellaire and James McLaughlin of Miles, O., were arrested at Barton, O., eight miles west of here, by the Bridgeport (O.) police, headed by Mayor Junkins and Chief of Police Thompson of that place. The police flagged the Cleveland express train, and after a desperate battle, in which all exchanged shots, the robbers were taken and landed in the county jail at St. Clairsville. They had robbed the Uhrichsville postoffice, and some of the stolen goods, about a pint of nitroglycerin and a full kit of burglar tools were taken from them. All are wanted for scores of other robberies.

Worked a Fake Alaskan Company.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—George Hall of Kansas City has been arrested by a deputy United States marshal on the charge of using the mails to defraud. Inspector Bennett charges that Hall secured 200 laborers to go to Valdez, Alaska, to work for the Alaska Yukon Construction company and, after collecting $27 from each, $2 as his fee and $25 for transportation expenses, he sent them to Alaska. When the laborers reached their destination they learned that there was no such company as the one named, and they made their way back as best they could after much suffering and hardship.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 4, 1904.

Again we call the attention of all voters to the fact that voting machines are on exhibition at Nos. 82 and 85 Somerset street, North Plainfield, and in the City Clerk's office, Plainfield. Every night from 7 to 9 these machines are operated for the instruction of voters. Do not do things by halves; tell the instructor in charge to show you how to vote a straight ticket and how to work a split ticket. That machine is intended for the benefit of the voters and it is essential that every man having the right of suffrage should master it. If a mistake is made on Election Day the voter loses any second chance to signify his choice.

OVATION TO C. N. FOWLER

from the adoption of the constitution in 1789, and showed how Republicanism had made it a prosperous one. He referred to the Cleveland administration, when there was depression in all industries and poverty was evidenced on every hand with three million people out of employment. He dwelt on the progress of the postal service, the savings banks and great applause greeted his announcement that two per cent. U. S. bonds are selling today for $105. He spoke of the gold now on hand in this country, $1,326,000,000, and then said that the Republicans were asked to make a change. To this statement he put the question 'A change to what?' "A party may be born in one day, a platform adopted in one night, but may be wiped out of existence in a minute by a telegram."

Mr. Fowler then recalled the names of the leaders of Democracy and then those of the Republican party including Washington, Hamilton, Lincoln, McKinley, John Hay and Theodore Roosevelt, the mention of which called forth the heartiest applause.

Continuing Mr. Fowler said: "Don't follow a party, whether you are a Democrat or a Republican, simply because your father happened to be either one. Be a man, consult your conscience and decide for yourself. Alton B Parker voted twice for Bryan and if he was not able to decide the money question aright, he is not fit to be President. Where was Parker when the country voted to save the Nation's honor? What did Parker say in his telegram, 'that the gold standard is firmly and irrevocably fixed,' and when he sent that message he knew that Roosevelt would be elected President. Parker says 'I think I believe in the gold standard.' The convention was over, the telegram was sent, when the Prophet Grover appeared and said that he saw the hand of Providence in the affair. It was rather the hand of David B. Hill and there is quite a difference between the two."

Mr. Fowler then devoted some time to a hasty discussion of the trusts, imperialism and the Philippine affair, and told how the Republican party had handled the question of the trusts. He spoke of the great progress made in the tin industry, due to the protective tariff. He said that he favored keeping the children in school and having them well fed even if American manufacturers have to sell their products abroad. He said that John Sharp Williams was so near sighted that he had to use a large glass. He said that he could see an Igorrote in a jungle, but he could not see 12,000 negroes in the South.

In conclusion Mr. Fowler aroused great enthusiasm by referring to the achievements of the Republican party, the party of McKinley and Roosevelt. After the meeting he made it a point to meet and shake hands with as many of those present as possible.

Before the meeting adjourned, there were brief remarks by James C. Calvert, candidate for county clerk; Charles Embree, of Westfield; Peter Tillman, of Rahway, and Stephen Cox, of Cranford, Assembly candidates; Frank H. Smith, candidate for county registrar; Dr. H. M. Pierson, of Roselle, candidate for coroner, and James F. Buckle, candidate for Mayor of Plainfield. The remarks of each were short and to the point.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Among the recent patents granted is one to Frederick Schreiner, of West Sixth street, for a stereotope casting box.

—The Somerset County Board of Elections will hold its last meeting for the purpose of adding and erasing names from the registry lists, tomorrow.

—Charles J. Fisk is having an automobile house built on lot adjoining his barn on Arlington avenue. John Abbott is the contractor. The structure is intended to accommodate several machines.

—The first concrete bridge ever constructed in Somerset county is now nearly completed. It is located on Mine Mine Mountain, near George B. Post's farm house and and is being built by the Bernards Township Committee and the Road Improvement Society, under the supervision of Randolph Stinson.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Leroy H. Gates, of First place, is visiting among friends in Nebraska.

Mrs. Joseph Harding, of Raritan, has been visiting relatives here for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs John Reynolds and children, of this city, have returned from a visit with friends in Raritan.

Mrs. P. Frank Stone, of West Front street, who was recently operated at the hospital for appendicitis, is steadily improving.

Among recent arrivals at Asbury Park were Miss Berth VanNuis Willis at the Marlborough and Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Newman at the Victoria.

Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman made an exceedingly quick trip to Chicago, this week. He left New York on Monday afternoon at 2:45 on the Twentieth Century Limited over the New York Central, reached Chicago the next day, transacted some business, left Chicago the same day and was at his home in this city Wednesday night. He said that the trip was such a pleasant one that it was not the least bit tiresome.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The Sunshine Society, of the Holy Innocents' church, will hold a fair and bazaar in Friendship Hall this evening and tomorrow afternoon and evening. There will be four booths all prettily decorated, one for fancy work, and dolls, one for aprons, one for lemonade, peanuts, and candies, and one for home-made pies and cake.

The Republican Club is considering the feasibility of changing the organization which they now have into a bowling club and have alleys of their own. A committee has been appointed to look for a suitable site for them, and if one can be found the club will very probably build alleys and continue to exist.

Football practice was held last evening near the station and from the way the men showed up it looks as if they might begin to do something. Two new candidates were out and will be given a show in the first game.

About twenty members of the Epworth League, of the Methodist church, will visit the Monroe Avenue church in Plainfield, this evening.

Clarence Dunn, brother of Ellis Dunn, and Thurman Ayers, all of New Market, are suffering from a slight attack of diphtheria.

Rev. A. F. Todd and daughter, Miss Anna, returned last evening from a week's visit in Philadelphia, Pa.

Florence Corieli, who is confined to her home by typhoid fever, is getting along very nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ackerman are the happy parents of a twelve pound baby girl.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The second of the series of dances to be held this winter by the members of the K. O. G. Club was held last night in the borough fire house. The pleasant affair was enjoyed by the members and their friends, the floor being taxed to its capacity. At midnight refreshments were served. When this pleasant part of the programme was finished dancing was again resumed and continued until a late hour.

The Democratic Club will fire their first gun of the campaign tomorrow night when the club rally will be held in Excelsior Hall. The speakers of the evening will be Capt. Edward M. Farrar and the Hon. George Elair. All interested in the issues of the campaign are invited to attend the meeting.

Much interest has developed in town over the football game tomorrow afternoon between the Orange F. C. and Alls eleven. The teams are undoubtedly the two fastest teams through this section of the State and the lovers of the game will no doubt see a great battle when they meet.

The Republican voters were well represented at the party rally held last night in Reform Hall. This was the first opportunity many of them had to hear Charles N. Fowler this campaign, so they availed themselves of it.

The improvements which were being made to the parlors of the Baptist church are completed, so the weekly prayer and teachers' meeting will be held in the church tonight as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Cass Acheson, who have been visiting Mrs. Acheson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark, have returned to their home at Hazlet, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Peltz, of Forest avenue, have been entertaining Mr. Peltz's father from Bayonne, for a few days.

The interior of Henry C. Meyers' store is being newly painted an attractive color, making a neat improvement.

A meeting of the Township Committee will be held in the town rooms tonight.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met as usual last night in the library rooms.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

B. F. Mundy, who recently went from here to Ellensbury, in the State of Washington, recently wrote to friends here that he is enjoying life with plenty of work to do, with the snow capped mountains near him. He is occupying a large ranch.

At the Women's Missionary Circle meeting, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Manning, a letter was read from Miss Julia Shinn, a missionary in Burmah. A few years ago, Miss Shinn resided for a time in Plainfield.

A slight alarm was caused yesterday at the public school by the mistake of a man who brought a load of wood and pulled the school fire bell instead of the front door bell. The pupils had an extra outing.

The Patriotic Order Sons of America met in regular session last night. A change was made in certain bylaws for the good of the order. Some members from a distance were present.

Local sportsmen are anticipating their usual hunting pleasure as soon as the law permits, which will be November 10.

William E. Smith has advertised his farming utensils and stock for auction sale on November 22.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The Woman's Society for Christian Work, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, met Wednesday and decided to hold a social on Wednesday night, November 16, in the parlors of the church.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Grading Exercises and Basket Ball Games As Arranged.

Having finally organized with a great increase in the class membership, the athletic and gymnastic life at the Y. M. C. A. has truely awakened into activity and has assumed a prosperous aspect. The Y. M. C. A. team and the scholastic basket ball fives have at last become permanently organized and are equipped to start the regular schedule of games. In addition to the basket ball playing, there will be trials for leaders in the various departments, and the senior and junior class grading will take place in the near future.

The date set for the grading of the classes in the senior department is November 10. In the Leal's class, the grading will take place on November 7. Physical Director Henckle will have charge of these grading exercises, and will make the appointments according to the results of the competitor work on the various pieces of apparatus. In most of the contests for leaders, the horse, parallels, high and low bar, will be used.

On next Monday evening there will be a double header basket ball game at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The Business Men's team will play the Plainfield High School, and the first team of the association will meet the Leal's School five. The lineups for the various teams have not yet been announced. Other games in the Y. M. C. A. schedule so far arranged are as follows: November 21, Business Men vs. Leal's; December 5, Y. M. C. A. vs. Newark Y. M. C. A.; December 12, Y. M. C. A. vs. Mount Vernon. Other contests will take place with teams out of town, while the afternoons in the middle of the week will be reserved for interscholastic games.

—Henry Allan Price, who will appear with other talent in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course on Election Day night, is highly recommended by Drs. Newell Dwight Hillis, S. Parkes Cadman and Leland T. Powers. There will be election returns during the entertainment.

Mrs. John D. Runyon, of Park avenue, has returned home from Mt. Pocono, Pa., where she has been stopping for some time.

St. Petersburg Expects Fall of Port Arthur.

GENERAL STOESSEL IS WOUNDED.

London Has Positive Information Russians Cannot Hold Town Now That Outworks Have Been Taken by Japanese.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Advices from St. Petersburg this morning say that there is a scarcely veiled feeling of relief throughout the Russian capital that there is no news of the fall of Port Arthur. There had been considerable fear that the Japanese might push home the final attack. The authorities state that they are without direct news from Port Arthur, and every one is depending upon foreign sources for tidings of the devoted garrison. A late report says that Lieutenant General Stoessel, commander of the Russian troops at Port Arthur, is reported to be wounded in the leg.

A special from Chefu says that the fall of Port Arthur is beyond question. Its fall is simply awaiting the convenience of the Japanese army.

The information, the reliability of which cannot be questioned, has been received that the Japanese now occupy positions which place the east side of the town at their mercy.

The last assault has gained for them positions which insure their ability to enter the main forts whenever they are ready.

It is calculated by the Japanese that if the Russians do not surrender the latter will be capable of continuing their final stand at Liaotai mountain and on the Tiger's Tail for a much longer time, with the mere hope of prolonging the struggle. Long before the second Pacific squadron arrives the Japanese flag will wave over the wrecked citadel.

This will end Viceroy Alexeieff's dream of an unconquerable city.

The Japanese have not occupied the main forts and the highest point of the east hills, but they occupy in overwhelming numbers positions which will enable them to drive the Russians back whenever they desire.

When the Japanese occupy the east port ridge they will completely dominate the other Russian forts with their artillery.

Japanese arriving from Dalny report that the Japanese have captured Rihlung mountain and Sungshu mountain, which lies between the railroad and Rihlung mountain. They also report that the Japanese have captured East Keekwan mountain.

Conservative Japanese, realizing the intense desire of the Japanese for good news on the emperor's birthday, received the above reports with reserve. Regarding the capture of Rihlung and Sungshu mountains, the report is not considered improbable, but Japanese say that it is not intended to occupy East Keekwan mountain.

The Japanese are now in a position to commence the beginning of the end of the siege operations.

A dispatch from Tokyo says that upon the occasion of his birthday the emperor briefly addressed a welcome to the foreign diplomatic corps and ministers of state, his guests at luncheon. During the course of his remarks he said, "We regret that the time has not come to see peace restored in the far east in realization of our desires."

A Mukden report claims most trustworthy authority for the statement that 34,000 sick or wounded Russian soldiers were sent away after the last engagement.

Colonel Gaedke, a German officer with the Russian army, has telegraped that the Russian positions on the Shakhe river are daily becoming stronger in spite of the close proximity of the opposing army. The possibility of a Japanese attack, Colonel Gaedke adds, is constantly diminishing, and many experts do not expect that there will be a decisive engagement before spring.

A Chefu dispatch says that the Japanese losses during the last assault on Port Arthur were heavier than on any of the previous attacks. The bombardment was so fierce that the streets of Dalny were said to tremble as though from an earthquake.

The indications are that a terrific assault is about to be made by General Nogi's troops.

Admiral Folger Refused Salute.

CHEFU, Nov. 4.—The Japanese consul here on the occasion of the mikado's birthday requested Rear Admiral Folger, commanding the American Asiatic squadron, and the captain of a Chinese cruiser to fire a salute. Rear Admiral Folger declined to accede to the request on the ground that he was not in Japanese waters. The Chinese captain, however, complied. The incident has aroused much comment.

Rojestvensky's Fleet at Tangier.

TANGIER, Morocco, Nov. 4.—A Russian squadron of five battleships, presumably Rojestvensky's fleet, has been sighted at Tangier coming from the northeast. The other Russian ships here are coaling and taking provisions on board with the expectation of putting to sea.

Russian Warships Sail.

TANGIER, Nov. 4. — The Russian battleships Sissoi, Veliki, Oslabya Admiral Nakhimoff and Dmitri Donskoi, commanded by Admiral Voelkersam, have sailed for Suda bay.

AGAIN A CAPTIVE.

Baldwin's Airship Anchored Itself to a Tree.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—California Arrow, the airship of Captain T. S. Baldwin of San Francisco, which slipped away as it was being towed in from the country to the aeronautic concourse, has been found sixteen miles west of St. Louis. It was unharmed by its wild night flight save for two small rents in the gas bag. Captain Baldwin says the airship can be repaired in half an hour.

After floating in the wind for sixteen miles the airship came down to within a short distance of the ground, and the anchor rope caught on a dead limb. This served as an anchor, and the airship was found moored in a cornfield by farmers.

Mr. Baldwin and Aeronaut Knabenshue hurried to the balloon in an automobile.

The balloon was deflated, and the collapsed airship was loaded on a hay wagon and brought back to the exposition aerodrome.

Secretary Wilson at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture, in an address at a mass meeting conducted by the Scandinavian Republican clubs of Chicago at the Auditorium last night, accused former Judge Alton B. Parker, the Democratic nominee for president, of making misstatements in his recent speeches in the east. Secretary Wilson asserted that former Judge Parker's remarks relative to the Philippines were inaccurate, and his assertions concerning President Roosevelt, repeatedly made in recent speeches, were untrue, as Mr. Bliss and not Chairman Cortelyou collected Republican campaign funds.

Beavers to Restock the Adirondacks

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The state forest, fish and game commission has just contracted for the delivery of three pairs of beaver under the appropriation of $500 made by the last legislature for the purpose of restocking the Adirondacks. The animals will be received next month and placed in a small beaver colony among the mountains, the location of which is kept a secret. Beaver are scarce, and the state had to search for six months before obtaining these six specimens. The penalty for killing beaver in this state is $100 for each offense.

Twenty Speeches by Fairbanks.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 4.—Nearly twenty speeches were made during the day by Senator Charles W. Fairbanks in western Indiana, beginning at Bloomington and ending with a large and enthusiastic meeting at Terre Haute. College demonstrations were notable features of the day's tour, students turning out in large numbers at Bloomington, Greencastle and Crawfordsville. The senator was accompanied by Captain William E. English of Indianapolis and a part of the time by Congressman Charles B. Landis.

Liberals Re-elected In Canada.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—The returns for the Dominion elections so far show gains for the Liberals in all the provinces except New Brunswick, where the disaffection of A. G. Blair, former minister of railways, on the Grand Trunk Pacific issue affected the result. The city of Ottawa returned two Liberals instead of one and Hamilton two Liberals against one in the last parliament. All the ministers so far reported have been returned by large majorities. The leader of the opposition was defeated in Halifax.

Four Years In Salt Mines.

ZACATECAS, Mexico, Nov. 4.—Timothy I. Lee, the American locomotive engineer who was held responsible for the railroad wreck on the Central railroad near this city about nine months ago, which resulted in the loss of about seventy lives and who himself was badly injured, has been sentenced to four years' imprisonment at hard labor in the salt mines in the state of Coahuila.

Pope's Foot Is Swollen.

ROME, Nov. 4.—Pope Pius has almost completely recovered his health though his foot remains swollen. He walked about his apartment during the day, but did not go out. He spent much of the time at work and in discussing affairs with Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state.

British Ship Sunk In Collision.

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 4.—The British three masted schooner Dorothy, from Black Tickle, N. F., bound to a south European port, was sunk in a collision with the British steamer Adana, from New York for Calcutta. The crew of the Dorothy was saved.

Alarm For Prince of Wales.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Alarming reports are again in circulation concerning the health of the Prince of Wales. It is now stated on court authority that the prince's lungs are affected and that he is threatened with consumption.

THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy."

Law would have excused himself from this unsought honor. "Your grace will observe," said he, "that my time is occupied to the full. The people scarcely suffer me to rest at night. Perhaps your grace might not care for company so dull as mine."

"Fie! my friend, my very good friend," replied Philippe. "Have you become devot? Whence this sudden change? Consider; 'tis no hardship tc meet such ladies as Madame de Sabran, or Madame de Prie—designer though I fear De Prie is for the domestic felicity of the youthful king—nor indeed my good friend, La Parabere, somewhat pale and pensive though she groweth. And what shall I say for Madame de Tencin, the spirituelle, whc is to be with us; or Madame de Caylus, niece of Maintenon, but the very opposite of Maintenon in every possible way? Moreover, we were promised the attendance of Mademoiselle Aisse. She hath become devout of late, and thinks it a sin even to powder her hair, but Aisse devout is none the less Aisse the beautiful."

"Surely your grace hath never lacked in excellent taste, and that is the talk of Paris," replied Law.

"But stay! I have kept until the last my main attraction. You shall witness there, I give you my word, the making public of the secret of the fair unknown who is reputed to have been especially kind to Philippe of Orleans for these some months past. Join us at the little enterprise, my friend, and you shall see, I promise you, the most beautiful woman in Paris, crowned with the greatest gem of all the world. The regent's diamond, that great gem which you have made possible for France, shall, for the first time, and for one evening at least, adorn the forehead of the regent's queen of beauty!"

As the gay words of the regent fell upon his ears, there came into Law's heart a curious tension, a presentiment, a feeling as though some great and curious thing were about to happen. Yet ever the challenge of danger was one to draw him forward, not to hold him back. If for a moment he had hesitated, his mind was now suddenly resolved.

"Your grace," said he, "your wish is for me command, and certainly in this instance is peculiarly agreeable."

Thus it came about that, upon that evening, there gathered at the entrance of the Palais Royal, after an evening with Lecouvreur at the Theater Francais, some scattered groups of persons evidently possessing consequence. The chairs of others, from more distant locations, threading their way through the narrow, dark and unlighted streets of the old, crude capital of France, brought their passengers in time to a scene far different from that of the gloomy streets.

As one trod within the door of this temple of the senses, surely it must have seemed to him that he had come into another world, which at first glance might have appeared to be one of an unrighteous ease, an unprincipled enjoyment and an unmanly abandonment to embowered vice. Yet here it was that Philippe of Orleans, ruler of France, spent those hours most dear to him. If he gave thought to affairs of state during the day it was but that these affairs of state might give to him the means to indulge fancies of his own. Alike shrewd and easy, alike haughty and sensuous, here it was that Philippe held his real court.

These young gentlemen of France, these roues who have come to meet Philippe at his little supper—how different from the same beings under the rule of the Grand Monarque. Their coats are no longer dark in hue. Their silks and velvets have blossomed out, even as Paris has blossomed since the death of Louis the Grand. Jabots of lace are shown in full abundance, and so far from the abolishment of jewels from their garb, rubies, sapphires, diamonds sparkle everywhere, from the clasp of the high ruffles of the neck to the buckles of the red-heeled shoes. Powder sparkles on the head coverings of these new gallants of France. They step daintily, yet not ungracefully, into this brilliantly-lighted room, these creatures, gracious and resplendent, sparkling, painted, ephemeral, not unsuited to the place and hour.

For the ladies, witness the attire, for instance, of that Madame de Tencin, the wonder of the wits of Paris. A full blue costume, with pannier more than five yards in circumference, under a skirt of silver gauze, trimmed with golden gauze and pink crape, and a train lying six yards upon the floor, showing silver embroideries with white roses. The sleeves are half-draped, as is the skirt, and each caught up with diamonds, showing folds lying above and below the silk underneath. Madame wears a necklace of rubies and of diamonds, and above the pannier a belt of diamonds and rubies.

The guests, as they advanced into the room, paused as they met, coming from the head of the apartment, the imposing figure of their host. Philippe of Orleans, his powdered wig drawn closely into a half-bag at the nape of the neck, his full eye shining with merriment and good nature, his soft, yet not unmanly figure appearing to good advantage in his well-chosen garments, advances with a certain dignity to meet his guests.

"Welcome, my very dear ladies," exclaimed Philippe, advancing to the head of the board and at once setting all at ease, if any there needed such encouragement, by the grace and good feeling of his air. "You do me much honor, ladies. If I be not careful, the fair Adrienne will become jealous, since I fear you have deserted the pomp of the play full early for the table of Philippe. Ladies, as you know, I am your devoted slave. Myself and the Vicomte de Bechamel have labored, seriously labored, for your welfare this day. I promise you something of the results of those painstaking efforts, which we both hope will not disappoint you. Meantime, that the moments may not lag, let me recommend, if I am allowed, this new vintage of Ai, which Bechamel advises me we have never yet surpassed in all our efforts. Madame de Tencin, let me beg of you to be seated close to my arm. Not upon this side, Mademoiselle Haidee, if you please, for I have been wheedled into promising that station this night to another. Who is it to be, my dear Caylus? Ah, that is my secret! Presently we shall see. Have I not promised you an occasion this evening? And did Philippe ever fail in his endeavors to please? At least, did he ever cease to strive to please his angels? Now, my children, accept the blessing of your father Philippe, your friend, who, though years may multiply upon him, retains in his heart, none the less, for each and all of you, those sentiments of passion and of admiration which constitute for him his dearest memories! Ladies, I pray you be seated. I pray you tarry not too long before proving the judgment of Bechamel in regard to this new vintage of Ai."

"Ah, your grace," exclaimed De Tencin, "were it not Philippe of Orleans, we women might not be apt to sit in peace together. Yet, as we have earlier proved your hospitality, we may perhaps not scruple to continue."

Philippe smiled blandly The remark was not ill-fitted to the actual case. Though the regent counted his sweethearts by scores, he dismissed the one with the same air of interest as he welcomed the other, and indeed ended by retaining all as his friends.

"Madame de Tencin, in admiration there can be no degrees," said he. "In love there can be no rank."

"Why, then, do you place as your chief guest this other, this unknown?" pouted Mademoiselle Aisse, as she seated herself, turning upon her host the radiance of her large, dark eyes. "Is this stranger, then, so passing fair?"

"Not so fair as you, my lovely Haidee, that I may swear, and safely, since she is not yet present. Yet I announce to you that she is tres interessante, my unknown queen of beauty, my belle sauvage from America. But see! Here she comes. 'Tis time for her to appear, and not keep our guests in waiting."

There sounded at the back of the great hall the tinkle of a little bell of some soft metal. It approached, and with it the sweeping stir of heavy silken garb. The door opened, admitting a still greater blaze of light, and there swept into the hall, as though swimming upon the flood of this added brilliance, a figure striking enough to arouse attention even at that time and place, even among the beauties of the court of France. There advanced, calm and stately, with the gliding ease of a perfect carriage, the figure of a woman, slender, with full bright eyes and somber hair.

She stepped to the place at the regent's right hand, with head high and eyes undrooping. For a dramatic instant she paused, as though in the rehearsal of a part—a part of which it might be said that the regent was not alone the author. This triumph of woman over other women, this triumph of vice over other vice, of effrontery over effrontery akin—this could not have been so planned and executed by any but a woman. One another these beauties might tolerate, knowing one another's frailties as they did; yet the elegance, the disdain, the indifference of this newcomer—this they could not support! Hatred sat in the bosom of each woman there as she swept her courtesy to the new guest of the regent, who took her place as of right at the head of the board and near the regent's arm.

COWBOYS IN PURSUIT

Slayers of Cody Banker May Be Lynched.

FAMOUS SCOUT TAKES UP THE TRAIL

Troops From Fort Washakie Will Assist In Capture—Escape of Bandits Said to Be Impossible.

CODY, Wyo., Nov. 4.—Accompanied by several well known New Yorkers and the younger men in his party of English guests and with Chief Iron Tail as a guide, Colonel Cody and his cowboys took the trail of the bandits who murdered the bank cashier here. The posse has surrounded the robbers in the mountains south of Meeteetse. The outlaws have concealed themselves among the rocks and refuse to surrender. Their escape is considered impossible. The reward for their capture has been increased to $10,000. If the slayers escape this time it is likely that they will gain the famous Hole in the Wall country, of which every inch is known to the famous scout.

The forest is guarded by the posse which followed the outlaws from Cody, and it is hoped that the desperadoes will soon be captured. They will probably be lynched.

Preparations are being made by the military authorities at Fort Washakie to have the two troops of the Tenth cavalry stationed there to take the field at a moment's notice in pursuit of the outlaws. The bandits are within a few miles of the boundary of the Wind River reservation, and if they succeed in eluding their pursuers they will cross over into the Indian reservation on to government land. In this event the colored troopers from this post will join in the man hunt.

Davis In West Virginia.

DAVIS, W. Va., Nov. 4.—Henry G. Davis, Democratic vice presidential candidate, delivered his thirteenth speech of the day here last night. Mr. Davis is putting the finishing touches on the borough campaign he has made in his own state. He will make his last speech tomorrow at Beling. He is traveling in his private car Graceland. Assisting Mr. Davis in the speaking is John T. McGraw, national committeeman from West Virginia; C. Wood Dailey and J. J. Caniff, attorney for the United Mine Workers of America. Last night Mr. Davis declared that one single trust contributed $1,000,000 to the Republican campaign fund. He did not name the trust.

Newport News Victim Identified.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 4.—John Gardner, who died at the Newport News hospital last week from a blow on the head, received in a saloon fight from an unknown hand, has been identified as the brother of Frank Campbell of Philadelphia. Mr. Campbell has claimed the body, and it will be exhumed and removed to Philadelphia for interment. Mr. Campbell, whose name is an adopted one, will arrive here Saturday to take charge of the remains. No clew has been obtained to the identity of the murderer. Gardner disappeared from Philadelphia seven years ago.

McCue Trial Drawing to an End.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 4.—Even greater numbers sought to gain admission to the courtroom here in the McCue trial. Mr. Coleman in a vigorous speech closed his argument, when a recess was taken. Only two more addresses before the jury are to be made. Mr. Lee will close for the defense, beginning this morning, and will be followed by Commonwealth's Attorney Gilmer, who will close for the prosecution and make the final argument, when the case will go to the jury.

College President Blames Police.

BOSTON, Nov. 4. — In connection with the scrimmage between policemen and students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in which several of each side were injured, President Henry S. Pritchett of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology last night said, "The responsibility for this unfortunate affair does not rest with the students, but with the police, and was due mainly to the lack of judgment and to the brutality of their methods."

Miners' Reinstatement Saves Strike.

TAMAQUA, Pa., Nov. 4.—W. D. Zehner, superintendent of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, has agreed to reinstate next Monday the mine men who were discharged from the Nesquehoning colliery for observing Mitchell day in violation of the orders of the company. The miners' union accordingly issued an order that the 600 employees of the colliery should not strike this morning, as originally intended.

No Evidence of Bribery.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 4.—The grand jury which has been making an exhaustive investigation into the charge that money was used to bribe delegates at the late Republican county convention has rendered a report stating that the evidence brought out was not sufficient to justify an indictment being returned against any one.

MARTINE OR FOWLER, WHICH SHALL IT BE?

MARTINE, A SILVER MAN; FOWLER FOR NATIONAL HONOR

Through the sterling common sense and high principles of her citizens, New Jersey is always conspicuous for her devotion to the duty of the hour.

When the life of the Nation was threatened in 1861, no State responded more loyally in men or more lavishly in treasure than did New Jersey; and on a thousand battle-fields her sons gave themselves a willing sacrifice in order that the Union might be saved.

So, too, in 1896 and 1900, when the honor of the Nation was imperiled, New Jersey recognized and accepted the present duty; and her sons, disregarding party allegiance, voted overwhelmingly for the gold standard, sound money and the untarnished faith of the fathers.

A simple statement of the vote in three National elections illustrates most strikingly this preponderance of lofty principle over mere partizanship in New Jersey. In 1892, Cleveland received 14,965 votes more than Harrison. In 1896, McKinley received 87,899 votes more than Bryan. In 1900, McKinley received 56,899 votes more than Bryan.

Beyond any shadow of a doubt, in those two critical years, 1896 and 1900, when American integrity was put to the test, thousands upon thousands of the sons of New Jersey deliberately cast aside party ties and voted according to their convictions; despite the fact, too, that to very many of them the personality of William J. Bryan was engaging and the spell of his oratory almost irresistible.

What was true of the State was of course equally true of so typical a section as that comprising the counties of Morris, Union and Warren, which now make up the Fifth Congressional district. In 1896, in these three counties, McKinley has 7200 votes more than Bryan; in 1900, McKinley had 5173 votes more than Bryan. The true Jerseyman of Morris, Union and Warren voted without regard to political preference and prejudice, but through that conscientious devotion to the duty of the hour for which New Jersey is so conspicuous.

In the election of a Congressman from the Fifth Congressional district, this year, this duty is just as present, just as pressing, for every conscientious voter, no matter what his party affiliations may be.

If the Fifth Congressional district stands for the gold standard and for sound money, as the mighty majorities of two National elections have proved beyond contravention that it does, then the duty of every true Jerseyman of the district is to vote for that Congressional candidate who represents these crucial principles.

A representative should represent.

There can be no uncertainty about the issue; it is so plan that he who runs may read it.

Everyone will admit that it is fair to judge a man by his words—indeed, that is the only way in which he can be judged if he has never done anything.

Everyone will admit that it is fair to judge a man by his deeds; for deeds are the result of what a man is.

Let us then apply these two tests to the Congressional candidates in the Fifth Congressional district.

James E. Martine is a fond and servile disciple of William J. Bryan. In his absolute faith in sixteen to one and his unswerving devotion to the free coinage of silver, he is a Bourbon of the Bourbons, unchastened by defeat, untaught by experience. He still prates about the crime of 1873, still maintains that the honest debts of the Government and the people should be paid in a depreciated and fluctuating currency, still flaunts defiantly the torn and tattered fallacies of flatism in the face of the unanimous judgment of the civilized world.

Is it possible for such a man to represent in any endurable degree the independent and intelligent voters of the Fifth Congressional district, to whom the maintenance of National and commercial integrity is an ever-present, all-important duty?

On the other hand, Charles N. Fowler, throughout his Congressional service of five terms, day and night, year in and year out, has devoted himself patiently and persistently to the cause of sound money. To him, more than to any other man in public life, is due the establishment of the gold standard and the funding of the National debt into two per cent. gold bonds; and slowly but surely the people are accepting his system of credit currency as the one that will insure to our country a medium of exchange, safe, sufficient and responsive to every need. He represents the principles of National honor, invincible in 1896, and again triumphant in 1900; and in representing them he fittingly represents every intelligent, independent voter of his district and State.

The thought of any choice between such a blind purveyor of quack remedies and such a constructive statesman is ludicrous.

To vote for James E. Martine is to vote for a return to the closed factories and open soup-houses of Cleveland's unspeakable second-term.

To vote for Charles N. Fowler is to vote for a continuance of the splendid prosperity, with honor, of the last eight years, under McKinley and Roosevelt.

There is no choice, and it is well there isn't. Suppose, for one incredible instant, that Martine should be elected; of what possible use could he be to any of his constitutents? The path of the new member, at best, is beset with difficulties. He isn't known, and he doesn't know. He is only one of many? a pawn to be moved as his party wills. But if in addition he is the fanatical adherent of a lost cause, the dogged follower of a discredited leader, unamenable to reason, unmoved by facts, who is there so poor as to give attention to his views or heed to his requests? Neither profit nor honor lies in the exploiting of such a politician.

On the other hand, in again honoring Charles N. Fowler, the Fifth Congressional district will honor itself. Congressional work, like every other kind of work in a free land, is best done by trained men. Through five successive terms, Mr. Fowler has served not frittered away his time, gaining with each one a clearer, higher place in the public view; until now, when New Jersey is spoken of, he naturally comes to mind, and the Nation claims him as her own. As Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee and one of the leaders of the House, his influence in directing legislation and in enforcing the just claims of his constitutents increases from year to year. District pride, State pride, National pride, in his achievements and purposes all demand his continuance in the public service. Indeed there can be no choice; New Jersey never retrogrades, and her sons still respond to the duty of the hour.

Vote for Charles N. Fowler.—Adv.

FAITH CHAPEL REPORTS.

C. W. McCutchen Chosen Chairman of Trustees.

Charles W. McCutchen was re-elected chairman of the Board of Trustees of Faith chapel for a term of three years, at a meeting of the board held last night. Reports showing that the chapel is in the best of condition spiritually and financially were presented. All bills are paid and there is a balance in the treasury. It was reported that there is one hundred per cent. increase in the attendance and deserving tribute was paid to the pastor, Rev. J. W. Musson, for his earnest labors in that field.

Boroughites Aroused.

The unjust treatment which has been accorded North Plainfield by the Somerset county officials, was related in detail by Mayor Smalley before an audience which crowded the Good Government Club rooms to the doors last night. He stated specifically the injustice of Somerville and the county leaders generally toward the borough. His address in detail will be given in these columns tomorrow.

AQUEDUCT HANDICAP.

Israelite Won the Feature and Broke Track Record.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Israelite, with Schilling up, won the Aqueduct handicap, one mile and a sixteenth, at Aqueduct and broke the track record for the distance by covering it in 1:45 2-5, which is two seconds faster than Don de Oro's time, made in 1898. Israelite was quoted at 4 to 1 in the betting. A good field of horses faced the starter. Schilling sent Israelite to the front and led all the way, winning by two lengths and a half from the favorite, Dolly Spanker. Agile was third.

Orthodox, carrying 106 pounds, also made a new track record for a mile by covering the distance in 1:38. The best previous time was 1:39 1-5.

Mrs. Lyon Sang "Ave Maria."

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 4.—A dramatic incident marked the defeat of the trades school proposition which the clubwomen will not soon forget. As the votes were verbally given it was soon seen that the trades school project was doomed. While the secretaries were footing up the vote, the president, Mrs. Charles M. Dow, suggested that some music would be in order. At this Mrs. Dore Lyon, who has been the leader in the movement for the trades school, stepped to the piano and played and effectively sang "Ave Maria." The large gathering of women was visibly moved by the incident. Speaking of it later Mrs. Dow said, "I have never been more impressed with the grandeur of womanhood than I was when Mrs. Lyon went to the piano and played and sang "Ave Maria," turning seeming defeat into one of the greatest victories I have ever witnessed in club life."

Booth-Tucker to Go to London.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—It is announced that Commander Frederick Booth-Tucker, who for eight and a half years has commanded the Salvation Army forces in the United States, is appointed to the international headquarters of the army in London and will there act as secretary for and represent all countries outside of Great Britain. This appointment will make it necessary for the commander to travel in all parts of the world. Commander Booth-Tucker's farewell meeting in New York city will be held in the Grand Central palace on Nov. 15, and he will sail for London on the following day.

Killed Sister With Shotgun.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., Nov. 4.—Charles Quest, aged twelve years, living near Greencastle, has killed his sister, Elsie, aged fifteen years, with a shotgun here. The girl was the housekeeper for the family, and she wanted her brother to go to school. George Stickell, a companion, began teasing him, and young Quest pointed a gun at him. The weapon went off, and the full load of shot struck the sister in the head, killing her almost instantly. Young Quest was arrested and placed in the county jail here. He says he did not mean to kill any one.

Cannot Prosecute Stafford.

BOSTON, Nov. 4.—Because of the refusal of the defendant's wife to testify against him the government will not prosecute in the case of Eugene L. Stafford, the aeronaut, who has been indicted by the Suffolk county grand jury on the charge of murdering Maynor B. Trussell. It was alleged that Stafford shot Trussell with a revolver at the rooms of Mrs. Stafford.

Greek Crew Massacred.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The India office confirms the report of the massacre of the captain and twenty-one of the crew of the British steamer Baron Inverdale at the Kuria Muria islands. The vessel was wrecked, and the Greek crew took to the boats. It is supposed they landed or were driven ashore in a monsoon.

Mark Pickett and Money Missing.

SANDY HILL, N. Y., Nov. 4.—Mark Pickett, a well known citizen of this place and treasurer of the Mill Relief association, has disappeared from his home in this village, and his friends are alarmed at his absence. An examination of the books of the association revealed a shortage of $800.

Idaho Man Drank Lye.

BURKE, Ida., Nov. 4.—Mistaking a can of lye for one of cream, Ed Benjamin, aged seventy-five years, drank of the poison and died in terrible agony. In company with V. Leland and F. Clement he located the Leland mine on Aug. 16, 1884, and was well known all through the Coeur d'Alene.

Miss Marion Bowen, of Watchung avenue, is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. F. W. White, of Boston.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Suburban A. C. won their eighth straight game last night by defeating the Somerset A. C., of Somerville, two games out of three on the Suburban's alleys at Fanwood. The score totals were as follows: Suburban A. C., 646, 700, 801; Somerset A. C., 689, 654, 718. A return game will be bowled at Somerville next Wednesday.

DEATH OF MRS. WINDHAM.

Passed Away Yesterday After a Long Illness.

Following an illness of nine months during which she underwent two severe operations, Mrs. August Windham died at her home on Fairview avenue, yesterday morning. She was in her fifty-second year and for a long time had been a prominent member of Warren chapel. She is survived by three sons and three daughters, all of whom reside at home.

Funeral services will be held from her late home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Blaze at West Dunellen.

A barn at West Dunellen belonging to William Dealaman, of Dunellen, and occupied by W. A. and H. Gallagher, was totally destroyed by fire at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, together with 100 bushels of grain, seven tons of straw and two and a half tons of hay. The loss aggregates $1,000, with insurance on the building only. Six cows and a horse in the structure were saved by William Olmstead, of this city, and several neighbors. One thousand feet of hose was laid by the Dunellen fire department but the water pressure was insufficient. The cause of the blaze is not known.

Brick Pavement Progressing.

Foreman Bowden and members of the street gang have completed laying the new brick pavement on the east side of Watchung avenue, from North avenue to Second street. The work was started yesterday, the first brick being put in place by Mayor Jenkins. Today the crevices are to be filled in after which work will start on the west side.

POLITICAL CHAT.

The Borough Democratic Club held a business meeting last night at The Homestead. While the borough is Republican by a safe majority, still the Democrats intend to hustle and will make an effort to get out the entire party vote and reduce the usual large Republican majority somewhat.

The Democratic Smoker.

The North Plainfield Democratic Club held a very successful smoker at its headquarters in Somerset street, last night. The club room was packed. Before the evening's entertainment began, which included refreshments, songs and musical selections, buck dancing and acrobatic exercises, Andrew E. Kenney, the vice president of the club, made an address.

Work Started on New Building.

Workmen began excavating yesterday for Charles H. Hand's new building at Watchung avenue and Second street. The old frame house encumbering the property and occupied by the Public Service Corporation as an office and waiting room is to be torn down. Thomas McGann is doing the excavating work.

Fanwood Democrats Organize.

The Democrats of Fanwood borough and township organized a club last evening, with the following officers: President, H. C. Knight; secretary, Theodore R. Bruchman; executive committee, Charles H. French, George Clark, H. D. Winchester and John H. Thompson. A large number of voters signed the roll.

Mayor's Horse a Runaway.

Mayor N. B. Smalley's horse ran away on East Second street yesterday afternoon and had gone several blocks before it was captured. The animal was severely cut and the wagon was badly wrecked.

BOROUGH'S GRIEVANCES

Indictment Against Somerset County Strongly Presented.

NUMEROUS COUNTS

Mayor Smalley Fearlessly Proclaims Why North Plainfielders Are Dissatisfied.

Waxing indignant as he began addressing the large audience at the Good Government Club gathering, Thursday night, Mayor N. B. Smalley recited in detail the wrongs that have been heaped upon the borough by the Somerset County leaders. In order that the men before him might understand why he opposed certain candidates, he presented facts and figures which showed that North Plainfield has been paying more and receiving less from the county than any other town within its limits. His statements were based on personal knowledge and investigation and they were as follows:

"The spirit of unfairness to North Plainfield extends not only to elections, but to all county affairs. Take, for example, the subject of stone roads built by the county. The only stone road in the borough or township in the building of which a dollar of county money was expended, the Board of Freeholders refused to build until compelled by an order of the Supreme Court of the State. Since that time they have steadfastly refused to build a single mile of road leading into the borough, although they have built many miles which lead to, or benefit Somerville.

"North Plainfield pays in county taxes into the county treasury, more money than any other single town in the county, and yet this year our new assessor has materially raised our valuations, thus increasing the amount which we must pay. We pay this year in county taxes $15,551.84, and yet in addition to refusing to build any road leading into the borough, the Board of Freeholders has this year appropriated as the share of the county money to be used in the borough, only the sum of $2,500. Out of this must be paid $1,900 for the Giraud avenue bridge, which was contracted for last year, and ought to have been paid for out of last year's appropriations. Therefore, out of the $15,551 paid by the borough, we really get back for improvements in the borough, only the insignificant sum of $600. This statement is made on the authority of John Emmons, the Freeholder from the borough, who adds that the $600 has already been spent, and he is without funds.

"This is one instance which shows how the taxpayer of the borough is being robbed for the benefit of other parts of the county.

"In every department of county government, North Plainfield is discriminated against. Take for example the subject of prisoners convicted before the Borough Recorder, and sentenced to serve a term in the county jail at Somerville, as the law provides. Long before the term for which a prisoner was sentenced had expired, he was out of the jail and at liberty. The excuse? none that we could learn. It finally became evident that prisoners from North Plainfield were not wanted in the county jail, although the borough pays so large a portion of the expense of maintaining that institution. This is another instance which shows how the borough is wronged.

"Take the subject of county bridges. It is well known that only by the hardest kind of a fight can we get a bridge built in the borough by the Freeholders, or one enlarged, even where great damage is being done to property by reason of its insufficient throat. That is common knowledge.

"Only recently J. S. Frelinghuysen, chairman of the Republican County committee, declared to me that no man from North Plainfield could have any office. That is true, and those Republicans of the borough who last spring were in open opposition to the regular Republican organization in the borough, are hand in glove with the Republican politicians of other parts of the county.

"Knowing that the nominees for county office would be obnoxious to many borough voters, they concluded it would be wise to have a voting machine in every polling place in the borough, and then declared about the county that they had the North Plainfield Republicans by the throat. What are we going to do about it? There is no great political issue at stake. The Legislature will be strongly Republican in any event. The election of these men will only strengthen the hands of those who use their power to

DROWNED IN RAIN BARREL

Three-Year-Old Boy Dies As Playmates Laugh at Him.

HIS MOTHER FRANTIC

Little Alphonse Orello Tripped and Fell in Water Barrel—Dead in Three Minutes.

While his older brothers and sisters and several other playmates looked on wonderingly at his helpless struggles, Alphonso Orello, the three-and-a-half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Orello, of Columbia avenue, was drowned in a rain barrel at his home yesterday afternoon. Running about the yard in a childish game, he tripped and fell into the receptance, which stood half sunk in the ground beneath the leader pipe. It was nearly filled with water and as his head went down with a splash the other children laughed in glee at the thought of his "getting a ducking."

When he did not arise, their merriment changed to wonder and finally alarm. One of them ran to the house and summoned Mrs. Orello who had heard their shouts but thought it was simply in their fun. By the time she reached the barrel the child's struggles had ceased and it lay partially submerged in the water, face downward.

The frantic mother lifted the boy out and rolled him about the ground but to no purpose. Every method known in resuscitation was tried by herself and neighbors but not the sightest sign was given to indicate that a spark of life remained. It is considered a very unusual case as the child was not in the water more than three minutes at the most and there are numerous instances on record where people have been revived after five and six minutes submersion. The little fellow was in robust health and the doctor called declared the result of strangulation.

County Physician Westcott investigated the case and finding it purely accidental, granted a burial permit. He was told by the parents that ordinarily a cover was kept over the barrel but yesterday it had been taken off by some one who had forgotten to replace it.

BOROUGH COLLECTOR GETS ADDING MACHINE

MISCELLANEOUS WORK OF NORTH PLAINFIELD COUNCIL.

In the regular order of business at the borough Council meeting last evening, it was voted to purchase an adding machine for Collector George F. Brown at a cost not to exceed $250. The motion led to a wide discussion as to the need of the contrivance and the members were divided in their opinion, Councilmen Krewson and VanWinkle voting against it. Before disposing of it, Mayor Smalley called upon Mr. Brown to explain why it was needed and he gave several sufficient reasons.

Chairman Arnold reported that during the past month, $238.95 had been expended in street repairs and $391.78 for stone. Mr. VanArsdale reported fifteen arrests by the police department and cited the disposition of the cases. Claims to the amount of $2,336.81 were ordered paid and a bill from Architect Frederick Lancaster for $66, as commission in fitting up the new police station, was rejected. On motion of Mr. Lee an electric light was ordered placed on Whitewood avenue between Regent street and Codington avenue.

The ordinance for occupying the new police station was passed on its third reading and it will go into effect November 18. Through a communication from the Secretary of State, the question of insurance and safe keeping of the two voting machines in the borough was brought up but final action was not taken. Nearly every member of the Council passed some facetious remark about the much discussed machines and Mayor Smalley's suggestion that they be put under lock and key at police headquarters for ninety days may be accepted.

Pupils' Recital.

On Monday evening, November 14, J. Edmund Skiff will present a few of his pupils in a recital in the Camera Club rooms in the Babcock building. Free tickets of admission may be secured of Mr. Skiff at his studio, or at Sattel's music store on North avenue, or at the Mathusbek piano rooms on West Front street.

SITES FOR PUBLIC PARK

Others Besides the Randolph Road Location Considered.

COST OF IMPROVEMENT

A Park on Randolph Road Would Cost $90,000 it is Estimated.

The question of a city park for Plainfield is now being considered by a sub-committee, appointed by the Common Council. This week the committee met and took up certain phases of the proposition, also the site on Randolph road, which has been under consideration for some time.

The site on Randolph road would cost the city about $30,000 and it is estimated that it would require more than twice that amount to put the property in such condition that it would look like a park. According to the proposed plans of dredging for the purpose of making a lake, some of the members believed would be an expensive thing and would not warrant the outlay required.

Another thing that argues against the adoption of the Randolph road site is that that section of the city is already like a park and if such a thing is to be established here, it would be better to locate it in some section where these conditions are not to be found. A member of the committee in speaking of the matter intimated that other sites are under consideration for a park, but he refused to state where they are located. If they should be made known no doubt prices in lands would take a sudden jump.

While some members of the committee favor immediate action in the matter, it is safe to say that a majority do not and the prospects are that it will be several years before the city decides to expend a large sum of money for a park. It was originally the idea that it would be a wise thing to secure a suitable site for a park while the number of acres required can be purchased at a reasonable figure and not wait until all of the available sites are used for building purposes. This the committee believes would be an excellent thing to do, but there is not the disposition at present to bond the city for the purchase of a site. There are many advantages and disadvantages to be considered and it is the purpose of the committee to thoroughly discuss the matter pro and con.

Until the committee obtains complete information on the subject of parks the committee will not present a report to the Common Council. It will then be up to the latter body to decide the question and that time seems to be a great way off.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY DISCUSSES MORMONISM

SECOND MONTHLY MEETING AT CRESCENT AVE. CHURCH YESTERDAY.

Mormonism was the topic at the second monthly meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Society, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon in the church parlors.

Especially interesting were the talks by Mrs. Harman, who has been in New Mexico, and by Mrs. Lawrence Myers, who has also been West and spoke of her experience in Colorado and New Mexico.

Preceeding the regular meeting, a joint meeting of the executive committees of the Home and the Foreign Missionary Societies was held for the purpose of arranging for the annual union praise service in the interest of both societies.

The committees decided upon Tuesday, December 13, for the service, and under the direction of Mrs. Israel Pierson, and Mrs. Samuel Milliken, the presidents of the societies, the arrangements for the joint meeting will begin at once.

It's $8 to $10 on Martine.

Betting on the election here is principally confined to the Congressional fight. One bet of $15 to $50 on Martine was made last night and immediately Fred Nelson offered to take as much Fowler money as he can get at $30 to $100. He will take the Martine end. Mr. Nelson also offers to wager $300 even that Frank Ross, the Democratic shrievalty candidate in Somerset County, will be elected. Mr. Nelson says he can't find any one to make bets on the Congressional fight at the odds he quotes.

REVOLT AGAINST TICKET

Dr. Anderson's Talk at the Colored Republican Meeting.

INCENSED OVER DEFEAT

Colored Nominee Who Was Snowed Under Springs a Sensation at the Rally.

Dr. J. C. Anderson, of West Fourth street, who one year ago was a candidate on the Republican ticket for coroner and who was snowed under by an overwhelming vote, declared he would knife some of his party's candidates in a speech at the colored Republican mass meeting, in Reform Hall, last night. He said that he attended the Democratic mass meeting when John Sharp Williams was the speaker and he heard a young (white) man remark: "Williams is a Southerner and so am I. He comes from where they lynch and burn niggers and don't give a damn." Dr. Anderson said that he heard this statement and it was enough to make him vote the Republican ticket. He referred to the fact that it was "My Country 'tis of Thee," this side of the Mason and Dixey line, and spoke glowing words of Roosevelt and Booker T. Washington, adding that it was due to the Republican party that there is a Booker T. Washington and that the colored people were able to enjoy the privileges experienced by the white people in Reform Hall on Thursday night. Dr. Anderson dwelt at some length on lynching in the south and on the Jim Crow car.

"If I have a right to vote, I have a right to be voted for," declared Dr. Anderson. "There are 10,000 colored voters in Union county and if I received 3,000 of those votes what became of the other 7,000? The negroes of this county are not united as some persons would have you believe. It was the white man who taught the negro how to cut and he will exercise that right. I want to urge you to vote intelligently, combine your forces. We have not forgotten or forgiven the white man for what he did a year ago and there are some men on the Republican ticket that I don't propose to vote for. I want men in office who will recognize me as a man.

"I am for what I believe is right. I saw a prominent Democratic candidate conferring with a colored man on Madison avenue a few days ago, endeavoring to get his support. That same candidate approached me and intimated that he might have some money to handle. I told him he need not mention money to me. Only yesterday I saw a man wearing the sacred cloth in the office of that candidate. A certain party wanted to furnish a keg of beer for us tonight, but I said no."

W. J. Douglass called the meeting to order and Rev. E. E. Jackson was made chairman. The latter gave an enthusiastic speech in which he paid his compliments to every Republican candidate. He referred to the treatment given Dr. Anderson, but said that this would not cause a split in the party vote.

George W. Douglass, Esq., a colored lawyer of Newark, spoke at some length on National and State affairs, incidentally touching local conditions.

One of the principal speakers of the evening was William F. Powell, of Camden, who for eight years has been the minister to Hayti. Mr. Powell said that there are 30,000 negro voters in New Jersey and Roosevelt will have a majority of 35,000. Referring to James E. Martine, he said he understood that he was a very nice gentleman, but he added, the people cannot afford to elect him. He urged the young women present having sweethearts not to marry Democrats for they could not be trusted. Concluding he told those present not to sell their votes for beer, money or cigars.

Says Candy Not Injurious.

O. H. Hoops, chairman of the executive committee of the National Confectioner's Association, has written Superintendent Wightman, of the North Plainfield schools, asking that he secure a retraction from the Board of Education that candy sold in the borough has injured school children. Mr. Hoops asserts that from an investigation nothing has been found that the candy contains harmful ingredients. The matter is still being considered by the North Plainfield officials.

Learn to Vote.

The voting machine is operated for the benefit of the public every evening from 7 to 9 as Nos. 82 and 85 Somerset street and at the city clerk's office on North avenue. Learn how to vote!

MAYOR RAPS ASSESSOR

Borough Executive Criticises Act of Dr. Cooley.

DECLARES IT UNFAIR

Says He Made Increase in Assessment and Then Asserted it Was Done by the Council.

Declaring that he had acted in an unfair way, Mayor N. B. Smalley at the Borough Council meeting last evening, expressed himself in decided terms relative to a statement made by Assessor J. H. Cooley to Francis DeL. Hyde that the Councilmanic body and not he, had made an increase of $4,000 in the assessment of his property on Norwood avenue. After asking the members before him who had gone over the tax lists if they were responsible for it and receiving a negative reply, the Mayor asserted that it had been done by the Assessor and that he had shifted the responsibility.

"It is his duty to make an increase in an assessment if he sees fit," said the Mayor, "but he has no right to say some one else did it and I take exception to Dr. Cooley's action.

The assessment in question was on Mr. Hyde's vacant property bounded by Norwood and Belmont avenues. The former street was macadamized last year and two-thirds of the cost was borne by Mr. Hyde. He asserted that the ground had not increased in value any as a result but his assessment was jumped $4,000. When Councilmen Arnold and VanArsdale were examining the tax books they inquired of Dr. Cooley why his was done and he replied that it was simply a transfer of the assessment from Belmont avenue to Norwood avenue and they allowed it to pass.

Mayor Smalley knew nothing of the increase until Mr. Hyde took him to task for it and was then informed that Dr. Cooley had told him (Mr. Hyde) that it was changed by the Council. This prevented him from going before the Commissioners of Appeal and he said at the time that he would take the matter to the State Board of Taxation. This led the Mayor to investigate, finding that the Council had nothing whatever to do with the increase.

"Dr. Cooley should have assumed the responsibility," asserted the Mayor, "and not lay it on someone else. If that was done promiscuously it affords people a chance to strike at the Council under the belief that the members are to blame. Mr. Hyde is away at present but on his return I shall call a special session of this body with the Assessor present in order to have him place his objection before us."

Following the Mayor's remarks, Councilman Lee declared the matter should be investigated and if the assessment was not just, the Council should recommend to the State Board of Taxation that Mr. Hyde's tax be returned. Corporation Counsel Reed also spoke, saying that it was a prevailing custom in the borough for one official to perform some act and when it was questioned, assert it was another. As an instance he specified the controversy over the assessment on St. Gabriel's Academy, in which the Corporation Counsel had been quoted several times.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. Reed, "I knew nothing of the matter until a few evenings ago when one of the Commissioners of Appeal called me up on the telephone and asked my opinion regarding it."

HIS GOOD RECORD?

Because of It Larry Wallace Escapes Punishment on Charge of Assault.

Larry Wallace, of this city, who recently made a desperate attempt to escape from the Somerville jail during which he sought to strangle Deputy Anderson, was placed on trial before Judge Schenck in the Somerset county court yesterday. He was charged with assault and pleading guilty had sentence suspended "because of his previous good record and behavior." A petition was presented the judge asking for clemency which was signed by many Plainfield people.

Wallace has still twenty days to serve in the ninety days sentence given him by Recorder Doud, of the borough, for assault.

Reformation Again Tonight.

The "Story of the Scottish Reformation, or John Knox vs. Mary Queen of Scots" will be repeated in Hope chapel this evening. Some good reserved seats, reduced for this occasion to thirty-five cents, may be had at Schreiner's pharmacy or at Donald McInnis's, 1004 West Third street.

DISCUSSION OF MISSIONS

Chicago Woman Speaks at Baptist Society's Meeting.

MAKE CONTRIBUTION

Closing Session of Woman's Baptist Home Missionary Society of East New Jersey Baptist Association.

The session of the Woman's Baptist Home Missionary Society of the East New Jersey Baptist Association was continued yesterday afternoon and proved to be more interesting than the morning session. There were present 131 women as delegates and visitors, and the entire afternoon was devoted to a discussion and presentation of facts concerning the home mission field.

After the devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Payne, of Newark, there was a symposium of three different topics, all having an intimate relationship to one another. The first topic, "The Measure of Our Responsibility," way presented by Mrs. William Littell, of Elizabeh, the second, "Our Opportunity," by Miss C. M. Gooding, of Newark, and the third, "Our Motive," by Mrs. W. G. Fennell, of Newark. As each topic was presented an informal discussion followed, all of which proved very helpful to the women.

Mrs. Auguste Post, whose home is in the West, and who has for some time been identified with the home missionary society, and who is now engaged for a month in doing general mission work in New Jersey by addressing meetings in the interest of the work, gave a brief talk and presented helpful literature concerning the home mission field.

As the present officers continue in office for some time to come, there was no election at yesterday's session. Miss Emma Baker, as director, presided at both sessions and Mrs. L. L. Nerpel, of Newark, the secretary, was in her place. Miss Florence Marsh, who with Miss Laura J. Runyon, had charge of the enrollment, reported that there were 131 delegates present.

The address of the afternoon was delivered by Miss Mary J. Burdette, of Chicago, sister of Robert Burdette. She is identified with the Baptist Training School for women in Chicago, and her talk was concerning the needs and the progress of this school. She said that the officers of the school are anxious to raise $100,000 this year for the institution so that ample accommodations may be provided for those who seek training for Christian work.

Miss Burdette is a bright and entertaining speaker and evidences considerable of the wit of her brother. She made an urgent appeal to the women of the New Jersey society to increase their contributions and thereby assist in the great effort of securing more funds. She also told of the work on the home mission field and related many pathetic incidents associated with the labors of the missionaries in all parts of the country. Many new and interesting facts were presented to show that the work of the home society is doing a great work, especially among the foreigners who locate in various parts of the country. She said that every day there is an appeal for a trained missionary to take charge of some new field.

The women present obtained an expression of opinion as to increasing the annual contribution to $150 and by a rising vote showed their approval.

After a vote of thanks was given to the women of the First Baptist church for their hospitality, the convention adjourned.

JUNIORS TO GIVE PLAY.

Elizabeth Winter Will Dramatize Tennyson's "Princess" for Class of 1906.

At a recent meeting of the junior class of the Plainfield High School, it was decided to give the play entitled "The Princess," by Alfred Tennyson. The date of the production has not yet been decided upon, though it will be announced next week if possible.

The cast will be chosen by a committee of the faculty, and rehearsals will begin at once. The play will be dramatized by Miss Elizabeth Winter, a member of the class.

COY MAID AND TELESCOPE.

Race Features at Aqueduct Bellerose Stakes and Last Race.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Telescope, backed from 50 to 5 to 1, won the last race at Aquednet and made a small fortune for his owner, W. H. Kraft.

The race was for maidens, three years old and upward, distance one mile, and seventeen horses faced the barrier. Andalusian broke in front, but F. Thompson, who rode Telescope, rushed his mount into the lead. Rounding into the stretch he was leading by a length, but had to be hard ridden at the finish to win by a head from Thespian.

Coy Maid, the 4 to 5 favorite, won the Bellerose stake in a driving finish by three-quarters of a length from Niblick.

Coy Maid broke the track record for five furlongs by running the distance in 59 3-5. The best previous time was 1:00 flat.

Trotting Events at Woonsocket.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Nov. 5.—Harry L. won the 2:11 pace from Captain Sampson, the favorite, at the trotting park. Allie Moore took the 2:20 pace after eight heats. In this race all bets on King Pin were declared off, a veterinary surgeon stating that the gelding had a hemorrhage of the lungs. Stella S. was ruled out in the fifth heat upon the receipt of a telegram stating that the mare had gone a mile in 2:18¼ at Johnstown, Pa., on Oct. 12. The 2:19 trot went to Jennie Scott, the favorite. The 2:24 trot and 2:13 trot were unfinished. Nico II. was the favorite in the former event and Daniel the choice in the latter.

Thorn Hedge at Latonia.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—Thorn Hedge, in the steeplechase, was the only winning favorite at Latonia. Jockey Foy's collarbone was broken by a fall in the fifth race. Just after rounding into the stretch Praise stumbled and went down, and Neva Welch, with Foy up, fell over him.

ALMA STEINIGEWEG'S DEATH.

Clew Furnished by Car Conductor. Reward of $1,000.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—The awful death of Alma Steinigeweg, the telephone operator whose body was found in a vacant lot near Spring Grove cemetery entrance, still remains a mystery. The one thing certain is that the girl was murdered.

Frank Limle, the conductor on whose car Miss Steinigeweg rode on her way home, said that the girl had been in the habit of going home on his car. He says that on Monday night a short, stout man, a stranger, boarded the car with Miss Steinigeweg and sat facing her. He alighted when she did, with other passengers.

The conductor wondered why the man took the car for such a short distance. Then, also, other passengers got off with Miss Steinigeweg, but on Wednesday night the man alighted alone with the girl. The conductor infers that this man committed the murder.

The president of the telephone company by whom the girl was employed has offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the murderer.

Chinese Women Arrested.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—Six Chinese women who have been connected with a concession on the Pike at the world's fair were arrested by Immigration Inspector A. C. Ridgeway on warrants charging them with being in this country for unlawful purposes. Ho Hung, who attempted to end her life because she preferred death to returning to China after the world's fair, was among those arrested. The arrests are understood to have been caused by the alleged confession of a Chinese woman at San Francisco.

Louise Wishes to Be Forgiven.

FLORENCE, Italy, Nov. 5.—The former crown princess of Saxony, Louise of Tuscany, the divorced wife of the king of Saxony, has arrived here, desiring, it is said, to be nearer Rome in order to facilitate the negotiations with the Vatican, with the object of bringing about a reconciliation with the king. This is here considered to be more probable now, owing to the death of the late King George, who was implacable. Princess Louise is stopping at a private villa here.

Women's Clubs Elect Officers.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Philip M. Carpenter of New York defeated Mrs. Dore Lyon for president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs by 172 to 81. Other officers were elected as follows: First vice president, Mrs. Alfred Campbell of Binghamton; second vice president, Mrs. E. S. Jenny of Syracuse; recording secretary, Mrs. W. P. Blakeley of Oneonta.

Trouble Brewing In Morocco.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Consul General Hoffman Philip reported to the state department from Tangier that in Morocco, particularly in the northern portion, there appears to be an increasing tendency toward lawlessness and disregard of authority among many restless tribes.

Steps to End Textile Workers' Strike

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 5.—It is understood that steps are well under way to bring about another conference of representatives of the striking cotton mill operatives and manufacturers to discuss a proposition to submit the strike issue to local arbitration.

Fushima Sails From Honolulu.

HONOLULU, Nov. 5.—Prince Fushima, the mikado's adopted brother, has sailed from this port for San Francisco, where he is expected to arrive on the evening of the 9th or the morning of the 10th inst.

Russians at Port Arthur Retire to Inner Forts.

PREPARING FOR LAST FIRM STAND

Losses of Japanese Before Fortress Estimated at Forty Thousand. Nogi Presses Forward For Victory.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—It is reported at Chefu that the garrison of Port Arthur has retreated to the forts on the Tiger's Tail, Golden hill and Liaoti mountain and there are preparing for a final stand.

The Japanese are reported to be in possession of all the main northeastern positions of the fortress, which positions they gained after immense loss of life.

It is now reported that General Stoessel has been wounded in the arm and chest.

Of all the warships in the harbor of Port Arthur only the battleship Pobieda is afloat. The rest have been sunk by the Japanese fire.

The Sevastopol and Peresviet lie at the docks with only two feet showing above water. The Retvizan was destroyed by fire.

It is reported that the Japanese are drawing water from the sea by means of machines and using the water to flood the Russian intrenchments.

The British steamship Victoria has run the blockade of Port Arthur with a full cargo of beef.

The Japanese blockaders overhauled the Victoria off Weihaiwei, but allowed her to proceed when they found that she was bound from Japan to Newchwang.

The present situation of affairs at Port Arthur is extremely critical, and a hairbreadth's gain one way may mean a final victory of the Japanese.

A Chefu report says that the six days of bombardment and desperate efforts on the part of the besiegers to take the fortress of Port Arthur has ceased. The Japanese took Fort No. 3, but were unable to hold it. The Japanese losses are reported to be enormous.

A Tokyo report confirms the statement that the old part of Port Arthur was set fire to on Oct. 28 and that on the following day great damage was inflicted against the Russian mine clearing vessels in the harbor, two of them catching fire.

A Tokyo report says that the attempt of General Nogi of the Third Japanese army to present Port Arthur to the mikado as a birthday present resulted in disastrous failure. The Japanese were repulsed with heavier losses than they had previously experienced in a single assault. Nevertheless the attempt to reduce the fortress continues unabated.

The Japanese killed or wounded in front of Port Arthur during the last three months approximate 40,000.

IN PORT ARTHUR.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A letter from a Russian in Port Arthur, dated Oct. 27, says that it would need the pen of a Zola or the brush of Verestchagin to picture the awfulness of the siege. The letter continues:

"The uncanny part of it all is that men meet death in utter silence. One sees the fiercest of fights, but hears no sound. One moonlight night at Etse mountain I watched an assault of a ghostly mass of moving figures, through which continual lanes were made by our guns, admitting glimpses of scenes behind. These gaps were closed up as if by magic, and the masses surged onward, while our men, forsaking the trenches, sought the shelter of the forts. On they came until, when they were close up to us, the mines exploded and the earth opened. Bodies were hurled high in the air and then sank again to earth. Hands clutched rifles, and in the moonlight the bayonets looked like fireworks shooting upward and descending point downward into the bodies of men. I dream of the sight even now.

"All the inventions of military genius are not able to daunt the Japanese, who fight with Titanic energy. Our soldiers are gladiators and great hearted heroes.

"The last sortie of the fleet failed because of inability to repair vessels previously damaged.

"We have not a single bottle of anaesthetics left. Just think what agony the wounded must endure! The food is of the coarsest, and even that is becoming scarce, while disease is rife and sanitary conditions are deplorable. It is impossible to repair the ships with our scant resources, but we are all determined to hold out, come what will, in the hope of relief. For every man we lose our foes bemoan the loss of a hundred."

One Victim (?) Under Arrest.

REDDING, Cal., Nov. 5.—A masked man armed with a pistol entered a saloon at Cottonwood and lined up six men with their faces to the wall and their hands over their heads while he relieved them of $500 in cash and $1,800 in checks. Charles Emerson, one of the men who was held up, has been arrested on suspicion of complicity with the robbery.

Had a Hole In His Head.

BURLINGTON, Ia., Nov. 5.—Jacob Graves, who mysteriously shot and killed Thomas Layton, was found in his cabin on Frys island by officers who were pursuing him. He had a bullet hole in his head. Death was the fulfillment of a threat to elude justice by suicide. The body was taken to Fort Madison and laid in the morgue beside Graves' victim.

ISSUES MANIFESTO

Roosevelt Personally Repudiates Cortelyou Charges.

SILENCE MIGHT BE MISUNDERSTOOD

Denies Most Positively That He or Cortelyou In Any Manner, Form or Shape Blackmailed Corporations For Funds.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—President Roosevelt last night made the following signed statement to the American people in answer to the charges made against him and Mr. Cortelyou in public speeches by Mr. Parker, the Democratic candidate for the presidency:

"Certain slanderous accusations as to Mr. Cortelyou and myself have been repeated time and again by Judge Parker, the candidate of his party for the office of president. He neither has produced nor can produce any proof of their truth, yet he has not withdrawn them, and as his position gives them wide currency I speak now lest the silence of self respect be misunderstood.

"Mr. Parker's charges are in effect that the president of the United States and Mr. Cortelyou, formerly Mr. Cleveland's executive clerk, then Mr. McKinley's and my secretary, then secretary of commerce and labor and now chairman of the Republican national committee, have been in a conspiracy to blackmail corporations, Mr. Cortelyou using his knowledge gained while he was secretary of the department of commerce and labor to extort money from the corporations, and I, the president, having appointed him for this especial purpose.

"The gravamen of these charges lies in the assertion that corporations have been blackmailed into contributing and in the implication, which in one or two of Mr. Parker's speeches has taken the form practically of an assertion, that they have been promised certain immunities or favors or have been assured that they would receive some kind of improper consideration in view of their contributions. That contributions have been made to the Republican committee, as contributions have been made to the Democratic committee, is not the question at issue. Mr. Parker's assertion is in effect that such contributions have been made for improper motives, either in consequence of improper promises, direct or indirect, on the part of the recipients.

"Mr. Parker knows best whether this is true of the contributions to his campaign fund which have come through his trusted friends and advisers who represent the great corporate interests that stand behind him. But there is not one particle of truth in the statement as regards anything that has gone on in the management of the Republican campaign.

"Mr. Parker's accusations against Mr. Cortelyou and me are monstrous. If true, they would brand both of us forever with infamy, and inasmuch as they are false heavy must be the condemnation of the man making them. I chose Mr. Cortelyou as chairman of the national committee after having failed successively to persuade Mr. Elihu Root, Mr. W. Murray Crane and Mr. Cornelius N. Bliss to accept the position. I chose him with extreme reluctance, because I could ill spare him from the cabinet. But I felt that he possessed the high integrity which I demanded in the man who was to manage my campaign. I am content that Mr. Parker and I should be judged by the public on the characters of the two men whom we chose to manage our campaigns—he by the character of his nominee, Mr. Thomas Taggart, and I by the character of Mr. Cortelyou.

"The assertion that Mr. Cortelyou had any knowledge gained while in any official positions whereby he was enabled to secure and did secure any contributions from any corporation is a falsehood. The assertion that there has been any blackmail, direct or indirect, by Mr. Cortelyou or by me is a falsehood. The assertion that there has been made in behalf and by my authority by Mr. Cortelyou or by any one else any pledge or promise or that there has been any understanding as to future immunities or benefits in recognition of any contribution from any source is a wicked falsehood.

"That Mr. Parker should desire to avoid the discussion of principles I can well understand. So far it is but the bare truth to say that he has not attacked us on any matter of principle or upon any action of the government save after first misstating that principle or that action. But I cannot understand how any honorable man, a candidate for the highest office in the gift of the people, can take refuge not merely in personalities, but in such base and unworthy personalities.

"If I deemed it necessary to support my flat denial by any evidence I would ask all men of common sense to ponder well what has been done in this campaign by Mr. Cortelyou and to compare it with what Mr. Parker himself did when he was managing Mr. Hill's campaign for governor and to compare what has been done as regards the great corporations and moneyed interests under this administration with what was done under the last Democratic administration while Mr. Olney was attorney general. I would ask all honest men whether they seriously deem it possible that the course this administration has taken in every matter, from the Northern Securities suit to the settlement of the anthracite coal strike, is compatible with any theory of public behavior save the theory of doing exact justice to all men without fear and without favor. I would ask all honest and fair minded men to remember that the agents through whom I have worked are Mr. Knox and Mr. Moody, in the department of justice; Mr. Cortelyou, in the department of commerce and labor, and Mr. Garfield, in the bureau of corporations, and that no such act of infamy as Mr. Parker charges could have been done without all these men being parties to it.

"The statements made by Mr. Parker are unqualifiedly and atrociously false. As Mr. Cortelyou has said to me more than once during this campaign, if elected I shall go into the presidency unhampered by any pledge, promise or understanding of any kind, sort or description, save my promise, made openly to the American people, that so far as in my power lies I shall see to it that every man has a square deal, no less and no more."

HIGGINS AT SCHENECTADY.

Candidate For Governor Replies to Herrick's Charge.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Lieutenant Governor Frank W. Higgins was the principal speaker at a monster demonstration in the state armory. Mr. Higgins and his party, consisting of former Assemblyman James R. Sheffield and Judge James B. Fisher, were met at the station by the entire county organization and were escorted to the hall by the various marching clubs of the city. Mr. Higgins said in part:

"The Republican party stands before the people on its merits. It has compelled publicity in state legislation and has spent millions to develop the resources of the state. Mistakes may have been made. Man is not infallible.

"Judge Herrick at Little Falls has claimed that the surplus and savings of the Democratic party were absorbed by the Republicans when they came into office that it might be unnecessary to increase taxation. The Republicans found much of the state's money spent, and it was necessary to borrow money to secure the footing which has netted the state under Republican rule millions of dollars."

GERMAN PEACE TREATY.

Kaiser's Government Willing to Negotiate Arbitration Compact.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Negotiations have been initiated for a treaty of arbitration between Germany and the United States. Several days ago President Roosevelt suggested to Baron Sternburg, the German ambassador, that a treaty of arbitration between the United States and Germany would, in his judgment, be very desirable. Ambassador Sternburg coincided in this view and told the president that he would inquire of his government what steps if any it desired to take in the matter.

Ambassador Sternburg called upon President Roosevelt and informed him that the German government had expressed itself as entirely agreeable to the president's proposition and that he had been directed to open formal negotiations for such a treaty. These negotiations will be conducted by Ambassador Sternburg on the part of Germany and Secretary Hay on the part of the United States.

PARKER AT BROOKLYN.

Will Attend a Reception In His Honor by Kings County Democrats.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Judge Parker's active campaign will close tonight, when he will meet Democrats of Brooklyn at a reception to be held in the Kings County Democratic club. His speaking programme is already at an end. He has no plans for further addresses, and it is not likely that he will participate in any more political meetings.

Immediately after luncheon Judge Parker took a walk with John D. Crimmins, made a social call and took an automobile ride in Central park. He was absent about two hours. In the evening he dined informally with a close friend.

Judge Parker expects to return to Esopus on Sunday morning and remain there until after the elections.

Cleveland at Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 5.—With a tribute to the strength and enthusiasm of the first voter former President Grover Cleveland in this city last night began his second speech of the present campaign. He had waited ten minutes for the cessation of the cheering and noise that his appearance brought forth, and for thirty-five minutes after he began his address 8,000 persons crowded together on the tanbark of a riding academy alternately listened and cheered. The occasion was the closing Democratic rally of the campaign—a rally under the auspices of a club of "first voters."

Disastrous Fire at Tifton, Ga.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 5.—Tifton, Ga., has suffered the most disastrous conflagration in the history of that city. The loss is estimated at $250,000. There were no casualties. The Phillips-Stack building and the Regent hotel were destroyed, and the fire for some time threatened the best residence part of the city.

To Protect Children and Animals.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—The board of directors of the American Humane association has been instructed to draft and secure the passage by congress of a bill providing for the creation of a government board to study the protection of children and animals and urge and suggest means for its accomplishment.

Died After Operation.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Nov. 5.—Roy E. Smith, for four years past general secretary of the Bar Harbor Young Men's Christian association, is dead here of appendicitis after an operation. He had resigned this week to go to the Portland Young Men's Christian association.

THE CHRISTIAN churches at Constantinople, Turkey, and Yokohama, Japan, have long used the Longman & Martinez Paints for painting their churches.

Liberal contributions of L. & M. Paint will be given for such purpose wherever a church is located.

F. M. Schofield, Harris Springs, S. C., writes, "I painted our old homestead with L. & M. twenty-six years ago. Not painted since, looks better than houses painted in the last four years."

W. B. Barr, Charleston, W. Va., writes, "Painted Frankenburg Block with L. & M., shows better than any buildings here have ever done; stands out as though varnished, and actual cost of paint was less than $1.20 per gallon. Wears and covers like gold."

These Celebrated Paints are sold by Woolston & Buckle, Plainfield; H. C. Meyer, Scotch Plains.

BOATS CRASH IN FOG

Norwich Liner City of Lowell Sank Columbia.

COOLNESS AND NERVE SAVED ALL.

Both Steamers Had Slowed Down as Haze Obscured Everything on the River—Two Men Injured, Nine Horses Lost.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Nearly cut in two by the sound steamer City of Lowell of the Norwich line, the ferryboat Columbia was sunk in the East river during a dense fog just before the usual morning rush of passengers came on.

About 100 passengers were put in peril of drowning by the collision, but the sound liner stood by and took them off the ferryboat, landing them near Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn.

William Lester, twenty-nine years old, and Buck Jones, colored, passengers on the Columbia, were injured. Lester was in the cabin and was caught in the wreckage. Two of his ribs were broken, while Jones received painful contusions of the left arm and back.

On the runways of the ferryboat were nine horses, which went down with the craft, struggling frantically as they drowned.

The Columbia shortly after 7 o'clock left her slip at Brooklyn, bound for Wall street, and was near her Manhattan slip when the huge bulk of the Lowell loomed up alongside, coming through the fog at half speed. The steamer was too near to be stopped in time to prevent a collision. Almost at the instant the larger boat was seen she struck the ferryboat a terrific blow just aft of the starboard paddle box.

There was a panic aboard the Columbia, men and women running about screaming and crying frantically for help as the boat began to fill on the starboard side and list heavily. The Lowell did not back away, but kept her nose in the rent in the smaller craft, preventing her sinking.

The crew of the Lowell were quick to see the danger. Hawsers were thrown to the Columbia, and the passengers of the ferryboat scrambled to the upper deck and then over the rail of the sound steamer.

Every one of the passengers were transferred while the Lowell drifted with the Columbia to near Atlantic avenue, where the frightened ferry passengers were landed.

Just as the last passenger scrambled aboard the Lowell the hawsers parted, the ferry boat having become too heavy for the ropes to stand the strain.

The crew, which had stuck to the Columbia, clambered aboard the Lowell as the ropes snapped and were landed with the passengers.

The Columbia drifted a little closer toward the shore and sank within fifty feet of the end of the long pier of the Union Ferry company.

Henry G. Davis at Elkins, W. Va.

ELKINS, W. Va., Nov. 5.—Henry G. Davis appealed to his fellow townsmen last night to support him as the Democratic nominee for the vice presidency. The appeal was responded to by tumultuous applause by as many of the citizens of Elkins as could get into the opera house. Among those who sat behind the senator on the stage were Blaine and Davis Elkins, sons of Senator Elkins. The meeting here was the culmination of a day of campaigning on a special train. On account of the demand of the citizens of Elkins to accompany the senator to Beverly, Valley Bend, Mill Creek and Huttonsville several extra cars were added to the train and were immediately filled with enthusiastic citizens.

Midshipman Injured at Football.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 5.—Midshipman Charles Clifford Gill of Kansas, a member of the fourth class at the Naval academy, is dangerously ill here as the result of injuries received while at football practice. The young man badly injured his kidneys by falling upon the football and another man falling on top of him. Surgeon Finney of Johns Hopkins hospital arrived on a special train and performed an operation upon the injured midshipman. He is in a critical condition.

Steamer Portia Beached.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 5.—The costal steamer Portia, with 104 passengers, struck on the Penguin islands at midnight. She was refloated subsequently, but was making so much water that the passengers took to the boats and proceeded to the mainland while the ship steamed for the nearest harbor, where she was beached to effect temporary repairs. The Portia is a new ship of 1,000 tons and was making her second voyage.

New Chapel Dedicated at Vassar.

Address to First Voters.

Editor, The Daily Press:—

"Commencing my independent thinking in 1854, at the foundation of the Republican party of which I was one of the first founders in the State of Wisconsin, I believe I have a right to express my views upon an American Government as I understand it. First of all, any party too long in power becomes too corrupt for any American citizen who loves the liberty of the Constitution which our forefathers gave us; therefore, it becomes a necessity to weed out the element in the parties which have had control of the government, both National and municipal, for any greater period than eight years and go back to the fundamental principle of the people on which our nation was founded. Therefore, the most of my remarks are addressed to the young men. I mean those who have not passed the meridian of life, those who have got to take the helm of government for a long time after the old castles have shed their mortal coil.

"I want you all to remember what I am about to say. Man too often lacks self confidence. Not knowing how much he can accomplish, he often fails to put forth the energy requisite for success, although it is within his control. A deficiency of self-knowledge often casts a shadow over the realm of the future and dims the brightness of hope. Many of our most worthy, young men need encouragement to incite them to vigorous action. You are apt to look up to certain individuals who have been fortunate enough to get the ear of the world, and command the attention of mankind; and awed by the power they wield, you are too often contented in being their humble disciples, and receiving, without a question, the dicta they announce. You quail before the towering intellect, and tremble in the presence of greatness. In this you are under an illusion which a little reflection will penetrate. No man has ever occupied the sublime position, whence, with undiminished vision he could survey the whole field of truth, and know himself beyond the reach of error. In deed it so happens that some of our greatest intellects are less truthful in their inquiries than many who are inferior in the world's estimation. When, therefore you see giant minds engloomed, and can discover delusion they cannot surmount, you have reason to be encouraged, and are authorised in bracing yourselves with manly dignity, and claiming the rights of independent inquiry. We have long since dissolved the chains which bound us to legal despots, and we have arrived at that stage of progress in which you should 'assume the separate and equal station" as individuals, in which you should know no subserviency to those who would be your intellectural masters. A republic needs pure men, who to the attractions of riches and the seductions of power will be inflexible. There is no greater glory on earth than to work for the rigid enforement of just and equal laws. Tyranny does not spring from the unjust nature of the few, but the debasement of the many. Liberties will not descend to the people, the people must raise themselves to liberty. That nation cannot be free where reform is a common hack, dismissed the moment it has brought the rider to his place. That nation cannot be free where parties are only on different roads leading to one destination, plunder. That nation cannot be free where the rulers will not feel for the people, until they are obliged to feel with the people. That nation cannot be free that is bought by its own consent and sold against it, and where from high to low, from the lord to the lackey, there is nothing radical but corruption and nothing contemptible but poverty; where both patriots and placemen, perceiving that money can do everything, are prepared to do everything for money. That nation cannot be free only in name. That nation cannot be free where the leprosy of selfishness sticks to it.

"Have you ever stopped to think whether you are voting for principal or party? I know it requires a great amount of stiffness in your vertebra to break away from party ties and carry into action the dictates of your brain.

"You must put into office such men as will work for the interests of the many and not the few. Make this a government of freedom as our forefathers intended it, and in order to do that you must send such representatives to make your laws, both National and municipal, as represent the interests of all American citizens, not one whose ambition is for self aggrandisement or for notoriety of the few, but of all. You have such a one now nominated for your National representative. One who feels with the people and for the people, not simply a few days before an election, but at all times. See that you elect him, and your liberties will be rewarded no matter what his color may be. "Very truly yours,

"F. M. Bacon."

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

James Keating, of the Pond shop, is seriously ill at his home on Essex street.

The W. T. Kirk Company has a large force of its men at Hightstown engaged in a structural iron work job.

Dennis F Kilbride, who learned his trade at Potter's and who has been in Yonkers, N. Y., for several years, is visiting his parents on West Fourth street.

Robert Dorman, who was formerly in the moulding shop at Pond's and latterly with the Worthington Company at Brooklyn, has assumed the foremanship of the Garwood Foundry and Machine Works.

—There will be the regular meeting of the Common Council Monday night. The session is likely to be a short one, it being the night before election.

—Leland T. Powers in writing of Henry Allan Price, who will appear with other talent in the Y. M. C. A. Star Course on Election night, says: "It has been a long time since I have enjoyed anything of the kind so thoroughly and so unreservedly as I did listening to Henry Allan Price recite from Riley, Field, Dunbar and Mark Twain. I could have sat for another hour and not had enough."

the injury of North Plainfield.

"The only possible way for the borough to get its rights is to keep on voting against such methods until it becomes clear that we will not submit to them.

"The following from a recent editorial in The Newark Evening News, seems to me appropriate to the occasion:

" 'Voting a straight ticket may or may not indicate cowardice or slavery, but a ticket scratched for adequate reasons is an indication that the voter acted carefully, thoughtfully, intelligently and with a full and conscientious appreciation of his duties as a citizen.' "

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Rev. George B. Shaw occupied his pulpit at the Seventh-Day Baptist church this morning.

AMUSEMENTS.

The fame of McCutcheon's Bird Center cartoons has extended all over the entire country and it was altogether natural, therefore, that those famous pictures, pregnant with humor and originality should attract the omnivorous dramatist who is ever seeking fresh themes for stage use. "Bird Center," a new comedy-drama evolved from the McCutcheon cartoons, is one of the most stimulating promises of the early season. It received its initial production in New York Thursday, at the Majestic Theatre and comes direct from Chicago after a successful run at the Grand Opear House, that historic home of successful plays. Whatever the merits of the new play may be it is certain to receive artistic interpretation. A quintette of such clever comedians as Edward J. Connelly, George Richards, William Burress, Louis Payne and George E. Mack are seen in the leading comedy roles, while accomplished actresses like Blanche Chapman, Rose Cooke and Mabel Strickland are doing justice to the quaint types of femininity in "Bird Center."

EPWORTH LEAGUERS OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

REV. DR. MORGAN, OF NEWARK, TALKS AT MONROE AVE. M. E. CHURCH.

Under the auspices of the Monroe Avenue church chapter of the Epworth League of the thirteenth anniversary of the society was observed last night at the chapel and was in every way a pleasant occasion. The chapel room was well filled.

Addresses by William N. Sortor, the president of the society, and by Rev Dr. William H. Morgan, of Central M. E. church, of Newark, were much enjoyed.

Two violin solos by Ernest Higham were well received, and played in a highly creditable manner. The programme in full was as follows:

Hymn, "Stand up, Stand up For Jesus;" prayer, by the pastor, Rev. George Mooney; quartette; Scripture; violin solo, Ernest Higham; address of welcome, William N. Sortor, president of Monroe Avenue Chapter Epworth League; quartette; address, "Consecrated Personality," the Rev. Dr. William H. Morgan, of Central M. E. church, Newark; violin solo, Ernest Higham; hymn, "Church Rallying Song; benediction.

The committee in charge of the affair were the following: William N. Sortor, chairman; John J. Praed, N. Mansfield Smith, Miss Georgietta Beekman, Miss Maragret Williams, and Rev. George Mooney.

Suspension Day in Court.

W. E. Wagner, colored, of East Sixth street, arrested last night for flourishing a knife at his home and threatening to stab someone, had sentence suspended in the city court today. He declared it was all a joke and he promised Judge Runyon to get his fun in some other way. Sentence was also suspended on William Packer, the legless man, arrested for helpless intoxication.

—Bear in mind that Neuman Brothers' store will be closed all day Election Day. Monday evening it will remain open until 9:30.

WASHINGTON LETTER

NEW AND OLD POLITICAL CAMPAIGN METHODS COMPARED.

GROWTH OF PRESS BUREAU

Days of Spellbinder Not Yet Passed—Magnificent Driveway Proposed to Mount Vernon—Question of Drinking Water.

Washington.—One thing seems to have been developed in this year's campaign, and that is a change in electioneering methods. This change has been gradual during the past dozen years, but in this national campaign is more marked than ever before. The old brass band, torchlight processions, and barbecue style of campaign is not followed, as it formerly was, but the excitement and hurrah of such demonstrations are reserved for the last few weeks or days before the election. Twenty or 30 years ago, and even before the war, there were months of campaign excitement, and political gatherings were held throughout the country, where issues were fought over, presented and refuted, and the voters talked to for the purpose of conversion.

To Excite Public Interest.

So far this year it has been demonstrated that the voters of the country take little interest in the public addresses, and in the old-style "joint debates," by means of which political doctrines were formerly disseminated. It has been demonstrated that these only attended public meetings who are interested in sending noted men, and hearing the oratory of noted speakers. They do not attend to hear arguments, and care little for what is presented on either side. They go to public meetings to be entertained and diverted. This change has been fully grasped by the political managers of the two great parties, and they are directing their efforts to educate the people by other means. They have not abandoned altogether the public gatherings, the barbecues, marching clubs and torch-light processions, but provide for them more as a means of exciting public interest than making political converts.

Chairman Babcock, of the republican congressional campaign committee, declares that the most effective work is now done on election day, not illegally, in the way of bribery or any fraudulent work, but by persistent personal efforts in getting out individual voters.

The Political Press Bureau.

Political managers of the republican and democratic headquarters believe that the highwater mark in campaign expenditures has been passed. Neither party expects to spend so much this year as in former national campaigns. This is due largely to the change in the public mind regarding politics. It is not necessary to spend so much money in the spectacular as formerly, and while a corps of spell-binders will traverse the country from one end to the other, there will not be so much dependence placed upon their efforts.

The New Political Educator.

The national managers have learned that the establishment of rural free delivery and the extension of suburban trolley systems have been the greatest aids in the dissemination of general knowledge in the past ten years. They have aided in the political education of the country by giving the rural population daily mails, and of this the national committees have taken due advantage. They send out daily brief pamphlets on political topics, which the farmer and workmen can read in a few minutes. They have a corps of newspaper writers at headquarters, who furnish to the smaller daily newspapers editorial matter and news letters of a political character, so that the claims of each party are constantly before the eyes of the public. The public is a closer reader than ever before, and for this reason has about made up its mind on political questions before the campaign orators swing around the circle with their speeches.

Spellbinder Still with Us.

It is too much to say that the day of spellbinders has passed, especially when the array of oratorical talent, most of which is produced from official circles in Washington, is considered. Congress furnishes the largest corps from which these public speakers are drawn. The cabinet circle contributes a number, and other branches of the government furnish some eloquent speaking. The democrats draw from congress, as well as do the republicans, and rely to a great extent upon ex-office holders for their debaters. Wherever these men go, whose names are household words on account of their prominence in public life, there is sure to be an interested audience to listen to them. Speaker Cannon, of the house, draws immense throngs, as does Bourke Cockran, easily the first orator on the democratic side of the house. Senator Fairbanks, vice presidential candidate on the republican ticket, and ex-Senator Davis, the vice presidential candidate on the democratic ticket, are always sure of a hearing.

The Spellbinder Plies His Trade.

When it comes down to a heart-to-heart talk with the horny-handed sons of the soil, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson takes the prize. His value as a campaigner is so well established that he was one of the very first to receive assignment for work in the field. The old gentleman is a Scotchman by birth, and he has never lost the burr from his tongue. He speaks with a broad accent, and is possessed of plenty of quaint Scotch humor, that is keenly appreciated by the people. He draws his illustrations from nature, and when he gets right down to an earnest talk with his audience he comes nearer making votes than any other speaker on the political platform. He is a good mixer, and when he goes around among his audience after the speaking is over, shakes hands with the farmers, and asks about their crops, at the same time giving some shrewd suggestions regarding the same, he just about captures the rural crowd.

National Avenue to Mount Vernon.

In the recent agitation for improving and beautifying Washington and surrounding historic territory, the attention of many patriotic organizations has been called to a scheme for the construction of a national avenue connecting the Arlington cemetery with Mount Vernon, the home of the immortal Washington. This idea was first suggested by Gen. Corbin two or three years ago, and has been discussed to some extent since. It is just 13 miles from the boundary lines of Arlington national cemetery to the old Mount Vernon mansion. The way lies along an elevated ridge, bordering the Potomac, from which a beautiful view of that noble river and surrounding country can be had. The idea as it has been discussed is for the states now representing the 13 original colonies each to take in charge one mile of this avenue, build the road, and suitably beautify it.

Proposed Road to Mt. Vernon.

Such a project, if carried to completion, would mean a perfect and handsome driveway from Washington City to Mount Vernon, and it is believed would become exceedingly popular in addition to its historic significance. There is now a splendid road from the limits of the city to Arlington cemetery, the ancient home of the Custises and the Lees. Adjoining Arlington is the military reservation of Fort Myer, now one of the best-appointed military posts in the country. If the avenue of the 13 original states were built, it is suggested tht memorial arches and other means of perpetuating the history of the first confederation could be built, and the driveway be lined with shade trees representative of the various latitudes, as nearly every form of tree will flourish in these parts.

The Question of Drinking Water.

The city of Washington has been greatly stirred this summer on the question of wholesome, healthful drinking water. Epidemics of typhoid fever in various parts of the country have called the attention of the people to methods of purifying water supplies. In the agricultural department are noted scientists, whose business it is to study means of conserving the public health. These learned gentlemen have experimented a great deal, and are satisfied that they have discovered a safe and cheap method in the use of copper sulphate. They do not want to force their remedy upon the people, but they have been hinting very strongly that the District of Columbia offers a field for a trial of their discovery. They want to put this copper sulphate in the city reservoirs, and they also recommend that for simple drinking purposes water be placed in copper vessels and allowed to stand a few hours.

How Washington Is Threatened.

The district authorities, however, do not take kindly to the suggestions of the government experts. They declined to allow the copper sulphate experiment to be "tried on the dog." They have ignored the recommendation regarding the use of copper vessels, and when the public schools opened a few days ago they insisted that the children be irrigated with boiled water. This, they claim, is the only practical method so far found of exterminating germs. They have supplied the schoolhouses with old-fashioned tin wash boilers, in which the water to be used by the children is boiled. Now come the government experts with a cry of horror that water boiled in these tin vessels, containing a large percentage of lead, is poisonous, and so the controversy goes on.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL, PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

IN THE STREET CAR.

Just a Few Remarks For Women in General.

"Trust a woman to show her little idiosyncrasies in a street car," observed the critical man. "I have compiled just a few remarks, and if it's the same to you I wish you would put them in print so that women may profit thereby."

Here they are! Perhaps some enterprising woman will feel moved to retaliate with a few don'ts for men passengers. Heaven knows they need them!

However—

Don't read a man's paper over his shoulder. If you are trying to scrape an acquaintance it is a good way; otherwise it is unpardonable. Newspapers are cheap; some of them only cost a cent. Save your eyes and the man's temper. Besides, he may not always wait for you to turn over the page.

Don't fish for coppers—and drop them all over the car. If you want to treat your friend treat her to something worth while, and don't struggle for her gratitude over a five cent fare.

Advertisements are sometimes worth reading, but never if they make you squint.

In going around a curve it is better to embrace a strap than a man.

Lower your voice.

Two inches of shoe is enough to show.

The woman who stands her umbrella in a slanting position should pay damages to those that break their necks over it.

There are two ways of sitting, and the proper thing to do when you are offered one-third of a seat is to sit one-third.

Little Johnny's shoe may be cunning, but not in another person's lap.

Remember that other people are even more interested in your conversation than you are.

Five minutes is enough to spend in taking in the gown of the woman opposite.

Don't blame the conductor if you pass your street while you are immersed in samples.

Don't pretend to feel faint while standing in front of the brute who is reading his evening paper. You may have the mortification of not succeeding in arousing his pity. Trip over his feet a few times.

The conductor has eyes, and your umbrella has points.

By all means wait until the last moment to get your transfer.

Use a plug if necessary to keep little Susan from asking questions.

On the last day don't be surprised to find a few of the conductor's swear words on your record.

poster is hung with blue and white toile de chintz. The dresser is of birdseye maple, and so are the chairs. The recess, having five small panel windows and an upholstered window seat, is particularly effective. The windows are also hung in chintz. The rug is blue and white, and so is the tiled fireplace. The candle fixtures in the wall are of gilt.

H. DE LA HAUTE.

THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy."

"Our gentlemen are somewhat late this evening," exclaimed Philippe. "'Tis too bad the Abbe Dubois could not be with us to-night to administer clerical consolation."

"Ah! le drole Dubois!" exclaimed Mademe de Tencin.

"And that vagabond, the Duc de Richelieu—but we may not wait. Again ladies, the glasses, or Bechamel will be aggrieved. And finally, though I perceive most of you have graciously unmasked, let me say that the moment has now arrived when we make plain all secrets."

He turned his gaze upon the woman at his right. As though at a signal, she half rose, unclasped the circlet of gems at her throat, and swept back across the arm of her chair the soft garment which enveloped her.

A sigh, a long breath of amazement broke from those other dames of Paris. Not one of them but was sated with the blaze of diamonds, the rich, red light of rubies and the fathomless radiance of sapphires. Silks and satins and cloth of gold and silver had few novelties for them. The costumers of Paris, center of the world of art, even in those times of unrivaled extravagance and unbridled self-gratification, held no new surprise for these beauties, possessed so long of all that their imagination required or that princely liberality could supply. Yet here indeed was a surprise.

As she stood at the regent's right, calmly and composedly looking down the long board as she arranged her drapery before reseating herself, this new favorite of the regent appeared in the full costume of the American native! A long soft tunic of exquisitely dressed white leather fell below her hips, intricately embroidered in the native bead work of America, and stained with great blotches of colors done in the quills of the porcupine—heavy reds, sprightly yellows, and deep blues. Down the seams of this loose-fitting tunic depended little waving fringes. The belt, which caught it at the waist was wrought likewise in beads. Beneath the level of the table, as she stood, the inquiring eyes might not so clearly see; yet the white leggings, fringed and beaded, and covered by a sweeping blanket of snowy buckskin, might have been seen to finish at the ankle and blend in texture and ornamentation with tiny shoes, which covered the smallest foot yet seen in Paris—shoes at the side of which there dangled the little bells of metal whose tones had told her coming.

Here and there upon the bead work of the native artist, who had made this attire at the expense of so much patient effort, there blazed the changing rays of real gems, diamonds, rubies, emeralds—every stone known as precious. As the full bosom of the scornful beauty rose and fell there were cast about in sprays of light the reflections of these gems. Bracelets of dull, beaten metal hung about her wrists. In her hair were ornaments of some dull blue stone. Barbaric, beautiful, fascinating, savage she surely seemed as she met unruffled the startled gaze of these beautiful women of the court, who never, at even the most fanciful bal masque in all Paris, had seen costume like this.

"Ladies, la voila!" spoke the regent. "Ma belle sauvage!"

The newcomer swept a careless courtesy as she took her seat. As yet she had not spoken a word.

"Your grace," said Madame de Sabran, "was it not understood that we were to meet to-night none less than the wizard, Monsieur L'as?"

"Monsieur L'as will be with us, and his brother," replied Philippe. "But now I ask you to bear witness to the shrewdness of your friend Philippe in entertainment. I bethought me that, as we were to have with us the master of the Messasebe, it were well to have with us also the typified genius of that same Messasebe. 'Twas but a little conceit of my own. And why—mon enfant; what is it to you? What do you know of our controller of finance?"

The face of the woman at his right had suddenly gone white with a pallor visible even beneath its rouge and patches. She half turned, as though to push back her chair from the board, would have arisen, would have spoken perhaps; yet act and gesture were at the time unnoticed.

"His excellency, Monsieur Jean L'as, le controleur-general," came the soft tones of the attendant near the door. "Monsieur Guillaume La's, brother of the controleur-general."

The eyes of all were turned toward the door. Every petted belle of Paris there assembled shifted bodily in her seat, turning her gaze upon that man whose reputation was the talk of all the realm of France.

"Ah, Monsieur L'as, Monsieur L'as!" exclaimed Philippe of Orleans, stepping forward to welcome him and taking the hand of Law in both his own. "You are welcome, you are very welcome indeed. The soup will be with us presently, and the wine of Ai is with us now. You and your brother are with us; and all at last is well. These ladies are, as I believe, all within your acquaintance. You have been present at the salon of Madame de Tencin. You know her grace the Duchess de Falari, recently Madame d'Artague? Mademoiselle de Caylus you know very well, and of course also Mademoiselle Aisse, la belle Circassienne—but what? Diable! Have you gone mad? Come, is the sight of my guest too much for you also, Monsieur L'as?"

There was irritation in the tone with which the regent uttered this protest, yet he continued:

"Monsieur L'as, 'tis but a little surprise I had planned for you. Mademoiselle, my princess of the Messasebe, let me present Monsieur Jean L'as, king of the Messasebe, and hence your sovereign! This is my fair unknown, whose face I have promised you should see to-night—this, Monsieur L'as, is my princess, the one whom I have seen fit to honor this evening by the wearing of the chief gem of France."

The regent fumbled for an instant at his fob. He stepped to the side of the faltering figure which stood arrayed in all its savage finery. One movement, and upon the dark locks which fell about her brow there blazed the unspeakable fires of a stone whose magnificence brought forth exclamations of awe from every person present.

"See!" cried Philippe of Orleans. "'Twas on the advice and by the aid of Monsieur L'as that I secured the gem, whose like is not known in all the world. 'Tis chief of the crown jewels of the realm of France, this stone, now to be known as the regent's diamond. And now, as regent of France and master for a day of her jewels, I place this gem upon the brow of her who for this night is to be your queen of beauty!"

The wine of Ai had already done part of its work. There were brightened eyes, easy gestures and ready compliance as the guests arose to quaff the toast to this new queen.

As for the queen herself, she stood faltering, her eyes averted, her limbs trembling. John Law, tall, calm, self-possessed, did not take his seat, but stood with set, fixed face, gazing at the woman who held the place of honor at the table of the regent.

"Come! Come!" cried the latter, testily, his wine working in his brain. "Why stand you there, Monsieur L'as, gazing as though spellbound? Salute, sir, as I do, the chief gem of France, and her who is most fit to wear it!"

John Law stood, as though he had not heard him speak. There swept through the softly brilliant air, over the flash and glitter of the great banquet board, across the little group which stood about it, a sudden sense of a strange, tense, unfamiliar situation. There came to all a presentiment of some unusual thing about to happen. Instinctively the hands paused, even as they raised the bright and brimming glasses. The eyes of all turned from one to the other, from the stern-faced man to the woman decked in barbaric finery, who now stood trembling, drooping, at the head of the table.

Law for a moment removed his gaze from the face of the regent's guest. He flicked lightly at the deep cuff of lace which hung about his hands. "Your grace is not far wrong," said he. "I regret that you do not have your way in planning for me a surprise. Yet I must say to you, that I have already met this lady."

"What?" cried the regent. "You have met her? Impossible! Incredible! How, Monsieur L'as? We will admit you wizard enough, and owner of the philosopher's stone—owner of anything you like, except this secret of mine own. According to mademoiselle's own words, it would have been impossible."

"None the less, what I have said is true," said John Law, calmly, his voice even and well-modulated, vibrating a little, yet showing no trace of anger nor of emotional uncontrol.

"But I tell you it could not be!" again exclaimed the regent.

SPORTING NEWS.

FOOTBALL.

The game which the football cranks of the city have been looking forward to for a long time will take place this afternoon on Crescent Oval. The two contesting teams will be the Alis aggregation and the Orange Field Club eleven. Both were out for light practice last night, and will put their strongest line-ups into the struggle today. The Alis team has not yet been announced, though it will be substantially the same as in former games. The O. F. C. will line up as follows: Tobin, full back; Sherwin, right half; Smith, left half; McVoy, quarterback; Emmons, left end; Shephard, right end; William McCullough and Hamilton, right tackle; Todd and Embleton, left tackle; J. McCullough, right guard; Banks, left guard; Heilyer, center.

CONGRESSMAN FOWLER'S RECORD SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

Congressman Charles N. Fowler, with eyes fixed firmly on his high purposes, advances steadfastly along his notable political career, unmindful of the puerile cries of his opponents.

In this campaign, as in every previous campaign, he has abstained scrupulously from personalities, never having been known to make a disparaging reference to an opponent.

On the contrary, he has spoken as a thinking man to thinking men; as a faithful steward rendering an account of his stewardship. He has recounted the achievements of the Republican party, and has deduced, from what it has done, what it will do for the common weal. He has advocated those two great fundamental principles of prosperity, rational protection for American labor and products, and financial and currency reform; through which there may be work for everyone all the time, and the highest possible wage may be paid in the best possible money. He has stood, as always, for national honor and the welfare of all.

Evidently, as in the past, Mr. Fowler's demonstration of living issues is too cogent to be refuted or explained away. In their desperation, his opponents are again resorting to a campaign of misrepresentation against him, unmindful of the fate of DeWitt C. Flanagan, who two years ago was soundly rebuked for the self same cause.

Mr. James E. Martine, Democratic candidate for Congress has stated repeatedly, in his public addresses this fall, that Mr. Fowler only voted four times at the last session of Congress; and that, therefore, since the salary of a Congressman is $5,000 a year, the cost of those votes to the people was $1,250 apiece.

If this statement is made sincerely, Mr. Martine shows a lack of political knowledge of which the merest tryo in politics might well be ashamed. Ignorance, however, may be bliss in his case, since such knowledge never could be of any practical value to him. In any event, he chooses to ignore the following obvious facts connected with Congressional life:

First. It is preposterous to attempt to guage the attendance of a member through the record of votes in the House of Representatives. No record of votes is kept there except when the ayes and nays are demanded; and hundreds of bills are passed and weeks of steady work may elapse without such a demand being made.

Secondly. Continuous attendance at the sessions of the House is not a measure of Congressional industry. New, unaccustomed members loll there; the blattant and the verbose rant and run on forever; and such may well be Mr. Martine's idea of public service. But leaders, like McKinley and Dingley for instance, are only able to accomplish results through hard, persistent toil in the committee room. Indeed, the committees are the work-shops of Congress; while the Hall of Representatives is the counting-room where the work accomplished is exhibited and discussed.

Thirdly. Congressional work is not limited by the sessions of Congress. A faithful representative like Mr. Fowler works every day in the year; and very often the work accomplished between sessions is of more vital value to a district. Mr. Fowler, every day, receives scores of letters from his constituents, all of which he answers, and the multifarious requests of which receive his careful attention. He has on an average several hundred pension cases continually in his charge; and the Grand Army of the Republic of his district can best say whether or not he is assiduous to the interests of the old soldier. There are postoffices to be established, postmasters to be appointed, postal complaints to be investigated, rural free delivery routes to be extended, local improvements to be urged, rivers and harbors to be deepened, and all the necessary estimates to be prepared. Constituents, who seek office, either through executive nomination or the civil service examinations, who have claims against the government, who have fault to find with some matter of departmental regulation, or who have for a change in some federal statute, who desire to enlist in or be discharged from the army of the navy, who seek a cadetship for their sons, or a pardon for some violator of the law more unfortunate than guilty-all, in fact, whose interests are in anyway affected for good or ill by the infinite ramifications of that mighty machine called the National Government, continually invoke his patent, persistent, trained aid, and they never invoke it in vain.

Besides, Mr. Fowler is identified in the mind of the country with a great national reform. To him, more than to any man, the people look for a complete and comprehensive currency system, in place of the makeshift which today is such a detriment to our commerce and trade. His attendance is sought by financial and economic conventions all over the country; his printed speeches have been circulated broadcast, and used as text-books in many collegiate institutions. To all these calls upon his time and means, Mr. Fowler willingly responds; for he realizes that education is the parent of reform. In his propaganda of right thought on financial and currency subjects, he has spent many thousands of dollars and many months of toil. During the summer and fall of 1903, up to the very beginning of that session during which Mr. Martine says he was idle, he was engaged day and night, speaking before banking conventions in Iowa, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin, conferring with bankers, farmers, merchants and laborers, immersed in statistic, engrossed with experts, in his fervent purpose to perfect a financial bill which, along the lines of least resistance, should accomplish these lasting benefits which every section of the land was demanding of him. If he did not urge this measure upon Congress, last winter, it was because he knows how to choose his time and how to wait. Political exigencies decided that this session, just preceding the presidential campaign, should only take up routine matters. But the results of his labors were not wasted by the delay; they are all the more ripe for the added reflection and revision; they are all the more certain of enactment into law.

But however ignorant he may be, Mr. Martine must still have spoken, deliberately in his silly accusation. Mr. Fowler's congressional work is a matter of common knowledge. Even the most stupid or perverse of men must take cognizance of it. No Representative can advance steadily through five successive terms until he is chairman of so important a committee as that on Banking and Currency and is recognized as one of the leaders of the House, unless he has devoted himself, heart and soul to the public service. Congressman Fowler, whose name is a household synonym for financial and currency reform throughout the country, neglectful of his duty? The voice of the Nation thunders, "No!" to Mr. Martine's preposterous charge.

This is so manifest that might well have been allowed to pass with other trumpery devices whereby the unfit seek to divert public attention from their own palpalo deficiencies, were it not for he legitimate and logical retort which Mr. Martine's statement provokes. He has seen fit to set the cost of $1,250 on Mr. Fowler's votes. What, then, might Mr. Martine's votes cost the country, should the impossible occur, and he be chosen to misrepresent the Fifth Congressional districts.

Let us suppose that his party is successful, as he claims it is going to be, throughout the country. The Democrats have a bare majority in the House, the South once more is in the saddle. A bill is introduced to abolish the gold standard and to establish the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Through the vote of the Congressman from the Fifth Congressional district of New Jersey, a district which twice overwhelmingly rejected the fallacies of William J. Bryan, this bill becomes law.

Again, let us suppose that at this session of Congress the rampant Southern free-traders introduce a bill, repealing the Dingley tariff and removing all imposts and duties. Through the vote of the Congressman from the Fifth Congressional district of New Jersey, a district rich in manufacture and fecund of products, this bill becomes a law.

Is not this a reasonable supposition in each case? Out of Mr. Martine's mouth do we condemn him. He is an unrepentnt and flagrant silverite; he is a flat free-trader without reservation or shadow of turning; and he glories in boasting that he is.

What, then, might these votes of Mr. Martine cost not only his district, but his State, his country? The total is stupendous, incalulable; surpassing the distresses consequent upon the Wilson tariff, the Democratic misrule of Cleveland's second term, the unspeakable panic of 1893. Want would run havoc, plenty would disappear; and in place of work for everyone, all the time, at the highest wage in the best money, there would be scant and infrequent labor, sparingly paid in a continually depreciating currency.

When one has a full granary, it is wise to keep a firebrand out of it.

ALIS-O. F. C. DISPUTE

Afternoon Game Undecided on Account of Dispute in the Second Half.

From a local standpoint, Saturday's football games were a failure. Though the weather did not interfere, the afternoon game between the Alis and the Orange Field Club teams was unfinished and ended in a dispute which did little to either team. On the other hand, the two school teams played clean games, but were both defeated. The High School fell under the attack of its old rival, the Rutgers Prep. School, and Leal's was defeated by Montclair Academy. Rutgers Prep. rolled up a score of 17 to 0 against the High School players, and the Montclair eleven won by the score of 18 to 0. The local schools were too light to contend favorably against the more formidable elevens, and though they put up a good fight, the weight of their opponents, and their practice and team work told in the end.

On Hope Common, the local High School and the Prep. fought it out for two twenty minutes halves. In the first play the New Brunswick team made a touchback, and followed it by a touchdown before the half was over. In spite of good runs by Williams and Douglass, fumbling prevented the local team from reaching the goal line. With the ball in their possession, the Rutgers eleven gained their distance easily on line plunges, and steady playing. In the second half they added two more touchdowns to their score, and when the time was called had the ball on their opponents' thirty yard line. The score 17 to 0.

Leal's School met with a similar fate in the morning on Crescent Oval. They were outplayed in interference, and in team work, though they put up a plucky fight against odds. End runs netted Montclair six points in the first half, their best gains being made in this manner. The Leal's boys took a brace toward the end of this half, and held their opponents down to six points for that period of play. In the second half, twelve more points were won by the visitors on two touchdowns, and two kicked goals. The following was the line up for the Leal's team: Manning, left end; Curtis, left tackle; Lawrence, left guard; Smith, center; Strong, right guard; Buteries, right tackle; Howard, right end; Wilcox, quarterback; Glenney, left half; Dallas, fullback; Daniels, right half. Referee, Mellick and Phillips.

The first half was all that was played of the game between the Alis and the Orange Field Club teams Saturday afternoon. In actual points the Orange Field Club eleven won the game, as they scored a touchdown in the first half before the dispute began. It was at the beginning of the second period of play that the two teams fell into a quarrel and left the field.

Alis kicked off to the Field Club, and the ball changed hands on downs. After two minutes of play in which the ball changed hands twice more, Tobin skirted the end for thirty yards and a touchdown. He failed to kick the goal. Though no further scoring resulted in this half, though the O. F. C. players outplayed their opponents, and kept the leather in the Alis territory most of the time. Several long runs were made by Tobin and Sherwin before the whistle blew with the ball on the Alis twenty yard line.

In the first minute of play in the second half, the dispute arose over an alleged foul on the part of the Alis team. Both elevens left the field after a short conflict of words, and the result is undecided by the backers of the two teams. They lined up as follows:

Alis—Thayer, left end; Voorhees, left tackle; Guyer, left guard; Pound, center; Derby, right guard; Egan, right tackle; Moore, right end; Phillips, quarterback; Cumming, left half; Whitney, fullback; Moore, right half. Referee, Woolston; umpire, Hamilton; linesmen, Joseph and Pike.

ROMAN CATHOLIC JUBILEE

Celebration Began at St. Joseph's Church Yesterday.

PAPAL ENCYCLICAL

The Intention of the Pope—Father Miller Explained Significance.

Yesterday was set apart by Rev. Father Miller, of St. Joseph's church, for the celebration of the jubilee commemorating the promulgation of the dogma of the Immaculate Conception, this being the fiftieth year since that important event took place.

It is the intention of the Pope, who has issued an encyclical upon this jubilee, that every Catholic make the jubilee according to the rule laid down by the church. The celebration of the jubilee consists of devotions of prayer and fasting, which may be made by each individual.

In St. Joseph's, however, it was begun yesterday by the congregation in a body, at Benediction in the afternoon at 3:30. A large number was present. Next Sunday and the Sunday following will be set apart for similar services and then one day will be given at a penitential day on which a rigorous fast will be observed. Also a day on which those who are making the jubilee will receive communion.

Yesterday morning Father Miller gave an interesting explanation of the origin of jubilees and the reason of their observance in the church, the jubilee being proclaimed every fiftieth year, commemorating some unusual event. Father Miller made Biblical references to jubilees, quoting from Leviticus.

IT IS A FALSEHOOD SAYS ASSESSOR COOLEY

A CAMPAIGN OF PREVARICATION ADDS OFFICIAL OF BOROUGH.

Editor The Daily Press:

According to a report of a meeting of the Borough Council of North Plainfield on Friday, the Mayor of the borough stated that I raised Mr. Hyde's assessment $4,000, but that afterward, in conversation with Mr. Hyde, I had told him that it was the Council which made the raise.

It is true that I told Mr. Hyde that the Council had made the raise, and it is true that the Council directed the raise to be made upon its own motion. When my books were presented to the Council, under the law, which provides that that body shall correct and approve the tax duplicate, without which it is not "official," the Mayor was not present. James K. Arnold presided. When the matter of the Hyde assessment on Norwood avenue was reached, Mr. Arnold inquired if it had been increased. I answered that it had not. Mr. Arnold declared that, inasmuch as the Council had macadamized Norwood avenue, making the land there more valuable, it ought to be increased, and under his direction, the other members of the Council present concurring, I increased the assessment and it is so marked in the Field Book. Councilman Krewson states that he recollects this distinctly, and it ought to be remembered by every member of Council present.

The exigencies of factional politics are great. The necessity for falsehood, however, has never been made more apparent than during the present campaign.

Justus H. Cooley,
Assessor.

North Plainfield, November 7, 1904

Councilmen Arnold and VanArsdale this morning requested the publication of the following affidavits:

State of New Jersey: ss
Union County :

Morris C. VanArsdale, being duly sworn on his oath says that he was one of the committee of the Council of the borough of North Plainfield which had charge of the examination of the books of J. H. Cooley, assessor of the borough; that when the books were examined in August, 1904, deponent was present when the assessment on the Hyde property on Norwood avenue was under consideration; that it was then noticed that the assessor had increased the assessment on the same; that Dr. Cooley was present and explained why he had raised the same, and that neither the committee nor the Council made any change therein; that the said increase was made by Dr. Cooley and not by the Council.

SCORES ON THE LINKS

Result of Play on Hillside and Park Golf Courses.

MUCH INTEREST TAKEN

E. B. Shoemaker and Mrs. Clifton Wharton Win Honors—Dr. Carroll and H. Rogers Are Tied.

The attendance at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Saturday was much larger than usual, although not a great many scores were posted for the Golf Committee and Gaston cups. The course was crowded during the afternoon with enthusiastic players, many low scores being made. During the afternoon a number of members gathered at the clubhouse and enjoyed the social features provided.

E. B. Shoemaker won first honors for the Golf Committee cup with the low net score of 79, while E. E. Iremonger and J. A. Lane divided the remaining honors, each returning a net score of 81.

These scores were posted for the Golf Committee cup:

E. B. Shoemaker, 88, 9—79; E. E. Iremonger, 92, 11—81; J. A. Lane, 102, 21—81; Robert Abbott, 81, plus 2—83; E. A. Cruikshank, 101, 18—83; C. B. Morgan, 91, 6—85.

There were two scores returned for the Gaston cup, each receiving 2½ points. The scores were E. A. Cruikshank, 101, 0—101; J. A. Lane, 102, 1—101.

In the morning there was a women's tournament, at nine holes. This was won by Mrs. Clifton Wharton with a score of 49, while Mrs. B. Peyton Legare and Miss Helen Bloodgood were tie for second place with a score of 50.

An unusually large number of scores were returned for the President's and Park Golf Club cups at the Park Golf Club on Saturday, and throughout the afternoon the course was well occupied with players. For the President's cup the point-winners were Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll and Herbert Rogers, who were tie for first honors, and Samuel Townsend and George T. Rogers who were tie for second place. For the Park Golf Club cup, Herbert Rogers won first honors, while George T. Rogers and S. St. John McCutchen were tie for second honors. The competition was very close, the contestants being evenly matched.

These scores were posted for the two cups:

Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, 104, 16—88; Herbert Rogers, 95, 7—88, Samuel Townsend, 107, 18—89; George T. Rogers, 103, 14—89; J. H. Howell, 106, 16—90; John L. Watson, 123, 17—96; S. St. John McCutchen, 103, 5—98; Charles L. Nichols, 118, 19—99; Charles A. Reed, 109, 8—101.

There were no events at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday. Tomorrow there will be the final play for the club championship at thirty-six holes and the monthly handicap.

Mrs. Woodruff Dead.

After a lingering illness of several months, Mrs. Katherine Woodruff, one of the oldest residents of this city, died this morning at her late home on East Second street. Mrs. Woodruff was in her eighty-seventh year, having come to this city in 1868. She was the widow of William S. Woodruff, and leaves a son, William A. Woodruff, of this city, and a brother, Jacob D. French, of Westfield. Mrs. Woodruff was born in Westfield, where she will be buried in the family plot at the old Presbyterian church yard on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Funeral of Mrs. Windham.

The funeral of Mrs. August Windham was held on Fairview avenue yesterday afternoon, with a large gathering of friends in attendance. The service was conduted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey and during it, two solos were rendered by J. Edmund Skiff. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery, those who acted as pall bearers being James K. Karl, John Stram, Gustav Hendricks, William Scherb, William Barge and Winfield Philpitt.

Jesse Oakley in Serious Condition.

Jesse A. Oakley, a former well known resident of this city, was stricken with paralysis at his home in Elizabeth, last week, and is now in a serious condition. He lies helpless but has retained consciousness at all times. He is an architect and has been in business with his son. In Plainfield he enjoys a wide acquaintance, especially among Pythians, being an old member of Perseverance lodge, No. 74.

It being a legal holiday, The Daily Press will not be published tomorrow. The Daily Press will make its appearance at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon containing complete returns from the Nation, State, district, county, city and borough.

In County Court.

Jans Claassen, charged with embezzling $20 from Charles Arnold, the butcher, and Frank Stringland, charged with embezzling money from Fred Endress, were arraigned before Judge Vail this morning. Both entered a plea of not guilty and their trials were set down for November 22. V. W. Nash, Jr., represents Claassen and Francis J. Blain represents Stringland.

Death of Miss Burke.

Mrs. Julia Burke, of West Fourth street, daughter of Mrs. Bridget Burke, died Saturday afternoon after an illness of several months with heart trouble. She was thirty-two years old and had been a resident of Plainfield all her life. Funeral services will be held from St. Mary's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Fined for Speeding Auto.

The local police objection to the fast speeding of autos took a drastic turn this morning, when Leonard Elliott, of this city, was arrested for the offense by Roundsman Flynn. He pleaded guilty before Judge Runyon in the city court and was fined $5. The amount was readily paid.

Mrs. Gustav Layton, of Brooklyn, is visiting her brother-in-law, Peter Layton, of Grove street.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Morris, of Iowa, are spending a few months with Mrs. J. C. Cubberley, of Pearl street.

DEATH INTERRUPTS TOUR

Bride's Father, John L. Darby, Dies Suddenly.

WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN

His Daughter, Edith Marion Darby, Just Wedded to Edward P. Simon, of Philadelphia.

Married quietly in this city Saturday afternoon by Rev. Charles E. Herring at his study, the honeymoon of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paul Simons was sadly and abruptly terminated last night. The bride was Miss Edith Marion Darby and while she and her husband were at a hotel in Washington, D. C., word came by telegram that her father, John L. Darby, one of the best known residents in Fanwood township, had passed away at his home in Alton. His death was unexpected and the news came as a great shock to the young couple who had received the blessing of the parent only the day before. The groom is a young Philadelphian and prominent as an architect in the Quaker City.

John L. Darby was born in the old Darby homestead on Rahway road, fifty-eight years ago, and always resided in that vicinity. He was prominent in the politics of Fanwood township as a staunch Democrat and had served the party in different capacities. He was collector in the township for several terms and tendered his resignation last Friday evening on account of ill health. While the sickness was confining it was not thought in any way serious but last night a sudden turn for the worse came and he succumbed within a short time. His death was due to a complication of disease and is the first that has occurred in the family. He leaves a widow and five children, all of whom are married.

The ceremony which united Miss Edith Darby and Mr. Simons was performed without any display because of the father's illness. They left soon afterward on their wedding trip and by a fortunate circumstance the telegrams sent last night reached them quickly and they returned home today.

CRAZED FROM GRIEF STAYED AT GRAVESIDE

STORY REGARDING ACTIONS OF MRS. HUBBARD CAN'T BE SUBSTANTIATED.

A story eminating from Brooklyn and published in New York papers, describes a woman named Mrs. John Hubbard, of 624 St. John's place, Brooklyn, kneeling on the grave of her sister Margaret in a cemetery near Plainfield. According to the story Mrs. Hubbard has been missing from her home since last Wednesday and she was found yesterday morning in a hysterical and emaciated condition and her clothing was covered with dirt.

The story further relates that since the death of her sister a year ago, Mrs. Hubbard has been ill with grief, that they had closed their home in Plainfield and moved to Brooklyn.

After her disappearance on Wednesday, says the story, Mr. Hubbard instituted a search for her in the hospitals and various morgues in New York and on Saturday he appealed to a detective agency for aid. After hearing the man's story a detective was sent to the cemetery, where Mrs. Hubbard was found. She was weak and hysterical and it was impossible for to tell where she had been. It is supposed that she had been sleeping in the cemetery.

Inquiry her today failed to reveal any facts concerning the story and those who would be supposed to know whether Mrs. Hubbard had been in Plainfield disclaimed any knowledge of the visit.

LAST OF THE SEASON

Though Somerville Club May Conduct Race on Local Track Next Week.

Concluding a successful racing season, the last of the weekly matinee races under the auspices of the Plainfield Driving Club, of this city, was held Saturday afternoon at the Park. After losing the first two heats in the 2:40 race, L. D. Wood's Sadie Smith took the next three races straight, winning in good time. Lady Treval, owned by J. H. Green, Jr., finished first in the first two heats, and came in second in the last three. Alcyetta, owned by Hedge, of Somerville, was third, and Brightson, owned by B. Thorn, of Rahway, finished fourth. Time, 2:37, 2:38, 2:36, 2:37, 2:37.

In the 2:27 class, only two horses were entered, Ned Davis and Fancy Stop, owned by D. C. Smalley and J. H. Green, respectively. Ned Davis won the first two and the last heats in this race, the time being as follows: 2:33, 2:33, 2:32, 2:34.

Rex, the fast pacer owned by A. C. Blair, of this city, won the 2:20 race, capturing the first two and the fourth heats, while Glitters Lad, owned by J. H. Green, and Tom Brantingham's Maryland Boy won second and third places. The time was as follows: 2:26, 2:24, 2:36, 2:26.

The half mile running race between N. Huntington's Lucitation and C. Pope's Dark Night, was won by the former in two straight heats. The time was 1:01:57. Following the running race, Mr. McKinsey exhibited his team of pacers who made the half mile in 1:18.

EVENTS SCHEDULED HERE FOR TOMORROW

ATTRACTIONS AT HILLSIDE AND PARK CLUBS AND OTHER PLACES.

One of the leading events at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club tomorrow will be the finals for the Men's Handicap cup, thirty-six holes, match play, between Willard Wadsworth, scratch, and Arthur Murphy, who has a handicap of eight. As Mr. Wadsworth is obliged to give his opponent two-thirds of the difference in the handicap, Mr. Murphy will have a handicap of five. He will be given one stroke on five holes in the morning and one stroke on the same five holes in the afternoon. The holes will be selected by the golf committee.

In addition to the above there will be the play for the Holiday cup, Greens' Committee Tankard and a Kickers' handicap and at 3:30 in the afternoon there will be an approaching and putting contest for men and women.

There will be special events at the Park Golf Club.

It being a legal holiday the circulating department of the Public Library will be closed tomorrow. The reading room will be open from 2 until 6, and the art gallery from 2 until 5.

There will be a ball at the Plainfield Dancing Academy on West Front street, tomorrow night. During the evening election returns will be received and each person present will receive a novel campaign souvenir.

In the announcement and invitations for tomorrow night's affair at the Park Club when election returns will be received, the committee in charge forgot to mention that women are cordially invited. An excellent entertainer has been engaged and the evening will be made as pleasant as possible.

Jacob Varian Passes Away.

After a week's illness, Jacob Varian, of East Ninth street, died this morning at his home in the eighty-third year of his age. He has lived with his son, Clarence E. Varian, of East Ninth street. He leaves a wife and two sons, George Varian, of New York, and C. E. Varian, of this city. The funeral will be held from the late residence on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Courier-News to Move.

The Courier-News Publishing Company has leased the store in the Marsh building at Second street and Park avenue and will remove its entire plant there soon after January 1. The business and composing departments will be located in the store proper while the editorial department will be on the second floor.

IT'S FALSE, FRELINGHUYSEN

Somerset County Republican Chairman's Answer.

REPLY TO SMALLEY

Some Terse Words From Somerville on Eve of Election.

Raritan, N. J., Nov. 7, 1904.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In the Plainfield Daily Press of Saturday appeared a report of a speech delivered by N. B. Smalley before the Good Government Club of North Plainfield, in which he complained that the county of Somerset in general and the Republican party in particular is unfair to the borough of North Plainfield.

It must be evident to every thoughtful reader that the true purpose of the address was to excuse Mr. Smalley for his singular conduct during the past two years, and to win sympathy for him by means of prejudice and false statements. His claim that North Plainfield has not been treated fairly by the Board of Freeholders is not germane to any issue at this time, and inasmuch as the Board of Freeholders has been controlled by the Democrats for at least ten years past, furnishes no argument against the Republican candidates in this election. The Republicans in Somerset County stand for fair dealing in all public and political matters concerning North Plainfield and stand ready to give it a fair share of the offices and an equal voice in county affairs, and they deprecate the sectional feeling which Mr. Smalley attempts to arouse.

Mr. Smalley says that the voting machines were placed in North Plainfield for unfair purposes. This is not so, but, if it were so, why were they placed in the city of Plainfield by Union County officials? And why three of them in the township of Bridgewater? As a matter of fact, they have been placed in the largest polling places in the county in accordance with the suggestions of the Secretary of State.

Mr. Smalley charges that I said to him that "No man from North Plainfield could have any county office." This charge is false. I never made such a statement, in words or effect, and I never entertained such an idea.

He also claims that he was unfairly removed from the Republican County Executive Committee. The facts are these: In 1902 Mr. Smalley was a member of the Executive Committee. He was not satisfied with the candidates nominated by the Republican County convention, and instead of remaining even neutral he openly and persistently talked and worked against the ticket. For this he was dropped from the committee. The following year upon his promise to support the Republican ticket he was taken up for the term expiring October, 1904. At the time of the last county convention, upon the nomination of the delegates from North Plainfield, another man was appointed to the place, Mr. Smalley's term having expired. These facts are borne out by the minutes of the County Committee. Is it either customary or good policy to place or retain an opponent on a committee, every member of which must bend every honest effort for the success of the ticket Would any sensitive man hesitate to withdraw from such a place, or, if he did not, would he complain of a suggestion that his position was inconsistent? What has Mr. Smalley done in the past few years for the Republican party to win a place in its line of battle?

As he has not abandoned his opposition to the party, and still shows by his work that he is not in harmony with the action its convictions, he has no claim for recognition in the councils of the party.

J. S. Frelinghuysen,
Chairman Somerset County Executive Committee.

Mrs. Abner Coriell, Jr., Dead.

Mrs. May Coriell, wife of Abner Coriell, Jr. passed away at her late home in Dunellen, yesterday morning, at 7 o'clock. Her death was due to enlargement of the liver. She had been in the care of a physician for about a month and had been growing steadily worse up to the time of her death. Mrs. Coriell was forty-two years old and is survived by a husband and two children, the elder, Florence, is now sick at her home with typhoid fever. Funeral services will be held from her late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

P. H. S. MUSIC CLUBS PERMANENTLY ORGANIZED

HIGH SCHOOL MANDOLIN AND GLEE CLUBS PREPARED FOR WORK.

Under the leadership of Samuel B. Howe, Jr., of the High School faculty, both the glee and instrumental clubs at the school have been rehearsing for several weeks, and the final choice of the clubs will be made in a few days.

These two clubs will be of great value, it is considered, to the school both in assisting the singing at the exercises, and in furnishing music at entertainments. Both the instrumental and vocal clubs will be led by Mr. Howe, and will be entirely independent of the course in music which is conducted by Charles L. Lewis.

The following is the personnel of the musical association at the present time:

S. B. Howe, Jr., faculty director; Chester H. Briggs, treasurer. Instrumental club—Samuel B. Howe, Jr., leader; mandolins, S. B. Howe, Jr., Chester H. Briggs, Theodore O. Gavett, C. Bertram Leggett, Martin B. Stutsman, Stuart F. Freeman, Monroe Long; guitar, Miss E. K. Cumming; violins, Juna E. Tolles, Clara E. Halard, William F. Gaston, Evelyn M. Berg; flute, Lindsey Best; banjos, Gurth Williams, William Briggs; piano, Inez M. Tolles.

Samuel B. Howe, Jr., leader. The following persons constitute the glee club chorus, from which a selection will be made in the near future: Sopranos, Wilhelmina M. Patton, Carro A. Bird, Zella L. Kelly, Miriam C. Carman, Grace L. Chamberlain, Lulu M. Stryker, Anna L. Runyon, F. Blanche Heideloff, Julia Q. FitzGerald, Florence Smalley, Helen M. Whitney, Emma J. Yaegar, Clara L. Kanen, Agnes I. Brown, Christine W. Thompson, Lillian Snedgrass, Eleanor VanTuyl, Carola E. Hart, Eva C. Kelly, Mabelle Cubberley, Rose Rottberg, Helen Sachar, Januet D. C. Mrs. DeForest's Letter.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Is it not a significant fact that the only no license councilman whose term of office expires this year was not renominated while the other members of the Council whose service ends with the present year are invited to renew that service. Then because our worthy and faithful Mayor thought it time the keepers of bar rooms pay more for the "privilege" of causing ruin and misery in hundreds of Plainfield homes, not to speak of several recent tragedies, he was not asked to succeed himself? Every good citizen will thank Mr. Tyler for continuing the good work begun by Mayor Jenkins and for his independence of the saloon power in this city.

A FINAL STATEMENT

Democratic National Committee Issue an Address.

DIGNITY AND INTEGRITY IN CANVASS

Claim That Their Candidate Will Be Free From All Obligations Other Than the Maintenance of the People's Welfare.'

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Democratic national committee has given out for publication a formal and final statement. It is addressed to "Democratic and independent voters" and reads as follows:

"This committee has conducted a national canvass in a manner, it believes, befitting the dignity and integrity of the American people. It has advanced no imaginative claims respecting results and has not accepted for use in the campaign a single dollar from the tariff bred trusts, whose exactions have so greatly increased the cost of every necessary of life and which are now contributing from their gains great sums of money to perpetuate Republican rule.

"The Democratic candidate if elected will be absolutely free from obligation, direct or implied, to any person or group of persons other than the whole people who shall have intrusted to him the maintenance of the welfare of the republic.

"This committee asks for itself only so much credit as such conduct of a canvass may merit, but it does feel that both the party and the country are to be congratulated upon the fact that out of discordance of weakness has been wrought a union of strength. The difficulties attendant upon this achievement are well understood. At every turn, by every conceivable method, in every doubtful district of every doubtful state, the efforts which we maintain to have been at least patriotic and know to have been creditable to both the candidate and this committee have been met by an avalanche of money.

"The source of supply of this great Republican campaign fund is no longer a matter of suspicion. The Republican candidate declared with great vehemence that he had promised nothing more than that he may be pleased to consider 'a square deal' in return for campaign contributions. The Republican chairman, he vigorously asserted, had assured him more than once that there had been no necessity for making direct pledges: that it had been found possible to obtain all the money needed up to that time at any rate without doing so.

"Neither he nor his chairman denied that contributions had been accepted from the trusts for the simple reason that the fact was undeniable, and each knew that it was susceptible and of overwhelming proof. The payments were 'voluntary,' not forced; such, and such alone, was the burden of denials which were virtual admissions.

"The only question remaining was how much had been considered necessary? Fortunately even this information was forthcoming. Simultaneously with the preparation of the most extraordinary temperamental document, indicative of the keenest desperation, which has ever emanated from the White House, the candidate's most intimate and trusted adviser, the former secretary of war, just returned from Washington, was uttering another and more detailed 'defense' of his chief in this city. 'The mere fact of contribution' he held to be inoffensive. His chief pride was in the great work accomplished for so small an expenditure. 'The fact is,' he proudly declared, 'that it is the smallest fund we have had for twelve years—about one-half the Republican fund when McKinley was elected in 1896.' That fund, it is well known, was approximately $10,000,000. Accepting these figures as correct, therefore, the Republican chairman has had only about $5,000,000 at his disposal.

"The chain is complete—the trust contributions not denied by either the candidate or the chairman, unequivocally admitted and the amount plainly stated by the former secretary of war.

"Five million dollars is the sum. More could have been had if needed, but under the present chairman's more careful direction that was deemed sufficient. But why did the trust contribute to the Republican canvass? 'They were asked,' says the outspoken former secretary.

"Did they think they were buying a presidency, or were they content with the assurance from the Republican candidate of 'a square deal?' In either case, upon their own testimony, the Republican candidate stands today before his fellow countrymen as one willing and eager to accept for himself a presidency that has cost protected monopolies the great sum of $5,000,000.

"Can $5,000,000 of trust money buy a presidency? Can this sum, great as it is, contributed in the hope of favors to be returned and gratefully accepted as a necessary means for the gratification of personal ambition, suffice to thwart the will of the American people?

"We cannot, will not and do not believe it. Moreover, we have the cheering intelligence to convey to all Democratic, independent and patriotic citizens that the most recent and thorough canvasses of the doubtful states are absolutely convincing that Judge Parker will be elected."

Developing Big Tract of Land.

Thomas Berkeley, a wealthy New Yorker, who bought a 158 acre farm at Berkeley Heights through William Jeffery, the well known local real estate agent, has given Mr. Jeffery charge of the work of developing the tract, cutting it up into building lots, laying out and grading the streets, and the handling of the property. Work on the maps has been begun and the other work will be started very shortly. Mr. Jeffery expects to build about twenty houses there to start with. These with the six homes to be built on Rock avenue in this city by the same people will help materially in the development of the respective places.

Trolley Franchise Granted.

An ordinance granting the Morris County Traction Company a franchise to lay tracks and operate trolley cars over the county road from Summit to Elizabeth, was adopted on final reading at the meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders, Thursday. There was no opposition to the action of the Board. In granting the franchise the right to operate freight cars over the line was denied the company. This line will be between six and seven miles long and will run from Morristown to Elizabeth. No other business of importance was considered at the meeting.

Thomas Meaney, of East Second street, has returned from a visit with relatives at High Bridge.

Miss Nellie Meade, of this city, has returned from a visit at her former home in High Bridge.

PEACE AND WELFARE WITH PARKER'S ELECTION

INDEPENDENT CLUB DOES NOT BLINDLY FOLLOW A PARTY.

Editor, The Daily Press:

It was the intention of the Parker Independent Club to hold a public meeting in the Casino and to have a man of prominence like Edward M. Shepard or William B. Hornblower make an address. When Mr. Shepard was asked to come out here we found that he would be engaged every evening until the election and that on the very night we desired to have him speak here he would be in Providence, R. I. Mr. Hornblower had to decline on account of his health, and for the same reason he had refused to make other speeches except the one he made in New York last Saturday evening. Efforts were made to get some other man of National prominence, but we learned that such speakers were in unusual demand and that none could be found who, according to our judgment, would be acceptable to a Plainfield audience.

The club has not been inactive, however. Several meetings have been had and new members admitted at every meeting. Much campaign literature has been distributed. Valuable individual work has been accomplished by the members. It is surprising to find the number of men in Plainfield who are independent enough to vote according to their own convictions, but who, for their own good reasons, are not willing to come out publicly and express their sentiments. The members of the Parker Independent Club of Plainfield are men of independent thought, and claim to be as patriotic in their sentiments as those who blindly follow the lead of party no matter whither it tends. They have taken an active interest in this campaign and have done what they could to advance the cause of Judge Parker, because they know him to be a man of the highest integrity and honor and believe that his election is essential to the continued peace and welfare of their beloved country.

George S Clay,
President, Parker Independent Club.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Several of the local shops will shut down tomorrow because of the election.

George Gray, of South Second street, resumed work with the Manganese Safe people today after an absence in other shops.

"Spike" Enright, of the Manganese Safe Company, expects to take a European trip early in the coming spring in the interests of the firm.

James Slorah, of the West End, is now located at the Nixon boat works in Perth Amboy. He was in town Saturday making an effort to secure tw good machinists.

Ned Gaston, of the Manganese Safe Company, is conducting a drawing for a disabled workman. He managed a similar scheme some time ago and netted a handsome profit for one of the employes.

Harry Rich, a former employe at the Scott Press Works, but now of Pottsville, Pa., has been visiting friends in town for the past few days.

SHATTERS ARGUMENT OF VOTING MACHINE MEN

ISAAC P. RUNYON POINTS OUT SOME WEAK POINTS.

Editor, The Daily Press:

In the last issue of a weekly paper an article on voting machines contains a paragraph, the third paragraph from the bottom of the third column, which reads thus, "There is no reason why any one should object to voting on these machines. They are simple, very easily understood, and no voter need make any mistake in voting for whom he desires." Referring to that paragraph you will notice that there is no reason why anyone should object to voting on these machines, then read the last paragraph in that article, same column, which reads thus, "But so simple are the machines that any man who can read or who is able to distinguish his party emblem and count as far as twenty, can vote the machine." You will then see that there is an exception of two classes of persons, the man who is not able to read and the person with impaired eye sight, who could not distinguish his party emblem. Now, it seems that there are two classes of persons admitted by the champion of the voting machine, who certainly can have a valid objection to the use of the voting machine.

Again, in an "Address to Voters" by the executive committee on the front page of the paper in question, the second paragraph reads thus, "The objections to the voting machines are invariably made by those who do not want to support a straight ticket, or whose habit have been to buy votes, or who are ignorant of the real fact." Referring to that article we are to understand that any person who has a honest objection to the voting machine comes under one of three classes of persons, you are either a traitor to your party, or second, a criminal because you have been in the habit of buying votes, or third, you are an ignoramus. So say the executive committee or rather their names appear to be signed to the article, or it may be possible that it was framed by the legal adviser of the weekly paper in question. I will not take up more space although there seems to be many important points that could be discussed by reason of the article referred to, but for which I have not sufficient time.

Isaac P. Runyon.

Mrs. Moffett, nee Stewart, of Stirling, is visiting relatives in town.

Miss Minnie G. Morse, of Franklin place, has returned from a visit with friends at Wilmington, Delaware.

Mrs. Andrew Vanderbeek has returned to Plainfield, and is located at Mrs. MacDonald's, on East Front street.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The fair and bazaar held in Friendship Hall on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening, under the Sunshine Society, of the Holy Innocents' church, was one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever held in the hall. The fancy work and pastry booths were especial attractions and both were empty before the last evening was half over. The hall was crowded both evenings and the committee is entirely satisfied over the results.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Craig, of Dunellen avenue, celebrated the second anniversary of their marriage at their home on Saturday evening. About fifty of their intimate friends were present and a most enjoyable evening was spent, playing cards and listening to selections from a gramaphone. Refreshments were served late in the evening.

Edward Sanders, of Bound Brook, while under the influence of liquor on Saturday evening, fell from one of the through trolley cars and received many painful cuts about his face and hands.

The local football team will play the O. F. C. team in Plainfield tomorrow morning and as it is a legal holiday a large crowd of rooters should attend the game and cheer for the locals.

G. A. Brakeley has returned to Princeton after spending Saturday and Sunday at his home.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Mrs. Augusta Post, of the Baptist Training School of Chicago, gave an interesting address last night at the Baptist church, upon the work being accomplished by the school. Mrs. Post, who is a well known worker along this line, presented the facts in an interesting manner and her remarks were enjoyed by an appreciative audience.

The Orange F. C.-Alis football game at Crescent Oval on Saturday afternoon broke up in a dispute, the score being at the time 5 to 0 in favor of Orange F. C. The result of the Orange Club's work was a surprise to the followers of the Alis eleven, which has been considered Plainfield's strongest team for several years past.

The Saturday afternoon shoot of the Brookside Gun Club was one of the best attended meets the club has held this season. Several out of town trap shooters were present to enjoy the sport with the members. Good scores were made. Tomorrow afternoon the club holds an Election Day shoot from 2 o'clock until dark.

Election returns will be received by The Press tomorrow night, the returns being thrown upon a screen by stereopticon. Get Wednesday's edition of The Press for complete returns from all local and State points.

The County Farmers' Institute, under the auspices of the State Board of Agriculture, will be held in Friendship Hall, New Market, on Monday, November 14. A large attendance of farmers and others interested is desired. Each person is requested to bring pad and pencil to take down points of interest for future reference.

The large attendance at the Christian Endeavor meeting last night was encouraging to the leaders. Nearly all members responded to their names called in the conseration service. A duet was sung by Mrs. Bigley and H. J. Manning.

Miss Nellie Manning attended the Teachers' Institute at New Brunswick Saturday and remained in the city over Sunday, with friends there.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Manning and daughter, of Newark, returned home yesterday after a week's visit with friends here.

HOW TO VOTE.

CLOSE THE CURTAIN, by moving the handle to the right side of the machine.

PULL THE STRAIGHT TICKET KNOB bearing the name of your party over to the right, UNTIL THE BELL RINGS. This turns a pointer down over every name on your party ticket.

IF YOU WISH TO SPLIT, turn back the numbered pointer from over the name you wish to cut out, then turn down a pointer in another party line, over the name of the candidate for whom you wish to vote for that office.

A vote will be registered for each name and question THAT HAS A POINTER OVER IT, when the voter moves the handle to open the curtain.

HOW TO VOTE A STRAIGHT TICKET.

1st—Move the Handle of the Curtain Lever to the right as far as it will go.
2d—PULL THE STRAIGHT TICKET KNOB bearing the name or emblem of your party over to the right UNTIL THE BELL RINGS.

This turns down all the Pointers of your party to a voting position, exposing an X above the names of the candidates you wish to vote for.

3d—LEAVING THE POINTERS AS THEY ARE, move the Handle of the Curtain Lever to the left as far as it will go.
This will count your vote, and set the machine for the next voter.

HOW TO VOTE A SPLIT TICKET.

1st—Move the Handle of the Curtain Lever to the right as far as it will go.
2d—PULL THE STRAIGHT TICKET KNOB bearing the name or emblem of your party over to the right UNTIL THE BELL RINGS.

This turns down all the Pointers of your party to a voting position, exposing an X above the names of the candidates you wish to vote for.

3d—Turn up the Pointer from over the name of the candidate you wish to cut out; and turn down a pointer over the name of any other candidate you wish to vote for FOR THE SAME OFFICE and leave it there.

4th—LEAVING THE POINTERS AS THEY ARE, move the Handle of the Curtain Lever to the left as far as it will go.
This will count your vote, and set the machine for the next voter.

SINGLE CANDIDATE AND GROUP VOTING.

All candidates for an office to which ONLY ONE is to be elected, are arranged in ONE VERTICAL COLUMN, and ONLY ONE of the Pointers in that column can be turned down, as shown in Cut No. 1 for office of MAYOR; while for an office to which two or more are to be elected, the names of the candidates are arranged on AS MANY COLUMNS as the NUMBER OF PERSONS to be VOTED FOR for that office, and the SAME NUMBER of Pointers can be turned down—

A JAPANESE GAIN.

Besieging Army at Port Arthur Capture Inner Defense.

TO FORCE RUSSIANS OUT OF MUKDEN

Vladivostok Strongly Held—Kuropatkin Reports Victory Over the Japs When They Attacked His Right Flank.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Special dispatches from Tientsin this morning report that the defenders of Port Arthur have retired to the Liaoti hill fort, where they are intrenched and will hold out desperately with ten guns of large caliber. Many Russians are deserting and surrendering. The Japanese, it is added, are advancing with irresistible energy.

A Tokyo report of the capture of Wantai hill, a dominating fort within two miles of the railway terminus, shows that the Japanese are making rapid strides.

The troops of the mikado have frequently stolen into the native town of Port Arthur after dark, but invariably were driven out at daylight with heavy losses. The Japanese have four large forts facing the Russian works on Rihlung mountain and Shanshu mountain, where they are mounting naval guns on stone foundations.

Mukden dispatches to Berlin state that the Russian commanders are preparing their men to hear of the fall of Port Arthur.

Advices from Mukden say that the Japanese are still working hard intrenching their front, which begins to look like a continuous fort. It is believed they are preparing seriously to advance, making their front strong, possibly in order that it may be held by a comparatively small force while the heavier force engages in flanking movements. The Japanese have learned by bitter experience not to expect much from a frontal attack. They are obliged, however, to maintain a strong front to prevent General Kuropatkin from breaking through their line and carrying the war to their rear.

There is considerable evidence to indicate that the Japanese will make every effort to force the Russians out of Mukden not only for the moral effect on Europe, but upon the Chinese as well. Mukden is extremely important to them as winter quarters.

The Japanese continue to receive reenforcements, and it is believed by Russian military men that their advancing depends only upon accumulating sufficient men.

General Kuropatkin has reported the repulse of a Japanese attack on his right flank on Nov. 5.

A Chefu report says that as the result of months of preparation Vladivostok is now strongly protected, according to Captain Halversen of the Norwegian steamer Tungus, who arrived there five days out from that port with 700 Chinese refugees who were unable to live at Vladivostok any longer owing to the high prices of food and other necessaries due to the war. Captain Halversen says that the Vladivostok system of fortifications begins many miles outside the city proper and grows stronger as the city is approached.

If the Japanese make an attempt to capture Vladivostok it is the belief of Captain Halversen that they will find it to be a second Port Arthur.

A dispatch from General Kuroki's headquarters says that the positions of the two armies are unchanged. The Russians continue infrequent and ineffective bombardment, principally at night or in the early morning, with heavy guns, devoting their energies chiefly to the Japanese left, where the lines are nearer than elsewhere.

The cold weather of the past week has culminated in a sharp wind and flurries of snow. The ground is frozen, but the soldiers build few fires for warmth lest they draw the Russian shots. They have remarkably and ingeniously well constructed shelters of cornstalks wherever they are unable to occupy Chinese houses. Fur overcoats are being used.

A St. Petersburg report says that Emperor Nicholas will go this week to Poland to bid farewell to the two rifle brigades stationed not far from Skierniewice, going thence to Minsk and Viteosk to bid farewell to the Fourth and Sixteenth corps. The trip to Poland, however, may be deferred on account of alarming reports from Warsaw of rioting at Czenstochova, where the Second brigade is stationed.

It begins to look like a deadlock below Mukden for the winter unless Port Arthur falls or the Japanese abandon the idea of renewing the assault upon the fortress there and settle down to a regular siege, either of which would release enough troops to give the preponderance necessary to try to force the Russians out of Mukden. In fact, the latest dispatches from the front indicate that some such move is preparing, though the best opinion at the war office holds to the view that there is not likely to be another big battle this year.

Shot His Father.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 7.—Edward Howard, a pattern maker living here, was shot and instantly killed by his son Arthur, aged twenty-one, while the elder man had his wife and daughter pinned to the floor by their throats. He had been drinking and had quarreled with Mrs. Howard because she would not give him more money. The shooting it is claimed by the son and mother was accidental.

Carlos Would Be In Style.

LISBON, Nov. 7.—A report here says that King Carlos of Portugal has been hard put to find stockings of the right color for his approaching visit to the British court.

PARKER'S ANSWER.

The Judge Says Roosevelt's Manifesto Is Misleading.

SO TRUST MONEY IN DEMOCRATIC FUND

Democratic Candidate Said That Great Issue Was Not Who Was Elected, but That Elections Should Be Honest.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—To every person that the reception room of the Kings County club, in Brooklyn, would hold Judge Parker made answer to President Roosevelt.

Characterizing the president's statement, in effect, as a ninth hour attempt to mislead his countrymen, the Democratic candidate for president declared that, instead of a denial of assertions made by him, there had only been an attempt to shift the blame by declaring that there were Democratic as well as Republican trusts.

Then, halted by cheering that for two minutes threatened the safety of the building itself, he declared that on this score, at the outset of the campaign, he had requested the Democratic managers not to receive directly or indirectly any money from any trust for campaign or other purposes, concluding with the assertion, "And they have informed me that they have followed my wishes."

Citing no specific instance, Judge Parker reiterated that the trusts of the country have contributed lavishly to continue the present Republican administration, and for this they will demand a reward from the administration in a relaxation of the laws or the enforcement of the laws.

For the first time in his speeches he frequently mentioned by name the president and George B. Cortelyou, Republican national chairman, as he traced the origin of the department of labor and commerce, its creation by congress, the purposes for which it was formed and its powers, and finally the connection of Mr. Cortelyou first with the president, then with the department and afterward as the head of the campaign committee, to which the trusts had been so munificent.

The name or the assertions of Governor Odell were ignored.

Speaking in a small room, Judge Parker had better command of his voice than at any other meeting of the campaign. During the twenty-three minutes of his address he was by turns judicial, calm, earnest and sarcastic. The sarcasm was most noticeable when, in commenting on the reply itself, he declared amid cheers:

"It (the president's statement) ought to array every honest man on the other side. It contains no criticism of my assertions. It is a plea of confession in avoidance."

Continuing, Judge Parker said:

"If when I had pointed out these things he had said: 'Yes, Parker is right. This is wrong; shall stop. I will join hands with him in doing this,' then there would not have been the present emergency. It does not matter, after all, so much what man is president so long as the principles are true. If he had said that it would have sounded like the Roosevelt we once knew."

At another time Judge Parker became sarcastic again. It was when he reached the phrase "square deal." He asked, "When the time comes for it, what do you think the trusts will consider a 'square deal?'"

At the outset of his address, before unrolling his manuscript, Judge Parker said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen—In all likelihood this is the last opportunity I shall have to talk to any considerable number of Democrats in this campaign. It gives me great pleasure to say to you that the outlook is very promising for Democratic success. Great work has been done in this campaign. There was much of it to be done to fix the fences all over the country, and I am glad to say to you now that the party is more harmonious than ever before."

Niagara Girl Attempts Suicide.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Miss Carrie Wahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wahl of this city, made a sensational attempt at suicide in the Niagara river. She now lies at the Memorial hospital in a precarious condition. She refuses a statement to Coroner Slocum and to Superintendent T. H. Perry of the state reservation, and even her own mother has been unable to extract from her a reason for her act. Miss Wahl was employed in the office of the Natural Food company.

American Fleet at Gibraltar.

GIBRALTAR, Nov. 7.—The cruisers Olympia, Cleveland and Des Moines of the United States European squadron, Rear Admiral Jewell commanding, have arrived here. The Olympia had in tow the British schooner Elizabeth with her stern badly damaged by collision with the Olympia the night of Nov. 5. The Olympia was not damaged.

Watson's Party Confident.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Melvin G. Palliser, chairman of the New York state executive committee of the People's party, last night said: "The People's party have every reason for encouragement and looks forward to the result tomorrow with confidence and satisfaction. Mr. Watson will poll over 1,500,000 votes throughout the country.

Steamer Corsica on Rocks.

ASHTABULA, O., Nov. 7. — The steamer Corsica, bound out of this harbor, ran upon the rocks which form a portion of the breakwater now under construction. It is supposed that some accident occurred to her machinery.

THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy."

"No, it is impossible," broke in the young Duc de Richelieu. "I would swear that had such beauty ever set foot in Paris before now, the news would so have spread that all France had been at her feet."

Law looked at the impudent youth with a gaze that seemed to pass through him, seeing him not. Then suddenly this scene and its significance, its ultimate meaning seemed to take instant hold upon him. He could feel rising within his soul a flood of irresistible emotions. All at once his anger, heritage of an impetuous youth, blazed up hot and furious. He trod a step farther forward, after his fashion advancing close to that which threatened him.

"This lady, your grace," said he, "has been known to me for years. Mary Connynge, what do you masquerading here?"

A sudden silence fell, a silence broken at length by the voice of the regent himself.

"Surely, Monsieur L'as," said Philippe, "surely we must accept your statements. But Monsieur must remember that this is the table of the regent, that these are the friends of the regent. We bring no recollections here which shall cut short the joy of any person. Sir, I would not reprimand you, but I must beg that you be seated and be calm!"

Yet the imperious nature of the other brooked not even so pointed a rebuke. As though he had not heard, Law stepped yet a pace nearer to the woman, upon whom he now bent the blaze of his angered eyes. He looked neither to right nor left, but visually commanded the woman until in turn her eyes sought his own.

"This woman, your grace," said Law, at length, "was for some time in effect my wife. This I do not offer as matter of interest. What I would say to your grace is this—she was also my slave!"

"Sirrah!" cried the regent.

"Ah, dame!" exclaimed the Duc de Richelieu. And even from the women about there came little murmurs of expostulation. Indeed there might have been pity, even in this assemblage, for the agony now visible upon the brow of Mary Connynge.

"Monsieur, the wine has turned your head," said the regent, scornfully. "You boast!"

"I boast of nothing," cried Law, savagely, his voice now ringing with a tone none present had ever known it to assume. "I say to you again, this woman was my slave, and that she will again do as I shall choose. Your grace, she would come and wipe the dust from my shoes if I should command it! She would kneel at my feet, and beg of me, if I should command it! Shall I prove this, your grace?"

"Oh, assuredly!" replied the regent, with a sarcasm which now seemed his only relief. "Assuredly, if Monsieur L'as should please. We here in Paris are quite his humble servants."

Law said nothing. He stood with his biting blue eyes still fixed upon Mary Connynge, whose own eyes faltered, trying their utmost to escape from his; whose fingers, resting just lightly on the snowy Hollands of the table cloth, moved tremulously; whose limbs appeared ready to sink beneath her.

"Come, then, Mary Connynge!" cried Law at last, his teeth setting savagely together. "Come, then, traitress and slave, and kneel before me, as you did once before!"

Then there ensued a strange and horrible spectacle. A hush as of death fell upon the group. Mary Connynge, trembling, halting, yet always advancing, did indeed as her master had bidden! She passed from the head of the table, back of the chair of the regent, who stood gazing with horror in his eyes; she passed the chair of Aisse, near which Law now stood; she paused in front of him, and stood as though in a dream. Her knees would have indeed sunk beneath her. She drew from her bosom a silken kerchief, as though she would indeed have performed the ignoble service which had been threatened for her. There came neither voice nor motion to those who saw this thing. The sheer force of one strong nature, terrible in the intensity of one supreme moment—this might have been the spell which commanded at the table of the regent. Yet this did occur.

There came a sound which broke the silence, which caused all to start as with swift relief. A sob, short, dry, hard, as from one whose heart is broken, came from beyond the place where Law stood facing the tremoning woman. The eyes of all turned upon Will Law, from whom had burst this irrepressible exclamation of agony. Will Law, as one grown swiftly old, haggard, broken-down, stood gazing in wide-eyed horror at this woman, so humiliated in the presence of all in this brilliantly-lighted hall; before the blazing mirrors which should have reflected back naught but beauty and joy; under the twining roses, which should have been the signs manual of undying love; under the smiling cherubs, which should have typified the deities of happy love. Will Law, too, had loved. Perhaps still he loved.

This sharp sound served to break also the spell under which Law himself seemed held. He cast aloft his arms, as in remorse or in despair. Then he extended a hand to the woman who would have sunk before him.

"God forgive me! madam," he cried. "I had forgot. Savage indeed you are and have been, but 'tis not for me to treat you brutally."

"Your grace," said he, turning toward the regent, "I crave your pardon. Our explanations shall reach you on the morrow."

He turned and, taking his brother by the arm, advanced toward the door at which he had recently entered, pausing not to look behind him. Had his eye been more curious as he and his half-fainting brother bowed before passing through the door, it might have seen that which he must long have borne in memory.

Mary Connynge, trembling, pallid, utterly broken, never found her way back to the right hand of the regent. She half stumbled into a chair near the foot of the table. Her bosom fluttered at the base of the throat. Half blindly she reached out her hand toward a glass of wine which stood near by, foaming and sparkling, its gem-like drops of keen pungency swimming continuously up to the surface. Her hand caught at the slender stem of the glass. Leaning upon her left arm, she half rose as though to put it to her lips. Her head moved, as though she would follow the retreating figure of the man who had thus scornfully used her. All at once, slowly, and then with a sudden crash, she sank down upon her seat and fell forward across the table. The fragile glass snapped in her fingers. The amber wine rushed in swift flood across the linen. In the broadening stain there fell and lay blazing the great gem of France.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

THE NEWS.

"Lady Kitty! Lady Kitty! Have you heard the news?"

Thus, breathless, the countess of Warrington, Lady Catharine's English neighbor in exile, who burst into the drawing-room early in the morning, not waiting for announcement of her presence.

"Nay, not yet, my dear," said Lady Catharine, advancing and embracing her. "What is it, pray? Has the poodle swallowed a bone, or the baby perhaps cut another tooth? And, forsooth, how is the little one?"

"The streets are full of it," said she. "Have you not heard, really?"

"I must say, not yet. But what is it?"

"Why, the quarrel between the regent and his director-general, Mr. Law."

"No, I have not heard of it." Lady Catharine sought refuge behind her own fan. "But tell me," she continued. "But that is not all. 'Twas the reason for the quarrel. Paris is all agog. 'Twas about a woman!"

"You mean—there was—a woman?"

"Yes, it all happened last night, at the Palais Royal. The woman is dead—died last night. 'Tis said she fell in a fit at the very table—'twas at a little supper given by the regent—and that when they came to her she was quite dead."

"But Mr. Law—"

"'Twas he that killed her!"

"Good God! What mean you?" cried Lady Catharine, her own face blanching behind her protecting fan. The blood swept back upon her heart, leaving her cold as a statue.

"Why," continued the caller, in her own excitement to tell the news scarce noting what went on before her, "it seems that this mysterious beauty of the regent's, of whom there has been so much talk, proved to be none other than a former mistress of this same Mr. Law, who is reputed to have been somewhat given to that sort of thing, though of late monstrous virtuous, for some cause or other. Mr. Law came suddenly upon her at the table of the regent, arrayed in some kind of savage finery—for 'twas in fashion a mask that evening, as you must know. And what doth my director-general do, so high and mighty? Why, in spite of the regent and in spite of all those present, he upbraids her, taunts her, reviles her, demanding that she fall on her knees before him, as it seems indeed she would have done—as, forsooth, half the dames of Paris would do to-day! Then, all of a sudden, my lord director changes, and he craves pardon of the woman and of the regent, and so stalks off and leaves the room! And now then the poor creature walks to the table, would lift a glass of wine, and so—'tis over! 'Twas like a play! Indeed all Paris is like a play nowadays. Of course you know the rest."

A gesture of negative came from the hand that lay in Lady Catharine's lap. The busy gossip went on.

BATTERED THE ARMY.

Princeton Gained a Great Football Victory at West Point.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 7.—Princeton is Princeton again. Unsettled, uncertain and altogether vacillating through a depressing early season on the gridiron, the tigers swung together on the "plains" here in one of the most irresistible rallies ever made by old Nassau, sweeping away the plucky soldiers right and left until the army was battered down to defeat by the score of 12 to 6.

The orange and black had leaped back to life and unison again. With the score 6 to 0 against them the tigers heard the cry of their supporters and answered splendidly and indomitably.

Swinging wide or driving straight ahead, sliding like quicksilver now to one side, now to the other, the Princeton backs swallowed up the chalk crossmarks, onward, steadily onward, until, with the great shock haired Cooney leading the onslaught, they had crossed the West Point goal line again and yet again.

Like a whirlwind that swift mass and tangle of orange and black jerseys again set forth upon the task, to be stopped at last only by the shrill whistle of the referee. Captain Foulke, stout, stocky Ritter, the gigantic Cooney and the sturdy Stannard, clinging with desperate clutch to the slippery leather, bored, battered and swirled through and around the army line, gaining power and fury as they went, until the army defense crumbled and died away in the darkness. It was retaliation absolute.

Quakers Had a Winning Team.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—The new kind of a Pennsylvania team showed about 15,000 stanch supporters how it can play football and how it defeated Harvard. Lafayette was beaten by a score of 22 to 0, all the points being made in the first half of thirty minutes. The second half was cut down to twenty minutes. Penn did not make any effort to further increase her total, and Lafayette was not equal to crossing the Quaker's goal line.

Cornell Easily Scored Fifty Points.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 7.—After Cornell had easily scored fifty points against Lehigh the visitors made a touchdown in the last few minutes of the play. The game was played in a drizzling rain on a muddy field. In the first half Cornell outplayed Lehigh at every point, the latter only once making a first down and only three times forcing Cornell to punt.

Played Football to a Standstill.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 7.—Dartmouth played the Harvard football eleven to a standstill here. Although she was unable to score, she kept the Crimson eleven from crossing the goal line. Both teams played a strong offensive game, but neither had a solid defense to go along with it.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—By a score of 68 to 0 the University of Chicago defeated the University of Texas on Marshall field before 10,000 persons.

William L. Douglas Is Better.

BROCKTON, Mass., Nov. 7. — The condition of William L. Douglas, Democratic candidate for governor, is still further improved, but his physician thought it advisable for the nominee not to make any more speeches during the campaign, as an exposure to cold or unpleasant weather might be attended with ill results. Mr. Douglas had intended to make addresses at rallies in Boston tonight, but instead has issued a statement summarizing his proposed speeches.

Attempt to Kill Hon. R. W. Blair.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 7.—After a Republican speech defending the Roosevelt administration on the race question at Graham, Va., an attempt was made to assassinate Hon. R. W. Blair of Wytheville, Va., in a room at his hotel shortly after the conclusion of the meeting. The would be assassin fired at Mr. Blair while near a window, missing his head about an inch. The man escaped in the darkness.

Two Killed by Derailing Switch.

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 7.—A Norfolk and Western freight train, westbound from Roanoke, ran into a derailing switch near Radford and was badly wrecked. The engine turned over on Engineer B. B. Lynch of Roanoke and Fireman H. L. Kipps of Blacksburg, killing both of them. The dead men leave families.

Shot His Divorced Wife.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 7.—Mrs. Nellie Blazer was shot and almost instantly killed in East Nashville last night by Fred Blazer, from whom she secured a divorce last Monday.

Andre Suffered From Assault.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—General Andre, the French minister of war, is confined to his room as a result of the assault upon him in the chamber of deputies. A deputy slapped his face.

Snow In Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 7.—The first snow of the year in this state fell Sunday morning, the fall being quite heavy. Snow was quite general throughout the state.

DEMOCRATIC COLUMN.

FOWLER OR MARTINE?

Local interest in the election centers on the Congressional contest, and Mr. Fowler, for the first time in his career, is on the defensive. A brief review of the facts is proper.

1. We charge that Mr. Fowler, during the last few years, has grossly neglected his duties; that he answered to only a few roll calls at the last session, and that he has been absent from his seat in Congress, and even from Washington itself, for weeks at a time. These facts are undisputed, and inconsistent excuses only make them worse. Mr. Fowler admits the facts (as to roll call) but says he was "down in the basement;" Mr. E. R. Ackerman in his naive "Advice to Young Voters" says he was studying in the library; the "Republican Column" of The Press says he was off "speaking before banking conventions in Iowa, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin." The voter may take his choice between these excuses. The fact remains that Mr. Fowler was paid to go to Congress and attend to business and he failed to do it.

2. In the ten years that Mr. Fowler has been in Congress we have heard a great deal of his transcendent ability as a financier, but what has he done? Absolutely nothing. His Banking Bill and Greenback Bill are introduced regularly, but get no further. After ten years of effort he has made so little impression on Congress that he has never been able to obtain a vote on his bill much less its adoption. He is no debater; he takes no part in the rapid interchange of extemporaneous arguments. His speeches are merely dull, technical essays, prepared in advance, and read from manuscript, or printed in the Record. Anyone who heard Mr. Fowler at Reform Hall last Thursday and Mr. John Sharp Williams ten days ago will understand the difference.

3. In other matters Mr. Fowler has been nothing but a common-place party hack. His vote (when present) has always been given for party measures whether good or bad. Every piece of Republican jobbery which has been coaxed, or driven, or bought through Congress in the last four years could count on the vote of Charles N. Fowler. If he is a common-place man, if he voted thus because he knew no better (as I think he did), then it is time for a change. If, however, he realized what he was doing, then he sinned against light, and is unworthy of support. If he is so great and so able as they say why did he never join with men like McCall, of Massachusetts, and Littlefield, of Maine—as good Republicans as he—in opposition to the graft and jobbery which has disgraced our politics? If he had been in his place and voted with honest intelligence he would have been better employed than reading in the library or chasing rainbows in Wisconsin or Wall Street.

In Mr. Martine we offer a candidate in whom we can all trust. He is our fellow-townsman and needs no praise from us. He has never held office and therefore has no official record.

We believe, however, that if he is sent to Congress he will remain in his place, attending to business; that he will use his best efforts for the welfare of his constituents, and of the country; that he will always be found voting in favor of justice and right, honesty and economy; and that he will speak, and work and vote against the corruption that is rampant in Washington and against all the favored interests which now control Congress.—Adv.

Two Still Alarms.

A 'phone call from Mrs. Noe, of East Fifth street, was sent to fire headquarters Saturday afternoon on account of a rubbish heap in the cellar, which had caught fire. The chemical engine responded, and the flames were quickly extinguished. A chimney fire in the residence of Carl Pfender, of East Sixth street, attracted the attention of the owner yesterday morning, and the department was summoned by telephone. The chemical was sent out, and distinguished the blaze in a few minutes.

Republican Voter.

Last year the Republican had to suffer defeat of the Assembly ticket, to please the leaders, now to even up matters cut Charles N. Fowler. His financial bill is of no value, or it would have gone through long ago. He is seldom in Congress and has accomplished nothing. Why should he be re-elected to continue disturbance? Vote for James E. Martine.—Adv.

Quietly Married.

Miss Ida Frances Connett and Edward Clark, both of his city, were married quietly Saturday afternoon at the home of Charles A. Sturtevant on Liberty street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. O. McKelvey and was witnessed by a small gathering of friends.

REPUBLICAN COLUMN.

REPUBLICANS, ATTENTION!

To the Voters of the City of Plainfield:

Mr. James E. Martine, of this city, is the Democratic candidate for Congress in this district and as such, is making a supreme effort to win.

It would be idle to deny that Mr. Martine is a most attractive gentleman, a loyal and staunch friend, and as an orator, eminently gifted.

Were these the only qualifications to be desired in a Congressman, Plainfield might well delight to honor one of her own citizens at this time and assist in sending Mr. Martine to Washington.

A Republican Congressional district, however, demands much more of its representative than mere personal worth and ability, desirable as these qualities undoubtedly are.

It demands that it's representative should stand unequivocally for sound and honest money under any and all circumstances.

It demands that it's representative should stand for a protective tariff on home industries, and in revising the same from time to time, advocate such changes only as shall inure to the benefit of American labor and American capital.

It demands that it's representative be ever on the alert to down Bryanism and all the danger and dishonor connected therewith. The Nation has twice spoke too plainly on this subject to be misunderstood.

It demands that it's representative, to the utmost of his influence and power, should support Theodore Roosevelt and his splendid administration.

Does Mr. Martine meet these requirements?

In 1896 and 1900 no man in this country worked harder or cried louder for free silver and a fluctuating currency than did Mr. Martine, and free silver is as much a gospel to him at this time as it ever was. If his vote could accomplish it, the United States would become a silver country tomorrow.

Mr. Martine believes that the "tariff is a robbery" and that free trade with all the world should obtain. If his vote could accomplish it, the tariff would be wiped out of existence and our laboring classes be brought to the pitiful level of their foreign brethren.

Mr. Martine is proud of the fact that no Democrat in the confidence of Mr. Bryan than does he. As a Congressman he would be a constant and willing mouthpiece of Bryan, and if his vote could accomplish it, anything desired by Mr. Bryan would become law on our statute books.

Mr. Martine as a Congressman would do everything in his power to block and impede the administration of Theodore Roosevelt, and this for the sole reason that Roosevelt is a Republican. If his vote could accomplish it, the great record of Republican progress would be brought to a close and set at naught.

Do you want such a man in Congress as your representative?

As voters of the Fifth Congressional District you will undoubtedly give Theodore Roosevelt an emphatic endorsement on Election Day. Will you at the same time vote to send a man to Congress whose constant aim and endeavor will be to antagonize and defeat every measure conceived and championed by the same Theodore Roosevelt?

Would such a course be fair to your President?

If your vote could accomplish it, would you be willing to shoulder to grave a responsibility?

Beware of casting complimentary votes—votes for simple friendship's sake—or votes in payment of favors done. You are not honest with yourself in so exercising your right of suffrage, and such voting is fraught with incalculable danger.

Vote for the sake of conscience and principle and elect to represent you a man who has been tried and proven true; whose great and constantly increasing influence in the Halls of National legislation is not only an honor to himself and to us who are his constituents, but a matter of vital import to the whole country.

Vote for Charles Newell Fowler.—Adv.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Craig, of Dunellen, celebrated the second anniversary of their wedding Saturday evening, over sixty friends and relatives attending.

Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, has arranged to have a private wire run into the lodge rooms for the reception of election returns tomorrow night.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., is just now enjoying a healthy boom. Last week seven new members were initiated and a week from Thursday nine more new members will ride the goat. There are now eleven applications awaiting action.

ENTIRE REPUBLICAN MUNICIPAL TICKET

James F. Buckle, the Republican candidate, was chosen mayor of Plainfield by a majority of 1,005, which is less than that given Dr. Olin L. Jenkins, two years ago, notwithstanding that the heaviest vote on record was polled yesterday. The strength of A. H. Atterbury, the Democratic nominee, was surprising, the entire vote cast for him being 1,348. Mr. Buckle received 2,553 votes. He was badly cut, running behind his ticket in every district of the four wards. Two years ago, Dr. Jenkins was given a majority of 1,196 over J. P. Homan.

J. F. Buckle.

The magnificent majority of 1,616 was given City Judge William N. Runyon, Republican candidate for re-election, out of a total vote of 3,726, but his opponent, John P. Owens, ran well, nevertheless, getting 1,055. Three years ago when unopposed, Mr. Runyon received 2,066 votes. He is next to high man on the municipal ticket, running ahead of the mayoralty candidate by 611. In his own ward, the Second, he ran away ahead of the Presidential electors and in the First district of the Third ward he did likewise. This will be his third term as city judge.

Captain J. Frank Hubbard, who has been a member of the Board of Freeholders for over a quarter of a century, was again returned to that body, receiving 2,801 votes, which was 1,451 more than the sole Democratic candidate, Stephen H. Schleif, who polled 1,250. William A. Westphal, the other Republican candidate, obtained a majority of 1,194 over Mr. Schleif, though he was cut heavily, principally in the First districts of the First and Fourth wards. As there are two vacancies, both Hubbard and Westphal are elected to succeed themselves.

Dr. John B. Probasco, renominated by the Republicans for school trustee, received a majority of 1,641 over Rev. Erskine M. Rodman, rector-emeritus of Grace church, who was the Democratic nominee. Dr. Probasco polled the greatest majority on the municipal ticket. One year ago, E. M. Cave defeated Rev. Mr. Rodman for the same office by 1,876.

ROOSEVELT SWEEPS COUNTRY

Theodore Roosevelt is triumphant.

Alton B. Parker is defeated worse than William Jennings Bryan was four years ago.

In the electoral college, the Republican nominee will receive 338 votes of the total 476. Grant in 1872, received 292 of the total 366.

The stupendous popular majority of 785,000 is conceded him. It eclipses that of William McKinley in 1900 and is the greatest ever given a Presidential candidate.

Every State north of the Mason and Dixon line went solidly for the brilliant and strenuous nominee and every so-called doubtful State in the Union as well as the entire West gave him splendid majorities.

His success at the polls astounds his most confident supporter and proves conclusively that the people most heartily approve not only the platform of his party but the record he has made as the successor of the lamented McKinley.

His own State, New York, went Republican by 177,000 majority, and Higgins has been carried into the gubernatorial chair by 70,000 on the Roosevelt tidal wave. Connecticut, New Jersey, Indiana, Delaware, West Virginia and Wisconsin gave him rousing pluralities.

This is the electoral vote:

Theodore Roosevelt.

Republican—California, 10; Colorado, 5; Connecticut, 7; Delaware, 3; Illinois, 27; Indiana, 15; Idaho, 3; Iowa, 13; Kansas, 10; Maine, 6; Maryland, 8; Massachusetts, 18; Michigan, 14; Minnesota, 11; Montana, 3; Nebraska, 8; Nevada, 3; New Hampshire, 4; New Jersey, 12; New York, 39; North Dakota, 4; Ohio, 23; Oregon, 4; Pennsylvania, 34; Rhode Island, 4; South Dakota, 4; Utah, 3; Vermont, 4; West Virginia, 7; Washington, 5; Wisconsin, 13; Wyoming, 3. Total, 338.

Democratic—Alabama, 11; Arkansas, 9; Florida, 5; Georgia, 13; Kentucky, 13; Louisiana, 9; Mississippi, 10; Missouri, 18; North Carolina, 12; South Carolina, 9; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 18; Virginia, 12. Total, 151.

TALE OF THE LANDSLIDE.

ROOSEVELT ELECTED PRESIDENT BY A TREMENDOUS MAJORITY.

STOKES CHOSEN GOVERNOR OF NEW JERSEY BY A MAJORITY OF 55,000.

FOWLER RE-ELECTED CONGRESSMAN OF THE FIFTH DISTRICT BY A SURPRISINGLY BIG VOTE.

BUCKLE WINS THE MAYORALTY OF PLAINFIELD BY A DECIDEDLY DECREASED MAJORITY.

NORTH PLAINFIELD REPUBLICANS IN REVOLT AGAINST COUNTY LEADERS FAIL TO DEFEAT THEIR PARTY TICKET IN SOMERSET.

FOWLER'S GREAT VICTORY

Charles N. Fowler, Republican candidate for re-election in the Fourth Congressional district, won a signal victory over James E. Martine, of this city, who put up a stubborn fight. Mr. Fowler swept Union and Morris counties and was beaten in Warren by a surprisingly low majority.

Mr. Martine gave up the fight early last night, wiring his congratulations to his opponent. Union county gave Mr. Fowler approximately 2,299 majority and Morris added about 2,500 more. Warren netted Martine only about 500, thus giving Mr. Fowler a total majority of about 4,300.

Two years ago, Fowler got 1,240 majority against Flanagan in Morris and 1,183 in Union, while his opponent carried Warren by 1,400.

WOOD SUCCEEDS LANNING

Ira W. Wood, of Trenton, defeated Robert L. Stevens, of Bernardsville, in the Fourth district for Congress, carrying Mercer and Somerset counties by big majorities and losing Hunterdon by a small majority. His entire majority is estimated at approximately 2,000.

Ira W. Wood.

NORTH PLAINFIELD'S FIGHT

In North Plainfield, the Republican administration forces carried out their threat to knife the county candidates as a rebuke to the Somerset county leaders. As a result Irving Hoagland, the Assembly candidate, only received a majority of seventy-three in the two districts while Edward Cooper, the sheriffalty nominee, got a bare majority of thirty-nine.

A solid vote was cast by the Republicans for all other nominees. Roose-

STOKES, BY 55,000 MAJORITY

Edward C. Stokes.

Passing the expectations of the Republicans themselves, New Jersey gave as large a majority to Roosevelt yesterday as it did to McKinley four years ago when the Ohioan received 56,899 more votes than W. J. Bryan. Roosevelt's approximate majority is 55,000, but it may climb higher.

Edward C. Stokes, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, is likely to have a majority ranging from 40,000 to 45,000, which is almost double that banked on by those who managed his campaign.

Only four counties in the entire State were carried by Parker. These were Hudson, Hunterdon, Sussex and Warren.

Nine out of ten of the Republican Congressional nominees have been elected, among them being Ira W. Wood, in the Fourth district, and Charles N. Fowler, in the Fifth district. All the Republican candidates for the State Senate are triumphant.

The State Senate will be fourteen Republicans and seven Democrats and the House will be forty-five Republicans to fifteen Democrats. John Kean will be re-elected United States Senator by the Legislature.

Franklin Murphy carried the State three years ago by only 14,130 majority, Hudson, Hunterdon, Sussex and Warren counties only returned Democratic pluralities. Mr. Stokes' popularity and the Roosevelt tidal wave have nearly tripled this majority.

These are the Republican majorities for Roosevelt: Atlantic, 4,000; Bergen, 1,500; Burlington, 3,200; Camden, 6,500; Cape May, 1,000; Cumberland, 2,500; Essex, 20,000; Gloucester, 1,500; Mercer, 4,000; Middlesex, 3,000; Monmouth, 1,000; Morris, 3,000; Ocean, 1,200; Passaic, 3,500; Salem, 100; Somerset, 900; Union, 5,000.

Hudson gives 8,000 majority to Parker and 12,000 to Black; Hunterdon gives 4,000 to Parker and 12,000 to Black.

DEMOCRATS GET NOTHING IN SOMERSET COUNTY

Returns from the voting precincts in Somerset county are coming in very slowly and several districts are yet to be heard from. Only majorities for the winners in each poll have been received so far, except where the voting machines were used, and these all indicate that the entire Republican ticket is elected in the county by the highest pluralities in years. Not until Friday when the clerks of the various districts file their results with the County Clerk will it be possible to tell the majorities of each winning candidate, but a conservative estimate with a view of what have been heard from gives Roosevelt and Fairbanks 1,200 majority; Wood, 700; Stokes, 1,000; Hoagland, 600; Cooper, 400.

The majorities in Bedminster township were Parker, 137; Stevens, 140; Black, 142; Beekman, 150; Ross, 137.

Bernards gave these: Parker, 8; Stevens, 169; Black, 47; Beekman, 79; Ross, 82.

Branchburg's were: Roosevelt, 60; Wood, 51; Stokes, 55; Hoagland, 17; Cooper, 46.

Bridgewater gives Roosevelt 566; Wood, 495; Stokes, 379; Hoagland, 416; Cooper, 211.

Bound Brook borough majorities were: Roosevelt, 111; Wood, 89; Stokes, 84; Hoagland, 100; Cooper, 74.

Franklin (one district): Roosevelt, 100; Wood, 91; Stokes, 89; Hoagland, 111; Cooper, 85.

Hillsborough: Roosevelt, 127; Wood, 110; Stokes, 119; Hoagland, 141; Cooper, 107.

Millstone borough: Roosevelt, 27; Wood, 11; Stokes, 13; Cooper, 8; Hoagland, 12.

Montgomery: Roosevelt, 88; Wood, 84; Stokes, 71; Hoagland, 63; Cooper, 82.

Rocky Hill borough: Parker, 8; Stevens, 12; Black, 10; Beekman, 14; Ross, 12.

North Plainfield township: Roosevelt, 32; Wood, 26; Stokes, 28; Hoagland, 30; Cooper, 26.

Warren: Parker, 57; Stevens, 66; Black, 66; Beekman, 59; Cooper, 9.

North Plainfield borough: Roosevelt, 423; Stokes, 377; Wood, 410; Hoagland, 73; Cooper, 39.

UNION COUNTY IS SOLIDLY REPUBLICAN AGAIN

Edward C. Coyne.

Union County gave Roosevelt 5,251 majority.

Congressman Fowler defeated James E. Martine by 2,299.

Stokes won by 3,901.

The detailed vote will be found in a table published on this page.

Miss Hegeman's Debut.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin A. Hegeman for the debut of their daughter, Miss Virginia Hegeman. The affair, which will be an elaborate one, will be held at the Park Club on Wednesday night, November 23.

HOW CANDIDATES RAN IN PLAINFIELD

James E. Martine has every reason to be proud of the big vote given him in his own city. In every single district he polled a heavy vote. Congressman Fowler only defeated him by 846 votes, although the Republicans claimed that he would receive a majority of at least 1,200 here. The farmer-orator was strongly backed by the labor vote and by the independent Republicans. In the First ward, the gains he made over his Republican opponent are flattering to the old war horse of Democracy, but not alone can be point to the First, for the Second, his own ward, gave him a good complimentary return, while the Third ward showed due appreciation of him. The same is true of the Fourth ward. Two years ago Fowler defeated Flanagan here by 1,196 votes.

Tax Collector Frank H. Smith, the Republican nominee for registrar of deeds, was well remembered by his fellow townsmen and like Judge Runyon he proved to be a strong card politically. In some of the districts he came out ahead of the Presidential electors and should be happy over the compliment paid him at the election. He received a bigger majority in the city than did Judge Runyon. Mr. Smith defeated the Democratic candidate, Mr. Higgins, here, by 1,672 and only fell seventeen votes below Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's majority here was almost double that of Congressman Fowler. The Republican Presidential candidate receive 1,687 more votes than Mr. Parker. Four years ago Mr. McKinley received a majority of 1,605, just eighty-two less than that of Mr. Roosevelt.

E. C. Stokes, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, ran away ahead of the majority given Franklin Murphy three years ago, while his opponent, O. G. Black, polled about the strength as Seymour did when running against Murphy. Mr. Stokes' majority here was 15,83.

The greatest majority for any candidate other than Presidents cast in Plainfield was that of James O. Calvert, the Republican nominee for county clerk, who got 1,672 more votes than his opponent. The candidates for Assembly, Coyne, Embree and Tillman, received solid support from the Republicans throughout.

HOSPITAL WORK GROWING

Governing Board of Muhlenberg Issues Yearly Report.

HAD 457 PATIENTS

Treasurer's Statement Shows Balance Dispite Increased Expense of New Buildings.

Probably one of the most complete and comprehensive reports ever issued by the Muhlenberg Hospital Board of Governors, made its appearance Saturday. It covers the work of the institution from the time of its beginning, together with a history of its establishment, the Boards of Governors, the officers, committees, medical staffs and superintendents from 1881. There is also a fund of general information which makes the book invaluable to every resident of the city.

That the work of the hospital is increasing rapidly is shown by the report for the year from May 21, 1903 to June 1, 1904. In the time intervening a total of 457 patients were treated at the institution, the male cases being 230 and the female 227. The operations were unusually numerous, a total of 348 having been performed. The number of patients in the various wards has averaged twenty-five and at times during the year there were over thirty. In the new buildings sixty persons can be accommodated.

In the dispensary the total number of cases treated was 703, divided as follows: Surgical cases, 298; medical cases, 114; eye and ear department, 212, dermatological cases, 36; unrecorded diagnosis, 43. The total number of visits to the dispensary was 1,818. In addition to these there were six X-ray examinations conducted by Dr. Norman Hayes Probasco.

Despite the increased expense attached to the new buildings, the report of the treasurer shows a balance of $305. During the year the receipts from all sources amounted to $19,686.25, while the disbursements were $19,380 43. A separate report covers the building fund and this shows the total receipts to have been $48,159 98, divided as follows: Balance in trust companies, $5,350.53; subscriptions, $30,155 44; temporary loans from memorial funds, $13,493.38; loans from general fund, $500; loans from Plainfield Trust Company, $2,000; proceeds from sale of old hospital building, $4,618 90; charity ball, $1,622.60; interest, $215 64; lecture by J. Dundar Wright, $203 50. The disbursements for main buildings, operating pavilion, wards, furniture, nurses' home and incidentals were $46 014.94, the balance now in bank is $2,145 04. The individual money donations for hospital work, during the year, were $3,730.48.

The James Clark fund of $15,000 donated by James E. Clark and Frank L. Clark in memory of their father, has been deposited and is to be held in trust for the benefit of the hospital. The declaration of trust in respect to this fund provides that of this amount the Board of Governors may withdraw not more than $5,000 to be applied toward the erection or establishment of a nurses' home.

Galvins Rehearsing "A Bell Boy."

The Galvin family, of this city, began rehearsals in T. A. B. Hall Monday with the company which is to produce "Bell Boy," one of the best known farces on the road. It is to open in New Brunswick Thursday night and is booked solid for the season, including Christmas week at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York. The company is to consist of thirty people with John Galvin playing the title role.

Humble, Not Krewson.

It was Councilman Humble and not Councilman Krewson, who voted against an adding machine for the collector's office at the Borough Council meeting last Friday evening. Mr. Krewson being chairman of the finance committee and familiar with the work of the office favored the machine and voted accordingly.

King's Daughters Tea.

The Charity Circle of King's Daughters will give a tea at the home of Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna, 1127 Watchung avenue, tomorrow from 3 to 6 o'clock. A silver offering will be received at the door, and home-made candy and useful articles will be on sale.

—There are twenty-one patients at Muhlenberg Hospital and all are doing well. The accident cases are steadily improving and some of them will soon be able to return home.

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Plainfield People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back,
The weariness, the tired feeling,
The pains and aches of kidney ills
Are serious—if neglected.

A Plainfield citizen shows you how to avoid them.

Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says: "I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid little attention to them. They, however, grew worse instead of better, so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I get a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL ANSAIN SEEKERS.

When it comes to prescription work don't forget that Dudley Miller, the Park avenue druggist, can do the work promptly and accurately and at reasonable prices.

If your watch or clock is out of order consult Charles E. Vail, of Park avenue, and he will repair it to your complete satisfaction and not over charge you, either.

TenEyck & Harris, the coal dealers, are quoting special prices on the best quality of anthracite and they would like to take your order now. See the firm's advertisement in The Daily Press.

The best dressed men will recommend you to go to Werner's for your winter clothes, whether it be a suit, overcoat, or any variety of gentlemen's furnishings. Hats, neckwear, and underwear are at the best at Werner's.

Whatever your taste in pastry or baker's products, you'll find the very thing you're looking for if you look for it at Warneck's. If you are not fond of pie and cake, it's because you don't know where to go to get them. Go to Warneck's.

At all seasons of the year, the display at Gavett's is most attractive and of interest to all purchasers of china ware, cut glass, lamps, gas logs, chandeliers, and other gas fixtures. His table electric lights are just the thing you want for your library or den.

It is a difficult matter for some people to save money, but if they place it in the Dime Savings Bank the problem is solved. It is easily saved and besides a substantial interest is paid on the account. You had better open an account today and save your earnings.

When you trade at S. Schener & Co.'s grocery and meat market on West Front street, you have the satisfaction of knowing that you are getting the best goods at the lowest market prices. There is no denying the fact that this firm is one of the leaders in the State in groceries and meat and it makes an especial point of handling only first quality goods. You can save money on every purchase at this store.

HOLIDAY FOOTBALL GAMES

Orange Field Club Wins From Dunellen in Close Game.

GOAL FROM THE FIELD

Alls Defeats the Madison A. C. by the Small Margin of a Goal From the Field.

In a well played game of football the Orange Field Club team defeated the Dunellen aggregation on the Orange Oval yesterday morning by the score of 6 to 5. The two teams were evenly matched in weight and played a hard, close game. Orange scored their 6 points in the first half, Smith making the touchdown on an end run of ten yards, while in the second half Hamilton crossed the line for the Dunellen team. Tobin's kick from the first touchdown won the game, as the Dunellen goal was missed. The teams lined up as follows:

On the Alls field in the afternoon, the Madison A. C. was defeated in a game which had to be shortened on account of the darkness, by the Alls eleven, the score being 11 to 0. After Whitney had scored a touchdown in the first half, in the last half minute of play Captain Phillips kicked a pretty goal from the field. The following was the line up of the local team: Thayer, left end; Voorhees, left tackle; Gwyer and Guinn, left guard; Prince, center; Derby, right guard; Egan, right tackle; Moore, right end; Phillips, quarterback; McNaughton, left half; Whitney, fullback; W. Moore, right half.

Two touchdowns by William Douglass, and a safety in the second half won the game for the Plainfield High School football team yesterday morning against the Carlton A. C., of this city. One goal from the touchdown made the final score 13 to 0. The Plainfield High School team lined up as follows: Loizeaux, left end; Jahn, left tackle; Fountain, left guard; Begart, center; Freeman, right guard; Bentley, right tackle; Jones, right end; Williams, quarterback; J. Douglass, left half; Taylor, fullback; W. Douglass, right half.

DRIVER LOSES CONTROL OF HOOK AND LADDER TEAM

BIG "JIM" THROWN AGAINST IRON POLE AND BADLY HURT.

Answering an alarm turned in from box 13 yesterday afternoon, "Jim," the big black horse of the hook and ladder team, met with an accident at Second street and Park avenue which will put him of commission for many weeks. Turning the corner suddenly, the horses got beyond control of Driver Walter Harrison, recently appointed, and "Jim" was forced against an iron pole, the identical one into which he went brown and badly hurt a year ago.

The animal rebounded as the collision occurred and a heavy iron hook on the truck, tore a gaping wound in its flank. "Jim" was unharnessed as soon as possible and taken to Dr. Pocock's stables where the necessary stitches were inserted. The veterinary expressed the opinion that the injury will not be permanent although it is very near the one from which the animal has just recovered. The accident is being investigated by Chief Deane.

The alarm was sent in by Michael Higgins who mistook smoke from a defective chimney in his store on Park avenue to be a fire.

Plainfield Clericus Discussion.

The Plainfield Clericus was the guest of Rev. Erskine M. Redman, rector emeritus of Grace church, at his home on East Seventh street, yesterday afternoon. There was a general discussion of the subject: "The Essential Position of the Holy Communion in the Service of the Church." After the discussion the members, eleven in all, were entertained at luncheon at Mrs. Wagstaff's place on Crescent avenue.

Birthday Dance.

In honor of the anniversary of his birthday, H H. Coward, of East Front street, gave an informal dance to a number of friends in the old Common Council rooms on Park avenue, Monday night. The affair was marked by many pleasant features. Westervelt, of Newark, furnished the music.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS BUT QUICKLY ADJOURNS

REGULAR BUSINESS TO BE CONSIDERED FRIDAY.

Too much pre-election business interfered with the regular November meeting of the Common Council Monday evening, and in consequence an adjournment was taken until Friday night. President Tolles and Councilmen Lee, Randolph, Tyler, Higham, Bullock and Garrigues answered the roll-call, but outside of paying the monthly bills nothing was done. Councilman W. L. Gloak was unable to attend, he being detained at home by illness.

President Tolles suspended the regular order of business on motion of Mr. Lee, for the purpose of receiving reports of committees, but the report of the auditing committee authorizing the payment of bills, was the only one received.

An invitation was received from the Timbo Social Club asking the members to visit its rooms Election night to hear the returns and this was accepted. Several members of the Common Council, as well as other city officials were present.

CITY SCHOOL BOARD HOLDS SHORT SESSION

NO IMPORTANT BUSINESS AT MONDAY NIGHT'S MEETING.

The Board of Education held its regular meeting Monday evening but transacted all its business in less than half an hour. At Professor Maxson's request the following school calendar for the year was adopted: Fall term, September 15 to December 23; winter term, January 3 to April 21; spring term, May 1 to June 22; fall term, September 12 to December 22. The medical inspector reported examining 578 pupils during October and Frederick A. Pearce submitted an application for a janitorship in the schools.

On motion of Mr. Lovell it was voted to insure the new high school building as the work progresses, the Board to confer with the contractor relative to the liability of each. Messrs. Woodhull, Cave and Lovell reported examining the annual school report to their satisfaction and a motion was passed ordering 2,000 copies printed for free distribution. The fact that George J. Tobin, who was awarded the contract to install the plumbing in the new high school, had not yet filed a bond, was made known and the Board ordered that steps be taken at once to have him do so.

HOSPITAL GOVERNORS WANT AVENUE EXTENDED

SIGNS A PETITION FOR PRESENTATION TO COMMON COUNCIL.

At its regular meeting, the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, authorized the officers to sign in behalf of the hospital, the petition to the Common Council for the opening of Kensington avenue from its present terminus at Prospect avenue to the corner of Park avenue and Randolph road. Residents in that section have been wanting the improvement for a great while and the Board believes it would be a decided improvement.

The medical staff report for the month was as follows: Patients remaining at date of last report, 29; admitted, 45; total number treated, 74; discharged cured, 36; improved, 11; not improved, 2; died, 3; remaining, 22; total hospital days, 835; operations, 32. In the dispensary there were 45 patients, 140 visits and six operations.

—Henry Nischwitz, of Manning avenue, will move to his new residence on Fairview avenue, the latter part of this week.

—In order to accommodate her pupils in this city, Mrs. H. S. Altair, of Elizabeth, teacher of the piano, has consented to come to Plainfield Fridays of each week. She will accept a few more pupils for that day and anyone wishing the service of a thorough competent teacher should address 819 Jefferson avenues, Elizabeth, N. J.

—At the annual election of officers of the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A., the following were elected: President, Walter Caldwell; vice president, Harold S. Robins; secretary, Russell Morris. These officers will meet this afternoon, and will appoint the various committees which will conduct the work in the department for the coming year. The chairmen of these committees will constitute the cabinet of the department, which has the power of making the laws governing the organization, and arranging for all executive business of the boys' deparment.

BENEVOLENT COUNCIL HOLDING ANNUAL FAIR

BEGAN MONDAY EVENING WITH LARGE CROWD IN ATTENDANGE.

With an unusually large number of "first nighters" in attendance, the annual fair of Benevolent Council, No. 356, Jr. O. U. A. M., began in Company K armory Monday evening. The large room is replete with booths and attractions while decorations of a varied order give it a gala appearance. Dancing is to be one of the features during the entire week, Suhr's Imperial orchestra furnishing music.

The different attractions are presided over as follows: Fancy table, Mrs. A. G. Adams, Mrs. J. V. Beekman, Mrs. I. N. Wyckoff, Mrs. Frank Manchester and Miss Edith Clark; candy, Miss Anna Ferris; refreshments, I. N. Wyckoff and F. C. Milligan; bowling, Charles Thompson. Each purchaser of an admission ticket is entitled to a chance on $10, $5 and $3 50 gold piece.

The committee which is to have charge during the week comprises J. V. Beekman, chairman; J. H. Adams, R. D. Carver, A. G. Adams, I. N. Wyckoff, E. C. Searing, F. C. Milligan, H. Hann and Frank Peterson

P. A. C. SELLS FRANCHISE TO A LOCAL SYNDICATE

GAMES FOR WEDNESDAYS, SATURDAYS AND HOLIDAYS NEXT SEASON.

The Plainfield Athletic Club's franchise has been sold to Charles S. Woolston, of this city, for $800. The sale includes a two years' lease on Crescent Oval, the stands, uniforms, baseball bats and other things belonging to the club, also the insurance on the stands and club property. Mr. Woolston is interested with others in the deal and it is proposed to enclose Crescent Oval with a board fence, erect new covered grandstands, grade the field and make such improvements that will prevent a flooding in rainy weather.

A well-founded rumor says that the Hoboken team will be engaged to play here on Wednesdays, Saturdays and holidays. Last season this team introduced Saturday games at Hoboken, but it was not a paying venture. It is believed that the patronage here would be much larger. The team, it is said, will also play Sundays in Hoboken, as at present.

The $800 received for the sale of the franchise will be used to liquidate the club's indebtedness.

CAME LONG DISTANCE TO VOTE IN PLAINFIELD

JESSE LAWSON, OF WASHINGTON, OBSERVES ANNUAL CUSTOM.

Jesse Lawson, a former Plainfielder, but for many years an employe in the Pension Department at Washington, was among those who came home to vote yesterday. Mr. Lawson cast his first vote in 1876 and has always voted in Plainfield ever since. In speaking of political matters, Mr. Lawson related with considerable pride that in 1880, the year that President Roosevelt was graduated from Harvard, he was one of the speakers at a political meeting in the Eleventh District, New York, with Mr. Roosevelt, and he had always been a warm personal friend of the President ever since.

When President Roosevelt invited Booker T. Washington to take dinner with him at the White House, the invitation was sent to him through Mr. Lawson. Being a graduate of the Plainfield High School, Howard University, as well as the law deprtment of the university, Mr. Lawson is specially qualified for his position, that of looking after the legal points in pension applications. He has held this position for years, but is now endeavoring to get the appointment to a Recordership in Washington, now held by a colored man whose term expires next March.

Annual Harvest Home.

The annual harvest home for the Baptist Home for the Aged at Roseville, was held yesterday from 10 to 4 o'clock, and was largely attended. The donations this year were numerous, the local churches responding in a liberal manner. Those present at the celebration included Mrs. J. A. Chambliss, Mrs. O. B. Leonard, Miss Mary Thickstun and Miss Laura J. Runyon.

—Solemnly promising to take the pledge for ten years, Mike Donko, an old offender, had sentence suspended in the city court Monday. He was arrested for drunkenness. James Henderson, a Philadelphian, arrested on Second place for begging, also had sentence suspended.

"He's good enough for me!"

Well, Texas is still in the Democratic column.

Dr. Cleveland's claims as a political alienist are to be doubted.

We will now turn our thoughts to Port Arthur and Thanksgiving Day.

It'll not be hard now for Dave Hill to carry out his intention to retire on January 1

Martine and Atterbury, though defeated, have no cause to complain of the support given them.

If Cortelyou was an issue, the Republican National chairman should be awarded the first grand prize.

Congratulations to our next mayor, James F. Buckle, and to all the other successful candidates on the municipal ticket!

Though crushed by a heavy Republican vote for Charles N. Fowler, the farmer-orator, James E Martine, can "point with pride" to the flattering vote he received in the nine election districts of his own city, Plainfield, where he is admired for his sterling qualities.

The Daily Press presents to its readers today tables showing the complete and detailed vote cast for all candidates of the two great parties in each district of Union county and in this municipality yesterday. This has never been accomplished before by a local newspaper.

DAILY PRESS BULLETINS INFORM MANY THOUSANDS

COMPLETE RESULTS WERE FURNISHED LOCALLY IN RECORD TIME.

Equipped with its own private wire and stereopticon, The Daily Press furnished the first complete and speedy returns of the National, State, county and city elections to thousands of Plainfielders last night. North avenue was almost impassable because of the big crowd with a common purpose in view—to learn who was elected.

It was the most satisfactory effort to furnish election news the city has ever witnessed. Judge Parker's message to President Roosevelt, conceding his defeat, was shown five minutes after the executive received it, and there were many other important features that were told in record time.

PERSONAL.

John W. VanSyckle, of Whitehouse, has been visiting friends in Plainfield.

Harry Keene, of Somerset street, is spending a short time at Hightstown.

Raymond Vroom, of Bound Brook, has been visiting friends here for several days.

Mrs. Counselman, of Warrenville, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Frank Mobus, of the borough.

Samuel T. Sarson, of Watchung avenue, returned home yesterday afternoon, from Woolseyville, New York, in time to vote.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dalley, of Whitehouse, have been visiting Assemblyman and Mrs S. S. Swackhamer, of Summit avenue.

Mrs. George Neff, of Fairview avenue, has just gone on a visit to her former home in Kansas, to be gone about two months.

The quarantine has been raised at the home of Rev. George B. Shaw, of Central avenue, his wife and daughter, who were ill with diphtheria, having recovered.

Norman VanNest, son of Mr. and Mrs. George VanNest, of Mariners place, is detained at home with a severe injury to his hip, the result of a fall while at play.

—Some of the good things at Newman Brothers' tomorrow: Choice crisp celery, Jersey cauliflower, green wax beans and mushrooms. All are received fresh each morning.

INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. Lewis Waring and Miss May Waring Severely Hurt

MACHINE WRECKED

Steering Gear Broke Throwing Car Against a Telephone Pole —Chauffeur Escapes.

Turned suddenly from its course by the breaking of the steering gear, a large Pope-Hartford automobile bearing a party of Plainfielders, dashed into a telephone pole on the Union township road, yesterday afternoon. As a result Miss May Waring and Mrs. Lewis E. Waring were so badly hurt their removal to the Elizabeth General Hospital was made necessary and Orville G. Waring and Thomas R. VanBoskerck were severely shaken up. The chauffeur, Matthew D. Sweeney, of Liberty street, escaped with a few cuts and bruises but the machine, the property of "Mayor" William B. Smith, was totally wrecked.

When the crash came Miss Waring was thrown against the pole, the back of her head receiving the full force of the impact. She remained unconscious for several hours. Mrs. Waring, who is the daughter of former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, was thrown heavily to the ground and received a broken collar bone in addition to a general shock. The injured women were taken in an ambulance to Elizabeth. They were brought to their homes here as soon as possible.

PHYSICIAN SAVES CHILD FROM DEATH BY BURNING

IN DOING SO DR. BUCHANAN SUFFERS SEVERE HURTS.

At great personal risk to himself, Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan yesterday saved May Bianchi, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bianchi, of Monroe avenue, from a terrible death. Stepping too near a bon fire built by a crowd of boys, her clothing caught the flames and she ran screaming about in helpless terror.

Dr. Buchanan heard the little girl's cries. He quickly wrapped his cravenette about her form. The flames offered stubborn resistance and not only ate through his garment but burned him badly about the hands and arms. Her body was burned and scorched from head to foot and for a while it was believed she would not recover.

Dr. VanHorn, the family physician, declared today that the patient suffers great agony but owing to Dr. Buchanan's intervention the burns will not prove fatal.

GEORGE ALLEN JOINS CHICAGO AMERICANS

PLAINFIELD BASEBALL PLAYER SIGNS ARTICLES WITH MANAGER COMISKEY.

Articles of agreement were signed Saturday between George Allen, of this city, and Manager Comiskey, of the Chicago American League team, known as the 'White Stockings," whereby the former is to be a member of the nine next season. While it is understood that he will catch his position was not indicated. He is to join the team early next spring and his salary as named in the contract is to be $2,200

Allen is one of the best known of the local baseball players who came into prominence during the League season of 1902. He caught for the Safe Works team, having been won over by Manager Muir from the Scotch Plains nine. He is infallible as a backstop, while his accurate throwing and stick work attracted widespread attention. For the past two seasons he has been playing independently but his ability was brought to the attention of Comiskey while in the East a short time ago and he began the negotiations which ended in Allen being signed.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Meier, of Westfield, formerly of Netherwood, are the parents of a ten pound baby girl.

—Prof. Edward H. Griggs will lecture in Westfield on Monday, November 14, under the auspices of the Woman's Club.

—Borough School Commissioner E. A. Overton says that the Board of Education hopes to have the new school building on Somerset street ready for occupancy by the time school reopens next September.

—William Longer, of Fairview avenue, is building a residence on the corner of Fairview avenue and Verdon street, where he intends to reside. It will be ready for occupancy about the first of the year, as the work is now well along.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

In the death of John L Darby, which occurred at his home at Alton, Sunday night, Fanwood township loses a man who has served the township faithfully as tax collector for a number of years. Always a staunch Democrat, still he had many friends in the Republican party who admired him for his sterling qualities and when Election Day came voted for him irrespective of party principles. The deceased was one of the early members of Fanwood Council, R. A., and until a few years ago took an active interest in the work of the order. Funeral services, which are private, will be held from the bereaved home this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, Plainfield, will officiate.

The town in general observed yesterday as a holiday. No session of the schools were held, the stores closed part of the day and the majority of the male residents were out trying to solve the momentous question, "Who will it be?"

Rev. Mr. Lissenden, of the Freehold Baptist church, who has occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church here several times during the past summer, has tendered his resignation to the Freehold church, asking to be relieved in March.

Election Day passed quietly. The Republican ticket won as usual in town, but the Democratic workers were out and worked hard to keep their opponents from increasing their usual majority.

The Election Day shoot of the Brookside Gun Club was well attended by the members. A number of out-of-town shooters were also present to enjoy the sport at the traps.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held its semi-monthly meeting last night in the library rooms. Owing to its being election night but few of the members were present.

No local football games were held yesterday, so the lovers of the strenuous game went to Plainfield to enjoy the sport at Orange Oval.

Ernest Wilson, of Newark, has been visiting at the home of Louis Morel, of Park avenue.

IGNORES STOESSEL.

General Nogi Offers Terms to Russian Soldiers.

JAPS ADVANCE THEIR TRENCHES

Japanese Commander Makes Personal Appeal to the Rank and File of the Czar's Troops at Port Arthur.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—St. Petersburg advices say that the Japanese vanguard reports that the Japanese vanguard have assumed the offensive along the line from Changtan to Khenan and occupied the villages of Outiatse, Kitaitse and Paousintung, from whence, however, the Russians afterward expelled them, reoccupying the original line. There was no fighting today.

A Mukden report says that Lieutenant General Linevitch, recently appointed to the command of the first army, arrived by special train and was met by General Sacharoff. He was enthusiastically welcomed by all the troops. His escort consisted entirely of men who had been decorated with the St. George's cross. General Linevitch will assume command immediately.

A Chefu report says that the Japanese besieging Port Arthur, ignoring Lieutenant General Stoessel, the commander of the Russian military forces there, have offered terms of surrender to the Russian soldiers. In the meanwhile the ceaseless activity of picks and spades continues. The Japanese are gradually advancing their trenches, which spell inexorable fate to the watching Russians.

A Russian prisoner said that the troops composing the garrison of Port Arthur were in want and dispirited. They saw the fruitlessness of the struggle. Hopeless of relief, with food scarce and medicine and hospital supplies insufficient, it was admitted by the Russians that a Japanese victory was ultimately inevitable. The soldiers, according to the prisoner, see no reason to prolong the resistance, which brings glory to their officers, but misery, hardship and death to them.

Upon hearing the prisoner's story General Nogi assembled his staff, discussed the matter briefly and then, under the light of a bicycle lantern, drafted a letter to be circulated among the soldiers themselves, the prisoner having promised to deliver it in mercy to his comrades.

A Tokyo report says that at the Shakhe river both armies are still strengthening their positions along the river and are otherwise preparing for another great battle.

The scouts are constantly in touch, and frequent outpost skirmishes occur.

Re-enforcements of Russian troops, guns and transport continue to arrive by rail.

A dispatch from Chefu states that the Japanese made a terrific assault upon the defenses of Port Arthur yesterday and were repulsed.

A dispatch from Kiaochau says that the Russians have completely abandoned the town of Port Arthur, which is a heap of ruins, and taken refuge on the Liaotishan peninsula. The recent fighting was so fierce that General Stoessel, who was wounded, has only 3,000 or 4,000 men available.

It is realized now in St. Petersburg that the fortress may fall any day.

The Russian general staff has received intelligence from Port Arthur leading to the belief that it will be impossible for the fortress to hold out more than three days.

Wreck Near Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 9.—A westbound freight train on the Boston and Albany railroad has been wrecked about a mile east of here. An unknown man was killed, and two brakemen, Thomas Bowler and Peter Champagne, both of Worcester, were severely injured. The freight broke in two on the heavy grade and the two sections came together, demolishing a number of cars and blocking the tracks.

Italian Soldier Killed Student.

VIENNA, Nov. 9.—A corporal in an Italian regiment of conscripts on duty during the disturbance last week at Innsbruck has confessed that it was he who bayoneted and killed the German artist Prezzey. The corporal says that, fearing discovery, he hid the bayonet. This development is expected to greatly increase the difficulty of the ministry in effecting a peaceable settlement of the affair.

Negro Killed In Election Row.

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 9.—During an election row here last night James Brown, aged forty-one years, colored, was struck on the head with a club and died later in a hospital. No arrest has been made.

Excitement Over Killing.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 9.—During an argument over the election Charles Blake shot and killed Hunter Reynolds last night. The town is wild with excitement. Extra police officers have been sworn in.

Sultan Promises Answer.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 9.—The American charge d'affaires has communicated to the porte President Roosevelt's invitation to the peace conference. An answer was promised shortly.

Negro Shot Negro at Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 9.—During a fight at the polls of the First district of the Second ward here last night Harvey Miller was shot and killed by John Bell. Both are colored.

RESULTS OF PLAY ON HILLSIDE AND PARK LINKS

HOLIDAY CONTESTS ATTRACTED MANY TO THE COURSES.

The largest crowd of the season was on the links at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club yesterday, when several events of special interest were on the programme. Ernest R. Ackerman won the fourth leg on the Holiday cup for players with handicaps of 18 and over. These scores were returned:

E. R. Ackerman, 107, 27—80; A. G. Henderson, 101, 20—81; E. T. Barrows, 102, 18—84; J. A. Lane, 102, 1—84.

E. B. Sheemaker won the fourth leg on the Greens' Committee Tankard for players with handicaps of less than 18. This brought out a large field. The scores posted were as follows:

E. B. Sheemaker, 81, 9—72; R. F. Murray, 80, 6—74; H. W. Beebe, 94, 15—79; C. B. Morgan, 86, 6—80; W. L Glenney, 79, plus 2—81; S. D. Lounsbery, 89, 8—81; H. D. Hibbard, 89, 7—83; Julius E. Erickson, 92, 10—82; Walter Peterson, 87, 4—83; J. A. Tompkins, 95, 11—84; D. H. Rowland, 97, 12—85.

H. R. Stockton won the kickers' handicap with a net score of 77. The score selected was between 75 and 85 and Stockton was the only contestant to return a 77. The finals for the Men's Handicap cup was won by Arthur Murphy, by default. In the approaching and putting contest for men and women, W. L Glenney won the event for the men with a score of 6 and Miss Maude VanBeskerck won the event for the women with a score of 9.

The Park Golf Club course was crowded with players yesterday, morning and afternoon, while the only special event was the play for the Holiday cup in the afternoon. There were many contestants for this trophy, but only a few posted their scores. Charles L. Nichols was the winner with a net score of 87. These scores were posted for the cup:

Charles L. Nichols, 115, 18—87; Henry C. Wells, 101, 13—88; J. B. Betts, 124, 29—95; John L. Watson, 123, 30—93; Charles A. Reed, 105, 11—94; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, 118, 18—100

There was unusual interest in the play at the Westfield Golf Club, yesterday, the chief event being the deciding of the club championship between Marshall Whitlatch and Joseph Sherman, Jr. The former won by 5 up and 4 to go. Another event was the monthly handicap. This was won by Joseph Sherman, Jr., with a net score of 76. These scores were returned in this event:

Joseph Sherman, Jr., 83, 7—76; E H. Faulkner, 98, 20—78; Marshall Whitlatch, 81, 0—81; A. E. Keller, 108, 20—88; S. A. Trevvett, 98, 10—88; J. A. Worth, 106, 12—94.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

There will be a business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, tonight at 8 o'clock.

Next Sunday being Y. M. C. A. Sunday throughout the country, the local pastors will preach sermons appropriate to young men.

"The Outlook for Personal Religion," will be the subject of the mid-week prayer meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, tonight.

"Promises of God that Cheer Me," will be the subject of the Young People's Association, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, on Friday night.

The choir from the Holy Cross church will give an old folks concert in the Y. M. C. A., on Tuesday night, November 29, under the direction of the organist, J. E. Skiff.

The Young Women's Mission Band, of Trinity Reformed church, will hold a supper in the lecture room of the church on Friday night, November 18, from 6 to 9 o'clock. The proceeds will be for the benefit of missions.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will meeting Friday afternoon in the parlors of the church for sewing. It is requested that donations of money or clothing for the missionary box be sent in promptly. They may be left at the church on Friday or handed to any one of the officers of the society.

"Conscience in Religion, Business and Politics," was the subject of the sermon at the First Baptist church Sunday night by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss. He based his remarks on the trial of Paul before Felix, when the apostle stated that he desired to keep his conscience clear before God and man. The pastor said that there are few municipal governments that are free from ring rule and one would not have to go far from Plainfield to find this condition. He believed that there are very few politicians who have not accepted bribes.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

ROOSEVELT WINS.

Republicans Carry Thirty-one States of the Union.

GREATEST VOTE EVER POLLED

Frank Higgins Elected Governor of New York State.

SOUTH SOLID FOR PARKER AND DAVIS

Latest Official Returns Show That Roosevelt Ticket Carried New York and All Other Doubtful States, While Democrats Elected Their Candidates In All Fourteen of the Southern States.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—It is a certainty that Roosevelt and Fairbanks have carried the country. The Republican national ticket has swept New York and all the doubtful states by enormous majorities. There has been a landslide in their favor, and their victory is a triumph.

In New York state Roosevelt's plurality is more than 200,000, exceeding McKinley's plurality in 1900 by more than 50,000 and falling short of the enormous McKinley plurality of 1896

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

by about the same number. He sweeps Connecticut by nearly 40,000, New Jersey by more than 50,000 and Indiana by a plurality that promises to be four or five times greater than McKinley's in that state.

The result in New York state surpasses the expectations of the most sanguine of the Republican managers. Although Higgins runs nearly 100,000 behind Roosevelt, nevertheless, swept on by the avalanche of Republican votes, he wins by about 100,000 plurality.

Returns at hand indicate that the electoral vote stands as follows:

FOR ROOSEVELT.
California	10	New Hampshire	4
Colorado	5	New York	39
Connecticut	7	New Jersey	12
Delaware	3	North Dakota	4
Idaho	3	Ohio	23
Illinois	27	Oregon	4
Indiana	15	Pennsylvania	34
Iowa	13	Rhode Island	4
Kansas	10	South Dakota	4
Maine	6	Utah	3
Massachusetts	16	Vermont	4
Michigan	14	Washington	5
Minnesota	11	West Virginia	7
Montana	3	Wisconsin	13
Nebraska	8	Wyoming	3
Nevada	3
Total	317
FOR PARKER.
Alabama	11	Missouri	18
Arkansas	9	North Carolina	12
Florida	5	South Carolina	9
Georgia	13	Tennessee	12
Kentucky	13	Texas	18
Louisiana	9	Virginia	12
Maryland	8
Mississippi	10	Total	159

The general result was known within an hour and a half after the polls closed. At 7 o'clock last night Democratic leaders conceded that Roosevelt had been elected by an overwhelming majority, and before 8 o'clock the Parker managers at Democratic national headquarters in New York conceded that Roosevelt had carried every doubtful state in the country. At all the Democratic headquarters the Democrats seemed to be stunned by the result. At Tammany hall Charles F. Murphy early in the evening conceded that Roosevelt had carried the state, but clung to the hope that Herrick might pull through. The returns, indicating enormous pluralities, soon dissipated that faint expectation, and the Tammany leader admitted that the Democrats had met overwhelming defeat for both their national and state tickets.

At Republican national and state headquarters every one was jubilant. At 8 o'clock last night William Barnes, Jr., who was in charge at state headquarters, telegraphed President Roosevelt as follows:

"Your plurality in New York state will exceed 200,000. Higgins elected governor by over 100,000."

At 9 p. m. Chairman Cortelyou of the Republican national committee said:

"At this hour the indications are that the country has given an overwhelming vote of confidence in the president and his administration."

Judge Parker was defeated in his own town of Esopus by 80 votes.

Roosevelt's plurality in Ohio breaks all records for that state.

The latest indications are that Roosevelt's plurality outside of New York city will be 254,000 and that Parker's plurality in Greater New York will be about 32,000. This would make Roosevelt's plurality in the state 222,000.

Parker carried Brooklyn by a narrow margin, probably less than 1,000 votes.

Republicans are claiming a majority or thirty or more in the house of representatives.

One remarkable feature of the election was the large number of straight tickets voted. While great scratching was anticipated, the very threat of it seems to have reacted and to have drawn party lines tighter.

In this city especially the straight ticket vote was heavy in both parties.

The first presidential returns received were from one of the small towns in Massachusetts, which gave Roosevelt 59, Parker 2. The same town in 1900 gave McKinley 56, Bryan 3.

The first three towns in Massachusetts to report gave Roosevelt 558, Parker 462. The same towns in 1900 gave McKinley 593, Bryan 490. This was a net Democratic gain of 7 votes.

Contrary to general expectations, the state of New York has elected Frank W. Higgins governor, with the rest of the Republican ticket.

The tremendous plurality given up the state for President Roosevelt and the absence of much cutting made Higgins run much better than was forecast. Those who looked for a difference of 60,000 or more votes between Roosevelt and Higgins were disappointed.

The voting of straight tickets was as much a feature of the up state election as it was in this city, where nothing like the proportion of straight voting was ever known before. The hard work of Governor Odell's organization in lining up the party after the state convention and the vigorous personal campaign made by Mr. Higgins himself brought about the result.

It is usual for the candidate for governor to run several thousand votes behind the nominee for president. In 1900 Odell fell more than 40,000 behind McKinley. Considering the fight made against Higgins and Odellism this campaign, the Republicans are proud of the race made by their candidate for governor.

The complete count of the city of Buffalo shows that Roosevelt has carried it by 9,572 and Higgins by 2,565. The city went 5,000 for McKinley in 1900.

Notwithstanding threats of arrests and expectation of trouble, the day passed with reasonable quiet.

ROOSEVELT ON RESULT.

Is Deeply Moved by His Election. Will Not be a Candidate Again.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—President Roosevelt, after the election returns clearly indicated the result, issued the following statement:

"I am deeply sensible of the honor done me by the American people in thus expressing their confidence in what I have done and have tried to do. I appreciate to the full the solemn responsibility this confidence imposes upon me, and I shall do all that in my power lies not to forfeit it.

"On the 4th of March I shall have served three and one-half years, and this three and one-half years constitutes my first term. The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form. Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

Judge Parker Not Downcast.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Judge Parker conceded the election of President Roosevelt at 8:30 p. m., when he received a bulletin that the Democratic national headquarters had already admitted that every doubtful state had been carried by the Republican national ticket. He appeared to be not at all downcast by the result, although it is known that he greatly deplored his overwhelming defeat in his own state. He received the discouraging news in his study, where he sat smoking with two of his neighbors. In the village of Esopus there was genuine grief manifested by Democrats, who gathered in the two inns and the railway station, at the discouraging character of the returns, but many had foreseen the result as based upon the returns for the village, which Judge Parker had failed to carry by fourteen votes. A bonfire prepared for the occasion was not lighted.

Herrick to Higgins.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Judge Herrick's comment on the result was direct and characteristic. At 11:30 o'clock last night he said: "At present I have nothing to say except that I have made the best fight I could. I have no fault to find, no complaints to make. Because of the party and of many devoted personal friends through the state I deeply regret my defeat. So far as I and my family are concerned I do not regret the result. I may some time in the future have something further to say." At 10:30 o'clock last night Judge Herrick sent the following telegram to Governor Elect Higgins: "Please accept my congratulations."

Secretary Dover's Statement.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Secretary Elmer Dover of the Republican national committee says Roosevelt will have 317 electoral votes, which is six more than the pre-election estimate. He said: "Owing to differences in time and greater distances in the western states, the returns are meagre and incomplete. They indicate, however, that the sentiment which carried the east prevails in the west, and I think we justify our claim that we will carry every doubtful state. I would revise my pre-election estimate by giving Roosevelt 317 instead of 311."

NEW JERSEY IN LINE.

Roosevelt's Plurality In Garden State 50,000.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 9.—Incomplete returns indicate that President Roosevelt's plurality in New Jersey will not be less than 50,000. Essex county gives Roosevelt 18,000 plurality and 15,000 to Stokes (Rep.) for governor. Hudson county gives 7,000 for Parker and 14,000 for Black (Dem.) for governor. The returns from Hudson do not indicate the extent to which Stokes has been cut in the remainder of the state, as a special fight was made in that county for Black because of his equal taxation platform. The majority for Stokes in the state will probably be about 30,000.

The following congressmen were elected in New Jersey: First district, H. G. Loudenslager (Rep.); Second district, John J. Gardner (Rep.); Third district, Benjamin F. Howell (Rep.); Fourth district, Ira W. Wood (Rep.); Fifth district, Charles N. Fowler (Rep.); Sixth district, Henry G. Allen (Rep.); Seventh district, R. Wynne Parker (Rep.); Eighth district, William H. Wiley (Rep.); Ninth district, Allen Benny (Dem.); Tenth district, Allen L. McDermott (Dem).

The last representation of New Jersey in congress was: Republicans, 7; Democrats, 3. This is a net gain of 1 for the Republicans in the state.

Illinois Strong For Roosevelt.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The indications at 10 o'clock, based on the returns received, were that the Republican national ticket had carried Illinois by about 150,000. The chairman of the Republican state central committee asserted that Roosevelt would certainly have a plurality of 200,000. The Democrats declared that the figures were greatly exaggerated, but admitted that Roosevelt would have a plurality not far from 100,000. The returns on congressmen are slow, but it looks as if the Republicans have gained at least two in Chicago.

Victory Pleases Odell.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Governor Odell gave out the following statement: "The victory of course greatly pleases me. It is a magnificent indorsement of the Republican administration, both state and national. I have thought all along that our people in weighing up the qualifications of the opposing candidates would reach the conclusion that they have reached. The victory gives assurance of the continuance of the wise and conservative policies of the Republican party both in the state and nation."

Heavy Vote In New Hampshire.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 9.—A big vote was polled in New Hampshire, but the independent voter was in the booths in larger numbers than ever before, with the result that the counting of the split tickets badly delayed the returns. There is no doubt, however, of complete Republican success. Roosevelt has carried the state by 18,000 to 20,000, and McLane (Rep.) for governor, is elected by at least 12,000. The legislature is Republican in both branches by large majorities.

Wisconsin Elects La Follette.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9.—Only scattering returns have been received from the election in Wisconsin. The state is conceded to Roosevelt by a large plurality, and La Follette (Rep.) is believed to have been elected governor over Peck (Dem.) by a safe plurality. There are no figures at this time upon which to make an estimate on the next legislature. So far seven Republicans and one Democrat have been elected to congress and three districts are to be heard from.

Bloodshed In Cripple Creek.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Nov. 9.—Two Democratic judges were killed in this district, a Peabody deputy sheriff was mortally wounded and a number of Democratic judges were beaten and thrown into jail. Ike Idlebolt and Chris Miller, judges at Goldfield, were shot down by one of Sheriff Bell's deputies. They had ordered the deputy out of the polling place. He refused to go and, turning upon the judges, shot and killed them.

Maryland Vote Close.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9.—Returns from the city and state are not complete, but it is apparent from the official reports so far received that the vote in Maryland is very close and that the actual result may not be definitely known for a time owing to the slowness of returns from remote districts in eastern shore and southern counties. In Baltimore the indications are that there may not be a difference of 100 votes.

A Republican Gain In Maine.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 9.—The elimination from the election of a state contest in Maine detracted from the interest. The result was a victory for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. While the Republican vote from the first held even with that cast four years ago, the Democrats sustained a loss of about 25 per cent. A Republican plurality of 37,000 was indicated by these returns.

Roosevelt Ran Well In California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Scattering returns from California indicate that Roosevelt has carried the state by a larger majority than did McKinley four years ago. Of the eight congressmen to be elected the Republicans claim to be assured of seven, with the Second district in doubt. In this district Bell (Dem.) is running ahead of his ticket.

Little Rhody's Vote.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 9.—Partial returns give Roosevelt 5,949 over Parker, with votes of 8,767 and 3,718 respectively. The fight for governor remains in doubt, with Utter (Rep.) the leader. The Republicans appear to be holding their own well in the legislature, with but few changes from last year. The congressional seats are as yet undecided.

Illinois 140,000 For Roosevelt.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The Republican state central committee claims that Roosevelt has carried Cook county, in which Chicago is located, by 90,000 and the state by 140,000. The same figures are given for Deneen (Rep.) for governor. The Democratic state central committee admitted early that Roosevelt had carried the state.

Roosevelt Carries Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—President Roosevelt has apparently carried Chicago by about 80,000 and Cook county by 90,000 to 100,000. Charles S. Deneen, the

CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS.

Republican candidate for governor, will have about the same plurality. The Republicans have probably carried the First and Eighth congressional districts, hitherto Democratic.

Virginia Election Quiet.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 9.—The election in Virginia was absolutely without disturbance so far as has been heard. The Democratic majority on the presidential ticket will be about 25,000. Nine Democratic congressmen out of a total of ten have been chosen. Slemp, the Republican incumbent in the Ninth district, apparently is re-elected by a majority of about 1,200.

The Vote In Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 9.—Returns coming in show that between 60,000 and 75,000 votes were cast, and the opposition to the Democratic party will poll between 10,000 and 11,000. The Democratic majority for Parker and Davis will be in the neighborhood of 50,000. Mississippi returns eight Democratic congressmen, the Republicans making no opposition.

Kansas Tickets Scratched.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 9.—The indications are that Roosevelt will carry the state by 30,000 plurality. The state ticket is badly scratched, and the complete returns are not expected before midnight. T. T. Kelly, candidate for state treasurer, is running behind his ticket. All the Republican congressmen are elected.

Minnesota 80,000 Republican.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 9.—Returns from various parts of the state show that Roosevelt has run far ahead of McKinley's vote of 1900. Estimates from returns at hand indicate that his plurality will probably be 80,000. Republican headquarters claim 100,000, and Democrats concede 75,000.

Parker's Congratulations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—At 8:30 o'clock last night Judge Parker sent this telegram to the president from Esopus: "The people by their votes have emphatically approved your administration, and I congratulate you." President Roosevelt's reply was as follows: "I thank you for your congratulations."

Pennsylvania 300,000 Republican.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—The polls closed in Pennsylvania at 7 o'clock. Israel W. Durham, the Republican city leader, says that Roosevelt's majority in Philadelphia will be 140,000. His majority in the state will be over 300,000. McKinley carried the state in 1900 by 288,433 plurality.

Lost Their Votes.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 9.—The disagreement between the Republicans and the Democrats here regarding the rights of Rutgers college students to vote resulted in keeping the poll of the Sixth ward closed all day, and 471 registered voters lost their votes.

Few Arrests In New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Arrests for illegal voting were few, very few, in proportion to the enormous number of warrants issued. Superintendent Morgan had about 3,000 deputies stationed at the various polling places, nearly four times the usual number.

All One Way In Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 9.—The Gazette's advices from all parts of the state bear out the estimates of a plurality of 40,000 for Parker and Davis electors. The seven congressional districts are Democratic by majorities ranging from 4,000 to 6,000.

Colorado For Roosevelt.

DENVER, Nov. 9.—The Times (Dem.) concedes that Roosevelt carries Colorado by 5,000 or 6,000 plurality and claims that Adams (Dem.) will have 8,000 majority over Peabody for governor. Returns are slow in coming in.

Indiana For Roosevelt.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 9.—Three hundred and forty precincts in Indiana give Roosevelt 35,986 and Parker 22,682. This would indicate that President Roosevelt has carried the state by from 50,000 to 60,000.

Wyoming Republican.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 9.—Wyoming is conceded by the Democratic leaders to have gone for Roosevelt by a large majority. The race for the governorship between Bryant B. Brooks (Rep.) and John E. Osborne (Dem.) is close.

Taggart to Cortelyou.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 9.—Democratic National Chairman Taggart has conceded the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks and has telegraphed his congratulations to Republican National Chairman Cortelyou.

South Dakota Returns.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 9.—Senator Kittredge claims that Roosevelt has carried South Dakota by 40,000, and Chairman Crane of the Republican state central committee puts the figures at 50,000.

Heavy Vote In Utah.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 9.—The heaviest vote ever polled is reported, with much scratching. At Democratic state headquarters it is conceded that Roosevelt has carried the state by 8,000 plurality.

West Virginia Republican.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 9.—Reports from all West Virginia indicate a plurality for Roosevelt and Fairbanks and victory for the Democratic state ticket. Counting of votes is very slow.

Delaware In Republican Column.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 9.—Roosevelt has carried Delaware by about 5,000, and the Republicans elect the governor and congressman. The legislature will be overwhelmingly Republican.

Louisiana For Parker.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9.—Democrats have carried Louisiana for Parker and Davis by a majority of probably 35,000. Seven Democratic congressmen have been elected.

Montana For Roosevelt.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 9.—The count proceeded very slowly throughout the state. The reports already indicate that the state will go for Roosevelt.

North Dakota Normal.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Nov. 9.—State returns are coming in very slowly. So far a normal vote is indicated, with 25,000 majority for Roosevelt.

Ohio's Plurality 125,000.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 9.—Chairman Dick has issued a bulletin that the Republican plurality in Ohio would be not less than 125,000.

Idaho Republican.

BOISE, Ida., Nov. 9.—Roosevelt is conceded to have carried the state by a heavy majority. Gooding runs slightly behind Roosevelt.

Cortelyou Voted at Hempstead.

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Chairman Cortelyou of the Republican national committee cast his ballot at his home here.

Herrick Votes Early.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 9.—D. Cady Herrick voted ballot 118 at 8 o'clock. David B. Hill voted ballot 143 at 8:30 o'clock.

BALDWIN'S CHALLENGE.

Will Take the Arrow to Paris to Race Santos-Dumont.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9.—Edward J. Carpenter of San Francisco, owner of the Arrow, is here to confer with Inventor Baldwin relative to the proposed international airship race between Baldwin and Santos-Dumont, who has received a challenge from the Californian. Mr. Carpenter suggests that a trophy, such as is offered in the international yacht races, be put up and rules somewhat similar to govern the contest be formulated.

The plan is to have a series of races, to be held at any time and place satisfactory to Santos-Dumont. Each man is to send his requirements to the other for inspection and then to have an international jury of aeronauts selected to pass upon and arrange the conditions, rules and requirements governing the contest.

Carpenter and Baldwin expressed their willingness to go to Paris or any other place and try conclusions.

Baldwin's big dirigible airship will journey from Chicago to St. Louis on Nov. 13 or Nov. 20, depending upon weather conditions.

Two Brothers Killed at Huntington.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 9.—In Raleigh county Eddie Messick and John Hillard quarreled after a political argument, when Messick pulled a revolver and shot Hillard dead. A brother of the latter who had appeared about the same time was also shot and killed by Messick.

Presidential Elector Dead.

OSSINING, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Abram Hyatt, a presidential elector on the Democratic ticket, died at his home on South Highland avenue of pneumonia. He had been sick a week. He was prominent in Democratic politics and had held various public offices.

Dropped Dead In Polling Booth.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Patrick McCormack, a well known resident, dropped dead while entering the booth to mark his ballot. He was seventy-five years of age. Heart failure was the cause of death.

Boy Killed by Playmate.

VERSAILLES, Conn., Nov. 9.—While playing with a loaded revolver John F. Miller, fourteen years old, was accidentally shot by a playmate, Zeiog Egli, and later died from his wounds.

SPORTING NEWS.

FOOTBALL.

A football game will be played on Alis Oval by N. P. H. S. and Leal's tomorrow afternoon. The game will be called at 3 o'clock. Both teams average about 125 pounds.

The Leal's School football team will close their season next week with a game with the Plainfield High School. The two teams have met once before this year, and at that time the Leal's team won easily. They have lost in weight considerably since then however, and the game will be an interesting one.

The way in which the Alis-Orange Field Club football game ended Saturday was in no way a credit to either team, and after the way in which the game had been advertised as the exhibition game of the season, the crowd deserved something more than a free fight when the teams line up to contest for championship honors. It is not possible to settle the result of the game on either side, as the O. F. C. and the Alis Club both did their share of slugging and fouling. That the game was unnecessarily rough there is no doubt, and that the Alis Club started the roughness is admitted. The disputed question as to whether the whistle was blown or not, will be decided between the two captains tonight.

DIAMOND DUST.

At an entertainment to be held on Friday night, December 2, under the auspices of the Westfield Baseball Association, the pennant won by the ball team will be presented.

Virgil Garvin, of the Hotel Kensington, will soon leave for Cuba, where he will pitch during the winter for one of the league teams in the Island.

All was not velvet for the Westfield Baseball Association, this year, according to the last issue of the Westfield Standard. It says that there were several drawbacks to a successful financial end, mainly the backwardness of the spring, which kept many away from the games, when the attractions were high class and expensive. It also says that the Aeolian series was a flat failure. Thirty-five games were played, not a single contest being prevented by rain or for other reasons. The extra games represent a deficit of $400. This will be met by an entertainment to be given in December, when the pennant won by the club will be presented.

BASKET BALL.

Manager Collier, of the Plainfield High School basket ball team has announced the following schedule of games, which have recently been secured: Monday, Nov. 7, Business Men, at the Y. M. C. A.; Nov. 16, Hasbrouck, at the Y. M. C. A.; Nov. 23, Hasbrouck, at Jersey City; Nov. 29, open; Dec. 7, league game with North Plainfield High School; Dec. 14, league game with Leals; Dec. 16, Newark High School, at Newark; Jan. 5, East Orange High School, at East Orange; Jan. 11, league game with North Plainfield High School Jan. 18, league game with Leals; Jan 21, East Orange High School, at Y. M. C. A.; February dates open; March 1, South Orange High School, at Y. M. C. A.

ROD AND GUN.

V. GARVIN PITCHER MEETS HIS WATERLOO

CROWD KNOCKS HIM DOWN AND THEN DANCE UPON HIS FORM.

After trying his muscle on several young men with disastrous results to their countenances, Virgil Garvin, the baseball pitcher, met his Waterloo on North avenue, last night. A crowd of local "sports," who have held individual grievances against him, met by chance and a combination was formed that proved the slab artists' undoing. Garvin was purposely engaged in an altercation and before he knew it, the storm had passed and his face looked as if a Kansas cyclone had toyed with it. The crowd not only used fists but when he was sent down with a crushing blow, three of his assailants performed a clog dance on his prostrate form.

When Garvin finally regained his feet he was infuriated and he begged for a 44 calibre revolver to do some exterminating. The combination had disappeared, however, and there is only the memory and the facial disfigurement to tell the story.

Runaway Horse Causes Trouble.

A horse belonging to J. W. Mundy, of the borough, ran away on Mountain avenue this morning and galloping into Front street at Somerset, crashed into a rig owned by Charles Thornton, of New Market. The horse belonging to the latter was knocked down but uninjured. Mundy's animal was caught at Watchung avenue.

Timbo Social Club Entertains.

The Timbo Social Club proved its claim to being one of the leading organizations of its kind in this vicinity last night, when it entertained a large party in its rooms on North avenue. In addition to good musical features, election returns, received by private wire, were given.

He's Berry Lucky.

Samuel J. Berry, the Republican nominee for mayor in Elizabeth, received 143 majority over P. J. Ryan, whose re-election was supposed to be certain. Mr. Berry accepted the nomination as a forlorn hope after seven other Republicans had declined.

—The annual meeting of the Plainfield Branch of the Needlework Guild of America will be held in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue church on Friday afternoon, November 11. Tea will be served at 4:30.

The young men of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and congregation are invited to an informal reception in the church parlors tomorrow night at 8:15, when Hamilton W. Mabie, of New York, will give a talk on "Ideals in a Commercial Age."

Charles Newell Fowler.

velt's majority was 423 out of a total vote of 1,151. Ira W. Wood, the Republican Congressional candidate, was given 410 majority out of a total vote of 1,152, and Stokes, for governor, got 377 majority. Mayor Smalley and his friends, comprising the Good Government Club, had remained true to their promise to Mr. Stokes to be loyal to all nominees save those named at the county convention.

North Plainfield's vote is probably the largest in its history. The regular Republicans and the bolting party, which had twice thrown Somerset county into the Democratic column in revenge for past treatment, worked unceasingly to get out the full vote. The effect is apparent in the total vote in Somerset county, shown in another column.

Four years ago, Mr. McKinley was given 350 majority in the borough and up to that time that was the largest majority ever given a Presidential candidate.

DUNELLEN.

The Republican ticket at Dunellen was given a majority of forty, the candidates on that ticket receiving 201 votes, as against 161 for the Democrats. Roosevelt received 202, Benjamin F. Howell, for Congress, 194; Edward C. Stokes, for Governor, 191; John H. Conger, for county clerk, 197; for member of Assembly, Frank C. Henry, 186; J. H. Thayer Martin, Jr., 193; Alexander R. Fordyce, Jr., 193. There were 150 votes cast for the law to reduce the number of Freeholders, and 143 against the law.

Parker received 161 votes, James E. Otis, for Congress, 169; Charles C. Black, for Governor, 173; Arthur B. Appleby, for county clerk, 170; for members of Assembly, Freeman Woodbridge, 168; Thomas F. Dunigan, 170; Frederic M. P. Pearse, 169.

James C. Calvert.

Dr. J. B. Probasco.

Frank H. Smith.

NEW MARKET.

In New Market there were 270 votes cast, 166 Republican and eighty Democratic, and seven rejected. This was the vote:

Republican—Roosevelt, 166; B. F. Howell, for Congress, 165; E. C. Stokes, for Governor, 151; John H. Conger, for county clerk, 161; members of Assembly, Frank C. Henry, 163; J. H. Thayer Martin, Jr., 163; Alexander R. Fordyce, Jr., 161.

Democratic—Parker, 80; James E. Otis, for Congress, 69; Charles C. Black, for Governor, 96; Arthur B. Appleby, for county clerk, 85; members of Assembly, Freeman Woodbridge, 87; Thomas F. Dunigan, 89; Frederic M. P. Pearse, 82. Sixty-four votes were for the law reducing the number of Freeholders and 103 against the law.

IN SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Over in South Plainfield the vote was rather close with the small majority on the Republican side. In this district Roosevelt received 79 and Parker 68 of the ballots. Howell, the Republican candidate for Congress, received 83 and his opponent, James R. Otis, 68. Practically the same figures applied in the vote for governor and county clerk and the assembly poll.

"Korea," was the subject of the monthly meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, held in the chapel yesterday afternoon.

SHAKESPEARIAN LECTURE

"World Forces and the Individual," Prof. Griggs' Subject

A STUDY OF CHARACTER

A Conflict Between the Elementry Forces of Human Nature, Ambition and Passion Clearly Shown.

"World Forces and the Individuals," a conflict with the elementry forces of human nature, taken from the drama "Anthony and Cleopatra," was the subject of the fourth of Professor Griggs' lectures on Shakespeare delivered at Vincent chapel yesterday afternoon. Contrasting clearly with the tragedy written six years before, Julius Caesar, the play is remarkable for the accuracy of historical setting, and for the character portrayal.

Professor Griggs, as is his usual custom, outlined the play at some length, explaining the plot, and commenting on the characters. Though a drama of five acts, with the dramatic crisis occurring in the middle of the third act, the interest is held, not for a instant lagging, until the death of Cleopatra.

Professor Griggs pointed out the historical correctness with which the drama is given. He spoke of the fact that at the time that the play "Anthony and Cleopatra" was written the world was more than at any future time "a stake to be played for by men." The possession of the Roman power, or the control of the world, was the ruling ambition of the men of that period, and the force of the drama is the conflict between the ambition and the strong passion of Anthony. With defeat staring him in the face, his ambition overthrown, and his power in the world at nought, Anthony could not understand, and could not break away from the subtle fascination which bound him to Cleopatra.

From the standpoint of a character study, Cleopatra is the most remarkable of Shakespeare's portrayal of female life. The possessor of the most queenly charms, Shakespeare says in describing her, "age cannot wither her, nor costumes stale her infinite variety;" and withal comes the passionate fascination which she arouses, so that to quote the author, "she makes hungry where most she satisfies."

Drawing his outline of the plot to a close, the lecturer said that one of the most marked changes in the life of Shakespeare is shown by the contrast between this play and Julius Caesar, which was written six years before. Something, the speaker said, though what it was is only a matter of conjecture, had occurred in the life of the author in order to enable him to portray a character such as Cleopatra. It may have been some tragic personal experience, or it may have been only a subtle observation on the part of the writer, that gave to the world the exquisite tragedy of "Anthony and Cleopatra."

WATCHUNG HUNT CLUB HOLDS HOLIDAY CHASE

FIFTY RIDERS ENJOY HUNT BREAKFAST AT COLONIA.

After galloping over about ten miles of rolling meadows, thirty members of the Watchung Hunt Club arrived at Colonia at noon Tuesday, where they were guests of Charles D. Freeman, at a hunt breakfast. The run was in every way successful.

The riders remained at Colonia until the middle of the afternoon. On the ride home, while passing between two posts, R. A. Shebbeare's horse struck the post and stumbled, throwing his rider heavily. He was able to return with the party. The next chase will take place Saturday, starting from Fanwood.

Autoists in Hospital.

Miss May Waring, of Park avenue, who with Mrs. L. E. Waring, of West Seventh street, was injured in an automobile accident near Elizabeth on Election day, is still at the Elizabeth General Hospital under the care of Dr. G. W. Endicott. Her condition is not as serious as at first supposed and her compete recovery is now assured. She will return home in a few days. Mrs. Waring's condition is quite satisfactory and no serious consequences are now looked for.

VALIDITY OF PROMISSORY NOTE IS QUESTIONED

DATED ON SUNDAY IT IS HELD TO BE ILLEGAL.

The Supreme Court case of John S. Stils & Sons, of New York, against James E. Totten and John W. Mundy, of this city, was tried before Judge Vail at Elizabeth yesterday. The matter was that of a promissory note for $350 given on February 28, 1904, by the defendant, endorsed by Mundy. The defendant's counsel moved for a non-suit on the ground that the plaintiffs were attempting to recover a claim which was void, as the note was given and dated on a Sunday and that under the laws of this State the contract or note was wholly illegal and must be ignored as though no such writing existed.

After a long argument on the part of counsel, Judge Vail reserved his decision in order to give the lawyers an opportunity to submit briefs on the law governing the case, as to whether the plaintiffs can recover in this suit or on a new suit.

HANDEL A TRUE PRINCE AMONG MUSICIANS

SAYS PROF. W. S. PRATT BEFORE THE MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

In spite of the technicality of the subject "The Influence of Handel on the Development of Music in England," Professor Waldo S. Pratt's lecture before the Monday Afternoon Club this week at the Casino, gave unqualified pleasure. In a graceful introduction by the president, Mrs. Robert Lowry, the lecturer was presented as professor of music and hymnology at Hartford Theological Seminary and lecturer on musical history and science in Smith College.

Mr. Pratt sketched very briefly the life of Handel, who was acknowledged by contemporaneous musicians to be master of them all. German by birth and Italian in training, Handel made his home in England from 1710 to 1759, winning a just popularity by his great genius, his intense earnestness and mental vitality expended in musical composition. While he loved popularity and sought success, the lecturer claimed that Handel was a true prince among musicians in the essential loftiness of his inspiration and the marvellous quality of enduring impressiveness which marked his productions.

Professor Pratt dwelt on the early work of Handel in operatic compositions and showed his immense superiority over his predecessors, for he put a human soul into his productions like Shakespeare who took inane stories and made them immortal.

HIGH SCHOOL SCRUBS DEFEAT LEALS SECOND

IN EVENLY MATCHED GAME OF BASKET BALL ON Y. M. C. A. FLOOR.

Both teams playing a hard fast game, the Leals second basket ball team was defeated by the Plainfield High School scrubs yesterday afternoon following the N. P. H. S.-Hasbrouck game. The score was 6 to 2, and every point was hotly contested for. The two teams were evenly matched in weight and in skill, though the accuracy of the Leals forwards was somewhat at fault. Freeman and Vail guarded well for the High School team.

Up to the last two minutes of play there was no scoring in the first half, and it was not until Doane, of the High School team, threw a goal that the ball went through the basket. In the second half Doane found the basket again, while Caldwell also scored for the High School, and Millar made the only tally for Leals. The teams lined up as follows: P. H. S.—Mackey, center; Freeman and Vail, guards; Doane and Caldwell, forwards. Leals—Millar, center; Endicott and Underhill, guards; Howard, Valiant and Elliot, forwards.

These two teams, together with the team from the Whittier School, will contest in the junior basket ball league for the juvenile championship of the city. The regular league games will begin in the near future.

Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, of High Bridge, has been visiting her son John Chamberlain, of this city.

CHURCH'S ANNIVERSARY

Congregationalists to Observe First Quarter of Century.

PLANS FOR CELEBRATION

Special Services to Begin Sunday and Continue Through the Week.

With the completion of all committees to arrange the details for the different gatherings, marked interest has been manifested in the twenty-fifth anniversary exercises which the Congregational church will hold all next week. They are to begin Sunday morning and from the plans prepared it will be one of the most elaborate religious events taking place in the city in years. The exercises are not to be confined to members of the congregation as the public is invited to all of the meetings. It will also be a "home coming," as many of those connected with the church in years gone by, and who have since left Plainfield, have announced that they will be in attendance.

The service Sunday morning will include an anniversary sermon by Pastor Charles L. Goodrich and a roll-call of members, the charter members wearing badges. Special music will be a feature, the regular choir being augmented for the purpose. In the afternoon, a Sunday-school rally will be held at which the secretary, Stacy Raynolds, will present a historical sketch, and several former superintendents have promised to speak. Special music is also being arranged for this service. The usual Christian Endeavor service in the evening is to be replaced by a gathering at which former members of the church who have gone out into Christian work will speak.

Monday evening will be passed over without any service but on Tuesday there will be a fellowship meeting which will be addressed by members of the Conference of Congregational churches and by representatives of the local churches. The usual mid-week service will be held Wednesday evening.

Social features will be paramount in the early part of Friday evening and later a special gathering of the church society will be held when plans for the enlargement of the church building will be explained. A "Forward Look" is the title given this meeting, which will be preceded by a supper served in the church parlors.

The Congregational church was organized September 30, 1879. For a few months previous the members had assembled for religious worship and part of the time had occupied Trinity church on West Second street. A donation of land at West Seventh street and Madison avenue by Jacob Kirkner, led to the building of the present edifice in 1883. The membership has continued to increase until at the present time the building is inadequate. Tentative plans have been prepared for improvements and the probabilities are that a large addition will be made before another year.

PARK AND WESTFIELD GOLF CLUBS COMPLETE SEASON

WINNERS ANNOUNCED IN THE SEVERAL SCHEDULED EVENTS.

The active season in golf here is gradually drawing to a close. The final play for the President's and Park Golf Club cups terminated on Saturday, with Gus. W. Faber the winner of both trophies. The season has been a successful one in every way. The active season at the Westfield Golf Club ended on Election day with the play for the club championship, which was won by Marshall Whitlatch. The course will remain open as long as the weather is favorable, but there will be no special events.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will be the last to close and the Thanksgiving Day events will probably conclude the schedule. On that day there will be some special events. Undoubtly the course will be kept open while the weather conditions are favorable.

Patrick J. Comerford, of this city, has been visiting his parents at High Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Dagget, of Whitehouse, who have been visiting Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer, of Summit avenue, have returned home.

Next Sunday being Y. M. C. A. Sunday throughout the country, the local pastors will preach sermons appropriate to young men.

LEE MAY SUCCEED SMITH

Tax Collector to Resign Present Office Tomorrow Night.

CANDIDATES FOR JOB

Smith to Take Charge of New Office of Registrar of Deeds on Tuesday.

Frank H. Smith, who was selected to the new office of registrar of deeds of Union county, on Tuesday, will enter upon the duties of the office on Tuesday.

There are a number of persons mentioned as successors to Mr. Smith in the office of collector, the leading candidate being Councilman Robert L. Lee. It is understood that Mr. Lee has nearly the entire support of the Common Council for the appointment. Others mentioned for the place are Harry B. MacDonald, William Townsend and John W. Murray, Jr. The Common Council will meet tomorrow night, but it is hardly thought that an appointment will be made at that time. According to present plans there is likely to be a caucus of the members on Saturday night when Mr. Smith's successor will be chosen.

Mr. Smith's new position, that of registrar of deeds, is for a term of five years and it is entirely a fee office. Mr. Smith's assistants will include a deputy, an indexer and several young women as copyists. Except in a general sense, Mr. Smith has little idea of the duties of his new office and he cannot tell at present what his remuneration will be, except that it will be more than his present salary.

WILLIAM M'D. CORIELL WEDS MISS EDITH CLARK

SHERIFF CORIELL'S SON BECOMES A BENEDICT.

Miss Edith Blanche Clark, daughter of the late Charles H. Clark, for many years a well-known dentist, and William McD. Coriell, son of Sheriff and Mrs. B. Frank Coriell, of 211 West Fifth street, were married last evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Cecelia A. Clark, 9 Grove street, in the presence of about seventy relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Coriell were unattended. The bride was gowned in white silk, trimmed with lace and ribbon and she carried a bouquet of bride roses and ferns.

A feature of the ceremony was the singing of the wedding march from Lohengrin by a quartette composed of Mrs. J. Edmund Skiff, Miss Edgeton, Carlos C. Gallup and Bradley Hall. The quartette preceded the couple to the parlor, singing the wedding march and the four formed an aisle in the parlor, through which the bride and groom passed to where the officiating minister stood. J. Edmund Skiff, organist of Holy Cross church, played the wedding march on the piano.

The home was attractively decorated for the event with flowers and ferns and in the dining-room there was a pleasing arrangement about the table.

After the ceremony congratulations were offered during an informal reception, and supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Coriell are now on their honeymoon and on their return will reside temporarily with the groom's parents.

The bride received a number of gifts of use and value, including chinaware, cut glass, silverware, furniture, linen and a substantial check from the parents of the groom.

Mr. Coriell has been in the office of the law firm of Codington & Swackhamer. They both attend Trinity Reformed church. Both he and his wife have many friends in this city.

Furniture Removed to Sidewalk.

About a week ago Samuel Dreier swore out dispossession papers in Justice Huff's court against Nicholas Kelly, of East Third street. He was notified, but paid no attention to the warning. Yesterday Kelly was dispossessed by Constable Gettleson, and his furniture placed on the sidewalk. The furniture was still there this morning, though the Constable locked the house, and the former will be unable to replace the goods.

Mayor Buckle's Majority.

James F. Buckle, mayor-elect, made a better run than did Dr. Jenkins two years ago. As shown in The Daily Press' table of results yesterday Mr. Buckle's majority was 1,205 Two years ago Mayor Jenkins received 1,196 majority.

HUNTING SEASON BEGINS

Sportsmen Out in Force in Jersey Today.

GAME IS PLENTIFUL

State Laws on Hunting Pheasant, Squirrels, Rabbits and Partridge.

Bright and early this morning sportsmen were out with their guns looking for game, the hunting season for hare, rabbit, quail, partridge, grouse, English or ring-necked pheasant, gray, black and fox squirrel, opening today. It is now lawful to shoot these birds, together with woodcock, snipe, rail bird, marsh or mud hen, reed bird or upland plover. A number of hunting parties were formed both in this city and the borough and they are hunting game through the various counties in this part of the State.

According to the opinion of those who make a study of the hunting season and who watch the game, there will be plenty of shooting for all who may desire to go out. It is said that rabbits are unusually plentiful this season, while other birds are said to be abundant. The season for the shooting of the game mentioned will continue through this month and December.

A majority of the hunters starting out today sought the fields in Union, Somerset, Middlesex and Hunterdon counties. As a rule the game is quite plentiful in these counties early in the season, but a little later the hunters find it necessary to seek more distant points in New Jersey and Pennsylvania in search of game.

WORK STARTED CLEARING TRUST COMPANY'S SITE

FORMER G. W. FORCE RESIDENCE NOW BEING TORN DOWN.

First steps toward the demolition of the buildings which encumber the site of the Plainfield Trust Company's proposed structure at Second street and Park avenue, began yesterday when Contractor Alexander Kane started work on the former George Force residence on Second street. The barn on the property is to be torn down at the same time. The tenants in the buildings on Park avenue are moving as soon as possible, several having vacated already.

Charles Schanz, who has a saloon in the middle of the block, is to remove to the former Tier building on Park avenue, now owned and occupied by Marcus Silbert. The former Randolph buildings directly on the corner are to be torn down in February as the occupants hold leases until then.

SCHOOLS DEFEATED.

Both Public and Private School Basket Ball Teams Beaten by Y. M. C. A. Fives.

Both the Plainfield High and the Leal's Schools were defeated in basket ball at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. The former suffered defeat at the hands of the Business Men of the association by the score of 25 to 18, and the Leal's School was worsted by the regular Y. M. C. A. team to the tune of 39 to 4. Though the latter game was decidedly uneven the former was interesting and hotly contested. The line ups in the two games were as follows: Plainfield High School—Thompson, Vail and Collier, forwards; Freeman, center; Gavett and Stutsman, guards. Business Men—Spicer and Hiecker, forwards; Whitley, center; Letson and Clark, guards.

Leal's—Chapman and Jewett, forwards; Strong, center; Manning and Millar, guards. Y. M. C. A.—Smith and Hand, forwards; Caboone, center; Neal and Scull, guards.

To Commemorate Hero's Death.

In commemoration of the death of Gustavus Adolphus on the battlefield of Lutzen, November 6, 1632, the congregation of the Swedish Lutheran church will hold a Gustavus Adolphus festival in the German Lutheran church on Grove street Saturday evening. The committee in charge has prepared an excellent programme, consisting of historical readings, songs, recitations and an address by Rev. D. H. Beck.

—The Daily Press is in receipt of a souvenir postal of the St. Louis Exposition from Rev. A. S. Sheffer, who was temporary pastor of the German Lutheran church in 1901. He reports fine weather and fairly good attendances at the fair.

REV. MR. SHOTT RETIRES FROM 'PLAINS CHARGE

NOT LIKELY TO APPEAR IN VILLAGE PULPIT AGAIN.

The congregation of the Scotch Plains Baptist church were greatly surprised at the conclusion of Rev. G. M. Shott's sermon Sunday morning, when he announced that it would probably be the last he would preach as their pastor. His resignation had already been presented, to take effect March 1, 1905, and it was believed that he would continue to occupy the pulpit until the first of the year at the least.

Continuing his remarks, the clergyman said that arrangements had been made with the pulpit committee for him to give way to candidates while he will be visiting churches in view of permanent settlement. While his active work locally has ceased he will not leave the village until after January, as he has not as yet decided upon a future pastorate. The pulpit committee has not named his successor and will not until a large number of candidates have been introduced to the congregation.

J. E. TOTTEN ALLOWED JUDGMENT UNDER NEW LAW

SECOND TEST CASE DECIDED IN THIS STATE RECENTLY.

The justice appeal case of James E. Totten against Cranston Brothers was heard before Judge Vail in the Union County Court of Common Pleas on Monday and upon motion of V. W. Nash, Jr., Esq., counsel for the plaintiff, the appeal was dismissed.

This case was tried last September before Justice Nash and a verdict was given for the plaintiff for $15 and costs. An appeal was taken and because counsel for the defendant, Charles M. Dolliver, Esq., failed to comply with the new "Small Cause Act of 1903," in noticing the trial for the opening day of the term, instead of during the term, as formerly, the court was obliged to dismiss the appeal and allow counsel to enter final judgment against the defendants.

This is the second case on record in which the new act has been taken advantage of and the new law tested as to its meaning of giving notices, the first being at Trenton, last week, before the Supreme Court, when a decision similar to that of Judge Vail was given.

BOROUGH HIGH SCHOOL SWAMPED BY HASBROUCK

IN BASKET BALL GAME JERSEY CITY TEAM WIN 33 TO 8.

Though an interesting game in the first half, the Hasbrouck Institute basket ball team completely ran away with the North Plainfield High School team yesterday afternoon on the Y. M. C. A. floor. The score was 33 to 8. It was in the second half of the game that the local boys lost ground and the Jersey City lads scored 21 points. Their forwards were more accurate than the boroughites, and shot goals in a clean, snappy style. On the other hand the North Plainfield team were somewhat slow, and though Webster and Mundy played strong individual games, they were excelled in team play.

At the close of the first half the score stood 8 to 5 in favor of the visiting team, and after a ten-minute intermission the Hasbrouck five seemed to awaken to an entirely new game. Appleton and Tompkins for the Jersey City team were the strong points, and they were responsible for most of the scoring.

The N. P. H. S. score would have been better if they had taken advantage of their opportunities of shooting goals from fouls. In this respect they were weak. The following was the line-up and the detailed score: N. P. H. S.—VanArsdale and Nischwitz, forwards; Mundy, center; Steiner and Webster, guards. Hasbrouck—Tompkins and Stork, forwards; Appleton, center; Johnston and Manver, guard. Goals from the field, Tompkins 5, Appleton 5, Stork 3, Steiner, Manver, Mundy, Webster. Goals from fouls, Mundy, Nischwitz, Stork.

Miss Julia Meaney, of this city, has returned from a visit with relatives at High Bridge.

OPINIONS ON THE RESULT

Candidates and Politicians Express Their Views

LUCKY ONES GRATEFUL

Buckle, Smith, Runyon, MacMurray, Martine and Others Say Something.

Mayor-elect James F. Buckle said today: "I want to thank all good citizens for the strong support they gave me. I am very well satisfied with the returns. Please say for me that any suggestion a citizen, irrespective of party, can make to me looking to the advancement of the city's interests and the progressiveness of the municipality will be heartily welcomed. I favor the sanitary collection and disposal of garbage by the municipality and all other measures which will improve the city."

Charles N. Fowler, re-elected to Congress, says: "The Republican party stood on its record and the people endorsed it most emphatically at the polls. I am profoundly grateful to the voters of the Fifth district."

James T. MacMurray.

James E. Martine, defeated congressional nominee, says: "I think the people do not realize that they have been robbed enough yet by the iniquitous robber-tariff to have opened their eyes. Then too the great trusts and combinations saw that it was a life and death struggle for their existence and hence they contributed money with lavish hand."

Frank H. Smith, elected registrar of deeds, says: "The nice letters I have received from Democrats and Republicans alike make me especially happy. I have tried hard to do my duty as tax collector and the big vote I received shows that the taxpayers, without regard to party, appreciate my efforts to run the office to their advantage."

James T. MacMurray, a great admirer of Congressman Fowler, says: "It was a big victory for the people, and for the wage-earners particularly. I am delighted with the results of the election all through. The returns show that the people were not fooled by the silly stuff used as arguments against Mr. Fowler."

William N. Runyon, re-elected city judge, says: "It simply means that the people are satisfied with the existing conditions. This, coupled with the fact that the Democracy made very grave charges which they were entirely unable to sustain, insured the tremendous victory."

Amos Andrews: "I think Mr. Fowler ought to be very grateful to President Roosevelt."

Edward E. Cooper, sheriff elect of Somerset county, says: "My one aim will be to administer the affairs of the office to the best interests of all people, irrespective of locality or party. I appreciate deeply the fine vote given me. I held no feelings against anyone and hope to make those who voted against me my friends."

A. V. D. Honeyman, of the borough, said: "With nearly all the Democratic party against us, on principle, and such Republicans as wear the Smalley brass collar, cut high and points outward, who felt that the spirit of rebellion to party is a good thing to keep up, we nevertheless won a fine and clean victory in North Plainfield. I am extremely happy over the result. Gradually, but surely, we are "cleaning house' and out of commotion there will be evolved a better day. Each new election in the borough has been an additional blow to boosism."

Former Senator Reed says: "The result is most gratifying. North Plain-

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

Public Library Notes.

Half a dozen books for Ambitious Boys.

Getting on in the world, by William Mathews.

Helps for ambitious boys, by William Drysdale. "The author has endeavored to give practical assistance to young men in selecting the mark and fixing their gaze upon it. Headings of some of the chapters are: The study of the law, The making of a physician, He that hath a trade hath an estate, The railroad man, The army through West Point, etc."

Letters from a self-made merchant to his son, by G. H. Lorimer. "An original and interesting book containing advice to young men from the time they go to college until they have established themselves on a business footing."

Poor boys who became famous, by S. K. Bolton. Interesting accounts of the lives of Goldsmith, Sir Henry Bessemer, Greeley, Farragut, Lincoln and others.

Success and its conditions, by E. P. Whipple. "In the essays on Young men in history, The vital and the mechanical, Grit, Shoddy, The ethics of popularity, Mental and moral pauperism, the author has attempted to state the vital conditions of success."

The map of life, by W. E. H. Lecky. "The subject of this book, although nowhere explicitly stated, is, in effect, 'How to make the most of life.'"

Half a dozen books for ambitious girls.

Girls who became famous, by S. K. Bolton. Brief, interesting sketches of the lives of women who have become prominent in various fields, among others Mrs. Stowe, Louisa Alcott, Florence Nightingale, Harriet Hosmer, Mary Lyon, and others.

How women may earn a living, by Helen C. Candee. Intended as a guide for women who "enter upon a career of labor, not for today or tomorrow, but for a long and definite future."

Occupations for women and their compensation, by various writers. A series of articles which appeared in the New York Tribune, covering practically every department of business and professional life open to women.

The American business woman, by J. H. Cromwell (of the New York Bar.) A practical guide for the investment, preservation and accumulation of property—"Its advice is clear and eminently practical."

The business girl in every phase of her life, by Ruth Ashmore. Articles which originally appeared in the Ladies' Home Journal. Contains much that would be likely to be helpful and suggestive to business girls, particularly girls working in offices.

What shall I do? Fifty profitable occupations, by John S. Stoddard. A book for younger girls or boys, contains much that is suggestive, and many practical hints.

HUNTING REYNARD

INTERESTING SKETCH OF TRIALS AND DANGERS OF MR. FOX.

New Hampshire Farmers Use Gun and Hounds Against Him, But the Naturalist Finds Him an Interesting Study.

In the vicinity of my home in New Hampshire, foxes are among the commonest of the wild animals. I do not even hope for their total extermination—the possibility of such a thing is too remote even to excite a hope. As for my part, I am pleased that they are here, for I see them often, and am seldom too busy to watch a fox. Sometimes they may be seen crossing the road at dusk, just moving shadows in the uncertain light, but more often I get a glimpse of one in broad daylight, while he is busy catching grasshoppers in some field.

My neighbors do not seem to enjoy seeing a fox quite so much as I do. They usually get their glimpses of him at night, after being awakened by the squawking of the hens, and often enough they see him leave the premises with one of their choicest broilers in his jaws.

The other day, a neighbor of mine declared his intention of going fox-hunting on the following morning, and invited me to go with him. I accepted the invitation, and next day I met him in his yard at daylight. He had a gun himself, and offered to loan me one, but I declined with thanks, as I do not keep chickens, and therefore have no personal quarrel with the foxes. Behind the barn, four foxhounds were chained, and we went round to loose them.

We were scarcely out of the yard when the two old dogs struck out into the wet fields with noses to the ground, and we could see only their backs and tails, as they shot from place to place through the grass. Presently we entered a piece of woodland, and in less than ten minutes we heard the deep "y w-yow" of one of the old hounds as he struck the trail of a fox.

A fox, cunning as he is, has certain habits which frequently favor the hunter. For instance, when running before the hounds he often has a regular route, perhaps some miles in length over which he leads the dogs over and over again. The hunter, seeing the dogs go by the first time, hot on Reynard's trail, can secrete himself near the path, knowing that there is a fair chance of getting the fox on his next round. To be sure, the crafty little creature is apt to vary his course more or less, but the experienced fox-hunter knows that there are certain points along the trail which are more likely to be visited than others, and of course he chooses one of these points for his "stand." This is just what my companion did. We saw the dogs go past below a ridge of high ground which overlooked a valley, and presently we were crouching behind the stump of a tree, waiting for the coming of the fox. Some 20 yards below us, a rock jutted out of the hillside, and my neighbor assured me that there was every probability that the enemy would come to that rock. He had already shot three foxes there from his present hiding place. The voices of the hounds sounded fainter and fainter, and finally died away in the distance, and the man with the gun said that it might be 20 minutes before we heard them again. At last we again heard the baying of the hounds, which had been almost round the hill, and which were now approaching us as fast as they could travel. I looked in the direction of the sound, and far away, in the field of light-colored, sunburnt grass, I caught a glimpse of red; it was a fox. It disappeared, and then I saw it again, coming straight in our direction. In its path there was a large tree-stump, and upon this it leaped, sat down and looked straight in our direction. I felt sure it did not see us, for neither of us had moved a muscle, and a fox, like many other wild animals, is comparatively indifferent to motionless objects. It did not seem the least uneasy, though it must have heard the dogs plainly enough. At last it turned its head towards them, for an instant, and in that instant my companion brought his gun to his shoulder. The little animal was too far away for him to risk a shot at it, but it would be nearer presently. It slipped down from the stump and passed along under the hill until it reached the rock, upon which it leaped to look back in the direction of the dogs. For one instant it stood, bright-eyed, alert and beautiful; then came a loud "bang," and it tumbled down the hillside, kicking, to rest at last against a tuft of goldenrod, a limp and ragged mass of fur.

Office of the Street Commissioner.

City of Plainfield, New Jersey.

To JOHN T. NICHOLS, or unknown owner of No. 801 to No. 807 West Fifth street, known as No. 500 and No. 502 Grant avenue.

Pursuant to the requirements of section 3 and 6 of the ordinance of the city of Plainfield, entitled "An Ordinance concerning the construction, maintenance and repair of sidewalks," approved April 10, 1899, amended by ordinance approved August 4, 1902.

You are hereby notified and required on or before January 10, 1905, to construct a sidewalk abutting on the premises owned by you, situate number 801 to number 807 West Fifth street, in the city of Plainfield, Union county, and state of New Jersey, which sidewalk shall be constructed of bluestone flagging, smooth and even, on the service and properly laid in one course under the direction of and on such lines as shall be given by the Street Commissioner; the flags shall not be less than four feet long transversely to the length of the street, not less than two feet wide lengthwise of said street, and not less than one and one-half inches thick in the thinnest part.

In default of compliance herewith, the Common Council are authorized by law to order the required work to be done and paid for, to make the amount of the expense and costs a lien upon the said abutting lands in front of which such work is done, to be collected in the manner provided by law and to bear interest at the same rate as other assessments; or payment may be enforced by action in any court of competent jurisdiction, as provided by the statute.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

corrupt that it will gladly enter into partnership with trusts to secure moneys for election purposes, we must forget the differences of the past and begin this day to build up wherever it may be needed a broad and effective organization. And we must by constant teaching, through the press and from the platform, apprise the people of the way the vicious tariff circle works.

"We must bring home to them at other than election times the fact that money contributed to the Republican party by the trusts is not only dishonest money, but it is given that the trusts may without hindrances take a much larger sum from the people.

"In the presence of a defeat that would take away all personal ambition, were it true that otherwise it possessed me, I do not hesitate to say that in my opinion the greatest moral question which now confronts us is:

"Shall the trusts and corporations be prevented from contributing money to control or to aid in controlling elections? Such service as I can render in that or any other direction will be gladly rendered. And I beg the co-operation as a fellow worker of every Democrat in the country."

Judge Parker said that his plans for the future were not definitely made, but that soon he would be in harness again. It is generally believed that he will engage in the practice of law in New York.

M'CUE TO BE HANGED.

Prisoner Affirmed His Innocence and Was Unmoved by Sentence.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 10.—Judge George Watts Morris of the Charlottesville corporation court sentenced J. Samuel McCue, former mayor of this city for three terms, to be hanged by the neck until he is dead on the 20th day of January next. Judge Morris disposed of five objections in their order.

Judge Morris then ordered McCue to arise and hear the sentence. The prisoner walked to the railing in front of the judge and stood with arms folded. He was very pale, but free from nervousness.

"Is there any reason why sentence should not be passed upon you?" asked Judge Morris.

"Yes," was the answer as the convicted man dropped his arms to his sides. "I am as innocent of this crime as any one in this courthouse, and I hope some day to have the opportunity to vindicate myself."

This statement was made in a voice scarcely audible throughout the room. It trembled with suppressed emotion, as if the accused was upon the verge of a tearful collapse. Again folding his arms, and with posture erect, his eyes cast down, he listened unmoved to the sentence.

Trouble In Cuban Senate.

HAVANA, Nov. 10.—The Nationalist senators refused to sit in the senate because only a majority quorum was present. They contend that the quorum matter was not settled by the supreme court's decision of Oct. 26, since the judges whose appointments were confirmed by a majority quorum of the senate had not participated in that decision.

HISTORIC BANQUET.

Lord Lansdowne Outlines England's Policy.

"THAT GREAT STATESMAN, JOHN HAY"

Britain Seeking All Peaceful Methods to Settle With Russia and Has Hopes of Intervention in Russo-Japanese Struggle.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Lord Lansdowne, in the absence of Premier Balfour at the historic lord mayor's banquet, held last night, made a strong plea for peace and arbitration on behalf of the British government. Lord Lansdowne pointed out to a large and rather unsympathetic audience that arbitration was the only way in which the North sea dispute with Russia could have been equitably settled and almost in the same breath drew a vivid picture of the horrors of the struggle now proceeding in the far east. Between the lines of every reference the foreign minister made to the Russo-Japanese war was an urgent plea, amounting almost to a demand, that it might be settled by arbitration. It was a carefully prepared statement made before what is considered the most representative gathering of leading men of Great Britain. As such it was generally interpreted as a bolder bid for intervention than has yet emanated from any neutral power. America was writ largely in this speech, for which Great Britain has been waiting for many days.

The foreign minister prefaced all his remarks by saying, "That great statesman, John Hay, recently remarked that war was the most futile and fallacious of human follies." Then came an impassioned review of the North sea affair. Although Lord Lansdowne was unable to announce the signing of the convention, he emphatically confirmed statements made in these dispatches—namely, that Great Britain had found "no difficulty in arriving at a solution in principle of the dispute" and that Russia has guaranteed the punishment of any other officers in addition to those already detached from Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron who might be proved to have been implicated.

By most of his hearers, who had their first opportunity of hearing the foreign office's views and who hitherto had based their ideas on Mr. Balfour's much criticised Southampton speech and belligerent editorial articles in the newspapers, Lord Lansdowne's utterances were regarded almost as a plea for Russia. A dead silence greeted him as after pointing out that the two governments in good faith believed in contradictory statements of facts he asked, "Could we have done better than get full apology and compensation and leave the question of facts to an international tribunal with a guarantee of punishment of any who may be found guilty?"

Lord Lansdowne in connection with the question of contraband seriously reminded the audience that Great Britain as the greatest naval power might some day be the greatest sufferer by a restriction of belligerent rights on the high seas.

After referring to the "widely prevalent desire" that arbitration might be resorted to in the case of the present war in the far east Lord Lansdowne added: "Mr. Choate walked into my room yesterday and asked if we would sign an arbitration treaty with the United States. Simultaneously I received from President Roosevelt, whom we all must congratulate, a message inviting us to participate in a second international peace conference at The Hague. It is needless to say that the invitation has not been refused, only we have reserved to ourselves the right to consider what subjects should be discussed. We hesitated not a moment in informing America that we were ready to participate and in wishing President Roosevelt godspeed in this undertaking. Arbitration," concluded Lord Lansdowne after a sympathetic reference to France's assistance in the North sea dispute, "has become the fashion."

Many Peace Treaties on the Way.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Baron Sternburg, the German ambassador, has called at the state department, and it is understood that he is prepared to proceed at once with the German peace treaty. The Italian and Swiss treaties are almost complete. It is known that a number of the countries of Central and South America stand ready to enter into similar arrangements with the United States.

Go Between at Aqueduct.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Go Between, on a heavy track, won the Stonybrook selling stake, one mile and a sixteenth, at Aqueduct. He was backed down from 3 to 1 to 8 to 5. Thistle Heather made the pace to well in the stretch, where Go Between and Lord Badge closed, and in a driving finish Go Between won by a nose from Lord Badge, with Thistle Heather third.

All Quiet at Mukden.

MUKDEN, Nov. 10.—All is quiet on both the Russian and the Japanese lines south of this place. Both armies continue the work of intrenching, and re-enforcements are rapidly arriving. The increasing cold makes the prospect of a winter campaign doubtful, as military movements now would be attended with great difficulty. Fuel and forage are both scarce and dear.

Cotton Oil Plant Destroyed.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 10.—The entire plant of the Southern Cotton Oil company at Forsyth, Ga., has been destroyed by fire. There is no clew to the origin of the fire.

A RECORD ELECTION

New York, Missouri and Illinois Results Great Features.

SOLID SOUTH IS BROKEN AT LAST.

Nebraska, Bryan's State, Gave Roosevelt and Fairbanks Seventy-five Thousand Plurality.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Perhaps the most astounding feature of the presidential election of 1904 is that Missouri, the one time cornerstone of the solid south, has been carried by Roosevelt. Second only in interest was the announcement that Illinois has gone Republican by the tremendous plurality of 240,000, a figure never before approached in an election in that state. Even Pennsylvania, with its unprecedented Republican plurality of 350,000, does not, comparatively speaking, exceed the high water mark of the Roosevelt tidal wave in the great state of the middle west.

Little Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia and Montana also furnished surprises by going Republican. The rosiest dream of the most optimistic Republican never comprehended such victories at every point of the national compass.

Nebraska went 75,000 for Roosevelt, and the state ticket also made a clean sweep. Mickey (Rep.) has a good plurality for governor. Bryan failed signally to carry the legislature for fusion, which kills his ambition to go to the United States senate. Every congressional district went Republican also.

Congressional results are: Republicans, 241; Democrats, 140; to come, 5.

The electoral vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks now stands 343 and for Parker and Davis 133.

Late returns show that the electoral vote stands as follows:

FOR ROOSEVELT.

California	10	New Hampshire	4
Colorado	5	New York	39
Connecticut	7	New Jersey	12
Delaware	3	North Dakota	4
Idaho	3	Ohio	23
Illinois	27	Oregon	4
Indiana	15	Pennsylvania	34
Iowa	13	Rhode Island	4
Kansas	10	South Dakota	4
Maine	6	Utah	3
Maryland	6	Vermont	4
Massachusetts	16	Washington	5
Michigan	14	West Virginia	7
Minnesota	11	Wisconsin	13
Montana	3	Wyoming	3
Missouri	18
Nebraska	8	Total	343
Nevada	3

FOR PARKER.

Alabama	11	North Carolina	12
Arkansas	9	South Carolina	9
Florida	5	Tennessee	12
Georgia	13	Texas	18
Kentucky	13	Virginia	12
Louisiana	9
Mississippi	10	Total	133

New York state gives the ticket headed by Roosevelt a plurality of over 165,000, while Parker carries Greater New York by only about 38,000. New Jersey and Connecticut roll up the biggest pluralities for Roosevelt ever given to any candidate in these two states. West Virginia, Indiana, Indianapolis and Montana, all classed as doubtful not only by the Democrats, but by most Republicans, recorded Republican pluralities of large figures.

In the next congress the Republican majority will be larger than it is now.

The New York legislature is still Republican on joint ballot and separate ballot by large majorities, insuring the election of a Republican to succeed United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew. The result in New York city represents a greater shock and disappointment to the Democrats than any other feature of the sort, excepting the defection of Maryland and Missouri. The Democratic vote here shows a tremendous falling off from that given Coler two years ago.

Defeat of Governor Bates.

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The defeat of Governor John L. Bates for a third term by William L. Douglas, the Democratic candidate, and the tremendous vote cast throughout the state were the noteworthy features of the election in Massachusetts. Mr. Douglas will be the first Democratic governor elected since the late William E. Russell's victory in 1892. With some returns to come the vote for president is as follows: Roosevelt, 254,539; Parker, 168,271; total, 425,885; Roosevelt's plurality, 86,268. The vote for governor, with the same places missing, is as follows: Douglas, 234,308; Bates, 198,592; total, 434,455; Douglas' plurality, 35,716.

La Follette Wins In Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 10.—Returns are still incomplete except for the city and county of Milwaukee. Those received indicate that Roosevelt has carried Wisconsin by a plurality of at least 65,000 and which may reach a higher figure, while La Follette is elected by 30,000. The next legislature will probably be Republican, but the members will be so divided between the La Follette and Stalwart factions that a deadlock is likely to result when the time comes for choosing a United States senator to succeed Joseph V. Quarles.

Ohio Broke All Records.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 10.—Latest returns from Ohio indicate that Roosevelt has broken all the records of Buckeye politics by carrying the state by 200,000 plurality. Senator Dick, state chairman, asserts that it may exceed this figure, and Democratic State Chairman Garber admits that the plurality for the Republicans will be near the 200,000 mark. The vote was the largest ever recorded in this state, and the Republican gains were general, districts that were never known to go Republican deserting the Democratic ranks.

BRYAN ON THE ELECTIONS.

Nebraskan Says "Unfavorable Conditions and Mistaken Party Policy."

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 10.—William J. Bryan last night gave out an extended statement concerning the election, which is intended to serve as his comment on the result and as an answer to reports connecting him with a movement looking to the formation of a new party. Mr. Bryan said he would not attempt to deny all the reports circulated as to his future political action, but would let his statement serve to explain his position. He says:

"The Democratic party has met with an overwhelming defeat in the national election. As yet the returns are not sufficiently complete to permit analysis, as it is impossible to say whether the result is due to an actual increase in the number of Republican voters or to a falling off in the Democratic vote. This phase of the subject will be dealt with when the returns are all in. The questions for consideration at this time are what lesson does the election teach and what of the future? The defeat of Judge Parker should not be considered a personal one. He did as well as he could under the circumstances. He was the victim of unfavorable conditions and of a mistaken party policy."

NEW JERSEY.

Roosevelt's Plurality Put at 60,000 In the Garden State.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 10.—Late returns from New Jersey show that the plurality in the state reaches 60,000, and Edward Casper Stokes, the Republican candidate for governor, has defeated Black (Dem.) by at least 40,000.

The defeat of Hughes (Dem.) for congress in the Sixth district, and Benny (Dem.) in the Ninth district, will make the representation in congress from this state nine Republicans and one Democrat, Allan L. McDermott being the only Democratic member returned to the lower branch of the national house.

The next legislature will be Republican in both branches. The two houses will next winter elect a United States senator to succeed John Kean, who, it is conceded, will be re-elected. The state senators elect will vote in 1907 for a successor to United States Senator John F. Dryden.

Indiana For Roosevelt.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 19.—The Republicans of Indiana, besides sweeping the state and national tickets by overwhelming majorities, have gained two new members in congress and have increased their majority in the legislature. John C. Chaney (Rep.) defeated Congressman Miers in the Second district, and Newton W. Gilbert (Rep.) goes to congress from the Twelfth district with a plurality of about 6,000. Every county north of the Wabash river is in the Republican column.

W. R. Hearst's Statement.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—W. R. Hearst issued the following statement last night with regard to the report that steps were being taken to organize a new party: "I have no knowledge of any meeting between Mr. Watson, Mr. Bryan and myself. I think the Democratic party will reorganize itself on a basis of true Democracy, eliminating the Wall street influence, that proved so disastrous in this campaign, and I as a loyal Democrat will be very happy to see that done."

Maryland Republican.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10.—Baltimore city has gone Democratic by a very small plurality, while the state has gone Republican by 1,579 plurality. Two Democratic congressmen were elected, John Gill from Baltimore city and J. F. Talbott, the present incumbent from the Second district. The four Republicans who are probably re-elected are Mudd, Wachter, Pearre and Jackson, the latter by a small majority.

Missouri In the Landslide.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10.—It was practically conceded that Missouri had succumbed to the Roosevelt landslide, but that one Democrat has remained standing, he being Joseph W. Folk for governor. However, even in the face of inpouring returns showing a Democratic slump throughout the state, the Democrats insist that the true results cannot be known until the returns have been completed.

Kaiser's Latin Greeting.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Roosevelt has received the following cablegram from Emperor William: "Sincerest congratulations. May heaven give you prosperity. Tuum quod bonum felix faustumque sit populo Americano." A free translation of the Latin in the above is as follows: "May your good fortune mean happiness and prosperity for the American people."

Prohibitionists Well Satisfied.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—"Prohibitionists are well satisfied," said Oliver W. Stewart, national chairman of the party. "Returns received at national headquarters here indicate that Dr. Swallow, our presidential candidate, polled at least 300,000 votes, and the possibilities are that the final count will carry the number considerably beyond these figures."

Complete Returns In Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—Complete returns have been received from less than one-half the counties in Pennsylvania. These show the remarkable increase in Roosevelt's plurality over the estimated returns of more than 25,000 votes. If the present ratio continues President Roosevelt's plurality in this state will exceed nearly 450,000.

ILLINOIS.

Roosevelt and Fairbanks by 240,000 Plurality.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Fairly complete returns as to Chicago and good returns as to the rest of Illinois indicate that Roosevelt and Fairbanks have carried Illinois by about 240,000 plurality over Parker and Davis. The entire Republican state ticket is elected by overwhelming pluralities. Republicans elected certainly twenty-one and possibly twenty-three of the twenty-five congressmen. The next state senate will stand thirty-nine Republicans to twelve Democrats. There will be ninety Republicans, sixty-one independent Democrats, one Socialist and one Prohibitionist in the house in the next general assembly, according to incomplete returns.

ATTEMPT TO DEPORT RECORDER.

Sheriff Stopped Outrage and Arrested Perpetrators.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Nov. 10.—Sheriff Edward Bell frustrated an attempted deportation of Frank P. Mannix, county clerk and recorder, a Democrat, here. Mannix had been marched a mile and a half from town by three men when the party were overtaken by the sheriff and a posse. Mannix was released, and William Carruthers, Carl Evans and E. E. Cornelison were arrested on a charge of kidnaping. They furnished bonds of $500 each.

Carruthers is the general freight agent of the Cripple Creek Central railroad and for several years was deputy under County Recorder Mannix. The other two men arrested are miners. Their friends say that the affair was intended to be a joke, but Democrats allege that a plot had been hatched to get Mannix out of the way and tamper with the ballots which are in his custody.

A Place For Canadian Leader.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 10.—Colonel Samuel Hughes, Conservative member of parliament for the north riding of Victoria, Ont., has informed R. L. Borden, leader of the party in Canada, who was defeated in Halifax in the recent elections, that he is willing to resign his seat and allow Mr. Borden to represent the Ontario constituency. If Borden accepts the offer it seems likely that he will be at the head of the Conservatives in the next parliament.

Miners Entitled to Increased Pay.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 10.—Commissioner Charles P. Neall, statistician of the anthracite strike commission, gave notice that the anthracite mine workers are entitled to an increase of 7 per cent on the rates fixed by the award for the month of October. This is 2 per cent higher than the sliding scale for September and is based on the selling price of $4.85 for coal at tidewater in October.

Additions to Navy Recommended.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Three battleships, five scout cruisers, six torpedo boat destroyers, six torpedo boats and two squadron colliers, at an aggregate maximum cost of $41,300,000, is the building programme which the general board of the navy has recommended the secretary of the navy to urge congress to authorize at its next session.

Warrensburg Man Killed.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Albert H. Alden, a direct descendant of John Alden of Plymouth colony fame, has been killed at his home at Warrensburg. He was driving a team of spirited horses hitched to a coal wagon The front axle broke, and the horses ran away, with fatal results.

Killed While Saving His Wife.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Nov. 10.—While Edward Simmons and his wife of Rotterdam Junction were walking across the Boston and Maine bridge over the Mohawk river they were run down by a freight train. Simmons pushed his wife off the track, but was himself ground to pieces.

Favorite Charawind at Latonia.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 10.—Charawind, the favorite, captured the steeplechase from Thorn Hedge in a close finish in the feature of a good card at Latonia. Thorn Hedge led all the way, Charawind just getting up in time to land first money, although he was going away at the finish.

Boy Killed In Wrestling Bout.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 10.—Edward Simonett, fourteen-year-old son of John Simonett, Vailsburg, is dying of concussion of the brain and spinal meningitis as the result of a wrestling and boxing bout with Leo Goodrich of Irvington in play here.

British Steel Men at Schenectady.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Over seventy-five members of the Iron and Steel Institute of England visited the local works of the General Electric company. Andrew Carnegie sent regrets.

IN AN OPEN LETTER

Parker Addresses "Democracy of the Nation."

JUDGE SCORES "TARIFF FED TRUSTS"

Defeated Candidate Says "Before Long People Will Realize That Illegal Combinations Absorb Nation's Wealth."

ESOPUS, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Judge Parker last night gave to the press an open letter addressed "To the Democracy of the Nation," in which he thanked those in charge of his campaign work and declared that the people will soon realize that "the tariff fed trusts are absorbing the wealth of the nation." He said that when that time comes the people will turn to the Democratic party for relief.

In conclusion the judge says that in the presence of defeat he does not hesitate to say that in his opinion the great moral question that confronts the Democrats is "Shall the trusts and corporations be prevented from contributing money to control or to aid in controlling elections?" The letter follows:

"To the Democracy of the Nation:

"Our thanks are due to the members of the national committee and to the executive committee in charge of the campaign for most unselfish, capable and brilliant party service. All that it was possible for men to do they did, but our difficulty was beyond the reach of party managers.

"I am most grateful to them and wish in this general way to extend my thanks to the workers as well as the rank and file all over the country. I know how hard they struggled against overwhelming odds, and I only wish I could take each one by the hand and thank him.

"Deeply as I regretted leaving the bench at the time of it, in the presence of overwhelming defeat I do not lament it. I thought it was my duty. In the light of my present information I am now even more confident that I did right. I shall never seek a nomination for public office, but I shall to the best of my ability serve the party that has honored me and through the party serve my country.

"The party has in the near future a great mission. Before long the people will realize that the tariff fed trusts and illegal combinations are absorbing the wealth of the nation. Then they will wish to throw off these leeches, but the Republican party will not aid them to do it, for its leaders appreciate too well the uses to which the moneys of the trusts can be put in political campaigns.

"When that time comes, and come it will, the people will turn to the Democratic party for relief, and the party should be ready—ready with an organization of patriotic citizens covering every election district who are willing to work for the love of the cause, an organization supported by as many town, city, county and state officers as we are able to elect in the meantime. We entered this canvass with every northern, western and eastern state save one in Republican control.

"This gave to that party a large army of officeholders reaching into every hamlet, many of whom gladly followed the examples set for them by the members of the president's cabinet in devoting their time and services to the party.

"To accomplish much in this direction, however, we must forget the difficulties of the past. If any one suspects his neighbor of treachery, let him not hint of his suspicion. If he knows he has deserted us, let him not tell it. Our forces have been weakened by divisions. We have quarreled at times over nonessentials. If we would help the people, if we would furnish an organization through which they may be relieved of a party that has grown so

CRIME NOT TO HELP WHEN WITHIN YOUR POWER

Always at a change of season there are many articles of clothing to be discarded, and if sent to the rooms of the Plainfield Relief Association they are put to good use. The garments are repaired and patched, and if too far gone, cut down for the children. Just now there is a particularly urgent request for clothing of all kinds for children, which should be sent as soon as possible. These are kept for the children of the beneficiaries and are not put on sale.

The public is asked to remember that the usual Thanksgiving donations will soon be needed. Poultry, groceries, provisions or money should be sent to the rooms, 544 West Front street, not later than Wednesday noon, November 23. A generous response is desired —Adv.

DECLARATION IS UNFADED.

Original Draft of Jefferson's Manifesto of Independence Yet Perfectly Legible.

Although the official copy of the Declaration of Independence was recently deposited in a steel safe, to prevent it fading away completely, Jefferson's original draft of that great manifesto may still be seen in the library of the state department in Washington. The ink on this paper seems peculiarly strong, states Youth's Companion.

The erasures and interlineations testify to the care with which Jefferson worked out the eloquent sentences. Wherever a change was made by either of his principal collaborators—Benjamin Franklin and John Adams—he took pains to note it by inserting in the margin: "Dr. Franklin's handwriting," or "Mr. Adams' handwriting," in order that the exact limits of his own authorship might never be disputed.

This is one of the papers of the old congress of the confederation. It was put into the custody of the state department when that executive branch was organized. Some visitors doubted that this famous paper was really in Jefferson's handwriting. To satisfy them the department officers had framed by its side, from their Jefferson papers, the slip on which he wrote out directions for his burial.

Aside from furnishing evidence of the genuineness of the handwriting, these directions are appropriate there, because they give Jefferson's own estimate of the importance of the Declaration. He described the simple monument which was to stand over his remains, and then wrote for it this inscription, specifying that it should contain "not a word more:"

> Here was buried Thomas Jefferson
> Author of the Declaration of American Independence,
> Of the statute of Virginia for religious freedom, > and father of the University of Virginia.

Jefferson's first title to fame remains preeminent. Few documents were ever penned which had so great an effect on history. The principles of freedom which it contains have not faded from the minds of men, even though the ink Jefferson used has begun to lose its brilliance. He lived long enough to know that the world agreed with his estimate of the immortal declaration, for he did not die till July 4, 1826, the fiftieth anniversary of its adoption.

OLD COLLEGE CLASSES.

Plans Formed in the Fullness of Youthful Ambition Have Not All Been Worked Out.

It was graduated half a century ago—in prehistoric time, so it seems to the class of the current year. But in 1854 a group of young men stood on the threshold, looking out into the unknown. This month they are old men—those who have survived—and instead of looking forward their eyes are on the past, wistfully, maybe, and now and then dimmed with tears, says Youth's Companion.

The dreams of their youth, where are they now? The young lawyer was going to end his days on the supreme court bench, but somehow things were ordered differently. The young preacher hoped by his eloquence to sway multitudes in the city, but he has kept only a handful in the country true to their heavenly vision. The physician planned to manage a hospital, but it has turned out that its wards have been a countryside.

On the other hand, the youth who was going back to the farm, who was regarded by his classmates as a humdrum fellow destined to live and die obscure, is now a conspicuous leader in congress.

There is probably not one in all that class whose life has been ordered even approximately as he had dreamed. This does not mean that the men have not succeeded. Some of them have succeeded far more abundantly than they expected, but in a different way. What a man of 70 regards as success is usually a more gentle and human and kindly thing than that which youth calls by that name.

The class of 1904 will doubtless have a history similar to that of its half-century-old predecessor. It may not be unprofitable for its members to think, a moment or two at least, of the old men holding reunions this month, and strive to get some of the tolerance and charity that characterize those who have traveled so far on the road that leads from the college door.

Russian Public Houses.

A remarkable scene was witnessed a few years ago, when the czar of Russia ordered that the private manufacture of vodka (the national drink) should cease, and that the business should be taken over by the state and conducted on temperance lines. The new state monopoly was inaugurated in a remarkable way. Priests attended at all the drinking shops by official command, and conducted special services. The public houses were dedicated to God, and prayers offered that under the new regime drunkenness might be abolished and the spiritual welfare of the people improved.

Misinformed.

"They tell me," said the English tourist, "that you have female train robbers in this bloomin' country."

"Some one has been stringing you," replied the native American. "All the sleeping car porters are men."—Chicago Daily News.

Their Distress.

"His family felt very much distressed about his going on the stage, did they not?"

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "But not until after they had seen him act."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

According to the schedule the local football team will play only one more game, which, as all preceding games, will be played out of town. On Thanksgiving morning they will meet the Somerville football team on the Somerville grounds. The last game played between the two teams ended by the score of 0-0, but as that was the second game of the season for the locals they were not in good condition. They are in much better condition now and are confident that they will take this game, which if they succeed will make their first victory.

The Ithaca Conservatory of Music Concert Company will give an entertainment in the chapel of the Presbyterian church on Monday evening, November 21, at 8 p. m. There are to be soprano, contralto and violin solos and readings taken from books written by prominent authors.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. E. Maie Coriell were held from her late home on Washington avenue Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Interment was made at Bound Brook.

William Brokaw left yesterday for Glen Gardner, where he will spend a week hunting. Albert Giddes is taking charge of his pool room while he is absent.

Florence Coriel, who has been ill with typhoid fever for the past two weeks, is getting along nicely and will be around again in a few days.

Invitations for a dance to be given in Apgar's Hall on Thanksgiving Eve are out, and preparations for a good time are being made.

The Smith house on Dunellen avenue is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy in about a month.

The hunting season opened this morning and a great many of the local hunters spent the morning looking for rabbits.

Mrs. S. B. Opdyke, Jr., of Washington avenue, is spending this week in Philadelphia with relatives.

Harry Ising is detained at his home on Dunellen avenue by a slight illness.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Miss Blanche Mercein, of Grand street, entertained a number of her friends last night in honor of her birthday. Games and music together with congratulations and social chat passed away several pleasant hours for both hostess and guests. During the evening refreshments were served. Friends were present from Plainfield and the village.

The lovers of the National game of baseball in town are pleased to learn that George Allen, the old reliable backstop of the local ball team, is to have a chance next year to make good in fast company. As told in last night's Daily Press, George has signed with Manager Comiskey, of the Chicago team, for the coming season.

Funeral services of the late John L. Darby were held yesterday afternoon from the bereaved home at Alton. Many from town attended the services. The public school closed at noon so as to enable the teachers to attend the service.

Fanwood township must certainly be growing in population. This year's registry list called for 826 voters. 293 ballots were cast, making the largest number of votes ever cast in the township, it is said.

Yesterday was celebration day among the local admirers of the winning candidates. The Stars and Stripes were flung to the breeze from many of the Republican homes in town and borough.

The open season for rabbits starts today. Everyone who claims ownership to anything that can kill a "cotton tail" is out, taking advantage of the first day.

Summons has been issued in Justice Clark's court in the case of Pace-Tice, also the case of Fury-Tice. Both summons are returnable Tuesday, November 15.

Adam Gray, who has been visiting his brother, Joseph Gray, of Front street, has returned to his home in Kearney, N. J.

The Boys' Chautauqua Club held an interesting weekly meeting last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

The Suburban bowlers went to Somerville last night to bowl the Somerville team.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Water pipes are being installed into the local school building by the Middlesex Water Company.

Mrs. C. H. Brantingham and Mrs. David Blackford are visiting friends in New Brunswick.

Miss Edna Eckart and Miss Chrystal MacMurray visited Miss Mabelle Oubberley yesterday.

F. C. Lounsbury is building a poultry house on his farm here on Plainfield avenue.

Preparations are being made for an entertainment to be held in the hall.

Camp 41, P. O. S. of A., will hold its regular meeting tonight.

Mrs. A. R. Soper is visiting her daughter in New Market.

Supervisor Wilson visited the school yesterday.

STAR COURSE AFFAIR DELIGHTS AUDIENCE

MISS EDITH DAVIES RECEIVES MERITED APPLAUSE.

Commencing the season in a very creditable manner, the first of the Y. M. C. A. Star Course of entertainments was given Tuesday evening in the association auditorium. The affair was well attended and the artists were pleasing and their selections thoroughly enjoyable. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allan Price, and Miss Edith Davies rendered a well arranged and attractive programme in an irreproachable style. Mr. Price's impersonations and bass solos were particularly well enjoyed, while Miss Davies won much applause in three contralto solos. Mrs. Price acted as accompanist.

The following was the programme: Song—"Give a Man a Horse," Lewis, "A Border Ballad," Cowen, Henry Allan Price; contralto solo—"Oh that we two were Maying," Nevin, Miss Edith Davies; A Group of Readings—a. "A Fairy Tale," b. "Knee Deep in June," c. "Jane Jones," d. "When de Folks is Gawn," Mr. Price; contralto solo—Selected, Miss Davies; A Group of Impersonations—a. "The Obstructive Hat," a Cockney sketch, Anstey, b. "Dinkelspiel at the seashore," Hebart, c. "Declamation Day," Annon, Mr. Price; songs—"Young Richard," Old English, "Danny Deever," Damrosch, Mr. Price; contralto solo—"Love's Solace," Miss Davies; A Group of Readings—a. "Aunt Shaw's Pet Jud," b. "McCarty's Old Trombone," c. "Sh-h-h," d. "A Song of Sleeptime," Mr. Price.

Martine's Letter.

Mr. Martine, the defeated candidate, sent the following message to Mr. Fowler Election night:

Plainfield, Nov. 8,
Cedar Brook Farm.

Hon. Charles N. Fowler:

Accept congratulations on your triumph. I accept the fiat of the people, though I am frank to say that I conscientiously thought it would be otherwise. I am not aware of having committed a dishonorable act in the contest. I contended with all the earnestness of my nature relying upon the justice of our cause to win the battle.

Respectfully,
J. E. Martine.

Adv.

Jesse Lawson, of Washington, who came to his home here to vote on Election day, entered his youngest son in Rutgers College this fall. The young man was seventeen years old the day he entered the institution in New Brunswick. Mr. Lawson's oldest son is studying medicine in Howard University, and his daughter is a student at Oberlin College.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Nov. 13: "Our Partnership and Fellowship"—I Cor. xii, 28-31; xiii, 1-13.

By REV. WALTER J. YATES.

In partnership there is a common interest among the members to accomplish some particular work. Each one may have a different reason for desiring to have it done, and the temper of spirit in which they work may not be the same in any two of the workers. So long as there is a common aim some sort of partnership may be maintained, however diverse the motives and feelings of those associated.

Fellowship has less regard for the work to be done, but has to do with the personal relations of the workers. It is the feeling which the members have toward each other. It is the emotion of companionship. It is agreeable association of spirits with like motives and sentiments. Such fraternity may exist and grow stronger with the lapse of time and broadened experience among those whose ideas vary widely and whose work is little related.

The highest efficiency and supreme satisfaction are reached when there is a common end sought and all the workers have the same motive and kindred sentiments. Even in such case there will be great differences in the ability of the different persons associated together, in their tastes, views and adaptation. The artistic temperament will not be changed to the speculative nor to the mechanical by association with them, but each will find in the other a complement and balance to himself, supplying his lack and assisting to make a complete whole, which no one by himself is able to do.

"Now, we are workers together with God, and members in particular."

Our partnership is with God and each other in bringing in the kingdom of heaven. This is a definite work. Among the multitude of interests possible to men we have a specific aim. We are seeking one, and but one, end. All other pursuits must be merged in this or abandoned as unworthy or inconsistent. "Our citizenship is in heaven." We exercise the franchise now and here on earth, among men, in the affairs of today. This heaven is not a realm lost in the ages past by other men, in climes remote and under conditions widely variant, nor is it to be found in times to come merely, in the dim unknown future and new surroundings. The kingdom of God is among men, God's prophets now live and teach. The Divine Spirit inspires thought and fires the emotions as really as ever and anywhere.

In this section of Scripture selected for our lesson the apostle is pressing home this truth of fellowship in all partnership.

"There are diversities of gifts."

"Covet earnestly the best gifts."

"I show unto you the excellent way. Follow after charity and desire spiritual gifts, particularly that ye may prophesy."

"Covet to prophesy."

We are to be speakers for God, His heralds.

The spirit of unity in which we are held is not physical appetite, philosophical opinion, aesthetic emotion or commercial advantage, but Christian affection.

"Our fellowship is with the Father and with His Son, Jesus Christ."

"If we walk in the light, as He is in the light, we have fellowship one with another."

Showing Forth the Risen Life.

Your business is to trust the risen Lord with your secret hearts, to be believing in His perfect righteousness and by faith to be clothing yourselves with His nature. Your business is to be fighting, as your forefathers fought, against all the temptations to distrust, cowardice, baseness which are besetting you on every side. By simplest acts of daily obedience, by continual efforts to be true, to speak truth, to follow truth, you are to prove that Christ's word is speaking to you, speaking in you; you are to show forth His risen life.—F. D. Maurice.

Faith In God.

Of all the blessings which a merciful Redeemer has conferred on us in this world I cannot conceive any gift comparable to the possession of a strong and luminous belief in a divine revelation—faith in God and in Jesus Christ, an abiding faith in the verity of His gospel message and in the blessed promises of eternal life. I would not exchange a single article of the creed for all the treasures of the United States.—Cardinal Gibbons.

Whom but Thee?

From past regret and present faithfulness,
From the deep shadow of foreseen distress
And from the nameless weariness that grows
As life's long day seems wearing to its close—

Thou Life within my life, than self more near!
Thou veiled Providence infinitely clear!
From all illusive shows of sense I flee
To find my center and my rest in Thee.

Below all depths Thy saving mercy lies;
Through thickest glooms I see Thy light arise;
Above the highest heavens Thou art not found
More surely than within this earthly round.

Take part with me against these doubts that rise
And seek to throne Thee far in distant skies!
Take part with me against this self that dares
Assume the burden of these sins and cares!

How can I call Thee, who art always here?
How shall I praise Thee, who art still most dear?
What may I give Thee save that Thou hast given,
And whom but Thee have I in earth or heaven?

—Eliza Scudder.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 13.

Topic.—Our partnership and fellowship.—I Cor. xii, 28-31; xiii, 1-13.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

The Christian life has many great and precious advantages. One of the most precious of these is Christian fellowship in service and in feeling. In Christ all Christians are one. They are most intimately related, having God as their common Father and Christ as their elder Brother. The result, therefore, is that every Christian is joined to every other Christian. The glorious deeds of the past are our common heritage, and we have a part in the work of the Christian world today. We are colaborers with God, but also fellow workers, and should meet the obligations and duties of this relationship as well as enjoy its advantages and privileges.

Christians are partners. They are associated together in the work of the Lord. All Christians have a part in the Lord's work. "To every man his work" was the teaching of Christ. But, moreover, there is what we may call a division of labor. God has given different abilities to different people, that His work may be intelligently and systematically done. In the early church some were apostles, some prophets, etc. Had all been apostles the other phases of work would not have been done. The same principle holds good today. There are diversities of gifts and consequent diversities of labor, and, whether our gifts are exalted or humble, we should do our work faithfully, without pride and without envy, for thus only can all God's work be done in the world.

Christians have fellowship one with another. They are joined in heart as well as in hand. No sweeter fellowship exists in the world than that which exists among the people of God. The tie that binds Christians together is love, the best of all gifts.

Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love.
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

The importance of Christian fellowship is very great. The work of life is made easier to perform, its burdens easier to bear and its temptations easier to overcome if we enjoy close fellowship with the people of God. Therefore let us cultivate fellowship by developing the sentiment of love in our own hearts and in the hearts of others. Envy, jealousy, pride and ill feeling never result in fellowship. It is those who love one another that enjoy association and service together. If love predominate in a church, fellowship and sociability will exist, for people who love one another delight in each other's companionship, but without love successful partnership and true fellowship are impossible.

BIBLE READINGS.

Josh. i, 7; Matt. xviii, 19; Acts xxviii, 11-15; I Cor. xv, 58; Gal. i, 1-10; Phil. iv, 1-3; II Tim. i, 16-18; ii, 7-14.

A Call to Action.

This stirring word for the fall campaign has just been sent out by the president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor:

There are two definite ideals that every society may well set before itself:

First, larger numbers, more active members, more associate members, more honorary members, a Junior society in every church. These are all possible. There is not a society in the world that may not increase its membership from 10 to 300 per cent within a year.

Second, better members. Let quality go with quantity. They need never be separated. Never say "quality and not quantity," but "quality and quantity;" better prayer meetings, better committees, better service for the church, better union work.

Let us take for one of our mottoes this year, "Larger and better."

"Organize, vitalize, evangelize," have been the Christian Endeavor watchwords throughout the whole world during the past year. Let us add to them for the coming year, "Larger and better," "Larger and better societies," "Larger and better work for Christ and the church."

May God help us to use and not abuse the tremendous opportunities of the new church year. Your friend,

FRANCIS E. CLARK.

General Secretary Vogt's Questions.

What helpful ministries does your society undertake besides giving money and attending the church services?

Is every member asked to do some little regular labor because of his membership?

Are the young folks of the church that are not in the society working for the kingdom?

If so, why not have them affiliate with you on that basis?

Why not plan definitely to keep every young person in your parish at some little task or, better, some great task all next year?

It is the surest way to hold them.

It will develop a growing interest in religious things.

It will save them from dangerous periods of doubt.

It is the finest character culture exercise. The Master asks it and needs it. Yours for hard labor.—Von Ogden Vogt.

It Stands For Sacrifice.

Christian Endeavor stands for sacrifice and heroism. We sometimes sing, "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord," and we've been trying in our Endeavor work in India not only to sing the hymn, but to live the sentiment which it utters.—Rev. F. S. Hatch, Field Secretary For India.

In Egypt.

Egypt has five societies, and they are decidedly cosmopolitan. One of them has among its members Italians, Syrians, Armenians, Copts, Hindoos, Germans, English and Americans.

Translated From the Swiss.

Endeavorers should be ready not only to seize opportunities for service, but to create them.—L'Activite Chretienne. Swiss Endeavor Organ.

WOMEN GOLD SEEKERS.

They Have Been Successful In Pioneer Mining Camps.

For years after the discovery of gold in California there was scarcely a white woman to be found in a mining camp in the whole ore region. But with the first hint of gold finds in Alaska, even in the region of 70 below zero, women donned bloomers and trailed to the north along with strong men.

Arrived at the camps, some opened restaurants or lodging rooms. Others cooked for mining camps. Yet others, delicate women with white hands, became laundresses. These were temporary expedients while they made their pile, which was to come from the gold claims all secured. Some of them went to take care of and keep house for husbands, sons or brothers, meantime investing in those same mysterious "claims." Others, again, were stenographers and typewriters.

Some of the ladies had more or less capital to invest. Where they informed themselves and watched results, not allowing themselves to be swindled, they in many cases acquired fortunes.

MRS. HART.

Mrs. J. J. Healy, one of the early white women residents of Alaska territory, knew its chances as well as any man prospector, took them and conquered. She and a woman friend invested together, stood by each other and looked out for each other's interests, to the great advantage of both.

Even so inhospitable a coast as that of Cape Nome in the first stampede to its goldfields found woman, resolute, cheerful, dauntless, ready to snatch opportunity and make it her own. Not a few of these women became actual prospectors and learned to be experts in detecting ore indications. Compare all this with the womanless gold camps of California in 1850 and judge how both the times and women have changed.

Those who have seen the wonderfully interesting exhibit of Alaska at the St. Louis fair no doubt observed the considerable number of precious nuggets with the names of women attached, notably those of Mrs. King, Mrs. Mary E. Hart and Emma Steiner. The nuggets are from claims owned and operated by these ladies, two of whom, Mrs. Hart and Mrs. King, are in attendance at the St. Louis exposition and look after the Alaskan display there. Miss Steiner exhibits rare specimens of block tin. While prospecting for gold at Nome she and her employees discovered a quantity of the black sand which indicates tin ore. Thereafter, while retaining her gold properties, Emma Steiner became also largely interested in the mining of tin, a rare metal on the western continent.

Mrs. Hart sailed to Cape Nome as a newspaper correspondent, intending also to better her fortunes as she went along. She went from Los Angeles, but had come originally from Virginia, with all the southern woman's vivacity and pluck, saying nothing of the rare social grace that marks the truly sympathetic woman everywhere. She was educated, widely informed and interested as a child in everything on this planet. Such a combination of characteristics is rare.

Arrived in Alaska, Mrs. Hart found something more absorbing even than the aim of bettering her individual fortunes. That was Alaska itself, which to a soul possessed of heart and brain is today the most fascinating region in the western hemisphere. Instead of an ungracious land whence Mary Hart was to wrest gold to last her the rest of her life and get away from as quickly as possible, the lady found a country that, once known and developed, could furnish homes and abundance to millions of people. Its geology and its native races appealed to her as a student of science; its possible agricultural and stock raising development appealed to her as to all who desire the industrial well being of their kind. There were its fisheries to exploit, too, and its vast and varied mineral deposits had not even been scratched over.

The personal interests of the private individual, Mary E. Hart, became merged in those of the patriotic citizen who saw with prophetic vision Alaska as the future richest state of the American Union. Governor Brady appointed Mrs. Hart commissioner to display the resources of Alaska at the exposition. One of the things she did was to have the school children of the territory prepare a beautiful exhibit of its wild flowers, while women show an assortment of its canned fruits. Early next year Mrs. Hart will conduct a tourist excursion to the enchanted land.

CAROLINE ANDERSON.

The Man's Woman

Her Particular Method

"IT beats the dickens," remarked Miss Primly, "how some girls manage to have so many men around. Now, I am popular enough—ask any girl in our set—but I simply have to pull every wire I know in order to get enough men for my entertainments. Isn't that odd?"

"Not a bit of it," returned Miss Wise One. "You are simply not a man's woman; that is all."

"Man's woman! A man's woman! I hear that phrase all the time. What does it mean?"

"Not anything devilish, my dear, although I can see a look of virtuous aloofness in your eye. The man's woman is simply possessed of qualities not found in the average. Being broad minded, she takes what is known as 'the man's point of view,' and this delicate little attention so flatters man that he is ready to be good to her in a thousand little ways, besides enjoying her conversation because it is so different from most women's—so sensible!"

"The deceitful thing!"

"No more deceitful than you were the other day when you were trying to impress Mrs. Richly and you agreed with her on several statements which I happened to know were directly opposed to your point of view"—

"Well—er—I"—

"Oh, of course, I understand! But, to change a painful subject, tell me, when you do have a masculine caller, how do you entertain him?"

"Why, I usually take him right in with the family. That makes it so much more lively and pleasant."

"Yes, in some cases. And I suppose every one talks to him at once and your father regales him with bits out of the evening paper?"

"Well, sometimes I take him into the drawing room."

"Do you let him smoke?"

"In the drawing room!"

"Oh, I forgot! To be sure, you can't afford to scent the hangings. You may need them ten years from now! And how do you entertain him? Do you sing or play?"

SHE LETS HIM SMOKE.

"I only sing classical music, and most men somehow or other don't seem to have that refined taste."

"Um—well, my dear, if you intend to be a heartbreaker among the men you want to give up doing only what you are about. And what subjects of conversation do you introduce?"

"That's easier. I talk about the latest books and plays and golf and"—

"Oh, glory—the usual girl talk that he gets at every house! I suppose he departs promptly after three-quarters of an hour?"

"How did you guess?"

"My dear, I judged by my own feelings. I would if I were a man."

"Well, how does your precious man's woman manage to keep him?"

"In the first place, she thinks of him, of what he likes and how he feels. She tenderly places him in the best easy chair under the shadow of a rosy shaded lamp, which makes him feel cheerful right away and which is nine thousand times more becoming to her than all the overhead lights in the world. Next she settles herself in a nice fluffy attitude, and then she lets him smoke. Under the influence of a few puffs all the kinks melt out of his disposition. He tells her all about things he is interested in—how Billy Blank did this and Jack So-and-so did that. She nods and laughs at the right time until he is so pleased that he exclaims, 'By Jove, what a bully chum you are!' And from that to 'By Jove, what a bully wife you'd make!' is but a step."

But Miss Primly was busy with a pencil making notes as fast as she could.

"The next time a man called the family was cut out entirely; the big red lamp in the library worked overtime; a dish of bonbons stood beneath the lamp; a box of cigarettes was left there by accident. By and by coon songs floated out on the desecrated air which had never vibrated to anything less serious than Brahms and Chopin. In the rosy glow Miss Primly, fluffily attired, looked soulfully into the eyes of a man almost too comfortably ensconced in an easy chair.

Strange to say, within the year Miss Primly was married.

MAUD ROBINSON.

THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House" Etc.

"The regent, be sure, was angry enough at this cheapening of his own wares before all, and perhaps 'tis true he had a fancy for the woman. At any rate, 'tis said that this very morning he quarreled hotly with Mr. Law. The latter gave back words hot as he received, and so they had it violent enough. 'Tis stated on the Quinquempoix that another must take Mr. Law's place. But if Mr. Law goes, what will become of the system? And what would the system be without Mr. Law? And what would Paris be without the system? Why, listen, Lady Catharine! I gained 50,000 livres yesterday, and my coachman, the rascal, in some manner seems to have done quite as well for himself. I doubt not he will yet build a mansion of his own, and perhaps my husband may drive for him! These be strange days indeed. I only hope they may continue, in spite of what my husband says."

"And what says he?" asked Lady Catharine, her own voice sounding to her unfamiliar and far away.

"Why, that the city is mad, and that this soon must end—this Mississippi bubble, as my Lord Etair calls it at the embassy."

"You did not tell me, Lady Emily," said she, with a woman's feigned indifference, "what was the name of this poor woman of the other evening."

"Why, so I had forgot—and 'tis said that Mr. Law, after all, comported himself something of the gentleman. No one knows how far back the affair runs, nor how serious it was. And indeed I have seen no one who ever heard of the woman before."

"And the name?"

"'Twas said Mr. Law called her Mary Connynge."

The big fly, deep down in the crystal cage, buzzed on audibly; and to one who heard it, the drone of the lazy wings seemed like the roars of a thousand tempests.

CHAPTER XI.

MASTER AND MAN.

John Law, idle, preoccupied, sat gazing out at the busy scenes of the street before him. The room in which he found himself was one of a suite in that magnificent Hotel de Soisson, bought but recently of the Prince de Carignan for the sum of 1,400,000 livres, which had of late been chosen as the temple of Fortuna. The great gardens of this distinguished site were now filled with hundreds of tents and kiosks, which offered quarters for the wild mob of speculators which surged and swirled and fought throughout the narrow avenues, contending for the privilege of buying the latest issue of the priceless shares of the Company of the Indies.

The system was at its height. The bubble was blown to its last limit. The popular delirium had grown to its last possible degree.

From the window these mad mobs of infuriated human beings might have seemed so many little ants, running about as though their home had been destroyed above their heads. They hastened as though fleeing from the breath of some devouring flame. Surely the point of flame was there, at that focus of Paris, this focus of all Europe; and thrice refined was the quality of this heat, burning out the hearts of those distracted ones.

Law looked over this familiar scene, indifferent, calm, almost moody, his cheek against his hand, his elbow on his chair. "What was the call, Henri," asked he, at length, of the old Swiss who had, during these stormy times, been so long his faithful attendant. "What was the last quotation that you heard?"

"Your honor, there are no quotations," replied the attendant. "'Tis only as one is able to buy. The actions of the last issue, 300,000 in all, were swept away at a breath at 15,000 livres the share."

"Ninety times what their face demands," said Law, impassively.

"True, some 90 times," said the Swiss. "'Tis said that of this issue the regent has taken over one-third, or 100,000, himself. 'Tis this that makes the price of the other two-thirds run the higher, since 'tis all that the public has to buy."

"Lucky regent," said Law, sententiously. "Plenty would seem to have been his fortune!"

He grimly turned again to his study of the crowds which swarmed among the pavilions before his window. Outside his door he heard knockings and cries, and impatient footfalls, but neither he nor the impassive Swiss paid to these the least attention. It was to them an old experience.

"Your honor, the Prince de Conti is in the ante-chamber and would see you," at length ventured the attendant, after listening for some time with his ear at an aperture in the door."

"Let the Prince de Conti wait," said Law, "and a plague take him for a grasping miser! He has gained enough. Time was when I waited at his door."

"The Abbe Dubois—here is his message pushed beneath the door."

"My dearest enemy," replied Law, calmly. "The old rat may seek another burrow."

"The Duchesse de la Rochefoucauld."

"Ah, then, she hath overcome her husband's righteousness of resolution, and would beg a share or so? Let her wait. I find these duchesses the most tiresome animals in the world."

"The Madame de Tencin."

"I cannot see the Madame de Tencin."

"A score of dukes and foreign princes. My faith! master, we have never had so large a line of guests as come this morning." The stolid impassiveness of the Swiss seemed on the point of giving way.

"Let them wait," replied Law, evenly as before. "Not one of them would listen to me five years ago. Now I shall listen to them—shall listen to them knocking at my door, as I have knocked at theirs. To-day I am aweary, and not of mind to see any one. Let them wait."

At last there arose yet a greater tumult in the hall which led to the door. A squad of guardsmen pushed through the packed ranks with the cry: "For the king!" The regent of France stood at the closed door of the man who was still the real ruler of France.

"Open, open, in the name of the king!" cried one, as he beat loudly on the panels.

Law turned languidly toward the attendant. "Henri," said he, "tell them to be more quiet."

"My master, 'tis the regent!" expostulated the other, with somewhat of anxiety in his tones.

"Let him wait," replied Law, coolly. "I have waited for him."

"But, my master, they protest, they clamor—"

"Very well. Let them do so—but stay. If it is indeed the regent, I may as well meet him now and say that which is in my mind. Open the door."

The door swung open and there entered the form of Philippe of Orleans, preceded by his halberdiers and followed close by a rush of humanity which the guards and the Swiss together had much pains to force back into the anteroom.

"How, now, Monsieur L'as, how now?" fumed the regent, his heavy face glowing a dull red, his prominent eyes still more protruding, his forehead bent into a heavy frown. "You deny entrance to our person, who are next to the body of his majesty?"

"Did you have delay?" asked Law, sweetly. "'Twas unfortunate."

"'Twas execrable!"

"True. I myself find these crowds execrable."

"Nay, execrable to suffer this annoyance of delay!"

"Your grace's pardon," said Law, coolly. "You should have made an appointment a few days in advance."

"What! The regent of France need to arrange a day when he would see a servant!"

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Plainfield People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back,
The weariness, the tired feeling,
The pains and aches of kidney ills
Are serious—if neglected.

A Plainfield citizen shows you how to avoid them.

Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says: "I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid little attention to them. They, however, grew worse instead of better, so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

SHOT BY HER LOVER.

GIRL AND DYING MAN IN MAD RACE TO CHURCH.

Young Woman Desperately Tries to Save Her Assailant—Riddled by Bullets, She Drives to Far-Away City.

The Minneapolis (Minn.) correspondent of the Chicago American tells this touching story of a young woman's devotion. Driving, he says, madly against time and death, Katie Lubey, with the life blood streaming from three bullet wounds in her face, held the body of her dying sweetheart across her knees while she lashed the horse with swift strokes of the whip, and urged him faster and faster, that she might gain absolution for the man's crime from the priest, six miles away. She traveled over an unfamiliar country road at one o'clock Thursday morning, with the peaceful little community of Golden Valley sleeping behind her and the lights of the slumbering city of Minneapolis too far away to guide her.

The burning flame of religion in a girl, shot and grievously wounded by a rejected suitor, on a lonely country road, was such that, when the man turned the revolver upon himself and fell unconscious beside her, she snatched the reins from his almost lifeless fingers, and, moaning and sobbing with pain, she prayed to God for time and His guidance, that she might reach the priest and the doctors in the city that her sweetheart might have absolution and the kindly offices of a forgiving priest before he died.

The young girl, who is very beautiful, and the young man were both highly respected and belonged to prosperous farming folk near the village in which the two were born, and grew up together. They had been "going together" for five years, and were supposedly engaged.

Both were living in Minneapolis at the time of the attempt to end both their lives in the darkness and loneliness of the Golden Valley road.

Gaffney secured a position in another city, and went out to Golden Valley to bid his parents good-by. Arrived there, he found his sweetheart, and she accepted an invitation to ride back to town with him.

On the way, a declaration of his great love for her was made by the young man, who asked the girl to be his wife, and she refused him, because he was not yet able to support them both.

He drew a revolver and fired.

Three shots entered the cheek of the young girl, and a fourth pierced the temple of James Gaffney, and caused him to sink unconscious against the girl's shoulder.

With wondrous nerve and a heroic resolve, she reached for lines and whip, and, commanding the horse to his utmost speed, drove frantically on and on over the country road.

She knew not where she was going, except in a general way she knew where the city lay.

Her religous faith, firm and unswerving, told her to save her sweetheart's soul. Her former playmate must not die until the church's holy offices had given peace and forgiveness to his departing soul.

The girl was utterly unmindful of her own critical condition. She scarcely realized that the blood was pouring from her wounds and soaking her dress.

She was conscious only of one wild desire, and of a great dread.

When she reached the city limits she passed pedestrians, who turned to gaze in dismay at the panting horse, tearing by, and the voice of a girl form within the buggy sobbing and crying out inarticulately.

It was nearly three o'clock in the morning then, and but few people were on the streets, but those few stopped short, and then hastened after the buggy in an attempt to stop what they supposed was a runaway. But the girl eluded her pursuers, and, continuing the mad pace, she reached the parish house of the priest of the Immaculate Conception church, which both young people had attended when in town.

The girl, when help was at hand, sank unconscious on the doorstep, and as the policeman and priest carried her in the body of James Gaffney, with the life spark nearly extinct, was found in the buggy at the curb.

Death came that morning to the young man, and the girl, so wonderfully heroic under the most trying ordeal, lies at the city's hospital unconscious and her death expected. But she won her race.

MISS METTLER MARRIED.

Made the Wife of Wallace S. Bell, of Somerville, Last Evening.

Miss Annie R. Mettler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Mettler, of West Second street, and Wallace S. Bell, of Somerville, were married last evening at the bride's home in the presence of about seventy-five friends and relatives. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, officiated. Miss Bessie Reighton, of Plainfield, was bridemaid, and W. L. Purdy, also of this city, was best man.

The parlors were handsomely decorated in pink and white, while both the bride and the bridemaid wore white and carried white roses. Following the ceremony a pleasant reception was held, after which the bride and groom left for their wedding trip. When they return they will reside in Somerville, where the groom is in the employ of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company.

All seats are reserved and are now on sale at Hodge's pharmacy, Y. M. C. A. building.

Plant Destroyed by Fire.

The large plant of The Watson-Stillman Company at Aldene was completely destroyed by fire last night, and the machinery, as well as the tools of the three hundred men employed by the company, is a total loss. The fire occurred about 9 o'clock and it is believed to have started in the blacksmith shop and before the Elizabeth, Roselle and Cranford fire departments could arrive, the building was in ruins.

Had a Champagne "Jag."

John Hochford, of Westfield, and Frank Drake, of this city, had sentence suspended on them in the city court this morning, both having been arrested for drunkenness. Drake put up a novel plea to the effect that a friend took him out Election day and gave him champagne to drink. Not being used to it, a "jag" developed that clung to him over night and he started out yesterday only to fall by the wayside.

Another Exit.

Now that the great demands for Reform Hall are over the work of building a side entrance to the platform off of Central avenue will be started by William C. Smith. This will give an additional exit to the present method of leaving the hall by way of the basement or main entrance.

field reaffirmed her allegiance to Republican principles by giving rousing majorities for Roosevelt, Stokes and Wood, while the cut which resulted in reducing the majorities for county offices nearly 400 shows a deep-seated resentment on the part of intelligent Republicans against the unfair methods of those who control the county affairs. That such a cut was made in a presidential election when voters were chiefly intent upon National politics, is truly remarkable. The more so when it is considered that most voters were unfamiliar with the complicated voting machines, and that money was freely spent to obtain Democratic votes for the Republican county candidates to offset the cut. The people of the borough are awakening to the real object of the leaders of the 'Citizens Party' as will be more apparent in the future."

SETTLED THE HITCHERS.

Motorist Substitutes Seltzer Siphon for Whip with Eminently Satisfactory Results.

"If there is one thing that I miss more than another on the road it is a whip," said an enthusiastic automobilist, relates the Chicago Inter Ocean. "A whip, of course, is not included in our equipment, nor is it necessary, but as I was a horse lover before I took up with the automobile I am constantly reaching out for the whip and feeling a mild disappointment at not finding it. I don't miss the reins half so much, because my hands are occupied with the steering gear.

"Small boys used to cause me no end of trouble in this connection. They were forever stealing rides. Some one on the street would yell out: 'Whip behind!' and I would make a grab for the whip which wasn't there. Often this rattled me so that I would almost lose control of the machine.

"You wouldn't suppose that small boys would care to risk their lives hooking on to a motor car like mine, but they do. On the up grade we can't go very fast, and it is then that they have the chance. My machine is one of the long kind with a rear extension, and upon this extension the boys would climb. Once there, they were out of my reach, and safe from interference until we made a stop.

"But I am not bothered much by the youngsters any more, and I don't carry a whip, either. I simply have a bottle of seltzer handy, and a dash or two from this serves to keep them off. The first time I tried this scheme it worked so well that now I never go out for a spin without a seltzer bottle with me. I was making a steep grade, and when I was about half way up four or five youngsters came running out into the road and took possession of the tail end of my car. I didn't say a word, but just waited until they all got settled, and then I took up my seltzer bottle and let them have the full force of it right in their faces. A more surprised and scared lot of boys I never saw before. They tumbled pell mell into the road, and as they scrambled to their feet I heard one of them shout:

"'Run, fellers! She's busted!'"

THE SEED CARRIERS

WIND AND WATER DISTRIBUTE THEM OVER THE EARTH.

Nature Prepares Them for Their Journeys Over Land and Sea—Some Curious Examples of Plant Propagation.

There is something fairy-like and romantic in the method of seed dispersal typified by the rolling balls of thistledown, which are at once a distraction to the farmer and the delight of the country-lover whose pockets remain unaffected by the results of agriculture. It is impossible, too, to watch the sedate little parachutes of the goat's-beard and dandelion, the buzzing flying machines of the maple, or the aerial whirligigs of the lime, without experiencing a delighted admiration for these quaint contrivances which hurry the helpless seeds of lane and forest in a wild race across the countryside.

A large number of seeds, produced by plants belonging to many different orders, are wind borne by the aid of wings or feathery appendages derived from the different parts of the fruit and floral envelopes. Perhaps the most simple contrivance of the kind is the addition of a quantity of soft, fluffy or feathery material to the seed, making it sufficiently light to be blown readily by the wind upon, or just above the surface of the ground. A case in point is that of the cotton of commerce. The "bolls" produced by the plant look like masses of white wool amongst the leaves. These masses are divisible into a number of small "pinches;" in each is found a hard, brown seed to which the fibres of raw cotton are attached. Thus as soon as the cotton seeds ripen and become detached from the parent plant, each is extremely light and ready to be blown hither and thither by the wind, and to secure the widespread distribution of the species.

Many feathery seeds are of great beauty, but they are, perhaps, of less botanical interest than those which are supplied with definite contrivances for securing their support high in the air. The delicate parachute-like arrangement which carries the seed of the dandelion high over hedges and housetops is scarcely less wonderful than the enormous number of seeds produced by the plant. There is no need to ask how such seeds find their way from place to place.

But the wind is not the only element responsible for the distribution of seeds, for water is known to play a constant and important part in securing their removal from one locality to another. Firstly, this applies to aquatic plants, and a good instance is afforded by Nuphar luteum, the common yellow water lily. The seeds, when they escape from the capsule into the water, remain cohering in lumps, held together by a mass of sticky material which is gradually dissolved by the action of the water. The seeds are thus liberated singly as the mass floats. They are rendered buoyant owing to the air inclosed between the aril and the testa, and so continue to float in the water for a time. Ultimately, however, the aril, or outer coating of the seed, decays, and the seeds sink to germinate in the mud at the bottom. In view of these facts it is plain that a single plant of Nuphar growing in the upper reaches of a stream might, in a few years, stock the whole of the water below with yellow lilies.

PLUMED AND WIND CARRIED.

Seeds which are intended for dispersal by means of the sea are even more carefully packed than those which travel in fresh water. It is difficult to realize that certain kinds of seeds are capable of taking a long ocean voyage without the salt water penetrating to, or injuring, their vital parts. Yet this is what actually occurs; and from an examination of such ocean-borne seeds there is little room for doubt that they have been specially prepared by Nature for this strange method of world-wide distribution. There is, for instance, a plant known as Entada scandens—indigenous, apparently, to the tropical regions of both hemispheres—whose seeds turn up in all manner of unlikely corners of the globe, having been carried thither by winds and ocean currents. The old naturalist Linnæus found the seeds of this species germinating on the coast of Norway.

ADDITION TO SAFE PLANT

The Manganese Officials File Plans for Big Extension.

WILL DOUBLE ITS SIZE

Company Anticipates a Rush of Orders and Wants to be Prepared for Them.

Anticipating a big increase in business within a short time, officials of the Manganese Steel Safe Company today filed plans with Building Inspector Doane for an addition to its present plant that will almost double it in size. It will be built on the west side of the present machine shop, facing on South Second street, and will be 160 feet six inches long by fifty feet in width. In order to place it in this position, the present carpenter shop building will have to be moved to the extreme western part of the yards. This is now being done and the work of erection is to commence within a few days.

According to the plans the new addition is to be constructed of brick and iron, with a concrete foundation. It will be fitted up with all modern appliances for turning out heavy work and will be one of the most complete factory buildings of its kind. Part of it is to be used by the paint department which is now in need of room.

Since its entrance to the city, the Manganese Company has been compelled to enlarge the plant several times and the present contemplated addition will make it one of the largest factories in Plainfield. Although it experienced a slackness of orders during the summer they are now coming in rapidly and it is believed the present force will have to be increased. The company's exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition was awarded the gold medal over all competitors and this will undoubtedly have much to do with bringing new business.

MRS. WOODRUFF BURIED.

Services Held Yesterday From the Home of Her Son, William A. Woodruff.

Funeral services over the body of Mrs. Catherine D. Woodruff were held yesterday afternoon from the residence of her son, William A. Woodruff, of East Second street. They were in charge of Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, of which she was a member for many years, assisted by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, and were largely attended by relatives and friends. Two selections, "Abide With Me" and "Asleep in Jesus," were rendered by Mrs. Frank E. Woodruff and Elmer E. Runyon. The floral tributes were numerous and comprised several set pieces.

Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery at Westfield, those who acted as pall bearers being A. L. Cadmus, H. A. Pope, A. L. Force, A. V. Searing and John Burroughs, of this city, and Walter Stokes, of Philadelphia.

A Ten Days' Sale.

The proprietors of The Fair, 130 West Front street, have arranged with the New York Salvage Company to conduct a ten-days' sale at their store, commencing tomorrow morning at 8:30. L. S. Levin, president of the Salvage Company, will personally supervise this sale. The stock consists of ladies', misses' and children's clothing and furs of the very best make and style. The store is closed today to enable them to arrange the stock and get ready for the grand opening. Their advertisement on page eight of this issue will interest you if you want to make a dollar do the work of two.

Blue Lodge Anniversary.

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., will observe its eighty-seventh anniversary in Masonic Hall, tonight. The Grand Master of the State and other Grand Lodge officers will be present. There will be a musical programme, followed by a banquet. This lodge is working under its original charter granted November 11, 1817, at a session of the Grand Lodge held at Trenton.

Equal Suffragists to Meet.

The first meeting this season of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield will be held Monday afternoon, November 14, at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. David P. Hall, 910 Madison avenue. Delegates to the State convention will be chosen and the winter programme considered.

GOVERNOR-ELECT OF R. I. IS A PLAINFIELD MAN

GEORGE H. UTTER, THE SUCCESSFUL NOMINEE, A FORMER RESIDENT.

While Plainfield did not get the Congressman from the Fifth district, one of her former residents was elected governor of Rhode Island, Tuesday. He is George H. Utter, who, with his parents, resided on Somerset street some years ago. His father was editor of the Sabbath Recorder and was very prominent in the affairs of the Seventh-Day Baptist congregation.

The new governor was a classmate of Dr. Henry M. Maxson, city superintendent of schools, at Amherst and Williams, and is related to Mrs. Maxson. When he left Plainfield he first went to Brooklyn and from there proceeded to Rhode Island, where he has since been located.

MRS. DUMONT PRESIDENT OF NEEDLEWORK GUILD

ANNUAL MEETING OF PLAINFIELD BRANCH WELL ATTENDED.

An encouraging and largely attended meeting of the Plainfield Branch of the Needlework Guild of America, was held in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. J. B. Dumont was chosen president for another year and Mrs. C. E. Ryder, Mrs. S. D. Warren and Miss Florence Tweedy, vice presidents, and Mrs. J. E. Cerlies, secretary and treasurer. An entertainment committee consisting of Mrs. F. S. Martin, Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Miss Talmadge was appointed.

Mrs. C. E. Ryder gave a talk on the work of the American Guild in Philadelphia. After the transaction of the regular business there was an exhibition of the garments made by the members during the year. There is an increase of 150 over last year. These garments will be distributed among the various local charities, including Muhlenberg Hospital, Children's Home, Plainfield Relief Association, the chapels and other charities.

After the meeting there was a social time and tea was served. Miss Tweedy poured tea, assisted by other members.

IMPROVING SHOP.

Alterations to be Made at Endress' Market.

Fred Endress, the West Front street butcher, has contracted for extensive improvements to his market. The work will be started on Monday and will include the raising of the wooden awning two feet, the placing of a new plate glass in front and prism glass at the top, giving the most light.

A new floor will be laid in the market and on the left side of the entrance new fixtures will be installed, including three large plate mirrors with plenty of shelving and a long marble counter for smoked meats. This will extend a distance of sixteen feet and the office will be moved back to allow the change. The whole shop will be painted and generally renovated, making it up-to-date in every particular.

Date Set for Entertainment.

The date for the Plainfield High School Athletic Association benefit entertainment has been set for Wednesday, November 23. It has been decided to hold the affair in Franklin Hall, though it is not yet announced what will be the nature of the event. The committee in charge, consisting of Chester H. Briggs, chairman, Charles Titsworth and George Bentley, are considering the advisability of giving a miscellaneous entertainment, or one appropriate to Thanksgiving. As the latter has been so often attempted it is doubtful if it will meet with the approval of the committee. On the other hand there is much material in the schools from which a miscellaneous programme might be arranged, and as this is a novel and original idea, it has been considered with general favor.

Worked Arcanum Degree.

The initiatory team from Bayonne Council, Royal Arcanum, visited Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, last night, and conferred degrees on ten candidates. After the work of the evening the members adjourned to the banquet hall, where a repast prepared by W. W. Warnock was enjoyed.

NEAF APGAR ENTERED IN TARGET TOURNAMENT

PLAINFIELD GUN CLUB CONTEST SATURDAY, NOV. 19.

Entries continue to pour in for the fall target tournament of the Plainfield Gun Club, to be held at Holly's farm, Saturday, November 19, and the complete success of the affair is already assured. "Tee Kay" Keller, his son, Hazlewood Keller, Neaf Apgar and many other well-known shots are to be among the participants, while local amateurs will be present in large numbers.

There are to be ten events and the first on the programme will begin at 10:30 promptly. The professionals are to shoot at targets only and practice shooting will not be allowed after the first event is closed. Handsome prizes are to be offered, among them being a parlor lamp, sole leather suit case, leather shotgun case, Hartford bicycle tire, three boxes cigars, two handsome pipes, eight hundred shotgun shells and others. To both the professional and amateur making high average shooting entire programme $3 50 in gold will be awarded.

Has a Metropolitan Appearance.

Philip Jacques, press representative of the Manhattan theatre, who formerly resided on Duer street, North Plainfield, called at The Daily Press office today on business. Mr. Jacques incidentally remarked: "We consider The Daily Press the most Metropolitan looking paper published in the suburban district both in New York State and New Jersey, and we receive hundreds of exchanges at our office. It certainly is a good paper, and it pays us to run theatrical notices in it." Mr. Jacques is a son of Charles Jacques, the architect.

Y. M. C. A. Classes Graded.

Both the Leal's and the boys' department gymnasium classes at the Y. M. C. A. have been graded and in the future the work will be conducted under the direction of a class leader from the members of the department. The gymnastic work will be graded according to the ability of the boys, and as soon as they become qualified they will be advanced. The grading was conducted by Physical Director Henckle, assisted by Kenneth Robbie. The apparatus used in the grading work was the horse, parallels, low and high bar.

Death of C. R. Steele.

Charles Richy Steele, son of the Rev. James Nevett Steele, rector of Old Trinity church, New York, died suddenly November 8, at the New York Hospital, as the result of an operation. Funeral services were held at Trinity church, this morning. At the time of his death he was engaged to be married to Miss Bertha Spear, daughter of Medical Inspector John C. Spear, U. S. Navy, and Mrs. Spear. Mr. Steele was a brother of Mrs. Theodore Morris, of Myrtle avenue, and Mrs Leon Moran, of Grove street.

Publishes Dolliver's Collection.

"After-Dinner Stories" is the title of a collection of witty sayings and short tales by well known Americans recently issued by Will Rossiter's publishing house. The collection was made by Charles M. Dolliver, Esq., of this city, and required nearly ten years to accomplish. It includes the latest and best stories from Chauncey M. Depew, Mark Twain, Opie Read, John Sharp Williams, President Roosevelt, Senator Platt, Senator Dolliver and Senator Quay.

Brick Paving Pleases Officials.

Under the supervision of David Bowden, the work of paving Watchung avenue with vitrified brick has progressed rapidly and the east side will be opened to traffic in a day or so. City officials who have watched the job are greatly pleased with it and the impression prevails that other streets will be treated similarly within a short time as it means a saving to the tax payers in the long run.

Union C. E. Service.

There was a large attendance at the union Christian Endeavor Society service in Faith chapel last night. Rev. George Bowers made an address, after a song service conducted by C. W. Leek, and duets by Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood and an address of welcome by Rev. J. W. Musson, pastor of the chapel. The floral decorations were elaborate.

Grant Club Meeting.

The U. S. Grant Club will hold an important meeting tomorrow evening when all business in connection with the recent campaign will be cleared up. All members are asked to be present.

THAT $1,000 ORDINANCE

Councilman Tyler Likely to Bring It Up Tonight.

IT MAY BE PASSED

Protest Against Hyde's Dam in East End Also to be Heard Tonight.

Councilman W. S. Tyler, who recently introduced an amendment to the ordinance to license inns and taverns whereby the license fee is increased to $1,000 from $700, will undoubtedly call up the ordinance on third and final reading at the meeting of Common Council tonight. It is likely to be passed.

Another matter for consideration will be a report from the committee regarding the petition of residents in the East End who protested against the dam at Hyde's pond. While the contents of the report are not known, it is believed that some suggestions will be made to remedy the present trouble.

There will also be a report on the "spite house" matter, which was brought to the attention of the Common Council by Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, near whose property an objectionable structure has been erected. It is rumored that the committee will suggest a revision of that section of the building ordinance which refers to that particular type of building.

Collector of Taxes F. H. Smith, who, on Tuesday was elected to the new office of registrar of deeds of Union county, will present his resignation.

MRS. BOLLING LOSES IN SUIT FOR WAGES

CLAIMED PAY FOR A MONTH, BUT COURT DECIDED OTHERWISE.

Judgment in favor of Mrs. Rose Truell was made yesterday in Justice Hand's court in the suit brought against her by Mrs. Minnie Bolling, formerly in her employ as a servant.

Mrs. Bolling attended an excursion last summer against Mrs. Truell's wishes, being told that if she went she need not return. Enjoying the outing she remained away but claimed a full month's wages and began an action to get the amount. The court decided that she left voluntarily and was entitled to payment only for the time that she had worked.

William G. DeMesa represented the plaintiff and James P. Northrop appeared for Mrs. Truell.

Casino Manager's Statement.

I have noticed in your yesterday and other issues, card in advertising columns announcing concert to take place at the Casino on the 14th inst. That your readers and the public generally be not mislead, I beg to state that said concert will not be given at my house that night, or at any later date.

Mase Edwards, Manager.

Judgment Against Totten.

Judgment was rendered yesterday in favor of the plaintiff in the case of John E. Sills and Company against James E. Totten in the Supreme Court at Elizabeth. Harry C. Runyon, of this city, represented the plaintiff. The case was over a disputed note on a book account.

Colored School to Reopen.

The Colored Industrial School, of this city, will continue its regular sessions beginning tomorrow at 10:30. The cooking class will start Wednesday at 4 o'clock. The school will be conducted in the Grace church parish house, and will be open to all who desire to attend.

High Prices Delay Improvement.

Owing to the high price of materials, the cost exceeding the expectations, the consistory of Trinity Reformed church has decided not to build the addition to the rear of the church edifice for the use of the Sunday-school at present.

Boy Annoyers Fined.

For annoying Joseph Madiah, of Grove street, Charles Bimble, Albert Coddington, Edward Bremmer and Orrin Hall were each fined $3 in the borough police court last night.

Another Pupils' Recital.

Miss Mary Graves, of Liberty street will give a pupils' recital Wednesday evening, November 23, at 7:30 o'clock in the parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest.

NEW COUNTY OFFICIALS TAKE CHARGE WEDNESDAY

CALVERT AND SMITH TO ASSUME THEIR DUTIES.

The new county clerk and registrar of deeds and mortgages will take office Wednesday, November 16, if the County Board of Elections shall have completed its work and canvassed the vote by that time.

Last year there was some delay and several days were spent over one dispute and a recount of the vote. The county clerk acts under a commission issued by the governor, and his successor, James G. Calvert, and the registrar, Frank H. Smith, will receive their commissions and act under them.

Many of the returns from election districts have not yet been filed and possibly the County Board of Elections will not be able to complete its work before County Clerk Howard's commission expires.

It is said that in that event Mr. Howard would hold over for a few days, but some lawyers are of the opinion that the county would be without a clerk until the new commissions were issued to Calvert and Smith.

Social Events at Westfield.

The Westfield Golf Club has arranged for several events during the remainder of November and early December. On Saturday evening there will be an informal dance at the clubhouse, and on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 19, there will be a euchre for women. Another informal dance will be held on Saturday evening, Nov. 26, and on Saturday afternoon, December 3, another euchre will be given for the women. Members desiring to invite guests to the entertainments must apply to the committee for guest cards.

Casino Stage Being Enlarged.

Following the recent improvements made at the Casino, former Mayor Charles J. Fisk has decided upon an enlargement of the stage and the work is to be started at once. It will be extended back twenty feet, making it almost as commodious as those in regular theatres. The contract has already been given out and the addition will be ready for the many attractions which are to be given in the building during the season.

Acting-Pastor at 'Plains Church.

David Hand, chairman of the pulpit supply committee of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, says that the trustees have engaged Rev. P. Moore Smith, lately of Glasgow, Scotland, to take charge of the Sunday and week-day service until the trustees select a pastor and that they do not propose to engage anyone unless he is given a thorough investigation and answers the needs of the parish.

Transfer of Realty.

W. W. Cornell, formerly of West Front street, but late of Trenton, has purchased the VanFleet property corner of Duer street and Lincoln place, which is now occupied by Mrs. Dodge. It is Mr. Cornell's purpose to remove the barn from the place and make extensive improvements to the house, after which he will occupy it.

Wilcox Out on Bail.

Harold M. Wilcox, the Westfield man who shot and killed John Darling while playing Hallowe'en pranks, was released from the county jail yesterday under $10,000 bail. It is understood to have been furnished by the Aeolian Company, of which Wilcox is secretary.

Enlarging Cemetery.

The Hillside Cemetery Association has purchased twenty acres of land on the Northwest side of Woodland avenue between the DuFlon property and the cemetery and the tract will be added to the burial ground.

Manager of Hockey Team.

William Douglass, of the class of 1907, was elected manager of the Plainfield High School hockey team for the coming season, at a meeting of the board of directors this morning.

Informal Euchre Party.

The Misses McIntosh, of College place, gave an informal euchre party at their home yesterday afternoon in honor of their guest, Miss Cleaver, of Rutland, Vermont.

PAD AND PENCIL CLUB ISSUES INVITATIONS

"BIDS" TO ITS COUNTRY DANCE ARE DISTICTLY UNIQUE.

Having completed all arrangements, the Pad and Pencil Club yesterday issued invitations for its second reception and country dance which is to be held in I. O. O. F. Hall, Thanksgiving eve. The "bids" are exceptionally original and unique in the wording, being couched in a style savoring of the cornfield and haymow.

A grand march is to be held at 10 o'clock and the "gal or feller" garbed in the most outlandish attire are to be awarded a prize, the selections being made by Chief Kiely. Nearly all the city officials have promised to be in attendance and there will be many distinguished guests from throughout the county. A country fife and drum corps and a village quartette are to be present and entertain during the usual midnight intermission.

HAMILTON MABIE LECTURES ON "IDEALISM"

EDITOR OF THE OUTLOOK ADDRESSES AUDIENCE OF YOUNG MEN.

"Idealism," in its importance and relation to the present age and to former ages, was the subject of a talk at the meeting of the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue church last evening, given by Hamilton Mabie, editor of Outlook. It was an instructive and scholarly address in every way, and one from which much practical knowledge could be derived.

In beginning his lecture Mr. Mabie said that idealism was the most practical thing in the world. It is not a dream, he said, but the ability to see the crude things of life in their spiritual light. No great genius, the speaker said, who now stands out as the shining light of his age, had polished material to work from. He molded the raw, crude material, and by the application of his own genius, produced the poetry, or the art significant of the age.

To complain that the present age is not what it should be or that the same high degree of artistic, poetic, or commercial idealism exists as did some centuries ago, the speaker said is folly. The age is the same, and is at all times what men make it. He then referred to the commercial spirit which exists now, mentioning its effect upon the whole universe Mr. Mabie said, "It is commercial intercourse into which men have entered, which makes the old custom of war seem barbaric, and the more modern custom of arbitration approved by most of the great nations." As an example he referred to England's recent action with regard to Japan.

In conclusion, Mr. Mabie said that the possibilities in the present age for the advancement of commercial and social ideals are more than could be desired, and that no one can predict what the next twenty-five years will bring forth in the world of science.

Following the lecture a reception was held in the church parlors when the members of the club were introduced to Mr. Mabie.

Not Downcast by Defeat.

Defeat cannot wither nor landslides stale the perennial freshness of James E. Martine. The farmer orator cast a sweeping glance over the battleground this morning and summed up the cause of that which began in a foot race and ended in a rout, in these words:

"The people have not yet realized the robbery to which they are subjected by an iniquitous tariff.—Elizabeth Journal.

Queen City Lodge Active.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., is eclipsing nearly all local fraternal organizations in the social part of it meetings. A vocal quartette has been formed which gives new selections each Wednesday night, and the numerous instrumental contributions and recitations afford more than an hour's entertainment.

Death of An Infant.

Benjamin V., the one year and eight months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Perkins, of West Third street, died yesterday. The funeral will be held from the parents' residence Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Whitford, of West Sixth street, are the parents of a baby girl who came to their home a few days ago.

Word has been received announcing the safe arrival of Miss Katie Finn, who left a short time ago to spend the winter with her parents in Ireland.

BOY'S GREAT VITALITY

Lived Six Hours With Head Nearly Blown Off.

DIED IN HOSPITAL

Bridge of Old Gun Had Penetrated His Brain to a Depth of Four Inches.

After lingering six hours in an unconscious state, John Kreinhoff, the boy whose head was nearly blown off by the explosion of a gun at Lambert's Mills yesterday noon, died in Muhlenberg Hospital at 7 o'clock last night. Physicians in charge of the case marveled at his vitality as the force of the explosion was so great, it tore away the side of his face and the top of the head in a fearful manner. Ordinarily it would have caused instant death.

Kreinhoff, in company with several other young men, started off hunting yesterday, one of the party carrying a gun that had seen years of service and was regarded as a "kicker." The owner had charged it heavily with powder and shot and then became afraid to fire it off. He dared Kreinhoff to do it and without a bit of hesitancy he declared he would. When he pulled the trigger the weapon flew into a thousand pieces and Kreinhoff fell back wounded and bleeding.

The companions summoned assistance and word was telephoned to this city by Theodore Glaser for the ambulance. Dr. Pittis went with it but he saw at a glance that the victim was beyond all aid and he could do little more than bind up the wounds. When he attempted to remove the boy's cap when he first reached the scene, he found that it had been pinned to his head by the bridge of the gun. Going further to get this out he was greatly surprised to find that it had penetrated the brain nearly four inches, making it all the more remarkable that the boy should have lived so long.

Kreinhoff was just seventeen years old and resided with his parents on the Douglass Darby farm. There are two other small children in the family.

THE "COUNT" ANNOYED.

Wants to be Made a Deputy to Arrest Trespassing Hunters on His Grounds.

Angered by their trespassing upon his grounds and shooting his chickens and pigeons, "Count" VanNest appeared at police headquarters this morning and related a long tale of woe about hunters. He wanted Chief Kiely to make him a special deputy so that he might arrest the offenders and hale them to court.

"They not only blaze away at everything in my yard," said the Count, "but they get sassy when I tell them to begone, and if I touch one of them without authority I'm apt to get a good trouncing. Last year the rascals reduced my pigeon flock from forty four to five and it looks as if my Plymouth Rocks were to meet the same fate."

The chief promised to attend to the matter and the Count went away happy but not as a deputy.

To Apply for Recount.

There is every reason on the part of Rahway Republicans to believe that Dr. George E. Gallaway, who ran for Common Council in that city on the ticket in the Fourth ward, will be found to have been elected, if the votes cast in that ward are recounted. So strong is the belief that an application for a recount is to be made at once to the Supreme Court.

Sale Valuable Real Estate.

John P. Emmons and Robert Bellchambers, executors of the estate of Ellen Gill, deceased, will sell at public auction on Tuesday morning, Nov. 15, at 10 o'clock, valuable real estate located on West Fourth street, North Front street, South Second street and George street. P. H. Latourette will be the auctioneer. Terms made known on day of sale.

City Union's Semi-Annual.

The semi-annual meeting of the City Union, King's Daughters, will be held in the parlors of the First Baptist church Friday afternoon, Nov. 18, at 3:30. An address will be given by Mrs. Hugh F. Fox.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—George Bridge has resumed work at the Aluminum Press Works.

—E. Bridge, of the West End, has accepted a position in Newark.

—Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Charlotte Myers, daughter of Patrolman Myers, and Harry Louisaint, of this city.

—Miss Lena Kueller, of West Front street, who has been confined to her home for nearly two years, is now much improved and is able to be about again.

—Miss Lizzie Trimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Trimmer, of Hunter avenue, and John VanHorn, of Summit avenue, will be married Wednesday evening, November 23, at the home of the bride.

—The contract cases of Abram Swartz against William H. Sebring, and the Eastern Bottling Company against Abraham Roselle, and Leopold Millar against Alexander Lusardi are returnable at Justice Huff's court on November 14.

—Mrs. Frank Linke has purchased the property on West Second street near the alley, which has been vacant for some time, and has begun improvements on the houses and surrounding grounds with the intention of renting rooms.

—Frederick Huff represents six defendants in a foreclosure case in which the New Jersey Mutual Realty Company, the Prudential Realty Company and the Trenton Trust Company are concerned. The case is over a large tract of land which was originally owned by the New Jersey Realty Company, and subsequently sold to the Prudential Company. The mortgage of the property was assigned to Parker G. Hamill by the Trenton Trust Company. The tract of land has bene sold in separate lots, and Hamill has recently foreclosed the mortgage.

AMUSEMENTS.

Because of the unprecedented demand for seats for the great spectacular production of "Humpty Dumpy," which opens at the New Amsterdam Theatre next Monday evening, Klaw & Erlanger have decided to place tickets on sale for two months in advance, instead of one month, as originally planned. Seats may, therefore, be ordered by mail, accompanied by remittance, for any performance in the two months succeeding the opening, which will include the Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year holidays. The remarkably exacting rehearsals of the wonderfully large company of over 600 people, which have been going on during the past two months, now augmented by a complete performance of the entire piece every day, insures a very perfect presentation next Monday evening. The company was rehearsed in sections—comedy, pantomimic, chorus, ballet and acrobatic—until last week, when ensemble rehearsals were begun. It is doubtful if any attraction ever presented in this country was as thoroughly prepared for its first presentation as this. The work that has been done for it is like the piece itself—prodigious. A success commensurate with the magnitude of the enterprise is predicted for it, for it will be found, beyond doubt, the greatest theatrical production ever made in America.

ORANGE FIELD CLUB ACTIVE ORGANIZATION

MAY LOCATE IN THE BABCOCK BUILDING SHORTLY.

Having increased its membership nearly double since its organization several years ago, the Orange Field Club is considering the subject of permanently located rooms, and will meet for discussion tomorrow evening at the home of George McVey, of East Front street. The membership of the club is now quite extensive, including several out-of-town young men, and it has been represented in various sports during the last two years.

Up to a few months ago the club had rooms on West Front street over a small store, but recently it has been meeting at the homes of various members, having no permanent club rooms. There is much enthusiasm among the members of the O. F. C. over the proposed plan of establishing headquarters, and the subject will meet with the approval of all at the meeting tomorrow evening. The question to be decided will be as to the locality for the club rooms. The committee has under consideration at present the rooms in the Babcock building recently occupied as the Republican headquarters. These rooms suit the needs of the club perfectly, and if it is possible they will be secured. As the discussion of this subject concerns the entire club it is desired that as many of the members as possible attend the meeting tomorrow evening.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Recent additions to the force in the Potter shop include William Taylor, James Penny and George Zeiss. All departments in this plant are now picking up.

William Waglow, of North avenue, has resigned his position with the Manganese Steel Safe Company in order to take one with the Aluminum Works at West Dunellen.

Neil O'Loughlin, a former employe of the Scott and Aluminum shops, is now in Paris, erecting presses for an English concern. Local friends have been receiving souvenir postal cards from his during the past week.

The burning of the Watson-Stillman Company's plant at Aldene, Wednesday night, threw twenty or more Plainfield men out of employment. The concern made hydraulic machinery and has been one of the busiest shops in the county during the recent dull period.

A Plainfielder who recently went to England writes back that the machinist trade in that country is duller at present than it has been in many years. He asserts that thousands of skilled mechanics are out of employment and that there is no immediate prospect of a betterment of affairs.

Among the many Plainfielders pleased at the election of Frank H. Smith as county registrar of deeds, are the men at the Potter plant, where he was employed many years. He has been referred to as a "Potter's boy" because he entered the office when he first left school and grew to manhood in the position.

PERSONAL.

Miss Lulu Randolph, of West Eighth street, has returned from a visit with out of town friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Coddington, formerly of this city, but now of Newark, have been visiting here.

Mrs. John Bennett, of Norwood avenue, has been visiting Mrs. Bridge and daughter, of West Fourth street.

Mrs. P. Frank Stone, of West Front street, who was recently operated upon at Muhlenberg Hospital for appendicitis, is steadily improving.

Mrs. E. Bridge and son, Mr. and Mrs. A. Scheelden, Mr. and Mrs. George Bridge, of Sandford House, West Fourth street, spent Election Day with relatives in Newark.

Miss Dolly Bolsterli, of Watchung avenue, who recently sustained injuries while returning to her home, and who has been at the hospital under treatment, has returned home.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness.
Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.
Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail.

A MANIAC MURDERER

Cumminsville Mystery Solved by a Strong Blow.

BROTHER SAVED LILLIE RODEFIELD

Killing of Louise Mueller, Alma Steingawey and May Macdonald Work of Degenerate, Now In Hospital.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 11.—An apparently demented man, now lying in a serious condition in the City hospital with a fractured skull, is believed by the police to be the murderer of Louise Mueller, Alma Steingawey and May Macdonald. He was not arrested by the police, during whose frantic investigations the Cumminsville atrocities have been committed uninterruptedly, but was taken single handed by a young man as the result of the tenth Cumminsville assault within six weeks.

On her way to work early in the morning Lillie Rodefield was passing Spring Grove cemetery, the scene of Alma Steingawey's murder, followed at some distance by her brother. Suddenly a man jumped out at her from the cemetery, seized her and started to drag her into the very lot where Miss Steingawey's body was found. Young Rodefield rushed up and settled the scores of three families with a single blow. He took the maniac behind the ear and fractured his skull, knocking him unconscious. The police managed to reach the spot in time to take him to the hospital. They were unable to get him to say anything, but if he recovers they may learn something from him. The hospital authorities would not let them use on the patient the "third degree," which they have inflicted on two wholly innocent suspects.

Miss Rodefield was uninjured, but is suffering slightly from shock.

The ninth assault was on Marie Miller, near the door of her home in Cumminsville on her return from an errand. Before her assailant got his customary strangle hold she had screamed several times. Neighbors came to the rescue. Her assailant made his escape. His footprints were traced to the cemetery.

All the Cumminsville assaults except that on Mrs. Henry G. Winnes, who was attacked by a tramp, appear to have been the work of one man and that man a degenerate or maniac. In each case his course of action has been to choke his victim into unconsciousness, crush her skull and tear out her front teeth. In four cases he carried through his attempt, and three of his victims are dead. The fourth, Edith Clansing, was saved from a fractured skull by her heavy growth of hair and found and brought back to consciousness an hour later. Six of the ten attacks have been foiled. The police have put a guard about the hospital.

Alleged Manslaughter at New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Cora Cassidy, wife of Christopher Cassidy of Highwood, is dead as the result, it is claimed, of injuries inflicted by Mrs. Elizabeth Barnes, a friend, during a quarrel. Awaiting the result of the autopsy made by the medical examiner, Mrs. Barnes is held in the county jail on the charge of manslaughter. She is forty-five years old and has seven children. The story told to the police is that the women got into an argument over some trivial matter, and in a scuffle Mrs. Cassidy fell and Mrs. Barnes jumped on her, inflicting internal wounds in the abdomen.

Hay Hears About Opium Trade.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Secretary of State Hay gave a hearing to a delegation who filed with him a long statement purporting to give the condition of the opium trade in China, the charges being directed against Great Britain. The papers were received by the secretary, who promised to lay them before the president. The delegation desired that China shall be released from what it termed her "enforced opium traffic," and for which it claimed Great Britain is responsible.

M. Gabriel Syveton Arrested.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The police arrested M. Gabriel Syveton, the Nationalist deputy who struck War Minister Andre in the face during the debate of Nov. 4 in the chamber, as he was about to take up his position for a duel with Captain Cati, who is an intimate friend of General Andre and who is supposed to represent him. The arrangements contemplated the use of pistols and two shots each. M. Syveton's arrest begins his criminal prosecution for assaulting General Andre.

Work on Barge Canal Next Spring.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 11.—State Engineer Van Alstyne says that he expects contracts for the first six sections of the 1,000 ton barge canal will be let and the preliminary work completed in time to allow the successful bidders to begin excavating as soon as the weather becomes warm enough next spring.

Cheap Fares on Clover Leaf Road.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 11.—A rate war between Toledo and St. Louis is promised after the close of the St. Louis exposition because of the fact that roads in the Central Passenger association have up to this time been unable to agree upon a proper differential for the Clover Leaf railroad.

Monitor Wyoming Grounded In Fog.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—At the navy department a dispatch has been received confirming the report of the grounding of the monitor Wyoming in a heavy fog while going out from the Puget sound naval station.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 11, 1904.

Week's winners—Roosevelt, Bryan and Sincerity.

Among the things impressed upon the Democratic party is the conviction that no man of Taggart's stripe should be placed in charge of a campaign.

Mr. Cleveland refuses to talk, and someone is unkind enough to remark that it would have been better for his party had he made such a resolution three months ago.

The New Brunswick Daily Press is certainly a wide-awake sheet. The morning after election it published a long story on "the plans for the opening of a New York theatre on Monday night, Sept. 19, 1904." But then that's a common occurrence with the Brunswick paper.

No hasty disposition should be made by the Common Council of the subject of spite houses. The matter is now regularly before that body and if it is considered at its meeting tonight the most serious attention should be given it. Seldom have the city fathers been called upon to deal with so far reaching an evil. The future of the city, to a great extent, depends upon the way the Common Council treats the question. If a man is going to be allowed to erect any old shack in the immediate vicinity of handsome homes, it not only means that the municipality's treasury is to suffer by loss in taxes through the depreciation in land values but that property wrecking is permissible. It is contended that the building ordinance prevents any proceedings against the property-wrecker. If this be so, no time should be lost in framing a new ordinance which will arrest the pernicious work.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

DOINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., initiated several candidates last night.

At a special communication of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., at Masonic Hall tomorrow evening, the fellowcraft degree will be conferred upon one candidate.

Five candidates were initiated and seven were elected by Plainfield lodge No. 885, B. P. O. E. Wednesday evening. The rehearsals for the coming memorial services are continuing and satisfactory progress has been made. The musical part of the programme will be one of the most elaborate of this nature ever given in the city.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., will conduct a mock trial at the close of the regular business session this evening. William Schorb is to be tried for stealing chickens, and he will be defended by City Judge William N. Runyon, while Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., will attempt to have him proved guilty. Each side has a host of witnesses and decision will be rendered by a jury of six men.

PERSONAL.

Miss Charlotte Wilson, of West Sixth street, is slowly recovering from a severe illness.

Mrs. Dennis Kilbride, of West Fourth street, who has been very ill, is reported as doing much better at present.

Mrs. Allen Coddington, of Somerset place, and Mrs. Harry Coddington, of Somerset street, have returned from nearly a month's stay in the west, which included a stop at the St. Louis Exposition and a visit with Missouri relatives.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—John D. Kiroh, of the borough, has been awarded a contract to build ten houses on Jefferson avenue for a realty company.

—Stephen Cahoone will speak and the choir of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Members of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra will accompany the singing. All men invited.

SOUTHERN STATES.

Complete Returns Show a Record Close Run in Maryland.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—Complete returns show that in several of the southern states Democratic pluralities were conspicuously smaller than in 1900.

Virginia, Kentucky, Arkansas, Texas and all the states south and east of them slept snugly in the Democratic fold. Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi and North Carolina have given Parker even a few more votes than they gave Bryan in 1900. The plurality in Louisiana remained unchanged, but this in every other southern state fell off noticeably. Georgia however gave more votes to Roosevelt than to Watson. In Texas the Democratic plurality diminished by nearly 50,000 votes, in Georgia by 6,000, in Virginia, Tennessee and South Carolina by 3,000.

The only state called doubtful before the election which was at all close was Maryland, but the decision in Maryland was close enough to whiten the hair of a campaign manager. With probably more than 200,000 votes cast, revised estimates place the Republican plurality at 210, the smallest presidential plurality ever recorded in a state, even beating Kentucky in 1896 when McKinley got 281 out of 445,956 votes cast. The Democrats have gained one congressional district, and the state will be represented in congress by three Democrats and three Republicans. The Republicans lose some presidential electors.

Of the other doubtful states Delaware went Republican on both state and national tickets by 4,500, a heavy plurality for the little commonwealth and nearly 1,000 more than it gave Bryan either in 1896 or 1900. Preston Lea, Republican candidate for governor, made good by 2,500. Dr. H. R. Burton (Rep.) was elected to congress and the Republicans have a decisive majority in the state legislature.

WHAT MEXICO THINKS.

Roosevelt Is the Imposing Figure on the International Stage.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 11.—The results of the American election are much discussed in political circles here. The Mexican Herald says:

"Definitely and in an unmistakable manner the American electorate stamps its approval on the imperialistic and expansionist policy of the dominant party; commits itself to the retention of all the insular territory acquired from Spain in both oceans; to the rapid pushing to completion of the Panama canal; to the building up of a great navy, and to the movement for strengthening the military arm of the government."

The papers generally speak of President Roosevelt as the imposing figure on the international stage of the world, of cosmopolitan education and wide and varied accomplishments and as an unique figure in the long line of American presidents.

Peacemaker Was Killed.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Nov. 11.—A white man named Newman, at Mills Springs, shot and killed his brother-in-law, named Holbert, as the result of a drunken quarrel. Newman and Holbert quarreled, whereupon Newman left his companion and, going to his home, secured a shotgun. A relative, also named Newman, a young boy, tried to dissuade him from fighting and seized hold of the gun. In the scuffle the weapon was discharged, and as a result the boy bled to death. The elder Newman went on until he found Holbert again, and the killing of the latter followed.

Ohio's Plurality.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 11.—Nearly complete returns from Ohio last night show close to 250,000 plurality for the Roosevelt and Fairbanks electors. Only eighteen out of the eight-eight counties in the state have been carried for Parker, and only one Democratic congressman has been elected out of twenty-one. State Chairman Harvey C. Garber, the Democratic candidate in the Fourth district, has 1,600 plurality in a district normally 6,000 Democratic.

Baltic Fleet For the Sues Canal.

CANEA, Island of Crete, Nov. 11.—The battleship Sissoi Veliki, with Vice Admiral Voelgersam aboard, and the battleship Navarin, the cruisers Izumrud and Almaz, a number of torpedo boats and transports and the volunteer steamer Yaroslav of the Russian Baltic squadron have arrived in Suda bay. The Russian volunteer fleet steamer Kiev has passed through the Bosporus to the Mediterranean sea.

Edward to Newfoundlanders.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Nov. 11.—Governor Sir William Macgregor at the king's birthday banquet here conveyed a personal message from King Edward to the people of Newfoundland assuring them that it would be his earnest endeavor to promote a settlement of the French shore question and to relieve them of the difficulties arising from French occupation of the west coast.

Objects to Poll Tax.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 11.—Suit was filed in the United States circuit court here to test the state constitutional amendment requiring a citizen to pay a poll tax before he can cast his ballot. The plaintiff avers that the constitution of the United States guarantees the right of every duly qualified citizen to vote.

Cleveland Out Hunting.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 11.—Former President Grover Cleveland went on his first hunting trip of the season yesterday. In company with Dr. Carlton Priest and W. B. McFarland he drove to Rocky Hill, where he spent the day. The shooting was good, and the party returned with sixteen quail and seven rabbits.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, of the Presbyterian church, have elected new officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, Mrs. W. W. Castleberry; vice president, Robert F. Bogardus, Jr.; treasurer, Clarence B. Carman; recording secretary, Robert Lowrie; corresponding secretary, Miss Nellie Dodwell. The Junior Society have also elected new officers: President, Pearl Dodwell; vice president, Meta Pennock; secretary, Hattie Giles; treasurer, Theodore Hamilton. The officers elected will be installed on Sunday evening at which time also reports for the past year will be presented and the report of delegates to the recent State convention at Elizabeth will be given.

On Wednesday afternoon, Miss Bessie Milligan, a former resident of the borough, but now of Millstone, and John Mott, also of Millstone, were united in marriage by Rev. Frank Fletcher, at the home of the former's aunt, Mrs. Mary Coriell, of New Market road. A few intimate friends were present and an enjoyable time was spent after the ceremony was over.

The Women's Missionary Society, of the Presbyterian church, will hold a special Thank-offering meeting next Wednesday afternoon at the residence of its president, Mrs. A. A. Lake. Miss Dunning, a returned missionary, will be present and give an address. The society is also preparing a barrel to send to Harbison College, Abbeville, S. S.

A large steam heater will be installed in the printing office of Postmaster Day, of New Market, very shortly, and the one which now heats the place will be removed to the Vail cottage, where the Postmaster and his wife have started housekeeping.

The Union Thanksgiving Day service will be held in the Presbyterian church as usual this year, and Rev. Henry Jordan, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of New Market, will deliver the sermon.

John Rupell and Charles Day have rented the Davis store and are stocking it with a fresh supply of groceries and canned goods. They will open the store about December 1 with Charles Ward as head clerk.

The young men who belong to the Empire Club meet in their rooms back of the postoffice every evening and play ping pong, read and amuse themselves in many other enjoyable ways.

Miss Edna Baldwin, who has been confined to her home for the past week, is rapidly recovering and will be out again in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Noble, of Front street, have gone to Philadelphia, where they will spend Thanksgiving with relatives.

A meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held in their meeting rooms yesterday afternoon.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Suburban bowling team is one of the strongest teams in this section of the State. Some of the new members recently added to the club have been added to the team and the Suburban's can now make a creditable showing against any of the teams.

The weekly prayer meeting will be held as usual in the parlors of the Baptist church tonight. While the church is without a regular pastor the Board of Deacons will have charge and appoint the leaders of the weekly meetings.

Of course everybody came back with plenty of game yesterday, to hear them tell it, but the truth is the public saw but few of the many cotton tails that were reported killed by the local hunters.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., met in weekly session in the library rooms last night. Ernest Clark has been appointed corresponding secretary to fill the unexpired term of the late Charles Wade.

Richard P. Robison, of New York, who has been visiting his parents, Freeholder and Mrs. John Robison, of the borough, has returned home.

Miss Mamie Mercoira, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Mercoira, has returned to her home in Plainfield.

With the close of the campaign on Tuesday night the local Republican Club went out of commission for a time.

John VanArsdale, formerly of the borough, but now residing in New York, has been visiting friends in town.

John H. L. Todd, who has been spending three weeks in London, arrived home Wednesday on the Oceanic.

Fred Coverly has been taking a two days' hunting trip amid the wilds of Morris County.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Christian Endeavor Society will hold a business and social meeting with Mrs. M. W. Payne this evening.

SPORTING NEWS.

FOOTBALL.

The Cedarcroft football team was the easy prey of the Westfield High Schoce team Monday afternoon to the tune of 17 to 0. The game was played at Westfield.

The Leals School football team did not play the North Plainfield High School team yesterday afternoon, as was announced in Wednesday's issue of The Daily Press.

As yet the Alis eleven has announced no game for tomorrow. It is not yet known whether the team will play or not, as many of its members wish to attend the Yale-Princeton game.

A large number of local football enthusiasts are expecting to attend the Princeton-Yale game tomorrow. Plainfield has many representatives in both colleges, and both the Yale and the Princeton stands will be sought by Plainfield followers.

BASKET BALL.

The Invincible basket ball team, of New York, is booking games with out of town teams, and would like to hear from the Business Men's Y. M. C. A. team, of this city. Address William Humphreys, 15 Bank street, New York.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Y. M. C. A. team will bowl the Triangle Club, of New Brunswick, tonight, at Y. M. C. A. alley. Game called at 8 o'clock.

ROD AND GUN.

Charles Stahl, of Grove street, spent yesterday hunting in the vicinity of Bound Brook, and got two rabbits and a woodcock.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Miller, of West Fourth street, have returned from a visit with friends in Rocoester, N. Y.

Miss May E. Howlett, of Elmwood place, has returned from a visit with friends at Glen Ridge, Essex county.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brokaw, former residents of this city but now of New York, are the parents of a baby girl who came to their home recently.

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

There will be an alliance meeting in the W. C. T. U. rooms tonight at 7:45.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Grace M. E. Epworth League will be held tonight at 8 o'clock.

Church Notes.

The finest city and village Churches are painted with the Longman & Martinez Paints, and we want every Church to accept our donation whenever they paint.

8 & 6 make 14, therefore when you want fourteen gallons of paint, buy only eight of L. & M. and mix six gallons of pure Linseed Oil with it, making actual cost of paint about $1.20 per gallon.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linseed Oil (worth 60 cents) which you do when you buy other paints in a can with a label on it.

Many houses are well painted with four gallons of L. & M. and three gallons of Linseed Oil mixed therewith.

Wears and covers like gold.

These Celebrated Paints are sold by Woolston & Buckle, Plainfield; H. C. Meyer, Scotch Plains.

WORK OF FIREBUGS.

Three Perish In Crowded Apartment House Blaze.

MANY DARING RESCUES BY FIREMEN

Scores of Men, Women and Children Fought on Congested Fire Escapes. Girls Died Trying to Save Cripple.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. — Hanging packed and panic stricken from narrow fire escapes on a burning five story double flat house at Lexington avenue and Ninety-seventh street, in this city, scores of men, women and children shrieked and fought each other early this morning, while behind them an aged cripple and two young girls met death in the flames.

Only heroic measures on the part of the firemen and police prevented a greater loss of life. Climbing to the escapes, the fire laddies beat back struggling and fighting men tenants and seizing the helpless women and children dropped them into nets. Then the calmer of the men were led down, while a dozen unconscious women were brought from stair and hallway to safety by another squad of fire laddies.

The dead are: Frederick Webber, sixty-nine years old, a paralytic; Lillie Euler, eighteen years old, his granddaughter; Blanche Euler, fifteen years old, her sister.

The fire is declared by the police to be of incendiary origin. At 5 o'clock in the morning, following an explosion of gas in the basement, flames leaped up the dumbwaiter shaft with lightning rapidity. In the building ten families were asleep. Before they could be aroused by two policemen who had discovered the blaze the stairs and halls were black with smoke. The policemen ran upstairs, only to be beaten back. When the tenants awoke a panic ensued. They all rushed together for the fire escapes, unclad and tumbling over each other. Escape by the stairs was impossible. The center of the whole building from basement to the fifth floor was a furnace. The fire escapes on the different floors had platforms only seven feet long and two feet wide. On these the frantic tenants fought for points of vantage. The spectacle was terrible.

When Chief Dougherty arrived he declared he had never in all his life seen fire escapes so congested.

The firemen immediately devoted all their efforts to life saving. While the firemen climbed by scaling ladders to the escape, nets were spread for the women and children, and extension ladders were run up for the men.

Meanwhile the fatalities were taking place. On the top floor lived the cripple, his wife, his son-in-law and four children. The son-in-law carried out Mrs. Webber and helped Frederick and Anna to make their escape. Evidently the dead young girls had lost their lives in a desperate attempt to save the life of their paralyzed grandfather. Learning of their peril, Roundsman McKenna and Patrolman Pierce ran upstairs through the next house in Lexington avenue and forced a way into the burning building through the skylight. They found the body of Blanche Euler lying at the door of the Webber flat, and beside the ashes of a bed from which apparently he had been partly dragged lay the body of the cripple and nearby the body of Lillie Euler. The bodies were badly burned.

A dozen thrilling rescues marked the progress of the fire. Mrs. Isidore Dreyfuss, a daughter of the late "Silver Dollar" Smith, was overcome, together with her two sons, Milton, and Joseph. They were discovered in the nick of time by Lieutenant Tiernan. With two of his firemen the Lieutenant carried the unconscious forms to the street, where ambulance surgeons revived them.

In an attempt to regain her jewels Mrs. Paula Lui, a Spanish woman, nearly lost her life. She had been nearly overcome and had been carried to the window by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coe, whence she was borne to the street by the firemen. All the rescued tenants escaped in their nightclothes. Chief Duff said the life savers made a record.

Investigation showed that in the cellar a large quantity of rags soaked in oil had been placed in boxes. In these the fire started.

Firebugs have been busy about the vicinity for five weeks, in which time seven fires have occurred.

Rockefeller Gets Santa Fe Stock.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 11.—President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe Railroad system stated today that it was a fact that John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and James Stillman, president of the National City bank of New York, had purchased $25,000,000 in Santa Fe stock. Mr. Ripley said that he was not aware as to whether this indicated that E. H. Harriman would be interested in the ownership of the Santa Fe or not.

Editor's Wife Dropped Dead.

SOUTHINGTON, Conn., Nov. 11.—Mrs. Charles Whittlesey Pickett, wife of Colonel Charles W. Pickett, editor of the New Haven Leader, dropped dead while reading a paper before the Hannah Woodruff chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, late yesterday afternoon. Heart disease was the cause of death.

A Populist Conference.

THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

"Your grace is unfortunate in his choice of words," replied Law, blandly. "I am not your servant. I am your master."

The regent sank back into a chair, gasping, his hand clutching at the hilt of his sword.

"Seize him! Seize him! To the bastille with him! The presumer! The impostor!"

Yet even the guards hesitated before the commanding presence of that man whom all had been so long accustomed to obey. With hand upraised, Law gazed at them for one instant, and then gave them no further attention.

"Yet these words I must hasten to qualify," resumed he. "True, I am at this moment your master, your grace, but two minutes hence, and for all time hereafter, I shall no longer be your master. Your grace was once so good as to make me head of certain financial matters, and to give me control of them. The fabric of this Mesasebe, which you see without, was all my own. It was this which made me master of Paris, and of every man within the gates of Paris. So far, very well. My plans were honest, and the growth of France—nay, let us say the resurrection of France—the new life of France—shows how my own plans were made and how well I knew that which was to happen. I made you rich, your grace. I gave you funds to pay off millions of your private debts, millions to gratify your fancies. I gave you more millions to pay the debts of France. France and her regent have again taken a position of honor in the eyes of the world. You may well call me master of your fate, who have been able to accomplish these things. So long as you knew your master, you did well. Now your grace has seen fit to change masters. He would be his own master again. There cannot be two in control of a concern like this. Sir, the two minutes have elapsed. I am your humble servant!"

The regent still sat staring from his chair, and speech was yet denied him.

"There are your people. There is your France," said Law, beckoning as he turned toward the window and pointing to the crowd without. "There is your France. Now handle it, my master! Here are the reins! Now drive; but see that you be careful how you drive. Come, your grace," said he, mockingly, over his shoulder. "Come, and see your France!"

"There, there, Monsieur L'as, I did you wrong, perhaps," said he. "But as to these hasty words, pray reconsider them at once. 'Twill have a bad effect should a breath of this get afloat. Indeed, 'twas because of some such thing that I came to see you this morning. A most unspeakable, a most incredible thing hath occurred. It comes to me with certain confirmation that there have been shares sold upon the street at 12,000 livres to the action, whereas, as you very well know, 15,000 should be the lowest price today."

"And what of that, your grace?" said Law, calmly. "Is it not what you planned? Is it not what you had been expecting?"

"How, sirrah! What do you mean?"

"Why, I mean this, your grace," said Law, calmly, "that since you have taken the reins, it is you who must drive the chariot. I shall suggest no plans, shall offer no remedy. But, if you still lack ability to see how and why this thing has attained this situation, I will take so much trouble as to make it plain."

"Go on, then, sir," said the regent. "Is not all well? Is there any danger?"

"As to danger," said Law, "we cannot call it a time of danger after the worst has happened."

"What do you mean?"

"Why, that the worst has happened. But, as I was about to say, I shall tell you how it happened."

The gaze of the regent fell. His hand trembled as he fumbled at his sword belt.

"Your grace," said Law, calmly, "will do me the kindness to remember that when I first asked of you the charter of the Banque Generale, to be taken privately in the name of myself and my brother, I told you that any banker merited the punishment of death if he issued notes or bills of exchange without having their effective value safe in his own strong boxes."

"Well, what of that?" queried the regent, weakly.

"Nothing, your grace, except that your grace deserves the punishment of death."

"How, sir! Good God!"

"If the truth of this matter should ever become known, those people out there, that France yonder, would tear your grace limb from limb, and trample you in the dust!"

The livid face of the regent went paler as the other spoke. There was conviction in those tones which could not fail to reach even his heavy wits.

"Let me explain," went on Law. "I beg your grace to remember again, that when your grace was good enough to take out of the hands of my brother and myself our little bank—which we had run honorably and successfully—you change at one sweep the whole principle of honest banking. You promised to pay a note back of which there was no value, no fixed limit of measurement. Twice you have changed the coinage of the realm, and twice assigned a new value to your specie. No one can tell what one of your shares in the stock of the Indies means in actual coin. It means nothing, stands for nothing, is good for nothing. Now, think you, when these people, when this France shall discover these facts, that they will be lenient with those who have thus deceived them?"

"Yet your theory always was that we had too great a scarcity of money here in France," expostulated the regent.

"True, so I did. We had not enough of good money. We cannot have too little of false money, of money such as your grace—as you thought without my knowledge—has been so eager to issue from the presses of our company. It had been an easy thing for the regent of France to pay off all the debts of the world from now until the verge of eternity, had not his presses given out. Money of that sort, your grace, is such as any man could print for himself, did he but have the linen and the ink."

The regent again dropped to his chair, his head falling forward upon his breast.

"But what does it all mean? What shall be done? What will be the result?" he asked, his voice showing well enough the anxiety which had swiftly fallen upon his soul.

"As to that," replied Law, laconically, "I am no longer master here. I am not controller of finance. Appoint Dubois, appoint D'Argenson. Send for the Brothers Paris. Take them to this window, your grace, and show them your people, show them your France, and then ask them to tell you what shall be done. Cry out to all the world, as I know you will, that this was the fault of an unknown adventurer, of a Scotch gambler, of one John Law, who brought forth some pretentious schemes to the detriment of the realm. Saddle upon me the blame for all this ruin which is coming. Malign me, misrepresent me, imprison me, exile me, behead me if you like, and blame John Law for the discomfiture of France! But when you come to seek your remedies, why ask no more of John Law. Ask of Dubois, ask of D'Argenson, ask of the Paris Freres; or, since your grace has seen fit to override me and to take these matters in his own hands, let your grace ask of himself! Tell me, as regent of France, as master of Paris, as guardian of the rights of this young king, as controller of the finances of France, as savior or destroyer of the welfare of these people of France, and of that America which is greater than this France—tell me, what will you do, your grace? What do you suggest as remedy?"

JAPAN WANTS PEACE

Flowery Kingdom Made Direct Appeal to Russia.

STOESSEL ASKS FOR AN ARMISTICE

Three Nations, United States, Britain and France, Co-operating in an Effort For Intervention In the Far East.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—The Japanese government has made representations to Russia looking to peace. This action has resulted in failure, and such representations, even privately, are not likely to be repeated by Japan. Although the suggestion of a pacific settlement was made unofficially, it actually had behind it all the weight of an offer by the Japanese empire. It was made direct to Russia. No power acted as an intermediary. The proposition was put forward tentatively and unofficially, so that the Japanese government would be in a position to deny any report that it was suing for peace. The failure of these direct negotiations, however, resulted in bringing intervention within a measurable distance.

It is mooted that Lord Lansdowne only spoke so openly at the Guildhall banquet because he had good reason to believe that Mr. Roosevelt if elected contemplated making an effort to bring the belligerents in the far east to discuss terms of peace. Lord Lansdowne's remarks are held by those in his confidence to mean that, whatever the United States may do in the matter, Great Britain will co-operate, even in the event of France not participating. It is known, however, that Ambassador Cambon, who continues his work assiduously to bring about some arrangement, hopes for joint action by the three powers.

A dispatch from Tokyo says that General Stoessel, in command of the Russian troops at Port Arthur, has asked for an armistice. The purpose of his request is not stated. The Japanese are said to have been inflamed by the Russian abuse of Japanese wounded, and it is therefore hoped General Stoessel will capitulate to prevent the Japanese troops from avenging these reported indignities.

Advices from Chefu say that a shell has demolished a land mine at one of the Port Arthur forts. Between 600 and 700 Russians were killed or wounded.

It is reported the recent assaults by the Japanese on Etseshan fort have been repulsed.

The bombardment of Port Arthur by the Japanese under General Nogi is proceeding without interruption. Preparations, he adds, are now on foot for a fresh general assault on the Russian defenses.

The czar has arrived at Lowicz, Poland, from St. Petersburg. Replying to a deputation of noblemen, his majesty declared the assurance of bad times should serve to unite the empire. A deputation of citizens was also received.

A London Telegraph correspondent sends a harrowing picture of the conditions within Port Arthur. He says that vast numbers of sick and dying soldiers—maimed, mutilated and incapacitated for further service—are lying helpless in the inner forts, the straightened circumstances of the garrison making it impossible to give them care and attention.

The correspondent suggests that an effort be made to embark them on neutral ships and transfer them under the Red Cross to Chefu and Shanghai. He offers to take a steamer into Port Arthur for this purpose whenever the conditions allow.

It is officially announced from Tokyo that the Seoul-Fusan railroad was completed yesterday. Traffic will begin on Dec. 1. The time between Tokyo and Seoul will then be fifty hours.

Viceroy Alexeieff arrived in St. Petersburg last night.

A special from Huansian, ten miles south of Mukden, says that along the eighty miles constituting the front of the Russian army everything is quiet except for occasional skirmishes and artillery duels on the center and left, where gunners fire occasionally for the sake of practice so as to have the range should the Japanese take the offensive. Sometimes outposts indulge in fusillades. When the Japanese jocularly display a white disk, indicating a miss, the Russian riflemen reply by raising a shirt on a bayonet.

General Oku cables to Tokyo that the Russians have made several determined attacks upon Lamuntung and Sinchingpu, but have been repulsed with heavy losses. The artillery laid the villages in ruins.

Russia Will Not Brook Mediation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Emphatically, but with all courtesy, Russia, through her ambassadors abroad, has several times informed the neutral powers that she will brook no mediation at this time in her war with Japan. Russia expects her wishes to be respected by all the powers to which she has communicated her views. Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, said last night, "I can announce that I have very good reason to believe that my government's emphatic opposition to any mediation at this time will be respected and observed by all neutral powers."

Does This Foreshadow Peace?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador; Mr. Jusserand, the French ambassador, and Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese minister, were among the diplomats received by Secretary Hay. Count Cassini has heard nothing from his government regarding its attitude toward Secretary Hay's note inviting the powers to convene another session of The Hague tribunal.

FURS—The Finest line ever exhibited in any retail store here or abroad.
Children's Dresses, Cloaks, Coats, etc. A complete line of Infants wear.

How is This Sale Possible.

New York manufacturers expected a big trade this season, but on account of political and other reasons the market was depressed and their goods was left on their hands—they were badly in need of cash. The New York Salvage Company took advantage of their predicament and bought for spot cash carloads of goods at the lowest prices imaginable. Now the New York Salvage Company also must find a market for their goods. They came to us with a good proposition, and we made an agreement with them to take all these goods they buy and guaranteed them to dispose same in ten days.

Knowing the public of Plainfield and vicinity, we are confident and can safely say we will easily accomplish this great undertaking.

Who are the N. Y. Salvage Co.

Administrators of estates, trustess, operators of mills and factories, etc., and that puts them in position to be the greatest bargain givers in the world.

Be on hand. The public of Plainfield and vicinity are respectfully invited to attend this sale. The immense stock with its enticing and wonderful bargains cannot be justly called a sale. It is a mercantile wonder, a mine of savings, a rare merit of economy. Yes, an actual boom is a more fitting name to such a rare event—an event which happens once in a century.

The name of L. S. Levin, president of the New York Salvage Company is in itself a guarantee as to the merits of the goods, but as Mr. Levin is not known to all our patrons, therefore we will add that the established rule of THE FAIR will prevail during this sale, to wit: Goods exchanged or money back for all unsatisfactory purchases just as cheerfully as taken.

These goods are manufactured for New York's finest trade and we can congratulate ourselves for being so furtunate as to secure this magnificent stock. Now the public of Plainfield and vicinity are welcome to share the profit with us.

BLUE LODGE CELEBRATION

Members of the Ancient Order Observe Anniversary.

ITS 88TH YEAR

Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., Holds a Big Reception.

The members of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., observed the eighty-seventh anniversary of the lodge in Masonic Hall, last night, in an appropriate manner. There were over 150 members and guests present to enjoy the features of a well-arranged programme, which was in charge of Worshipful Master Fred'k J. Pope, assisted by other officers. It was a source of regret that Grand Master John H. Wilkins could not be present, a previous engagement preventing. However, the Grand Lodge was represented by Right Worshipful District Deputy William D. Wolfskeil, of Elizabeth.

There were present visitors from a great many of the leading Masonic lodges in this part of the State and other states, while Daniel Borthwick, of St. Mary Coltners, Scotland, was among the foreign guests.

The Blue Lodge rooms were handsomely decorated with American flags and bunting, the arrangement being a pleasing one, while there were also decorations of flowers. After the transaction of business, requiring but a short time, an excellent programme was presented, including organ selections by D. Stuart Pope, of Yonkers, N. Y.; baritone solo by Fred'k J. Pope, piano solos by Vincent Sokol, an address by Past Worshipful Brother C. H. Rugg, historian; banjo solos by F. F. VanEps, banjo duets by F. F. VanEps and L. P. Braman, and humorous remarks by J. D. Kay, of Azure Lodge, No. 129, of Cranford, after which the grand march to the banquet hall was led by Worshipful Brother R. A. Meeker, marshal.

The various numbers on the programme were well received and merited the applause given. One of the most interesting features was the presentation of the lodge's history, a portion of which is given below.

Another feature of the affair was the souvenir given to each member and guest. This was a tiny Masonic apron of sheepskin with a blue ribbon, and the inscription thereon was "5817-5904—in commemoration of the eighty-seventh anniversary of Jerusalem Lodge, No 26, F. and A. M., Plainfield, N J., November 11, 1904," beneath which appears the compass and the square, in the center of which is the familiar letter "G". The handsome programmes used were the gift of Fred O. Lounsbury, a member of the lodge.

The banquet which followed the social features in the lodge room, was an elaborate one and well served by William W. Warnock.

LIQUOR FEE IS $1,000

Retail License Increased by the Common Council.

UNANIMOUS VOTE

Wholesale Fee is Raised to $800—Present Rates $700 and $500.

Mr. Tyler, chairman of the license committee, called up the ordinance increasing the retail liquor license fee to $1,000, and the whole license fee to $800, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, and it was adopted on its third reading, and from now on will be effective, although the change in the fees will not affect the local liquor dealers until next year.

Because of Mr. Tyler's apparent indifference in the matter, some persons were led to believe that the ordinance would not be heard of again, but those on the inside knew that it would eventually become a law. When it was called up for third reading last night and the vote was called for, every member present voted in favor of it. The only members absent were Mr. Lee and Mr. Gloak, the latter being detained at home by illness.

The nine members present saw the wisdom of supporting the amendment unanimously and voted that way, although it was thought that there would be some opposition to the change. The present fees are $700 for retail and $500 for wholesale licenses. The new fees are the largest in the State and there are only a few higher in the whole United States.

No doubt the acclamations of the New Jersey Retail Liquor Dealers' Association to the effect that it had been successful in defeating the movement to increase the fees, had considerable effect on the Common Council in adopting the amendment as offered by Mr. Tyler, for the statements of State Organizer Buckridge would lead one to suppose that there was a collusion between the association and the officials. This was proven otherwise by subsequent action.

WANTS WATER CRANES SCATTERED ABOUT CITY

LOCAL SUPPLY COMPANY OBJECTS TO USE OF THE HYDRANTS.

In a communication to the Common Council at its adjourned meeting last night, the Plainfield Water Supply Company complained about the hard use to which its hydrants had been put during he past summer season, by the drivers on the sprinkling carts, and it intimated that it would have to deny the city the right to use these hydrants for that purpose. By way of relief it suggested that the company be allowed to erect water cranes at convenient points about the city, where the carts can be filled. The company asked for a conference with the Common Council on the subject.

The communication cited the fact that not only had the hydrants been damaged through carelessness, but that water was allowed to run for an indefinite time. The communication was referred to the fire and buildings committee, but later Mr. Bullock, of that committee, suggested that inasmuch as the matter referred to streets, it should be looked after by the street committee.

It is a question in the minds of some of the officials as to whether the water company can deny the city the right to use the hydrants for sprinkling purposes, inasmuch as it pays a rental of $15 a year for each hydrant. Then the question arises as to whether or not the water cranes referred to would be objectionable on the public thoroughfare. They naturally would have to be quite high and they are not very attractive in themselves, besides they might be termed a nuisance.

All of these things will be fully considered by the Common Council and the Plainfield Water Supply Company and no doubt the matter will be amicably adjusted.

Football Dispute Still On.

It is probable that the dispute between the Alis and the Orange Field Club footbal teams will remain unsettled, as no effort has been made so far to come to an agreement on the question. As the referee did not decide the game in favor of either aggregation, both parties seem content. It has been rumored that the O. F. C. did not receive their guarantee from the Alis Club according to agreement, but Captain McVoy, of the Orange Field Club, said yesterday that the money had been received, and that there was no trouble on that question.

TO AUDIT THE BOOKS OF CITY OFFICIALS

COMMON COUNCIL APPROPRIATES $600 FOR THE PURPOSE.

With the retirement of Frank H. Smith as tax collector, he made a request that inasmuch as his books have not been examined and audited during the past two years, that this be done before he leaves his present position. the suggestion met with the approval of Chairman Daniel of the finance committee of the Common Council, and at the adjourned meeting last night, he made a motion that the finance committee be authorized to engage an expert to examine and audit the books of the collector, treasurer, city judge and any other city official. For this purpose he moved that a sum not to exceed $600 be appropriated. The motion was adopted.

The books will be examined and audited for the past two years, it being that length of time since they were so audited by an expert. The Common Council would have undoubtedly ordered this work done the first of the year, but the sudden retirement of Mr. Smith from the collector's office to accept his new position as registrar of deeds of Union county, has hastened the matter somewhat and Mr. Smith, in justice to himself, is anxious to have the work done now. The other officials are also desirous that their books be examined.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH REOPENS TOMORROW

MANY IMPROVEMENTS MADE TO THE EDIFICE.

After being closed for several weeks on account of general repairs, the opening services of the First M. E. church will be held tomorrow. At 9:45 there will be a meeting of the Junior League. The regular Sunday services will be conducted through the day, preaching at 10:30, Sunday-school at 2:30, Epworth League meeting at 7 o'clock, and evening service at 7:45. At the evening meeting, Chaplain W. T. Helms, of the United States Navy, will deliver the sermon. He has been for some time on the Battleship Brooklyn, has been in the Philippines, and has had a varied career.

The repairs in the church have been extensive. Sometime ago the old entrance which led up to the vestibule by about ten steps was torn down, and lowered to three steps. A large double archway has been erected in front of the building, and the doorway placed about eight feet lower than formerly. In its original condition the entrance was condemned by the Fire Department, as the steps were steep.

By going in the front entrance, now, both the basement and the main room of the church are accessible. This has envolved several changes within the church. The steps going down to the basement are new, and the stairs entering the church proper, been placed in a different position. In addition to these alterations the entire church has been repaired and cleaned.

A PROGRESSIVE TEA.

Mount Olive Baptist Church Club Conducts a Very Pleasant Affair.

Club Number Five of the Mount Olive Baptist church, of which Mrs William Mayhew is leader, held a progressive tea Thursday afternoon from 3 until 7 o'clock.

The guests first assembled at the residence of Mrs. Mary Doyle, on Plainfield avenue, where they were received by Mrs. William Burton, Miss Stella Hill and Miss Sadie Doyle. Mrs. J. C. Anderson and Miss Lula Douglass poured tea and were assisted in serving a dainty collation by the Misses Hill, Kingslow, Holmes and Doyle.

The tea concluded at the residence of Mrs. James Mann, where light refreshments were served by the Misses Wilson, Green, Gordon and Branch. Phonograph selections enlivened the occasion and were thoroughly enjoyed. The tea netted a neat sum which will be donated to Mount Olive church.

Hugh F. Fox Will Speak.

It is Hugh F. Fox who will address the members of the City Union, King's Daughters, at the semi-annual meeting to be held in the First Baptist church on Friday afternoon, November 18, at 3:30, and not Mrs. Hugh F. Fox, as previously stated.

LEE GETS COLLECTORSHIP

Fourth Ward Councilman to Succeed F. H. Smith.

THE SALARY IS $2,250

J. W. Murray, Jr., is Supported by Third Ward for the Position.

The Common Council was "twenty minutes late" and more too, in getting together at the adjourned meeting last night, after a recess was taken to consider questions relative to the resignation of Tax Collector F. H. Smith. Mr. Smith presented his resignation, to take effect on December 1 next, or as soon thereafter as possible, and immediately the members took a recess on Mr. Daniel's motion that they retire for twenty minutes. They were out just about an hour.

When the Common Council reconvened, Mr. Randolph presented the resignation of Robert L. Lee as a member of the Common Council, the same to take effect immediately. This was accepted on Mr. Daniel's motion. He then moved that the Common Council proceed to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Smith's resignation, after which he nominated John W. Murray, Jr., for the office

Mr. Randolph nominated Robert L. Lee. Mr. Tyler then moved that a ballot be taken and moved that Councilmen Murphy and Daniel act as tellers.

When the votes were counted it was announced that Mr. Lee had received seven votes and Mr. Murray two. President Toiles then declared Mr. Lee to be the choice of the majority of the members.

Immediately Mr. Daniel moved that the new collector be requested to furnish bonds to the amount of $35,000, to be furnished by freeholders. It was arranged that when the Common Council adjourned it be to meet on Monday, November 28, thus allowing Mr. Lee plenty of time to secure bondsmen and the members time to arrange all details for the change in the office.

While John W. Murray, Jr., was considered a candidate for the office, there was a general feeling that Mr. Lee would be appointed. It was known that he desired the office and that he had a sufficient number of votes in the Common Council to get it. Mr. Lee is used to clerical work and his friends predict that he will fill the office in a capable and efficient manner.

The question of appointing his successor in the Common Council can be done any time within thirty days, and while it is not definitely stated who the man will be, it is rumored on good authority that Herbert W. Buxton, of Madison avenue, will be chosen.

KNIGHTS OF MACCABEES TO BE ORGANIZED HERE

PRELIMINARY MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT.

A preliminary meeting of those interested in the formation of a local lodge of the Knights of the Maccabees, met in the office of Attorney Fred J. Huff, last evening. Mr. Huff was made secretary and chairman and Deputies Frye, of New York, and Jones, of Newark, made addresses.

A. E. Willard, Dr. Fred Hughes and F. J. Huff were appointed a committee on organization and another preliminary meeting will be held Monday evening.

On Friday evening, an open session will take place when final plans for organization and institution will be made.

Concert at Casino.

The first of the Course Concerts to be given at the Casino under the directions of W. H. Miller will occur on Thursday evening, Nov. 17, when the Meisteringer's Choral Union, directed by Frederick Damrosch, of New York, assisted by John McDonald, boy soprano, and Prof. Henri Knighton, violin virtuoso.

Luncheon for Miss Hegeman.

The Misses Frances and Helen Weir, of Rockview avenue, gave a luncheon yesterday in honor of Miss Virginia Hegeman, who is soon to make her debut. Eight young people were in attendance. The decorations were of chrysanthemums and smilax, tastefully arranged.

Visiting His Old Home.

Dr. M. S. Simpson, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Middle Valley, Hunterdon county, is visiting his old home in Ohio. Before returning he will go to the St. Louis Exposition.

CONGREGATIONALISTS TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

CHURCH CELEBRATION TO BEGIN TOMORROW.

Special services in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of its organization will be held at the Congregational church tomorrow morning, afternoon and evening. The anniversary sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, at the morning service. In addition to anthems by the regular quartette choir, there will be two violin solos by Charles Higgins. Mr. Higgins will also accompany on his violin during the congregational singing.

At the Sunday-school jubilee service in the afternoon, a history of the school will be read by the secretary, Stacy Raynolds. There will be vocal solos by Miss Etta Raybert and Horace J. Martin. An instrumental trio, composed of Kenneth Shupp, cello, Dyckman Winckler, violin, and Mr. Hubbard, organ, will render several selections.

In the evening, former members of the church who have gone into active Christian work, will speak at a service which will take the place of the regular meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society. At this and all other services, all who are interested to attend will be cordially welcomed. The celebration of the anniversary will be continued next week with special gatherings Tuesday and Friday evenings.

ST. GABRIEL'S ACADEMY NOT SUBJECT TO TAXATION

DECISION OF CORPORATION COUNSEL CHARLES A. REED.

The property belonging to St. Gabriel's Academy, on Watchung avenue, is not taxable, according to the decision of Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, to whom the question was submitted sometime ago. Upon the attempt of the commissioners to tax the property, the owners of the school appealed to Frank Blats, Esq., on the ground that according to the State law the school, being one not conducted for personal profit, was non-taxable. Mr. Blats appeared before the commissioners and presented the case for their decision.

By agreement between the North Plainfield Council and the Board of Commissioners the matter was turned over to Corporation Counsel Reed with power to decide whether or not the property should be assessed. After investigation of the matter, Mr. Reed brought the verdict yesterday that the academy was not taxable, and the taxes were remitted by Tax Collector Brown, of the borough.

Though money is received for instruction at St. Gabriel's School, none is used for other purposes than to defray the expenses of the institution, and the academy may be lawfully classed as a public school in so far as the tax law is concerned.

MRS. SHEELEN DEAD.

Mother of Charles Sheelen Has Passed Away.

Mrs. Theresa Sheelen, aged seventy-three years, wife of Frederick Sheelen, of Scotch Plains, died last night at her home following a long illness. She was the mother of Charles Sheelen, collector of Fanwood borough.

The funeral services will be held at the Holy Trinity church, Westfield, Monday morning at 10 o'clock, where a solemn high mass of requiem will be offered. The interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery, this city.

High School vs. Hasbroucks.

The Plainfield High School basket ball team will meet the Hasbrouck team on the local Y. M. C. A. floor next Wednesday. The team defeated the North Plainfield High School team recently by the score of 33 to 8, and last year the local school and the Jersey City players broke even, each winning on their own grounds. The contest this year will be an interesting one as the two teams are practically the same as they were last season.

Will Celebrate Silver Anniversary.

Trinity Reformed church was instituted in March, 1880, and the members are looking forward with considerable interest to the observance of the twenty fifth anniversary of the organization which will occur in March of next year. Elaborate preparations will be made for the event.

FLAG OUT EVERY DAY

The Common Council Orders American Banner Raised.

ON CITY FLAG STAFF

Appropriation is Made and Police Department to be the Custodian.

After being held in seclusion by the finance committee for several weeks, Mr. Daniel, chairman of the committee, reported on the petition of the local Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night. This petition requested the members to purchase an American flag and see that it is raised on the city flag pole every day. Mr. Daniel in speaking of the petition said that while he was not opposed to the scheme he did not believe that it would be a good idea to have the flag left in the care of the fire department, as the work of raising it every day might interfere with the firemen's work.

He moved that a sum not to exceed $50 be appropriated for the purchase of the flag and that, in accordance with a suggestion by Chairman Randolph, of the Police Board, it be placed in the custody of the Board. He suggested that judgment be used in raising the flag, that is that on very windy days the banner be not unfurled. He offered this as a suggestion, adding that it would be unwise to display the flag on such days unless the city purchase a "wind flag."

Mr. Daniel's original resolution called for an appropriation of $35, but Mr. Toiles said that this sum would not buy much of a flag and he doubted whether a flag at that cost could be seen from the top of the pole. This led Mr. Daniel to amend his resolution making the sum $50.

While the Jr. O. U. A. M., of the city, made the suggestion about the flag, the people of the city generally favor the matter and in case the Common Council did not act very soon on the petition, it was the intention of others to take the matter up.

W. A. M'CLURG TO RESIGN POSITION WITH P. S. C.

AFTER 15 YEARS SERVICE HE QUITS SUPERINTENDENTCY.

William A. McClurg, manager of the electric department of the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company, has decided to sever his connection with the Public Service Corporation, and will put in his resignation in a few days. Mr. McClurg has been associated with the company as superintendent of this department for fifteen years.

When asked by a Daily Press reporter this morning his reasons for resigning, Mr. McClurg declined to be interviewed. As to his subsequent plans, nothing is known. Mr. McClurg is well known in this city, where he has been a resident for many years. He is efficient and experienced in his position, and his loss to the Public Service Corporation will be regretted.

Transfer of Realty.

A. D. Thompson has made a sale of fifty building lots from the Plainfield Land and Building Company's West End tract at Rock avenue, to a New York real estate operator. He has also sold several other lots in that section recently, and has a prospect of locating two large factories there. This, together with the large addition to the Manganese Steel Safe Company's factory, is booming real estate in that section of the city.

Nabbed Crap Shooters.

Hearing an unusual noise in the hallway of the Dunlap building, last night, Patrolman McCarthy peered in and saw John Webster and John Conshee shooting crap. They never noticed the cop until he had them in a firm grasp and both were hustled to a cell. Judge Runyon lectured them on the evils of gambling this morning and then suspended sentence.

Safe Door Causes Trouble.

The swinging open of his safe door, a few mornings ago, forced Fred Ivamy, of West Second street, against a large window in the rear of his store. The weight was too much for the glass and it gave way entirely.

To Extend Line.

The Farmers and Merchants Telephone Company will soon extend their line to Cokesbury, Hunterdon county. Several 'phones will be placed through that neighborhood.

CITY BUYS SANITARY PLANT

James F. Buckle Sells It at Price He Paid.

FOR GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Routine Work of the Common Council at Last Night's Session.

Corporation Counsel Marsh reported on several matters of importance at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night, including the sale of the plant of the Plainfield Sanitary Company to the city by Mayor-elect James F. Buckle. He stated that the title had been passed and advised the Common Council to pay Mr. Buckle the stipulated price in the contract, $3,100. Mr. Marsh added that he found the title defective in its original state and that considerable time was spent in making it conform to the law. Later in the evening Mr. Daniel moved that a warrant be drawn in favor of Mr. Buckle for $3,100 after the papers in the case have been verified in accordance with Mr. Marsh's approval.

Mr. Marsh reported that the case of the American Sewage Disposal Company, of Boston, against the city for alleged infringements in the use of a septic tank is status quo, while the suit of the Cameron Septic Tank Company, of Chicago, against the city, for similar alleged infringements, has been settled.

Concerning the action of the Board of Health against Antiono Mara for violations of the health ordinance, Mr. Marsh stated that conviction had been secured and that the defendant had paid $50 towards the fines imposed. The sum of $70 is yet due and Mr. Marsh added that there is now an application for the commitment of Mara before the court for failure to pay the fines.

Alfred H. Lawton, of Orange, through his counsel, William Rockwell, of Newark, petitioned the Common Council for an adjustment of taxes on property owned by him in this city. It appears that he has been paying taxes on the wrong property, while someone else has been paying taxes on his property, which was sold under the Martin Act. Mr. Lawton asked that $75.63, the amount it cost him to redeem the property, be refunded. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Collector F. H. Smith reported that asettlement had been effected with E. L. Finch, of Park avenue, regarding an assessment in error on Arlington avenue property owned by Mr. Finch.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company notified the Common Council that two fire hydrants had been located, as ordered, in the East End of the city. One is on Evergreen avenue and the other on Denmark road.

Mayor Jenkins appointed Tucker Johnson a special policeman and the same was confirmed. Mr. Johnson was recently made janitor of the City National Bank.

Mr. Daniel offered a resolution authorizing the issuance of $1,000 street improvement bonds to pay for the work of macadamizing certain streets, previously selected by the street committee. These bonds will be secured by notes in the usual way.

Mr. Higham, reporting for the committee having under consideration the petition for the widening and deepening of Cedar brook and the one regarding the overflow of Green brook, stated that plans for the work of improving Cedar brook have been prepared but that some of the property owners along the brook have refused to sign for the improvement and the matter is temporarily held up. As to the Green brook matter he said that several meetings of the committee have been held and only progress could be reported at this time.

Mr. Higham offered a resolution providing for the laying of sidewalks in West Fifth street and Monroe avenue, where property owners have failed to comply with the law. The cost for the work will be paid through the placing of a lien on the property.

Mr. Bullock reported for the fire and buildings committee on the matter presented to the Common Council by Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph as to the "spite-house" trouble, stated that the committee had held several meetings and consulted with Corporation Counsel Marsh, but desired more time before presenting a final report.

On Mr. Murphy's motion the petition for an electric light on East Second street, north of Washington street, was granted.

In recommending the granting of a license to an applicant to carry on an express business, Mr. Tyler recommended that hereafter these applications be made to conform to the city ordinances. The recommendation was granted.

The Fischer FISCHER PIANOS

New Small Grand

The New Small Grand is the latest art product of our manufacture. Competent judges pronounce it The Most Remarkable Grand Piano of Its Size Ever Made. It occupies but a trifle more space than the upright and supplies a need where economy of room-space must be considered, and at the same time practically possesses all the Tone-power, Sweetness, Purity and Breadth of Melodic Expression that marks the FULL GRAND.

It is unique in design and satisfies the aesthetic sense of the most exacting. It must be seen and heard to be appreciated.

A LADY MASON.

Mrs. Grover Cleveland Laid Foundation Stone of Hebrew Girls' School.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Armed with a silver trowel, Mrs. Grover Cleveland laid the cornerstone of the building at Second avenue and Fifteenth street in this city, being built for the Hebrew Technical School For Girls. Ex-President Cleveland presided at the ceremony and made an address.

The Clevelands arrived from Princeton by the Pennsylvania road at 10:45 o'clock and were met by Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Myers. Mr. Myers is president of the school. The party drove to the building, where a tent had been erected between the uncompleted walls.

Mrs. Cleveland wore an apple green tailor made suit, quite plain, with a coat of knee length of the same shade and material. She wore a stole and carried a muff of chinchilla. Mr. Cleveland's ruddy color and good health were evident. He moved quickly and actively and showed the liveliest interest in the proceedings. Mrs. Cleveland, too, seemed in splendid health.

WIRELESS AND THE BALLOON.

Messages Sent From World's Fair Tower to the Aerial Craft.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12.—As the result of a scientific experimental balloon ascension made from the aeronautic concourse on the world's fair grounds the practicability and accuracy with which wireless messages could be received both as to altitude and distance were satisfactorily tested.

More than twenty messages were transmitted from the world's fair wireless tower and received by the operator in the aerial craft. Paul Knabenshue of Toledo, accompanied by the operator, A. W. McQueen of Guthrie, Okla., and W. S. Foreman of St. Louis, made the ascension. After making a successful journey through the air, one hour and a half in duration, Aeronaut Knabenshue made a safe landing four miles southwest of the concourse.

The highest altitude reached was estimated at about two miles.

Opposed to Further Fusion.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 12.—Several of the leading Democrats of Nebraska have placed themselves on record as opposed to further fusion in this state with the Populists. They include ex-Governor Boyd, former Attorney General C. J. Smyth, President Henry W. Yates of the Nebraska National bank, Richard L. Metcalf, editor in chief of the Omaha World-Herald, and T. C. Heafy, treasurer of the Democratic state committee. Ex-Governor Boyd was unequivocal in his opinion, saying: "There is room for only two great parties in this country. Bryan and others have ruined the Democratic party in Nebraska."

Stock and Grain Company Fails.

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—The pronounced rise in the stock market is responsible for the suspension of the Federal Stock and Grain company of this city, one of the largest concerns of the kind in the country. The company had four offices in Boston and fifty or more in other cities. Treasurer D. E. Murray states that the concern has lost $1,000,000 in the last six months. The claims against it, he says, do not exceed $150,000. Most of the branch offices are located in New England, but there were agencies in Montreal, Albany, N. Y.; Denver and other cities. All branch offices are closed.

The New Japanese Loan.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Half of the $60,000,000 Japanese loan, to be offered in this market by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., will be payable, interest and principal, here at the fixed rate of exchange —$4.87 per pound sterling. Assurance has been given the syndicate managers that the Japanese government will permit the proceeds of the loan to remain on deposit in New York banks, "subject to the requirements of the Japanese government."

Denmark Accepts Peace Proposal.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 12.—The Danish government will accept President Roosevelt's invitation to participate in a second peace conference. The government considers that it is particularly desirable that a clearer international agreement be formulated regarding neutrality and contraband regulations. Negotiations for a treaty of arbitration between the United States and Denmark have been opened.

Maryland Still In Doubt.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—The official counting of the ballots in Baltimore and the counties of Maryland has been resumed. The official count in eighteen of the twenty-four wards showed a gain of ninety-one votes in the city for Parker. The gains for Parker announced since the official counting began are, it is said, enough to transfer the plurality of votes from Roosevelt to Parker.

A Place For Garvin.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 12.—A plan looking to the resignation of one of the Democratic representatives elect from Cumberland and his succession by Governor L. F. C. Garvin, who failed of re-election for governor on Tuesday, in the general assembly when that body meets in January is under consideration.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

LAPORTE, Ind., Nov. 12.—A boiler attached to a thrashing machine on the Samuel Kauffman farm, near here, exploded and killed Warren Bassett, ten years old, and John Boltenhouse, sixty years old, both of Elkhart. Six others were hurt.

Miss Roosevelt at Staatsburg, N. Y.

STAATSBURG, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Miss Alice Roosevelt has left Washington to make several visits to friends and at present is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills here.

PORT ARTHUR'S FALL

London Hears of Capture of Czar's Stronghold.

RUSSIA MUST EVACUATE MANCHURIA

Japanese Minister to Great Britain Confirms Peace Proposals by Japan and Names Conditions Demanded of Russia.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Reports are current here from private and some press sources that Port Arthur has fallen.

Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister, said he had received no news and discredited the rumors of Russian capitulation.

The dispatch from Washington confirming the statement made that Japan had indicated her willingness to entertain peace suggestions from President Roosevelt or King Edward has created much interest here. Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister, said:

"After the fall of Port Arthur Japan would, I believe, be ready to treat for peace on no higher essential basis than that Russia should evacuate Manchuria, Japan also agreeing to a similar evacuation.

"The two great difficulties in the way of any suggestion of peace are, first, the apparent opposition of Emperor Nicholas' present advisers to a settlement of any kind; second, the preservation of Russia's prestige. When a nation's prestige if not gone is severely impaired it is a difficult matter even with the best of intentions to preserve it."

It is learned that Queen Alexandra has been in constant communication with the dowager empress of Russia and Emperor Nicholas himself during the last few days. This is interpreted here as a hopeful sign and as very likely to lead, though not in the immediate future, to the establishment of some modus vivendi whereby steps looking to arbitration might be initiated without offense to Russia.

A Tientsin dispatch says that during the bombardment of Thursday night the Russians threw sixty large melinite shells into the Japanese camp opposite Manalon hill.

The Japanese, who during the previous cannonading seemed to have successfully used a searchlight directed against the Russian positions for the purpose of covering their operations at night in the extension of their field works in the region of the railway, did not reply when the Russians attacked them further to the east.

It is known that the Japanese have placed guns of large caliber in the vicinity of the Shakhe railway station, bringing Schiatun, the next station to the north, within the range of their fire.

The Russian army is celebrating the distribution of presents of food, clothing and confectionery sent by the empress to the officers and men.

Regimental bands are playing from camp to camp along the line, and the army is now in better spirits and appears to be much more formidable.

Owing to the mildness of the weather and the prevalence of sunshine the soldiers are bathing in the open.

The Russians are hoisting manikins for the purpose of drawing the Japanese fire, and they also make a practice of bantering the Japanese in other ways.

Reports of the grave condition of the besieged at Port Arthur have reached Mukden, and as a consequence the Russians will not be surprised to learn of the capitulation of the fortress.

Comfortable dugouts are being built along the Russian lines, and the soldiers seem to think that they will winter where they are. The idea that Field Marshal Oyama contemplates an attempt to take Mukden is not generally entertained. Both sides seem to be content for the present with a suspension of hostilities. Warm clothing is being distributed among the troops.

A dispatch from Tokyo states that General Nogi is fully empowered to negotiate with General Stoessel, the Russian commander, for the surrender of Port Arthur.

The Japanese commander will offer honorable terms that will be acceptable to General Stoessel. General Nogi will be held personally responsible for any excess by his troops.

EMPEROR'S GARDEN PARTY.

Mikado's Annual Chrysanthemum Show at Tokyo.

TOKYO, Nov. 12.—The emperor yesterday afternoon gave his annual chrysanthemum garden party in the park of the Aoyama palace, where he entertained about a thousand Japanese and foreign guests. The emperor, empress, crown prince and crown princess and their suites entered the park at 3 o'clock and remained for an hour.

The weather was brilliant, and the display of chrysanthemums, the national flower of Japan, was a wonderful one. Lloyd C. Griscom, the American minister, who was accompanied by Mrs. Griscom, presented to the imperial party the wife and daughters of Rear Admiral Stirling, commanding the Philippine squadron of the Asiatic fleet; Henry B. Miller, the American consul general at Newchwang, and Mrs. Scidmore, the American authoress, a resident of Yokohama, who has written a number of works on Japanese subjects. Sir Claude M. MacDonald, the British minister, presented the Right Rev. William Awdry, Episcopal bishop of South Tokyo, and General Sir William Miller of the British war office.

Returns From Washington.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 12.—Roosevelt's plurality in the state of Washington is 66,749, with a few precincts not reported. The plurality of Mead (Rep.) for governor, is 15,277.

MURDER AT AUBURN

Julius Weber, Wife and Children Burned by Assassin.

CAUSE OF THE MURDERS A MYSTERY

Mrs. Weber, Her Son and Daughter Rescued From Burning House, but They Died Almost Immediately.

AUBURN, Cal., Nov. 12.—Julius Weber, his wife, their nineteen-year-old daughter Bertha and their son Paul, aged fourteen years, have been murdered here by an unknown assassin, who set fire to the home in an effort to cover his crime. Before the fire had made any great headway the bodies of the woman and her two children were rescued from the burning house. Mrs. Weber and her boy were still alive, but died almost as soon as they reached the air.

An examination of the bodies showed that Mrs. Weber and the children had been murdered before the fire had been started. Mrs. Weber and her daughter had been killed by pistol wounds. On the boy's head were several deep cuts. He had also been shot.

All efforts to reach Julius Weber, the father, who was not thought to be in the burning house, were abandoned. When a search was made in the burning timbers his body was found in the bathroom of the dwelling. He, too, had been shot down before being left to be consumed by the flames. This makes the death list as follows: Julius Weber, aged forty-eight; Mrs. Julius Weber, aged forty-one; Bertha Weber, aged nineteen, their daughter, and Paul Weber, aged fourteen, their son.

The body of Mr. Weber was so badly burned that it has been impossible to ascertain how often he was shot. It has been ascertained beyond a doubt that the women were killed in one room and their clothing set on fire and that they were then dragged into the apartment where their bodies were discovered.

One very peculiar circumstance of the tragedy is that, while the bodies of the mother and daughter were burned to some extent, the apartment in which they were lying was not on fire when the firemen broke in, which showed that they had been killed in some other part of the house, partially burned and then dragged into the room where they were found.

The physicians are holding an autopsy over the badly charred remains of Julius Weber.

The robbery theory is not held. Adolph Weber, the son, aged twenty, who is the only member of the family alive, talks but little, but to the coroner and sheriff he says he did not think the motive was either robbery or revenge. When asked if he had a theory he said he had, but would not give it. He did say reluctantly that his father had a violent temper. The boy said he left the house about 6:30 and came downtown, purchased a pair of trousers and did several other errands. When he went to the fire he dropped his old trousers, which were in a bundle, in the burning building. Young Weber has a good reputation. Two 22 caliber revolvers were found, but the bullets extracted from the bodies were of 32 caliber. The officers are looking for the pistol from which they were fired.

The inquest has been adjourned to await the result of the autopsy.

Julius Weber was a retired brewer and a man of considerable wealth. The family lived in a handsome home here, and Mr. Weber possessed valuable property in Oakland, Cal.

Boxer Outbreak Inevitable.

BELOIT, Wis., Nov. 12.—Sensational reports of a threatened Boxer uprising came from Peking in a letter from Charles F. Gammon of the American Bible society to his father, E. M. Gammon of Beloit. Mr. Gammon says that a second Boxer outbreak is inevitable and states that United States Minister Conger is alive to the danger and has notified the Chinese officials that unless the movement is suppressed at once he will request United States troops to be sent to Peking.

Philippines and the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Secretary Taft has decided to lay before congress at the approaching session the project for the reduction of customs duties on goods entering the United States from the Philippines from the present rate, which is 75 per cent of the Dingley tariff rates, to 25 per cent of those rates, the reduction to apply to sugar and tobacco, while all other Philippine products are to be placed on our free list.

Wants Fifty Millions For Navy.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 12.—In view of the project of Brazil to raise a loan of $50,000,000 for the purpose of increasing her fleet, official and other Argentine newspapers are urging a rearrangement of treaties with Chile in order to enable this government to expend $15,000,000 in the creation of an Argentine navy, alleging that Brazil is ambitious of securing supremacy among the South American states.

American Demand on Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 12.—United States Minister Griscom here has addressed a note to the porte demanding reparation for the recent attack near Aleppo by brigands upon a caravan belonging to the American house of MacAndrews & Fobes of Smyrna.

A Chicago Subway Planned.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The Chicago subway will be of sufficient width for the two tracks for street cars. It is twenty feet below the surface and eighteen feet over the freight tunnel, a large part of which is already completed.

WORLD'S RECORD BROKEN.

Lou Dillon Makes the Mile Unpaced In 2:01.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 12.—Lou Dillon trotted a mile at the Driving park here in 2:01, breaking the world's unpaced trotting record. The mare was accompanied by a runner at the side. The time by quarters was :30, 59¾; 1:30, 2:01. The former unpaced mile trotting record was 2:01¼, held jointly by Lou Dillon and Major Delmar.

After scoring twice the word was given. The little mare stepped the first quarter in 30 seconds flat. When straightened out down the back stretch Sanders, her trainer and driver, called on her for a faster effort, and the half mile post was passed in 59¾ seconds. The runner challenged the mare in the turn for home, and she passed the three-quarter post in 1:30. When well lengthened out for the flight to the wire Lou Dillon slightly faltered, but passed the judges' stand in 2:01.

Cornell Won Cross Country Run.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—The annual cross country run between Pennsylvania and Cornell, which took place through Fairmount park here, was won by the Ithacans in the fast time of 28 minutes and 30 seconds. The distance was 4 miles and 500 yards, and the number of points scored was: Cornell, 12; Pennsylvania, 28, the least number winning. R. T. Newman, Cornell, finished first.

Wild Lad Won Autumn Cup.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—At the Liverpool autumn meeting here Wild Lad won the Liverpool Autumn cup of 1,200 sovereigns, 100 sovereigns being in plate, a handicap for three-year-olds and upward, one mile and three furlongs. The odds were 11 to 2 against Wild Lad. Flower Seller was second, and Vril was third. There were twenty-two starters.

Jim Beattie at Aqueduct.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—On a muddy track Jim Beattie easily captured the Oakdale handicap at Aqueduct. Crimmins at the start sent Jim Beattie into the lead and gradually increased his advantage to the finish, winning by six lengths from the favorite, Cairngorm, with Flyback third.

Yale Gun Team Defeated.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 12.—The Yale gun team was defeated by Princeton here in the annual shoot by the score of 203 to 196 out of a possible 250.

Cigar Lighter at Latonia.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 12.—Cigar Lighter, at 16 to 5, captured the feature event from Rusk at Latonia. Four favorites and two second choices won.

Troops to Guard Close of Fair.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—President Francis of the Louisiana Purchase exposition recently made application to the war department for the sending of troops to the exposition grounds for the protection of government property and the property of foreign nations contained in the exhibits, and also of the exhibits of the Philippine government. This request was based on the ground that it had been the experience in all great expositions, as they have drawn to a close, that the destructive tendency on the part of the visitors and others has resulted in great loss.

Double Shooting at Southington.

SOUTHINGTON, Conn., Nov. 12.—In a frenzy that bordered on the insane, caused by jealousy, Lawrence Defalio shot and seriously wounded Carrie Jimity at her home here and then shot himself, dying last night. The Jimity girl was shot in the back, and it is believed she will recover. She is the daughter of Frank Jimity, who also was in the room when the shooting occurred. After Defalio shot the girl he went into an adjoining room and fired a bullet into his brain and lived but a few hours.

Ex-Postmaster Drowned.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 12.—The body of N. J. Allender, former postmaster of New London, has been found in the harbor of this place, and with a vise-like grip he was clinging to a wharf pile, which he evidently had clutched in the hope of saving his life. Mr. Allender's mind at times was slightly unbalanced as the result of a railroad accident a year ago.

Tramps Robbed Schoolboy.

NYACK, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Tramps near here held up Lester Sherwood, the fourteen-year-old son of Supervisor Esler Sherwood of Monsey, N. Y., while the boy was on his way to Spring Valley to school. After beating him and stealing a dollar, all the money the boy had, they threw him into a brook and escaped. Many people have joined in pursuit of the tramps.

Falling Off In Theology Students.

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—The serious falling off in the number of college men who are seeking to enter the ministry was the subject of a conference of educators, editors and leaders of the churches in New England here today. These men came together by invitation of John R. Mott of New York, the general secretary of the World's Student Christian federation.

Train Broke All Records.

LIMA, O., Nov. 12.—All records on the Pennsylvania railroad for long distance runs were broken by a special train from Crestline, O., to Fort Wayne, Ind., with General Superintendent Schoyer on board. The distance of 131 miles was covered in 113 minutes.

Thirty Millions In Lotteries.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 12.—The Chinese government is formulating a scheme of state lotteries for the purpose of wiping out the indemnities granted to railroad corporations. The prizes will aggregate $30,000,000 in gold.

FLED TO MOUNTAINS

Desperadoes of Montgomery, W. Va., Terrorize Town.

GOVERNOR WHITE ASKED FOR TROOPS

Killing of Sheriff and Prominent Citizen by Edward Jackson Caused First Trouble—His Gang In Mountain Stronghold.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 12.—As the result of the killing of Constable Walter Jackson in Montgomery by Policeman Elliott on Wednesday last and the subsequent capture of the town by the four brothers of Jackson, at the head of about forty of their friends, a reign of terror exists there. The mayor, being helpless, appealed to Sheriff Daniels yesterday. When Sheriff Daniels and John Rolf were killed by Ed Jackson yesterday, while attempting their arrest, Governor White was asked to send troops.

The governor replied he would hold troops in readiness, but advised forming a large posse. If the posse should meet with serious resistance, troops will be sent to their relief. The Jackson followers escaped to mountain strongholds with which they are familiar.

Ernest and Bob Jackson have since been arrested and brought to this city by Deputy Sheriff Davis and others and placed in jail. A posse, headed by Marshal Ash of Thurmond, is scouring the mountains near Montgomery. Two bloodhounds were placed on the trail, and it is believed the band has been located. The officials in Montgomery fear further trouble, as sentiment against the slayer of Daniels is strong. Before the murder of Daniels the sentiment was with the Jacksons against Policeman Elliott. Elliott is in the custody of Chief Hundley at the Ruffner hotel here.

A dispatch says at a late hour last night all efforts to capture Edward Jackson, who shot and killed Sheriff Daniels and John Rolf, a prominent citizen of Montgomery, has proved futile. Forces have been searching for Jackson all day and are still scouring the surrounding country for him. The excitement following the double shooting has somewhat subsided, but the friends of Sheriff Daniels still threaten to lynch Jackson if he is captured.

Baltimore Man May Die.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 12.—Edward King, twenty-four years old, a theatrical man of Baltimore, was found unconscious from the effects of gas in his room in the Palace hotel here. The keyhole and window sashes had been plugged with paper, but some of the gas escaped into the hall, and its odor was detected by a servant. The door was broken down, and King was found unconscious on the bed, and he has little chance of recovery. In the letter to Chief Hopper the writer said that his wife had gone away with a Miss Horton and that both of the young women were stage struck.

Britain Will Refuse Request.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 12.—The minister of foreign affairs has addressed a note to the British government embodying new proposals for the reopening of British ports to Argentine live stock and hinting that in the event of refusal Argentina will reopen her ports to live stock from Holland, Switzerland, France and Germany, which were closed under conditions imposed by the British government last year. Indications are that the British government will refuse to comply with the request.

The Wyoming Seriously Injured.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Secretary Morton received a telegram from the commander of the monitor Wyoming saying that when she grounded in a heavy fog leaving Puget sound her garboard stake and several frames were injured and compartments 68A and 68B were flooded. It will be impossible to determine the extent of the damage until she has been docked.

Japanese Colony Coming.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Five Japanese, advance guard of a colony of forty or fifty families, have arrived by the steamer Manchuria on the way to Dade, Fla., where they intend to cultivate 67,000 acres of land. The colony will raise silk, cotton, tobacco and pineapples and experiment with them.

Not For Co-education.

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 12.—Professor George E. Howison, the head of the philosophy department of the University of California, has startled the college community by declaring that the large number of women students attending the university is inconsistent with the attainment of high scholarly ideas.

Lost Election Bets; Suicide.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Because he lost his election bets, it is said, Frederick Griebel, seventy-six years old, committed suicide by shooting himself in the right temple with a revolver at Ridgewood Heights, on Long Island. Griebel was a native of Germany.

Last of the Light Brigade Dead.

DENVER, Nov. 12.—Alexander Sutherland, said to have been the last survivor of the famous Balaklava "Six Hundred," is dead at his home in this city, where he has resided for forty years. He is ninety-four years of age.

Only One Little Skirmish.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 12.—Notwithstanding reports of battles between Paraguayan government troops and revolutionists, the fact is that there has been only one skirmish, and that was an unimportant affair.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; variable winds.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dunn & Co.'s Report Shows Fair Prospects.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

All measures of trade indicated the customary loss due to holiday interruption, but subsequently much of the deficit was regained, numerous evidences of increasing confidence being seen in the disposition to place orders for distant shipment. Increased consumption of pig iron is also significant, and in other leading branches of manufacture there is a steadily diminishing percentage of idle machinery.

Foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows a decrease of $562,905 in exports compared with last year's figures, while imports increased $4,364,891. Receipts of coffee were a prominent factor in this gain.

Railway earnings in October exceeded last year's by 3.8 per cent. The average quotation for the sixty most active railway shares rose above all records for about eighteen months, and the volume of sales exceeded all figures for three years and a half.

Bank exchanges at New York reflected the heavy speculation, an increase for five days of 23.5 per cent over the full week last year being reported, while at other leading cities there is a loss of 1 per cent.

Commercial failures for the week in the United States were 213 against 229 last week, 233 the preceding week and 283 the corresponding week last year; 89 were in the east, 51 south, 61 west and 12 in the Pacific states, and 68 report liabilities of $5,000 or more. Liabilities of commercial failures in the United States reported for November to date are $2,284,217 against $4,235,582 for the corresponding period last year.

THE NEW CABINET.

Secretary Hay Will Continue During Next Term.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—President Roosevelt made the announcement yesterday afternoon that Mr. John Hay would continue as secretary of state during the four years beginning March 4 next.

"You may state positively," were his words, "that Mr. Hay will continue as secretary of state up to the 4th of March, 1909."

The president was asked regarding other possible cabinet changes, but indicated that there was nothing to be said at present. His announcement regarding Secretary Hay was made to a number of newspaper representatives in his office late in the afternoon. Mr. Hay's succession to the state department portfolio fixes the most important place in the new cabinet and is the first and only step so far taken in that direction.

Largest Vessel on the Pacific.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 12.—The steamer Minnesota, one of the newest of the Great Northern Steamship company's boats and the largest vessel that ever came to the Pacific ocean, has arrived at Coronel.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 12, 1904.

The New York Tribune contains a dispatch from Trenton today which states that former United States Senator James Smith, of Newark, and former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, are seriously considering flopping over to the Republican party. No conversion is reported from Princeton.

Though James E. Martine, of this city, was swept away in the Roosevelt landslide, he won the day in Elizabeth, the home of his opponent, Congressman Charles N. Fowler, and in Plainfield, the recognized stronghold of the Republican candidate for re-election. Roosevelt carried Elizabeth by over 1,800 and carried the rest of the party ticket through with him, except the congressional nominee, Martine obtaining a majority of 156 in Plainfield. Roosevelt's majority was over 1,600 and the balance of the Republican ticket as much or greater with the exception of the congressional candidate. Mr. Fowler only got 846, showing that at least 400 Republicans voted for Martine. Out of the 846 majority, at least 550 is credited to the districts in which voting machines were used.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

The Taylor Iron and Steel Company, of High Bridge, shipped sixteen manganese steel safes to the plant of the Manganese Steel Safe Company, on Clinton avenue, this week. The safe company was awarded the gold medal for its exhibit of safes and vaults at the St. Louis Exposition.

AMUSEMENTS.

The fame of McCutcheon's Bird Center cartoons has extended all over the entire country and it was altogether natural, therefore, that those famous pictures, pregnant with humor and originality should attract the omnivous dramatist who is ever seeking fresh themes for stage use. "Bird Center," a new comedy-drama evolved from the McCutcheon cartoons, is one of the most stimulating promises of the early season. It received its initial production in New York last week Thursday, at the Majestic Theatre, coming direct from Chicago after a successful run at the Grand Opera House. A quintette of such clever comedians as Edward J. Connelly, George Richards, William Burress, Louis Payne and George E. Mack are seen in the leading comedy roles, while accomplished actresses like Blanche Chapman, Rose Cooke and Mabel Strickland are sure to do justice to the quaint types of femininity in "Bird Center." The scenery is on a most lavish and elaborate scale, the brush of John E. Young, the foremost metropolitan scenic artist having been called into requisition to illustrate such diverse scenes as the Bird Center thoroughfare, the Bird Center art studio, the Bird Center picnic grove and the home of Captain Fry, the veteran G. A. R. officer. Julian Mitchel, who has no peer as a resourceful and inventive stage manager, personally supervises the production.

—H. J. Wightman, superintendent of the North Plainfield Public Schools, began his interesting series of five minute talks to the pupils of the High School at chapel, this week. His first talk was on "Open Mindedness."

—The New Jersey Central Athletic Association will have an entertainment in Columbia Hall, Greeneville, Jersey City, on Monday night, November 21. A handsome souvenir will be presented to each person attending.

Miss May Walters, of Glen Gardner, has been visiting friends here for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lamerson, of Plainfield, have been visiting their parents at Middle Valley.

Mrs. Blackwell, of Pennington, N. J., a resident of this place some years ago, is visiting at the home of Mr. Woolston, of the borough.

A cold winter with lots of ice and snow is the goosebone prediction of an old weather prophet.

M., is the oldest lodge of Free Masonry in this city, if not in this part of the State. It was instituted on November 11, 1817, the original charter still being in the possession of the lodge. This charter was issued by the Grand Lodge of New Jersey, the Grand Master being Dr. William McKissack, a practicing physician at Millstone. He was the grandfather of J. H. Manning, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., being the father of Mr. Manning's mother. The Grand Secretary at that time was H. L. Beatty.

At the time of institution John

Casper Bolsterli,
The Venerable Tyler.

Allen was the master of the lodge, Elias Runyon was the senior warden and W. D. Sherwood was the junior warden. Mr. Allen was master during the years 1817-18-19, and he was succeeded by Mr. Runyon, who served during 1820-22 23, who in turn was succeeded by Mr. Sherwood, who held the office during 1824-28 and again in 1853. The charter bears the inscription "Township of Plainfield, County of Essex," this place at that time being a part of Essex county. Last night it occupied a prominent position in the lodge room and was the object of considerable interest on the part of the members and guests.

The lodge has had forty-two masters, including Most Worthy Past Grand Master Henry R. Cannon, of Elizabeth, who served the lodge as master in 1855-56-57-58. On February 17 of this year he celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his membership in Jerusalem Lodge, and a handsome testimonial was presented to him at that time by the members. He is the only member of Jerusalem that has attained to the position of Grand Master of New Jersey. He is now eighty-four years old and very feeble. Being unable to attend the celebration last night, an interesting letter from him was read.

Of the forty-two masters, twenty-two are living, Frederick J. Pope being the present master, Richard A. Osmun the senior warden and George T. Caskey, junior warden. The lodge has a membership of 198. Among the oldest members is Caspar Bolsterli, who for many years has held the office of tyler. The membership includes many who are prominent in the city, either in a business or professional way and it is with more than ordinary pride that they recall the success of their lodge.

NEW YORK SCHOOLS

MOST EXPENSIVE EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM IN THIS COUNTRY.

FREE LECTURE COURSES.

They Have Assumed Wonderful Proportions and Importance—Making American Citizens in the Ghetto District.

NEW YORK.—The opening of the school season is a pretense until October. Only then do the recreation centers, the free lecture courses, the gymnasiums open. Not even then are the night schools at work. Summer is long in the city.

Almost past belief are the plans made for schooling outside the school. The free lecture system is only 16 years old; it grew from small beginnings through the faith of a few, whom Dr. Leipziger, the superintendent, has always led. It has been threatened time and again with extinction as an improper use of tax money. The last threat was uttered only last winter.

Yet 140 free evening lecture courses are now in operation in as many public schools. The halls cost nothing but heating and lighting. Some of the most talented people of the city offer their services as a public duty for the nominal fee of $10 per evening. A quarter of a million people may be hearing the course in any evening. The schools of New York are the most expensive in the world; the lecture system, considering the advantages it offers to so many people for amusement and information, is very cheap. It makes use of the civic pride of New York's best citizens—and of these the city has plenty.

At the top of the public school system is the college of the city of New York. It has been called a big high school. It is more than that, ranking with the smaller state universities of the south and west. At the top of the free lecture system are such admirable offerings as the illustrated talks in the great hall of the natural history museum by enthusiastic scientists who there are building up the great collections of American exhibits.

Cleanliness and Learning.

A SCHOOLHOUSE to hold 8,000 children is the latest proposition to cure the evil of "no room." It will stand in the heart of the great East side ghetto, where live the majority of New York's 700,000 Jews. It will have ten stories, the upper ones served by elevators. Its roof playground will be spacious and breezy, with purer air than can be found lower. It will have baths, gymnasium, kitchens, where poor girls will be taught to cook; a library. The plan is not daring; a school that holds 5,000 children is already doing its work hardly a stone's throw above the famous Henry Street school, where 30 nations are being welded together into one, and where the morning salute to the flag is the most touching sight in the city. Between the two, just at the corner of Essex street and the new Division street park, where a living tide of squalid humanity boils all day back and forth, another of the same size is going up. A devoted man, Superintendent Snyder, plans these schools. He believes that they should teach beauty in the slums. Many of his newer plans are in the secular gothic style so successfully used in England. Here in the teeming tenements he is setting up a renaissance temple recalling the palaces of Florence in her golden age.

All the new schools contain baths—though that necessity is decreasing just as it is beginning to be met. The newer tenements are often constructed with bathrooms. In the older houses that they replace there were sometimes whole blocks that averaged but two or three bathrooms to 5,000 people.

Private Benevolence Aids the City.

IT IS worth while to consider how eager private benevolence is to supplement the city—or rather, to aid in lines not yet thought quite proper for city expenditure. There are the Milbanks, for instance, not among the notoriously wealthy families, but what a record they have of things accomplished! Milbank Hall is the beautiful home of Barnard college for girls. The Millbank baths have within the year been opened on the East side; they surround their poor users with every beauty of architecture and every luxury of equipment that the richest may command. The Millbanks, brother and married sister, are of the class of people who look out all the time for good ways to spend money.

They have just found one in Jersey City. There was a clergyman named Scudder personally unknown to them whose liberal views in some church ported sermon attracted their attention. They have just enabled him to carry out his ideas of holding young people from evil amusements by providing harmless ones in a $150,000 people's palace which I can say from personal inspection is, though smaller, more attractive than the original institution which Walter Besant dreamed for East London, and which so beautifully "came true." Dr. Scudder has, and values first of all, a gymnasium with a director who was formerly the trainer at Columbia university. He has dancing space, and proposes to use it, no matter who objects. Library, reading rooms, baths, clubrooms, of course.

"Gen. Grant" Just as He Was in '70.

AND now again Gen. Grant is a New Yorker; and seeing the stout figure of medium height and more than ordinary sturdiness, the square, bullet-shaped head, the closely cropped beard showing plentiful gray, the old New York resident rubs his eyes in bewilderment, half wondering if it is not again 1870, if the president is not on a flying visit to the city. Gen. Fred Grant is the living image of his father. His coming to succeed Gen. Corbin as commander of the department of the east brings him to that home of his young manhood which he knows best of all. For Gen. Grant has been a resident of the city, off and on, for 30 years. It was from New York that he was appointed minister to Austria. He was for a time police commissioner of the city, like Roosevelt, and with equal earnestness worked for the regeneration of the department. His home in New York was the narrow, deep house on Sixty-seventh street to which the elder Grant came from Washington for the unhappy experience in "high finance," in which business ignorance and a knavish partner plunged him. The present general will live on Governor's island, which was never his father's home; in the quiet commander's quarters where amidst the sea traffic of all the world a calm as if of a closter is perpetual. The appearance of calm is deceptive if it were to indicate drowsiness. The department includes a great number of big harbor forts; those of New York particularly are upon a scale little realized by people who pass them every day unthinking.

Of the great change made by modern ordnance Gen. Grant will have a reminder in 80 great cannon lying upon a dock of the little island, almost in sight of his house. They cost $10,000,000 in the time of his father; now they are not worth ten cents. Not even for old iron? No; for some reason which I do not understand, even junk dealers do not want them. Perhaps they are too heavy to handle; perhaps the composition of the metal—huge rifled cannon of the old type—is not nowadays fashionable. The new rifled cannon that from unobtrusive pits in the sand guard the port are all of the modern type, firing at a 12-mile range a pointed projectile that would pierce if fairly hit the armor of any ship likely to wander this way. There has been a great, though well-concealed change in the defenses of New York since the Spanish war. Before that time visitors wandered at will about the forts. Now Uncle Sam doesn't care about company. And the work goes on.

The Wedding of Mr. Potter.

THE wedding of James Brown Potter was no surprise to New York society, which had for four years expected that he would tire of single blessedness. Mr. Potter is uncomfortably near 50, and is comfortably wealthy; he is a member of an aristocratic family, and has in his immediate relationship the bishop of New York, the owners of the Potter building and other famous men of the metropolis. His beautiful wife, Cora Urquhart Potter, had been on the stage for some years when, in 1900, he obtained a divorce. He has always lived quietly and has never offended against taste in any way. His beautiful daughter, left in his custody by the seperation, has made an excellent match.

Remains, of course, the Episcopalian objections to the remarriage of church members, but that command has been broken in so many families, that it now excites no surprise. It is a curious coincidence that it has been disregarded in the immediate families both of the bishop of New York and of the late Bishop Littlejohn, of Brooklyn, whose daughter was divorced from her husband, a noted lawyer there. Nor has the Potter objection the use of one's talents on the stage prevented one member of the family, James Brown's cousin, from being a professional singer, and a good one.

Mrs. Potter was one of the prettiest women New York had ever seen when she electrified society by reciting at a charitable entertainment "Referee" George Simm's poem of "'Ostler Joe," which was in those simple days considered a daring choice. The many-jointed tongue of the town wagged at a great rate. Not long after came the breach, when Mrs. Potter went upon the professional stage and made her vaunt, which the profession has never forgotten or forgiven, that she did so to "elevate the theater." The silly remark of one who was little more than a girl, intoxicated by public admiration of her beauty, need not be remembered against her now, when she has by hard work made the profession her own.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Beads the Latest Hat Trimming—A Development in Ceintures.

A very curious fashion which has made its appearance of late is that of wearing a ceinture of black taffeta with a colored costume. To accompany it there is usually a rosette of black taffeta worn on one side of the corsage, and sometimes the same is repeated on the sleeves. The effect is not always of the happiest, especially when the gown is trimmed with different colored material. It is doubtful whether this rosette vogue will be of long duration.

Beads are perhaps the most important millinery novelty seen lately, and they are to be found encircling the crowns of some smart hats in roped effects. These ropes are of different colored beads, each bead about the size of a large pearl and designed in every and any color that harmonizes with the hat. Some of the ropes in bright colors are too garish to be in really good taste, but a pretty example is found in the shape of a brown hat pointed in front and composed of gathered tulle adorned with a single string of brown pearls wound around the crown. This wreath is decorative without being at all eccentric.

The chic toque illustrated is of chestnut brown taffeta and velvet. The silk makes the draped crown, and the velvet is maneuvered into corded puffings about the brim. A green velvet drapery is arranged feather fashion at one side.

Things Which Are Needed by the Woman Who Motors.

Although everybody is not the happy possessor of a motor car, there are few women in these progressive days who do not number among their friends or relatives some one more blessed than themselves by fate, so that it has become almost a necessity to include garments suitable to this pursuit among the items of a well equipped wardrobe.

The new motor coats are made of tweed, cloth and even leather. Indeed leather as a decorative feature is a great deal used on motor garments in the form of pipings, buttons, collar and cuffs. Sometimes it is applied in scroll designs, in which case the leather is embossed or cut into conventional patterns. For winter wear some loose fur lined sack coats are made which represent the acme of comfort.

The cut of the motoring coat does not vary much from any ordinary long wrap except in the sleeves, which should always be large, with closely buttoned wrists, which are far more preferable than any other style, while a flapping cape is an abomination.

The matter of headgear is an important one and the veil a supreme requirement of the woman who motors.

The most sensible and comfortable hat is a light cloth peaked cap arranged with an inside brim for the purpose of holding the long pins in position, or a neat canotier of felt may be worn if securely fastened on the head.

A simple veil is one of crepe de chine gathered on a firm round disk, which fits on the crown of the hat and is drawn tight around the throat and tied in a bow under the chin.

The illustration represents a coat most useful to a woman who does not need the services of a motor wrap pure and simple. This coat is well adapted for ordinary driving and traveling. It is made of navy blue cloth stitched with red and trimmed with red buttons. It would be charming carried out in brown or fawn broadcloth or tweed.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

"You devil! you arch fiend!" exclaimed the regent, starting up and laying his hand on his sword. "There is no punishment you do not deserve! You will leave me in this plight—you—you, who have supplanted me at every turn; who made that horrible scene but last night at my own table, within the very gates of the Palais Royal; you, the murderer of the woman I adored! And now, you mocker and flouter of what may be my bitterest misfortune—why, sir, no punishment is sharp enough for you! Why do you stand there, sir? Do you dare to mock me—to mock us, the person of the king?"

"I mock not in the least, your grace," said John Law, "nor do aught else that ill beseems a gentleman. I should have been proud to be known as the friend of Philippe of Orleans, yet I stand before that Philippe of Orleans and tell him that that man doth not live, nor that set of terrors exist, which can frighten John Law, nor cause him to depart from that stand which he once has taken. Sir, if you seek to frighten me, you fail."

"But, look you—consider," said the regent. "Something must be done."

"As I said," replied Law.

"But what is going to happen? What will the people do?"

"First," said Law, judicially, flicking at the deep lace of his cuff as though he were taking into consideration the price of a wig or cane, "first, the price of a share having gone to 12,000 livres this morning, by two o'clock will be so low as 10,000. By three o'clock this afternoon it will be 6,000. Then, your grace, there will be panic. Then the spell will be broken. France will rub her eyes and begin to awaken. Then, since the king can do no wrong, and since the regent is the king, your grace can do one of two things. He can send a body-guard to watch my door, or he can see John Law torn into fragments, as these people would tear the real author of their undoing, did they but recognize him."

"But can nothing be done to stop this? Can it not be accommodated?"

"Ask yourself. But I must go on to say what these people will do. All at once they will demand specie for their notes. The Prince de Conti will drive his coaches to the door of your bank, and demand that they be loaded with gold. Jacques and Raoul and Pierre, and every peasant and pavior in Paris will come with boxes and panniers, and each of them will also demand his gold. Make edicts, your grace. Publish broadcast and force out into publicity, on every highway of France, your decree that gold and silver are not so good as your bank notes; that no one must have gold or silver; that no one must send his gold and silver out of France, but that all must bring it to the king and take for it in exchange these notes of yours. Try that. It ought to succeed, ought it not, your grace?" His bantering tone sank into one of half plausibility.

"Why, surely. That would be the solution."

"Oh, think you so? Your grace is wondrous keen as a financier! Now take the counsel of Dubois, of D'Argenson, my very good friends. This is what they will counsel you to do. And I will counsel you at the same time to avail yourself of their advice. Tell all France to bring in its gold, to enable you to put something essential under the value of all this paper money which you have been sending out so lavishly, so unthinkingly, so without stint or measure."

"Yes. And then?"

"Why, then, your grace," said Law, "then we shall see what we shall see!"

The regent again choked with anger. Law continued. "Go on. Smooth down the back of this animal. Continue to reduce these taxes. The specie of the realm of France, as I am banker enough to know, is not more than 1,300,000,000 livres, allowing 65 livres to the marc. Yet long before this your grace has crowded the issue of our actions until there are out not less than 2,600,000,000 livres in the stock of our company. Your Brothers Paris, your D'Argenson, your Dubois will tell you how you can make the people of France continue to believe that twice two is not four, that twice 13 is not 26!"

"But this they are doing," broke in the regent, with a ray of hope in his face. "This they are doing. We have provided for that. In the council not an hour ago the Abbe Dubois and Monsieur d'Argenson decided that the time had come to make some fixed proportion between the specie and these notes. We have to-day framed an edict, which the parliament will register, stating that the interests of the subjects of the king require that the price of these bank notes should be lessened, so that there may be some sort of accommodation between them and the coin of the realm. We have ordered that the shares shall, within 30 days, drop to 7,500 livres, in another 30 days to 7,000 livres, and so on, at 500 livres a month, until at last they shall have a value of one-half what they were to-day. Then, tell me, my wise Monsieur L'as, would not the issue of our notes and the total of our specie be equal, one with the other? The only wrong thing is this insulting presumption of these people, who have sold actions at a price lower than we have decreed."

Law smiled as he replied. "You say excellently well, my master. These plans surely show that you and your able counselors have studied deeply the questions of finance! I have told you what would happen to-day without any decree of the king. Now go you on, and make your decrees. You will find that the people are much more eager for values which are going up than values which are going down. Start your shares down hill, and you will see all France scramble for such coin, such plate, such jewels as may be within the ability of France to lay her hands upon. Tell me, your grace, did Monsieur d'Argenson advise you this morning as to the total issue of the actions of this company?"

"Surely he did, and here I have it in memorandum, for I was to have taken it up with yourself," replied the regent.

"So," exclaimed Law, a look of surprise passing over his countenance, until now rigidly controlled, as he gazed at the little slip of paper. "Your grace advises me that there are issued at this time in the shares of the company no less than two 2,235,085,590 livres in notes! Against this, as your grace is good enough to agree with me, we have 1,300,000,000 of specie. Your grace, yourself and I have seen some pretty games in our day. Look you, the merriest game of all your life is now but just before you!"

"And you would go and leave me at this time?"

"Never in my life have I forsaken a friend at the time of distress," replied Law. "But your grace absolved me when you forsook me, when you doubted and hesitated regarding me, and believed the protestations of those not so able as myself to judge of what was best. And now it is too late. Will your grace allow me to suggest that a place behind stout gates and barred doors, deep within the interior of the Palais Royal, will be the best residence for him to-night—perhaps for several nights to come?"

"And yourself?"

"As for myself, it does not matter," replied Law, slowly and deliberately. "I have lived, and I thought I had succeeded. Indeed, success was mine for some short months, though now I must meet failure. I have this to console me—that 'twas failure not of my own fault. As for France, I loved her. As for America, I believe in her to-day, this very hour. As for your grace in person, I was your friend, nor was I ever disloyal to you. But it sometimes doth seem that, no matter how sincere be one in one's endeavors, no matter how cherished, no matter how successful for a time may be his ambitions, there is ever some blight to eat the face of the full fruit of his happiness. To-morrow I shall perhaps not be alive. It is very well. There is nothing I could desire, and it is as well to-morrow as at any time."

CHAPTER XLI.

THE BREAKING OF THE BUBBLE.

It was the evening of the day following that on which John Law and the regent of France had met in their stormy interview. During the morning but little had transpired regarding the significant events of the previous day. In these vast and excited crowds, divided into groups and cliques and factions, aided by no bulletins, counseled by no printed page, there was but little cohesion of purpose, since there was little unity of understanding. The price of shares at one kiosk might be certain thousands of livres, whereas a square away, the price might vary by half as many livres; so impetuous was the advance of these continually rising prices, and so frenzied and careless the temper of those who bargained for them.

BEARD HELPED ESAU

THICK FOLIAGE SERVED AS A SHIELD AGAINST FOUL TIPS.

Western Farmer Used Spinach on His Face to Ward Off Injuries and Thus Originated Ball Catcher's Protector.

"Umph!" grunted an American league rooter to a St. Louis Republic reporter, when a foul tip caught the Chicago catcher in the wind pad. "That guy owes a vote of thanks to the man who invented the chest protector, all right, all right."

"You refer to Esau Sampson, I suppose," suggested the man higher up. "He didn't exactly invent the chest protector, though. It just came natural with him. Sort of growth, ye might say.

"It was back in the early eighties, the year that Bull Thompson, the Lightfoot Lilies' star catcher, got laid up. The Bull had a favorite trick, you remember, of biting the bat and holding it with his teeth when the batsman drew back to hit the ball. He had 'em all guessing with the stunt, until he tried it on the terrible Swede of the Beaver Dam (Wis.) invincibles and got four of his teeth extracted for a three-base hit.

"For awhile after Bull's accident the Lilies were up against it, and Capt. Slugger Burrows was scouring the country high and low for some one to fill his shoes.

"'Twas down in Minnesota somewhere, I think, that he finally landed Esau Sampson. At any rate, Esau looked like an orthodox farmer, all right.

"Whiskers? Why, say, that man's face looked like an eastern view of the seventh Sutherland sister going west with her hair down. Honest, he had the most fertile face I ever trained my lookers on. His beard was enough to make the most wayward of swallows homesick to nest again.

"Did it bother him when he was playing ball? Never but once. On all other occasions those whiskers were the greatest help in the world to him.

"You remember what catchers had to stack up against in the foul tip line before the days of the chest protector? If 'twas nothing worse than the wreck of a floating rib or a vacuum in the air tank, a backstop could consider himself lucky.

"But that was where Esau used to show up so strong. The ball couldn't hurt him. When a foul tip shot through his hands there'd be a slight lowering of the jaw, a sharp rustling sound and we'd know that another ball was safely resting in Esau's facial foliage.

"The only time he came to grief through his hirsute chin crop was in a practice game with the Jones County Eye, Ear and Tongue Infirmary team the Wednesday before the big championship contest with the Ringtail Roarers.

"'Twas in the last half of the ninth and the game looked a lead-pipe cinch for the Lilies. The Infirmaries had two men on bases, two were out and there were two strikes and no balls on the batter.

"But you never can tell in baseball. Who'd ever have thought that just because Dean Braley, the Lilies' pitcher, put a little chewing gum on the ball to give it an extra twist for the third strike that that would have turned the tide of victory?

"It did, though. The third strike came low and Esau missed it. The gum on the ball caught his beard and yanked it between his legs with such terrific force that he turned a complete somersault.

"The Lilies rushed in from the field to his assistance, but before they could disentangle the ball from Esau's Kansas ramblers the three Infirmaries had crossed the plate with the runs that won the game.

"That put the Lilies in a quandary. They didn't so much mind losing a mere practice game, but what was to prevent the same thing from happening in the big championship contest with the Ringtail Roarers? Dean Braley said he couldn't give up the occasional use of chewing gum on the ball at that stage; it would simply ruin the effectiveness of his delivery.

"It was Esau himself who finally solved the problem. He appeared on the field in the Roarers game with his whiskers snugly encased in a freshly laundered pillow slip, and so successful did this contrivance prove as a safeguard against foul tips that before the season was out every catcher in that part of the country had adopted it in one form or another.

"And that, sir, to the best of my knowledge, is the origin of the present-day catcher's protector. At any rate, I've never heard it disputed."

FOUND SCHORB INSANE

Jury Decides Him Not Guilty of Burglary Charge.

AMUSING MOCK TRIAL

Large Gathering in Perseverance Court Room Hears Interesting Case Argued by Counsel.

After three minutes deliberation, a jury in Part IV, Court Perseverance, No. 74, K. of P., last evening, decided that William A. Schorb was not guilty of a charge of burglary, preferred against him by "Ted" Flannery, in stealing two wagon wheels, a keg of horseshoes and a box of nails from his shop on East Third street. The defense entered a plea of insanity and despite the complete chain of evidence woven by Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., the "twelve men tried and true" accepted the former presentation. The prisoner was accordingly discharged with a warning from Supreme High Judge Runyon to be careful as to where he plied his "bug house" operations in the future.

The trial was a mock proceeding but was one of the best conducted a local attendance has ever witnessed. Perseverance lodge room was filled when Court Crier Thomas Muir called for order and His Honor in the person of City Judge William N. Runyon, hidden beneath a crazy-quilt gown and wearing a ponderous white wig, assumed his seat. Counsellor Hetfield moved that the case of the State against William A. Schorb be commenced and the prisoner, heavily shackled, was dragged in by Sheriff George B. Cose. Clerk William Mills read the complaint and a jury was soon selected, only two of the panel being rejected. The defense objected to Bertram Firstbrook because he had not paid his poll tax and Jacob Blimm on the ground that he was a Canadian.

V. W. Nash, Jr., appeared for Schorb and aiding him as consulting counsel was David Bowden. The prosecution had built its case on purely circumstantial evidence but it made matters very dark looking for the defense until Schorb began seeing things and hopped on the judge's desk to catch them. There was hardly any need then for his counsel to plead insanity as the demonstration given was entirely sufficient. All three counsellors made eloquent pleas and the charge to the jury kept the members "guessing" as to which side His Honor favored. It was the general inference in the court room that he had received a bribe from both and the jurymen were not slow in showing their envy. The verdict was quickly arrived at, however, and in making it known the foreman recommended that Elmer D. Cutting and Frank Putnam be taken in custody on the ground that they had submitted perjured testimony. Jerry VanWinkle, who posed as an expert on smells and fell down when asked to describe the odor of a mint julip, was also scathingly arraigned, before the prisoner was discharged.

The witnesses examined were as follows: Prosecution, J. E. Flannery, Joseph C. Blimm, Thomas M. Muir, Philip Jahn, Elmer D. Cutting, Matthew D. Sweeney and John Haskard; defense, William Schorb, Jerry VanWinkle, Peter Lund, Bert Schreiner, Asa D. Pope and Frank Putnam. The jury was composed of Donald McInnis, foreman, Peter Stram, Alfred Prudhon, Philip Geise, Robert Cresson, R. B. H. Daily, Cyrus Boice, Samuel Clouston, Jacob Voehl, Martin Cronce, Charles Wakefield and J. M. Burd.

While the trial was in progress refreshments and cigars were served to all present.

FOOTBALL.

N. P. H. S. will play P. H. S. on Wednesday, November 23, at Hope Common.

There will be no local football games this afternoon, as the players are attending the Yale-Princeton game at Princeton.

The next game on the schedule of the North Plainfield High School football team will be with the Westfield High School team at Recreation Park, Wednesday, Nov. 16.

The football game between N. P. H. S. and Westfield, scheduled for Thursday, was postponed by N. P. H. S. on account of lack of players, one being hurt at the football game Tuesday, one hurt at basket ball Wednesday night and two out of school.

The Leal team has no game in the interscholastic league for this afternoon. They have finished their league games, having defeated the Carteret School and been beaten by the Newark Academy, Pingry and the Montclair Academy. They will close their schedule next Saturday in a game with the Plainfield High School.

The Orange Field Club has only one more game in town this season. That will take place in the latter part of the month and will be with a team from Newark. They will play the Edward Clark Club, of Elizabeth, next Saturday. Manager Smith is considering a number of other out-of-town games, but has not yet announced with what teams the games will be. The games with the Flemington and Somerville teams has been cancelled. Both teams were defeated by the O. F. O. in this city. It is possible that the Oranges may play a game with the Dunellen eleven in this city, though Captain McVoy has affirmed that there will be no further negotiations with the Alis club.

BASKET BALL.

There will be a basket ball game at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening between the Y. M. C. A. team and the team representing the Rahway Y. M. C. A.

The opening game in the Junior League will be held Wednesday at the Y. M. C. A. between the Leals and the Plainfield High School second teams. The first P. H. S. team have a game scheduled with the Hasbrouck Institute five.

NEW BRUNSWICK CLUB DEFEATS Y. M. C. A. TEAM

TRIANGLE CLUB PROVES SUPERIOR IN TWO STRAIGHT GAMES.

Unsteady work and lack of practice on the part of the Y. M. C. A. bowling team lost the two straight games games with the Triangle Club of New Brunswick, on the local alleys. The team had not been together for a week, and its scores were erratic. On the other hand the New Brunswick team bowled steadily, and its scores show more practice. Neal, of the Y. M. C. A. team, was high man with a score of 191, but on account of an injury to his shoulder he sank to 124 in the second game. Koons did not bowl his usual game, while Sutphen, who is usually high man, made the second highest score in the second game, and made a 158 in the first.

The following were the scores in detail:

Y. M. C. A.
Joffery	93	112
French	114	95
Neal	191	124
Sutphen	158	186
Koons	104	130

To Sue Auto Garage Company?

A rumor current today states that the members of the party injured in the automobile accident at Union, Tuesday afternoon, were to begin suit against the Plainfield Auto Garage, which rented the machine. Orville T. Waring, of Park avenue, when asked about the matter today declared he would neither affirm or deny the report. "Mayor Bill" Smith, speaking for the Garage Company, said no notice of a suit had been received.

Mr. Silbert's Denial.

Marcus Silbert, owner of the building at 132 Park avenue, denies that he has leased the store to Charles Schanz, who must move his saloon because of the Trust Company improvement. Mr. Silbert says he has had no conference with Mr. Schanz nor has he been broached on the subject of a lease.

Somerset's Majorities.

Roosevelt's majority in Somerset county was exactly 1,686, while that of Stokes was 1,055. Wood, for Congress, received 990 majority. Cooper, for Sheriff, got 511, and Hoagland, for Assembly, approximately 869 majority.

Funeral of Edwin Francis.

The funeral of Edwin Francis, who died at his home on Grove street Wednesday afternoon, was held from the residence of his son, E. A. Francis, yesterday afternoon. Rev. W. O. Jarvis, of Westfield, officiated. Interment was at Hillside.

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Rev. Phil. A. Parsons, pastor of the First Church of Christ, will lead the regular W. C. T. U. meeting tomorrow afternoon.

Miss Von Ohl a Crack Shot.

While hunting yesterday in the vicinity of her home near Willow Lake, Miss Adele vonOhl shot one of the largest fish hawks ever seen in this part of the State. The bird was soaring above the lake, occasionally catching bass from the lake. Miss vonOhl was on her way home when she saw the hawk. She quickly took aim with her gun and one shot brought the bird down. Miss vonOhl's setter dog "Bruce" accompanying her, had a desperate fight with the bird in the water, but finally succeeded in bringing him to shore. The bird measures five feet six inches from tip to tip on the wings. Earlier in the day Miss vonOhl shot two quail and three rabbits.

Hope Team Active.

The Hope chapel basketball team was out for heavy practice last evening on the Hope gymnasium floor. They played a game with the scrub, which resulted in a victory for the first team by a large score. Last night was the first time the team had been out for practice since their game a week ago. They were to have played the Perth Amboy team last night, but the latter sent word that they would be unable to appear.

Good Hunting.

Reports of good hunting are received daily, many of the local hunters having returned after the first two days with excellent luck. Charles Maltby and Judson Giles got several woodcock and a number of rabbits in the vicinity of Annandale. George Kaeding brought back two quail and twenty-five rabbits from Whitehouse. John Motley tried his luck near South Plainfield yesterday, and shot several rabbits.

Boys' Bible Classes Begin.

The first classes in Bible study at the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. were conducted this morning at the association. They were taught by Physical Director Henckle, Kenneth Robbie and Walter Caldwell. The classes have a large enrollment, and considering the fact that it was the first meeting they were well attended.

BIG AUTO RUNS AMUCK

Plainfielder Driving, Loses Control of Heavy Machine.

FOUR MEN HURT

East Fourteenth Street, New York, the Scene of Wild Excitement Saturday Afternoon.

Aided by a big automobile belonging to the New York Vacuum Cleaning Company, Fred Williams, of this city, treated the habitues of East Fourteenth street, New York, to more excitement than they have had in a year, Saturday afternoon. Losing control of the machine, Williams tried to run it to the curb, only to have it leap onto the sidewalk and crash into one of the three pillars supporting the heavy steel and glass canopy in front of the Dewey theatre. The entire structure fell down, burying four men beneath it, only one of whom was seriously injured, sustaining a broken leg and scalp wounds. Williams escaped by jumping and was afterward arrested and locked up in the East Fifth Street station.

When the canopy, which weighed several tons, fell, somebody turned in a fire alarm and three engines and a truck were rushed to the scene. One after another three ambulances from Bellevue Hospital came dashing up and within a few minutes a crowd of several thousand persons was waiting to see, as was feared, the bodies of the unfortunate men taken from beneath the debris. John Faber, of 1576 Madison avenue, who was the worst hurt, was sent to Bellevue and the others were patched up and carried to their homes.

In speaking to the police, Williams declared he could not account for what happened. He and a companion were going through Fourteenth street, when the automobile, he said, suddenly escaped from his control and began shooting wildly back and forth from curb to curb. He continued to shout warnings to people for half a block while he was making every effort to get the auto stopped. Before it struck the pillar, scores of men and women had been dodging it and many had very narrow escapes. The men buried beneath the mass of steel and glass, were taken out by the police reserves, aided by volunteers, each one of the victims yelling at the top of his lungs until they were finally freed.

Williams lives on Elmwood place and went with the Vacuum Company but a short time ago, before that having been employed by the Plainfield Auto Garage on West Second street.

The wrecked automobile was owned by David T. Kenney, of Rockview avenue.

WATCHUNG HUNT CLUB ENJOYS TEN-MILE CHASE

FIFTEEN RIDERS GALLOP OVER THE MEADOWS TO OAK TREE.

Starting from Fanwood Saturday afternoon, fifteen members of the Watchung Hunt Club enjoyed a run of ten miles over good meadows, and abundant fences. The party left at 3:15 and rode to Oak Tree, returning home at about 6 o'clock. In spite of the recent rain the ground was not wet enough to be slippery, and no accidents occurred to mar the pleasure of the event.

This was the eighth of the weekly chases conducted by the club, and though not so largely attended as the one on Election day, was in every way as successful. The gayly attired riders made a picturesque appearance, as, mounted on spirited horses, they followed the hounds. All the fences were well taken, the riders being expert.

There were four women among the party and several others were expected, from out of town, but were unable to attend.

The following were those who attended the chase Saturday: Miss Leila Cruikshank, Miss Holly, Miss Noe, of Westfield, Mrs. VanBeek, S. A. Cruikshank, George C. White, of Glen Ridge, Chauncey Sayre, of Newark, Dr. Ben VanD. Hedges, Mr. Bourne, of Cranford, Duncan Bulkley, W. Webster, Dr. Knott, C. E. Bellows and C. B. Chebbeare.

STORE AFIRE; LOSS SMALL

Flames Damage MacDonald Property in East Front St.

ORIGIN IS UNKNOWN

Store Occupied by Brokaw's Creamery and Mrs. Foote's Doll Factory.

While the wind was blowing a small gale and rain was pouring in torrents, fire broke out last night in the building on East Front street near Watchung avenue, owned by J. Fred MacDonald, and occupied by Brokaw's creamery in the front part and Mrs. Mary C. W. Foote's doll factory on the second and third floors. The blaze was discovered by Mr. MacDonald, who had been reading in the parlor of his home next door and who was attracted to the window by the barking of his pet bulldog "Sandy," who ran excitedly about the room and kept looking upward through the glass. An alarm was sent in from box 14 and the blaze was extinguished after an hour's fight and with a loss of $1,000 on the building and about the same on Mrs. Foote's stock. The creamery was damaged by water but only slight.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, but it evidently started in an extension back of the main building. This is two stories in height and occupied in the upper part by Mrs. Foote. The flames then crept in two directions, eating their way through to the third floor of the store structure, also occupied by Mrs. Foote, and to the barn occupied by Brokaw. This third floor and the extension were one mass of flames when the department arrived and fanned by the high wind had spread to Mr. MacDonald's residence but was confined to the cornice. The residence of Dr. Clawson on the westerly side was also threatened and was badly scorched, the good work of the firemen alone preventing a disastrous blaze.

The third floor was completely burned out and as the greater part of Mrs. Foote's finished product was there it made her loss quite heavy. She is protected by insurance but she will suffer more because of the loss of holiday trade. Mr. MacDonald is also fully covered by insurance. The flames did not get into Brokaw's creamery but it was somewhat flooded by water and he will also suffer a loss.

HIGH WINDS DO DAMAGE IN AND ABOUT THE CITY

ROOFING TORN OFF AND PLATE GLASS BROKEN.

An end of the West Indian cyclone which visited the eastern part of the country reached Plainfield last night and some damage resulted. The local telephone wires were more or less put out of business, while the telegraph wires suffered to some extent. A large plate glass window was broken in Cadmus Brothers' drug store corner of North and Watchung avenues.

While the wind was blowing the hardest a portion of the tin roof about the tower over George Cole's livery stables, was torn off and water ran into the stable. A few small trees were blown down and other damage of a trifling character resulted.

Mrs. Sheelen Buried.

Funeral services of the late Mrs. Theresa Sheelen, who died at her home on Jerusalem road Friday morning, were held this morning from Holy Trinity church, Westfield, where a solemn high mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul. The church was filled with the relatives and friends. Interments was made in St. Mary's cemetery here. The dead woman is survived by a husband and nine children, six sons and three daughters, among the sons being Borough Collector Charles Sheelen, of Fanwood.

Quarantine Off.

Margaret Patterson, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Patterson, of 751 West Seventh street, is convalescing from an attack of diphtheria. The child has been at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac W. Rushmore, her parents being abroad. The quarantine was raised last week.

CONGREGATIONALISTS MARK ANNIVERSARY

Special Services Commemorate Twenty-Five Years Work.

PASTOR'S ADDRESS

Rev. Charles L. Goodrich Recounts the Story of the Parish From Its Beginning.

Marked by an attendance which seemed unusually large because of the almost prohibitive weather, the first of the series of special services in observance of its twenty-fifth anniversary, was held in the Congregational church yesterday morning. It lasted from 10:30 until 12:30, and every minute of the time passed all too quickly for the members because of the pleasant memories which it recalled. The interior of the edifice was strikingly pretty because of the floral decorations which had been arranged. Beautiful chrysanthemums were grouped about the pulpit and from the rear there stood out in bold relief a bank of green the figures in white, "1879-1904.

The programme of the service in detail was as follows: Organ voluntary; doxology and invocation; response by the choir; hymn; violin solo by Charles Higgins, of the Parsifal orchestra; responsive reading of the Gloria; anthem; scripture reading and prayer; offering, with offertory by Mr. Higgins; roll call of members read by John M. Whiton; anthem; sermon, "Twenty-five Years of a Church's Life," by Rev. Charles L. Goodrich; hymn and benediction.

Pastor Goodrich's sermon was for the greater part a reminiscence, preaching from the text: "And Thou Shalt Remember All the Way Which the Lord Thy God Led Thee These Forty Years." At the beginning, he stated that were twenty-five put in place of the forty it would fit the occasion exactly. He likened remembering to the keeping of God's commandments in importance and related many instances in the Bible where "remembering" marked the life of the Israelites. Recalling facts and thing that had taken place during the past twenty-five years both in a National and local sense, he passed over to the Congregational church and its quarter-century of history. He said in part:

"Back of the twenty-five years we need not go, more than to say that a few years earlier people who had been in a Dutch Reformed church worshiping where the Trinity church now worships, changed from a Reformed church to the Congregational church of Plainfied. From out the wreck of that ill-advised, ill-starred and short-lived venture, there emerged in 1879, a company of about 100 people, who went out leaving the building and all church property behind them to organize a new Congregational church with the name, 'The Congregational church of Plainfield.' Organizing formally September 30, 1879, this company called Rev. William Manchee, a gifed sermonizer, and worshipped in the building now known as Reform Hall, then the Second Baptist or Park Avenue Baptist church. Afterward they moved to the Seventh-Day Baptist church, now the Whittier School building. Soon after the property at Seventh street and Madison avenue was picked out by one of the members and with the present parsonage upon it was purchased at a cost of $10,000 and presented to the church. This member was Jacob Kirkner.

"This caused renewed enthusiasm and in 1882-3 the present Congregational church was built. After a little over three years of service, ill health caused the retirement of Rev. Mr. Manchee and the present pastor, then principal of the Amherst High School, was called. He was installed in June, 1884, the installation sermon being preached by Rev. Dr. A. H. Bradford, of Montclair."

The pastor then went on to describe the growth of the congregation, the organizations formed in the church, its benevolent work and many other interesting facts, and then continued:

"Mr. Jacob Kirkner presided at the first meeting of the church. The first deacons were Dr. Titsworth, J. S. Powlison, A. J. Clarkson and Theodore Mace, all who have since passed away. The first clerk was B. S. Force, and the first trustees, S. C. Money, J. Kirkner and G. W. Rockfellow."

Mr. Goodrich spoke highly of all three, especially of Mr. Rockfellow, the only one who has passed away.

REOPEN CHURCH EDIFICE

First M. E. Congregation Holds Special Services.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Rev. Dr. Snodgrass Conducts the Morning Service and Chaplain Helms Preaches at Night.

For the first time in nearly four months, the congregation of the First M. E. church met yesterday morning in the church auditorium for the regular Sunday services, which were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, the pastor. The interior of the vestibule is entirely new, and where the approach to the gallery was formerly steep, it is now reached by wide stairways leading from both sides of the spacious vestibule. Another improvement which would immediately attract the attention of one entering the church, is the thin wood partition separating the vestibule from the auditorium.

Rev. Dr. Snodgrass made reference several times during the course of his sermon to the work which has been done on the building and of the gratitude which the congregationalists naturally felt that it was at length completed. In the evening William T. Helms, chaplain of the U. S. Navy, assisted with the services and delivered the sermon. Chaplain Helms was on board the Battleship Brooklyn with Rear Admiral Schley, and was later in the Philippine Islands.

In spite of the fact that only a few members of the congregation were present, Chaplain Helm delivered the regular sermon. He spoke on the subject "All Rivers Run Into the Sea." The speaker likened the Bible characters to rivers, all of whom were tributaries to the great River of Life, which Chaplain Helm said was Christ. Making a practical application to the present age, the Chaplain said that it was the duty of all Christians to follow the River of Life.

SERMON TO YOUNG MEN.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck's Talk on Esau and Jacob.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, preached a sermon yesterday morning specially for young men, in accordance with the general observance of the day for young men by the Y. M. C. A. He took his text from a portion of the twenty-seventh verse of the twenty-fifth chapter of Genesis: "And the Boys Grew." The text refers to Esau and Jacob and from the lives of these men he drew many helpful lessons. Rev. Dr. Schenck pictured Esau selling his birthright for a mess of pottage, while Jacob lived a Godly life. One was loved and admired for his upright life, while the other was the object of contempt. He compared the lives of these boys showing how differently they grew up and then applied the lesson for the present-day boys. There was no evening service.

M'CLURG'S SUCCESSOR.

R. P. Bache Appointed Superintendent of Electric Department.

Ralph P. Bache, who has been in charge of the electrical department of the Public Service Corporation at Bound Brook, has been appointed to succeed William McClurg as superintendent of the electrical department at the local plan of the company.

Mr. Bache has been engaged in electric work during the past eighteen years. Before the Public Service Corporation purchased the Bound Brook electric lighting plant, he was in charge of it. After the purchase he continued in that position. It is expected that Mr. Bache will enter upon his new duties here about December 1.

Examinations for Postal Carriers.

Three men took the civil service examination on Saturday for the purpose of carrier in the new rural delivery service to be established soon. This route takes in Watchung, Mt. Bethel, Warrenville, Gallia and other nearby towns. It is expected that the name of the successful candidate will be announcbed the last of the week. Another civil service examination will be held Wednesday morning for positions of letter-carriers and postal clerks.

Hillside's Season to Close.

The Board of Trustees of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club has given notice that the clubhouse and active season of the club will close on Saturday, November 26, two days after Thanksgiving Day. On the latter day there will probabaly be some special events on the course in addition to the regular play. The course will likely be kept open for general play as long as the weather remains favorable.

CONTESTS ON THE LINKS

Local Golf Season is Nearing to Its Close.

SATURDAY'S RESULTS

Only Three Scores Turned in on Hillside Golf Committee Cup Event.

The Yale-Princeton football game on Saturday had its effect on the attendance at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, where only a very few members turned out to take part in the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup. There were just three persons who turned in their scores, thereby winning the points for this trophy. There were no scores returned for the Gaston cup.

S. D. Lounsbery won first honors for the Golf Committee cup with a net score of 83, while D. H. Rowland finished second with a score of 84, and Julius E. Erickson was third with a score of 85. The scores were as follows:

S. D. Lounsbery, 91, 8—83; D. H. Rowland, 96, 12—84; Julius E. Erickson, 95, 10—85.

The competition for the Golf Committee cup will close on Saturday, and while W. L. Glenney leads with 18 5-6 points, Robert Abbott is a close second with 18⅓ and is likely to win out. C. B. Morgan is third with 18 1-3 points. He too is likely to land in first position. The next nearest competitor is Willard Wadsworth who has 10½ points, but it is impossible for him to win the trophy. The closeness of this competition will make Saturday's play of unusual interest to those who are contesting for the trophy. It is assured that Harold Robert will win the Gaston cup. He has a total of 22 points, and his nearest competitor, H. L. Hall, has but 11 points, making it impossible for him to win out.

BASKET BALL LEAGUE TO START THIS WEEK

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR JUNIOR ASSOCIATION CONTESTS.

Having finally completed all preliminary arrangements, the Junior Basket Ball League of this city is prepared for the opening game Wednesday afternoon. There has been some delay in getting the various players classified, as no regular player on any first team can be allowed to participate in a junior league game. The teams will be the Whittier School, the Leal's second, the Plainfield High School second and the junior aggregation of the Y. M. C. A.

Those who will play on the various junior teams in this league are as follows: Plainfield High School seconds: Doane, Mackey, Lambert, Caldwell, Freeman, Vail and Leggett. Leal's seconds: Howard, Underhill, Valiant, Endicott, Millar and Rowland. Whittier School: Woodhull, Loughlin, Fountain, Morris, Alpaugh and Briggs. Y. M. C. A. Juniors: Stern, Steiner, Doringer and Line.

The teams will play on Wednesday afternoons throughout the season, between the halves of the interscholastic city league games. In this manner there will be two basket ball games at the Y. M. C. A. every Wednesday afternoon beginning with December 7. The following is the schedule which has been arranged by Physical Director Henckle, and which is subject to change: November 16, Leal's seconds vs. P. H. S. seconds; November 23, Whittier School vs. Y. M. C. A.; November 30, Leal's seconds vs. Whittier; December 7, P. H. S. seconds vs. Y. M. C. A.; December 14, Whittier vs. P. H. S. seconds; December 21, Leal's seconds vs. Y. M. C. A.; December 28, P. H. S. seconds vs. Leal's seconds; January 4, Y. M. C. A. vs. Whittier; January 11, Whittier vs. Leal's seconds; January 18, Y. M. C. A. vs. P. H. S. seconds; January 25, P. H. S. seconds vs. Whittier; February 1, Y. M. C. A. vs. Leal's seconds.

CANVASSING THE VOTE

County Board of Elections in Session Today.

WHAT THE LAW SAYS

Method Prescribed for the Election Board to Do Its Work.

The County Board of Elections is in session at the Union County Court House today canvassing the returns of Tuesday's election and certifying to the election of those candidates who were successful at the polls. Deputy County Clerk Zerman Norman acts as clerk of the board. He presents to the board the statements of the election in each precinct in the county which have been filed with him.

Section 108 of the election law says: "The members of the County Board of Canvassers shall proceed to examine the statements which shall be produced before them and shall canvass and determine the votes cast at such election, and shall forthwith make two statements of the results."

Continuing the law directs that each of the statements shall contain the name of each election district, the number of names of the voters on the poll books of each district and of the ballots rejected.

Each statement must also contain the number of votes given in each district for each candidate, and each statement shall be certified to be correct by a certificate signed by the members of the board.

One of the statements goes to the county clerk, who shall file it. In the cases of the voting for the Presidential electors and the State officers, the other copy shall be filed with the Secretary of State. The duplicate copy of the statement for the city election shall be filed with the city clerk.

The Senate and Assembly at their meeting in January will pass upon the certificates of election as issued by the county boards for the members-elect of those bodies.

The election law provides that the meeting of the county election board shall be open and public, and a decision of a major part of the members shall be taken to be the decision of the board.

The returns for the election of members of Congress, Governor and Presidential electors in each county, as filed with the Secretary of State, will be canvassed by the State Board of Canvassers at the State House, in Trenton, Tuesday, November 29. The board will be composed of Governor Murphy and four or more members of the Senate, whom he shall summon for the purpose. The meeting will be held at 2 o'clock p. m., and the members will be sworn in before beginning the canvass. Governor Murphy will be chairman of the board and Secretary of State Dickinson will act as secretary.

AN OLD WOMAN TORTURED.

Negro at Bridgeport Nearly Killed Mrs. Ross.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14. — Mrs. Mary Ross, widow of a civil war soldier, was tortured and otherwise brutally treated early Sunday morning by a negro who forced an entrance into her home at Bridgeport, eighteen miles from this city, and demanded her pension money and valuables.

The woman, who is about seventy years of age, was alone in the house, but resolutely refused to obey the intruder. Persisting in her refusal, the negro bound her hands and feet and tortured her by blistering the soles of her feet with a lighted candle. Still she resisted, and then the negro searched the house. He found nothing, and in his rage he struck the helpless woman with a chair, rendering her senseless. She was found by a milkman, who notified the police.

Because of her age the injuries Mrs. Ross received are serious, if not fatal. The police have no clew to the negro.

LYNCHERS AFTER HIM.

Friends of Victim In Knife Duel Demand Slayer at Macon, Ga.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 14.—A crowd of friends of Fred Tharpe, who was killed Saturday night in a knife duel by Frank Christian, have marched to the hospital where his slayer lies wounded.

At 1 o'clock in the morning a mob composed of several of the dead man's friends formed and, marching to the hospital where Christian lies wounded, demanded to see him. Dr. Elder, the surgeon in charge, asked if they were friends of Christian and upon receiving a reply in the negative drew his revolver and informed the mob that he would kill the first man who attempted to enter the hospital.

A second attempt is feared. Fifteen officers have been put on guard at the hospital.

At 2:30 this morning no second attempt on the hospital has been made. A large force of officers is still on guard.

THREE FRENCH DUELS.

Army Officers and Deputies Meet—No Serious Harm Done.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Two duels, growing out of the assault on War Minister Andre by Deputy Gabriel Syveton in the chamber of deputies, have been fought here. Lieutenant Andre, a son of the minister, met Count de la Rochetulon, a deputy. Swords were used. Lieutenant Andre was slightly wounded.

M. Syveton fought Captain Gall, representing General Andre. Two shots with pistols were exchanged, but neither of the combatants was injured.

A third duel was fought during the day in the Parc des Princes between the Marquis d'Asmet and the Marquis de Fouquieres. Pistols at twenty-five paces were used. Neither of the duelists was hit.

Two Dead In Washington Fire.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—As the result of an early morning fire in a row of two story houses opposite the west side of the postoffice department building two persons were burned to death and one man had both legs broken and two women inmates were severely injured by jumping out of a second story window. The two dead men were burned beyond recognition. The fire started shortly before 2 o'clock and quickly spread through several houses. The occupants were all asleep, and those who were saved made their escape by jumping. The property loss was small.

Populist Leader Wants New Party.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Thomas E. Watson, the defeated candidate of the People's party for the presidency, is in this city for the purpose of taking steps to organize a radical party for 1908. It is understood Mr. Watson wants William J. Bryan, William R. Hearst and other radical Democrats to combine with the People's party and form a new organization. Neither Mr. Bryan nor Mr. Hearst so far has shown any intention of joining in the movement. Mr. Watson will make his home in New York.

Smallpox Germ Discovery.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 14. — City Bacteriologist Howard, who, with Dr. W. T. Counselman of Boston, has been conducting Rockefeller researches in the hope of locating the smallpox germ, made a secret report to the board of health a few days ago that the smallpox germ had been found. Dr. Howard says that there is still a gap in the knowledge, however, and by reason of this fact asks for the support of the board in conducting experiments on monkeys to secure the knowledge.

Roosevelt to Attend Dedication.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Rev. Dr. D. J. Stafford, rector of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church of this city, has invited President Roosevelt to attend on Sunday, the 20th inst., the ceremonies incident to the dedication of Carroll hall, the school for boys, and the rectory just completed for St. Patrick's parish. The president accepted the invitation. He may make a brief address at the ceremonies.

Drowned While Skating.

MONSON, Me., Nov. 14.—Three young men who were skating on Monson pond broke through the ice, and one of them, Einar Berglund, aged twenty-two years, was drowned. The others were rescued with difficulty.

Educator Fatally Hurt.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Rev. Dr. C. F. Dowd, seventy-five years old, who for many years was principal of Temple Grove seminary, has been fatally injured by a Delaware and Hudson railroad train.

WAS KUROKI SLAIN?

Russia Reports Japan's Fighting General Dead.

KILLED BY SHELL AT LIAOYANG.

Alarming News at Mukden From Port Arthur, Where They Fear Release of Nogi's Besieging Army.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A dispatch from Moscow says that Nemirovich Danchenko, a well known Russian war correspondent, telegraphing from Mukden, confirms the reports of the death of General Kuroki.

According to his version, the splinter of a shell struck General Kuroki, tearing out a portion of his breast and abdomen. He died on Oct. 4 at Liaoyang, and his body was sent to Japan.

A rumor is persistently circulated that a kinsman of the mikado, Shaosania, literally "Little Third Prince," has been appointed to succeed General Kuroki, but the actual command of the army has been intrusted to General Nodzu, who is reviewing operations.

"For the last five weeks," says Danchenko, "we have practically not advanced at any point on the whole southwestern front even a few versts farther than we stood on Oct. 5. On the contrary, we at several points have been obliged to retire several versts, but the present lines of defense must be considered permanent in view of the strong fortifications constructed.

"The Japanese positions at several points are only 800 paces distant from ours and must be considered to be definitely occupied by the enemy. The general position causes a great tension on both sides.

"Alarming news has been received from Port Arthur, but the absence of reports during the last few days makes it evident that the movement of one of the other Russian armies will be dependent upon the course of events there.

"Lately scouts on our right flank attempted to pierce the line of the Japanese fortifications, but were met with a stubborn resistance and, finding the enemy strongly re-enforced, retired."

A dispatch from the Japanese Manchurian headquarters says that in the direction of the left army the enemy attacked from Wuchental at 12:20 o'clock in the morning, but were repulsed. An infantry and cavalry force advanced from the direction of Siaokaiton. The force stationed there repulsed them, and the Russians retreated to Machuantzu.

Quiet continues everywhere along the front near Mukden. The weather has become almost like summer. One large village to the south is occupied half by Russians and half by Japanese. Both sides sit in their huts and shout. "Get out of here! This is our village!" yell the Japanese. "Get out yourselves!" answer the Russians. Then follow volleys of abuse.

At the Russian embassy the belief is expressed that the Russian second Pacific squadron will go from Suez direct to Jibutil, as Massowa and Ascab, the ports of Erythrea, lack provisions, coal and dockyards. But if necessary for urgent reasons there is nothing to prevent them from landing there if they respect Italian and neutrality laws.

Both Sides Claim the State.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14.—The indications still point with seeming certainty to the election of seven Democratic and one Republican electors in Maryland, but even this result will probably not be officially confirmed until the state board of canvassers meets. Both sides still claim the state, and Republican State Chairman Hanna and Collector Stone, Republican leader, have announced that if the electoral vote of Maryland is not declared for Roosevelt they will contest the result in the courts.

Jackson Wanted Dead or Alive.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 14.—The officers still control the situation at Fayette, but have not captured Edward Jackson, the slayer of Sheriff Daniel. Governor White has offered a reward of $500 for the capture of Jackson dead or alive and $100 for the capture of George Jackson, his brother. The other two of the Jackson brothers are in jail here, along with Policeman Elliott, who killed Constable Jackson and started the feud.

Killed For Raising Telephone Pole.

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 14.—Elmer Wright, an employee of the Union Telephone company of this city, was perhaps fatally shot by A. H. Wright about half a mile north of Shadeland, Crawford county. The wounded man was a member of a gang that is reconstructing the long distance telephone line from Pittsburg to Erie, and the trouble arose over an attempt to erect a pole in front of A. H. Wright's home. The men are not relatives.

Shipwrecked Off Rockland.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Nov. 14. — The two masted schooner Nautilus of Rockland, Me., is adrift in the harbor and in danger of going to pieces on the new breakwater. The crew of four men were taken off last night by the crew of the Dollivers life saving station after a hard battle with a terrific sea. The Nautilus was bound from Perth Amboy, N. J., for Rockland.

Woman Crazed With Burns.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Three persons were burned, one dangerously, by the explosion of a gasoline stove in the apartment of Theopolus Meppling, Boston Highlands, near here. Mrs. Meppling was crazed with burns about the face and body and leaped from a second story window. Her condition is serious. Meppling and his son Lewis also suffered, but less seriously.

A CYCLONIC STORM.

Atlantic Coast States Swept by Fierce Hurricane.

FROM FLORIDA TO NEW BRUNSWICK

Wires South and West of New York Entirely Cut Off—Railroads, Trolley, Telegraph and Telephone Lines Suffered Most.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—New York was entirely cut off from the south and west last night by a fierce hurricane, accompanied by rain and snow, which is sweeping the Atlantic coast.

Starting from Florida Saturday night, the storm of wind and rain has come up the coast at almost cyclonic speed. Early Sunday morning it was central off Cape Hatteras, although its ever gathering force was felt far to the northward.

Rain began falling in New York at 5 o'clock a. m. and early in the afternoon changed to a wet snow. The wind, which had been blowing moderately, veered to the southeast and shortly assumed hurricane proportions. At 6 o'clock last night the local weather bureau noted a velocity of forty-two miles an hour, which increased to forty-eight miles at 8:30 o'clock. That speed kept up for several hours. At 10 o'clock the storm center was at Block Island, where the barometer showed a pressure of 28.62 inches, with the wind blowing seventy-six miles an hour. At Nantucket the barometer was a trifle higher and the wind sixty miles.

Wire service out of New York was tied up more effectually last night than at any other time since the blizzard of 1888. The Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies have no direct communication with cities further south than Baltimore, and all western points are cut off.

The Postal Telegraph company has been cabling some of its most urgent messages to Canso, N. S., from which point they are wired to Montreal and thence forwarded to Chicago over Canadian Pacific wires. Shortly after noon the telegraph companies commenced to feel the effects of the storm. As wire after wire went down and city after city was lost the repair gangs were notified, but owing to the day and the heavy storm it was long after dark before a full force could be mustered.

Late in the afternoon it was reported that over 100 poles along the Erie railroad had gone down, completely putting the New York-Buffalo-Chicago wires by that route out of service. Recourse for a short time was had to wires via Albany and Syracuse, but a few hours afterward the pressure of the ice on the wires carried them, poles and all, to the ground outside of Poughkeepsie, thereby effectively closing the service. The Western Union was able to keep open the way to Baltimore, Philadelphia and most places in New Jersey, but business for other points, save New England, was only accepted subject to delay. Communication between New York and Boston over all lines was uninterrupted.

Every effort is being made to make repairs so that a few wires may be opened up to the south and west for business purposes. Special trains were engaged on most of the roads running out of Jersey City and Hoboken and dispatched late in the evening, laden with wire repairing gangs.

Owing to the completeness of the breakdown the men anticipate that progress on repairs will be delayed. The long distance telephone company has also been badly handicapped in its service.

Although the storm has been one of the worst of the year, marine disasters are not expected, except for vessels that may be out, the weather bureau having sent out a warning advising sea captains to remain in port over Sunday.

Last night the ferryboat Port Morris, running between College Point and Ninety-sixth street, Manhattan, went ashore on a rocky ledge in Bowery bay. There were ten passengers and the crew aboard. Owing to the heavy sea it is impossible to send wrecking boats to her, but the police boat went to the rescue. Owing to the fierce downpour the streets of New York were practically deserted. The high wind played havoc with the street signs, which fell in showers. Many windows were broken, and a few passersby were cut by the signs and flying glass. The full force of the gale was felt in the harbor.

Owing to the high seas in the upper harbor the ferryboats to Staten Island were compelled to tie up. The battleships Maine and Missouri are lying in the roadstead off Tompkinsville. They are riding well, but have full steam up and double anchors out.

At Bellevue hospital the storm was felt severely. One of the large elms standing on the campus was blown down, and half a dozen men narrowly escaped being crushed. Later on a tent occupied by eighteen tuberculosis patients was wrecked by the wind, and the suffering people were exposed to the elements. They were removed to the hospital as soon as possible, although most of them were drenched to the skin.

At midnight the local weather bureau said that 1.48 inches of rain and melted snow had fallen. It was predicted that the storm would be centered off maritime provinces today, thence passing out to sea.

Philadelphia Wires Down.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—The southern storm which began here about 5 a. m. Sunday seriously interfered with telegraph and telephonic communication in the vicinity. The telegraph companies report that wires are down in nearly all directions, excepting in New York and Baltimore. Communication with the interior of the state is entirely cut off. Rain, sleet and snow fell all day, with a maximum wind velocity of forty-one miles. Late last night the storm continued, although the wind had fallen to thirty-six miles an hour. The second lowest barometer reading in the history of the local bureau was recorded at 5 p. m., when it was 28.78. Reports by train from points in the state show that a heavy snow fell, averaging more than six inches.

STORM SWEPT BOSTON.

Hurricane Last Night Was Severe In Maine and Maritime Provinces.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—New England was on Sunday the center of the storm which has been sweeping up the Atlantic seaboard. When morning dawned the immediate storm center was off Cape Hatteras, but at 5 o'clock in the afternoon it had moved to the vicinity of Nantucket island.

When at its height the wind blew with hurricane velocity. In this city the maximum velocity was forty-five miles and was attained at 5:20 o'clock in the afternoon. At Block Island, R. I., there was a seventy-six mile gale, and at Nantucket, this state, a velocity of sixty miles was recorded. The storm passed east last night and was severe in Maine and the maritime provinces. At Portland, Me., at 11 o'clock the wind was increasing in velocity and would, the observer at the local weather bureau said, reach hurricane dimensions.

The coast storm was accompanied by snow, rain, hail and sleet. Rain fell in this state, Connecticut, Vermont and New Hampshire. There was snow in Maine, Rhode Island and northwestern Connecticut. In this city the rainfall was 1.18 inches. Telegraph and telephone lines in eastern New England and the maritime provinces suffered severely.

The storm had been well heralded, and most of the shipping remained in port. The craft that braved the elements had perilous passages.

BALTIMORE CUT OFF.

Snow, Rain and a Wind Storm Prostrated All Wires.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14. — A snow, wind and rain storm which developed here early Sunday and continued throughout the day and night caused an almost complete prostration of electric light, telegraph, telephone and trolley wires. A number of accidents was occasioned in the city by the broken and heavily charged wires during the day and evening, but so far as known there have been no fatalities.

With the exception of a few Western Union wires to Philadelphia and New York, Baltimore is cut off from communication with the other points of the country.

The local weather observer sent out a warning to masters of vessels to the effect that a second storm is fast traveling up the Atlantic coast and warning them not to leave port.

Storm Covered Connecticut.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—The disagreeable wind and snow storm was general throughout the state, and at times the wind reached a velocity of fifty-five miles an hour. Although it blew a gale along the water front, no damage to vessels is reported, many putting in the harbor here for safety, however. It snowed heavily in many parts of the state, and the mercury reached a lower point than at any time this season. The rainfall in New Haven and vicinity was the heaviest for several months.

Six Inches of Snow at Litchfield.

LITCHFIELD, Conn., Nov. 14.—Snow fell all day here, and up to 10 o'clock last night a covering of six inches was on the ground. It was the coldest day of the year, and on account of the severity of the storm all church services were postponed. The wind blew a gale, and the storm had all the ingredients of a small blizzard.

High Tides at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 14.—A severe wind, rain, hail and snow storm prevailed here Sunday. High tides have covered the back part of the city, in several instances inundating cellars in cottages. Some concern is felt over the safety of several gunning parties who started up Grassy bay on Friday and Saturday.

Gale at Point Judith, R. I.

POINT JUDITH, R. I., Nov. 14.—A northeast gale of hurricane fury, with wind blowing over fifty miles an hour, set in at this point during Sunday afternoon and continued with unabated fury. The barometer is unprecedentedly low.

Odell to Be President.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Times says that it has authentic information that Governor Odell will not be a candidate for United States senator. When his term as governor expires, according to the Times, he will enter upon a business career. The presidency of the Pacific Mail Steamship company has been offered to him, and it is said that he has agreed to take it.

Union Pacific Wreck Near Azusa.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 14.—Eleven persons were killed and many injured, two seriously, in a head-on collision between Union Pacific westbound passenger train No. 3 and an eastbound extra freight train a short distance west of Azusa, Wyo. The wreck, it is said, was the result of an error in a train order by a telegraph operator.

German Consul Beaten by Turks.

ALEPPO, Asiatic Turkey, Nov. 14.—Advices have been received here that Eckhardt, the German consular agent at Urfa, has been severely beaten by Turkish soldiers.

SHAMROCK DESIGNER DEAD.

George L. Watson, Friend of Lipton, Succumbed to Heart Trouble.

GLASGOW, Nov. 14.—The death of George Lennox Watson, the yacht designer, who has for some time past been ill of heart trouble, is announced at his home here. His condition had been reported to be better, but in the night he suffered a relapse and passed away. He was born in 1851.

Mr. Watson designed Shamrock II., which gave the Columbia such a close run for the America's cup. He recently refused a commission on account of illness from Sir Thomas Lipton to design Shamrock IV. He was born in Glasgow in 1851 and started in business there as a naval architect in 1872.

In 1880 he built the ninety ton Vandura for John Clark of Paisley, and she made a name for him by beating the king's (then Prince of Wales) famous yacht Formosa. In 1887 he built the Thistle to compete for the America's cup and afterward Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie II. and Valkyrie III. In 1893 he designed the cutter Britannia for the then Prince of Wales. She was probably the most successful yacht ever built.

LEW WALLACE VERY LOW.

Author of "Ben-Hur" Had an Operation at Brookville, Ind.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—It is reported General Lew Wallace, author of "Ben-Hur," "The Fair God" and "The Prince of India," is dying at his home in Brookville, Ind. His illness is due to a surgical operation performed some time ago for an ailment of the stomach, and it is said that the distinguished patient can live but a short time.

The general is very weak and realizes fully his condition, but has occupied his time since his illness began in writing his memoirs, which are now nearing completion.

General Lew Wallace, known among his intimates as Lew Wallace, American general, diplomat, lawyer and author, is in his seventy-eighth year. The man who became world famous as a general long before he created a furor in the world of letters as the author of "Ben-Hur" was born in Brookville, Ind., where he now lives.

CARLOS AT PORTSMOUTH.

King and Queen of Portugal Welcomed to England.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A great welcome was given King Carlos and the queen of Portugal on the occasion of their return of King Edward's visit when they arrived at Portsmouth. The royal yacht Albert and Victoria met them at Cherbourg, to which port they were escorted by four British cruisers and two torpedo boat destroyers.

Off the isle of Wight their majesties were met by a torpedo boat destroyer flotilla, which acted as a convoy to Portsmouth, where the king and queen were accorded full naval honors by the largest fleet of men-of-war assembled in the roadstead since the coronation of King Edward. The Prince and Princess of Wales welcomed their majesties on board the Victoria and Albert.

Spat In Cardinal Oreglia's Face.

ROME, Nov. 14.—As Cardinal Oreglia, dean of the Sacred college, was returning home yesterday from the Vatican and while his carriage slowed up because of a congestion of traffic a man named Marabini, aged twenty, spat in the cardinal's face. The carriage stopped, and the secretary of the cardinal and several citizens and policemen arrested the youth. At the police office Marabini explained that he had no personal rancor against Cardinal Oreglia. He was about to be locked up when a note came from the cardinal begging his release and saying he forgave him freely.

Vanderbilt May Go to Berlin.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—It is reported that Cornelius Vanderbilt will accept the appointment of first secretary of the German embassy at Berlin, which, according to dispatches from Washington, has been tendered to him by President Roosevelt. The general opinion is that Mr. Vanderbilt will not only take the appointment, but that he has coveted it for some time, and that it comes as a token of the president's appreciation of services which he rendered the Republican party in the campaign.

Storm at Block Island.

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., Nov. 14.—One of the wildest gales on record commenced Sunday afternoon at this point and at 8 o'clock was sweeping over the island and toward Long Island sound at a velocity of seventy-four miles an hour. Hurricane signals were hoisted, and the lowest point on record was touched by the barometer, 28.69. The gale was central over Block Island at about 10 o'clock.

In Memory of Andrew H. Green.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 14.—In commemoration of the first anniversary of the death of Andrew H. Green in New York memorial exercises were conducted in Rural cemetery here. A wreath of galyx leaves was placed on the grave. Albert E. Henschel paying a short tribute to Mr. Green's memory.

YALE POUNDS OLD ELI

Great Battle of the Gridiron at Princeton.

TIGERS WERE CLEARLY OUTPLAYED

Triumph of New Haven Men Was on Merit—By Sheer Strength and Weight They Forced Fight and Won 12 to 0.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14.—Thirty thousand persons saw Yale pound Princeton to defeat by the score of 12 to 0 in the first half of the most important football contest of the season. The result was a distinct surprise.

Clearly and cleanly the triumph was won on merit. Yale played a faster and headier game than her opponents. Yale had been underrated and Princeton overrated. Scientifically that was all there was to it, the experts said.

The bulldog football warriors of old Eli had left their kennels in New Haven and trotted down to old Nassau to meet the tiger on its own ground. Turned loose upon a field of surpassing beauty, hedged around by 30,000 persons in four solid banks and riotous with color, the bulldog barked its defiance in short, sharp, rasping notes. The tiger answered with a growl that clearly indicated that its fighting blood was up and that the fur would fly. And beneath one of the fairest suns that ever shone over gridiron they locked themselves together in a death struggle.

When the sun went down, leaving the field of battle cold and bleak, both sides licked honorable wounds and limped painfully off the field.

But as they trotted off the victor roared a salute to a valiant foe vanquished, and the vanquished put heart to a cheer for a worthy and honorable conqueror. So do Yale and Princeton end their athletic feuds with honor to both.

Experts may pick holes in the game here and there, and they may tell you that this or that man fell short at times. They may say that Yale should not have had its second score and that the final score should read: Yale, 6; Princeton, 0. But if any one tries to tell you that every man that took part in the game did not play for every ounce of muscle, every drop of red blood, every particle of skill and cunning that was in him, you can laugh at him.

From the very first moment the Yalensians went at their adversaries like battering rams and with a vigor that suggested a provender of railroad spikes with tobasco sauce for the last six weeks. One terrific mixup after another followed in those early moments, and then a roar that must have been heard all the way to Trenton went up when a man in blue was lugged by main force through the center of the Princeton line for five yards.

To write of the many deeds of any one man seems almost like an injustice to the man who played beside or opposite him, but heroes emerged from every encounter, and the names of Hogan, Hoyt, Bloomer, Leavenworth, Rockwell, Ritter, Tenney, Stanard and Foulke will set a cheer whenever they are mentioned so long as the memory of those who saw the great game lasts.

Cooney to Captain the Tigers.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14.—James Lawrence Cooney, '07, of Scranton, Pa., has been elected captain of Princeton's football eleven for next season. He prepared for college at Exeter and in his freshman year was tackle on the team which defeated Yale 11 to 6. He has made a brilliant record this season and is the best line plunger on the team. Cooney is twenty-four years old.

Admiral Dewey's Captain a Suicide.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Captain Frank S. Israel, commander of the United Fruit company's steamship Admiral Dewey, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart in the chart-room of the vessel last Thursday morning. The steamer reached port yesterday on her regular trip from Jamaican ports. Captain Israel had been in his usual good spirits and on the previous evening had entertained some of the passengers in his cabin. The only cause assigned for the act is temporary mental aberration.

Crew of Wrecked Ship Missing.

WOODS HOLE, Mass., Nov. 14.—The two masted schooner E. Arcularius, Captain Nelson of Rockland, Me., went ashore in the severe northeast gale shortly before dark last night about a quarter of a mile west of Tarpaulin cove, on the island of Naushon. At sunset seas were breaking over the craft masthead high. No trace of the crew had been found, and fears were entertained for their safety.

Jail Fire Freed Inmates.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 14.—A special from Tiptonville, Tenn., says that the jail there was burned shortly after midnight and that the eight prisoners in the building, one of whom is a negro murderer, escaped. The fire was started, it is alleged, by friends of the prisoners on the outside for the purpose of enabling the inmates to get away.

Fatal Fire on Steamer.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—During a fire here on the steamer Gordon Campbell two men lost their lives and three others were injured, none of them fatally. The dead men are James Cleary, a fireman, and a sailor whose name is not known. The loss is $6,000.

Riots at Warsaw.

WARSAW, Nov. 14. — Rioting here has been suppressed by the troops. Two policemen and eight civilians are reported to have been killed, and thirty-one were injured.

"Trusts carry the day" is the way the Dover Index sums up the election. The biggest trust seems to have been Confidence.

Advertising well done on a small scale is pretty certain to carry the advertiser upward on the gamut of publicity.—Ex.

Alton B. Parker is the only man ever nominated by either of the two great parties for President who declined the nomination until and unless his views on a certain policy were considered by the convention.—Elizabeth Evening Times.

Your "peerless leader," William Jennings Bryan, informed David B. Hill and other members of a committee while the Democratic National convention was in session in 1900 that he declined to be nominated unless his theories on bimetalism were inserted in the platform. He was obdurate and the convention followed his wishes.

and also of William B. Wadsworth and others who have been factors in the church's growth.

Continuing the celebration, the Sunday-school department in the afternoon, enjoyed a programme of marked interest. Stacy Raynolds, the secretary, read a historical sketch and addresses were given by Charles E. Boss, John M. Whiton and Alexander Millar, all former superintendents. Vocal solos were contributed by Miss Etta Raybert and Horace J. Martin, and an instrumental trio, composed of Dyckman Winckler, violin, Kenneth Shupp, 'cello, and Charles Hubbard, organ, rendered several selections.

In the evening addresses were made by former members of the church who have taken up religious work as a life occupation. They were William Whiting, Rev. John O. Whiting, Mrs. C. F. Taylor and the Misses Chase. They told of the work in their various fields and also spoke reminiscently.

No services are to be held tonight, but tomorrow evening there will be one and also during the remainder of the week. On Friday evening the gathering will be in the nature of a social affair, when a supper will be served.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Joseph McGauley, of West Fourth street, entered the Pond shop today as an apprentice.

The Standard Surgical Works on East Fourth street, laid off several of its machinists last week.

Howard Lievers, of South avenue, has resumed his position at the Scott factory after several weeks detention at home by a severed finger.

M. D. Sweeney, who was injured in the automobile accident at Union Election day, has resumed his position at the Plainfield Auto Garage.

Harry Hoffman, of West Front street, has resigned his position in the Central Railroad shops at Elizabethport in order to accept one at Pond's.

Work is to begin at once on the big addition to the Manganese Steel Safe Company's plant The carpenter shop near the South Second street side is to be moved to the extreme western part of the yard beyond the spur from the railroad.

The employes at the Pond shop were made happy Saturday, by a posted notice that begnining with today they would go on a full time schedule. This means that they will work Saturday mornings, making a full week. The men have been working only five days a week for a long time and the change indicates more than ever that the shop is to undergo a busy season

PERSONAL.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

William Brokaw returned from Glen Gardner on Saturday with rabbits heads and legs petruding from all parts of his hunting coat. He bagged twenty-five rabbits and two gray squirrels, and a good many of his friends dined on rabbits yesterday.

William H. Clawson, of Clinton avenue, while hunting in Elliott's woods, found the remnants of the gun which the unfortunate young man from Lambert's Mills was injured, and who died later in Muhlenberg Hospital.

The banner committee was to have met on Saturday and lower the Republican banner which hangs across Washington avenue, but they did not, and the strong wind whipped it so that small pieces of it were torn off.

As there is no game scheduled to be played here on Thanksgiving, two young men are organizing teams which will meet on the Madison avenue grounds on Thanksgiving Day morning.

The storm of yesterday greatly interfered with the attendance at church service. In the evening no attempt was made to hold the service, owing to the heavy wind and snow.

The officers of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church, which were lately elected, were installed at the service last evening.

Farmers have about finished corn husking and have gathered in a much better crop than last year. Even some poor fields have turned a good crop this year.

Ping-pong has again become the fad with the young people, and it is now taking the place of the outdoor games which have been stopped by the cold weather.

The mountains and surrounding country are covered with snow, but the rain prevented any from gathering on the ground here.

The Marienshank property on North avenue will be sold under foreclosure at the sheriff's office in New Brunswick on Wednesday.

The combination of rain, hail and snow which fell yesterday made the sidewalks slippery and the walking very bad.

Will Hurlich and Fred Tozean returned to work in Jersey City this morning after having been laid off for a week.

Fred Giddes, of Philadelphia, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of his parents on North avenue.

The strong wind did considerable damage yesterday by blowing down fences and limbs of trees.

Maxwell Brakeley and Percy Abbott spent Saturday and Sunday with G. A. Brakeley at Princeton.

Mrs. S. B. Opdyke, Jr., has returned from a week's visit in Philadelphia with relatives.

Percy Ising is taking a week's vacation roaming about the fields looking for cotton tails.

Jesse Dayton shot a wild goose while hunting in the Dismal woods near here.

Work on the Terry house on Washington avenue is progressing rapidly.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The storm of yesterday made Scotch Plains an unusually quiet place to what it generally is on Sunday. But few out-of-town people were out enjoying the air. The attendance at the churches was small and the usual clang and buzz of the auto, flying through the borough at thirty-five and forty miles an hour, was missed.

The Princeton-Yale football game at Princton, Saturday afternoon, was witnessed by several of the lovers of the game from town and the borough. The local enthusiasts were backing Princeton, but Yale won out 12-0.

The open season for game is interfering with the attendance at the weekly shoot of the Gun Club held Saturday afternoons, the majority of the members prefering this sport at live targets to that of clay birds.

Fred Coverly bagged sixteen rabbits in the two days' hunting trip in Morris county. Several parties were out Saturday and all report game quite plentiful, many bringing in five and six rabbits apiece.

A signal light has been placed at the Park avenue crossing of the trolley, for the purpose of protecting the single line of track from Park avenue to Cook avenue.

A number of autos, gaily trimmed and flying the colors of the blue or orange, passed through town Saturday bound for the Princeton-Yale game at Princeton.

Mrs. Frank Putnam and children, of Second street, Plainfield, have been visiting Mrs. Putnam's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Frentz, of Westfield avenue.

The weekly B. Y. P. U. meeting was held as usual last night in the parlors of the church. Owing to the weather the attendance was small.

The members of the Epworth League held an interesting weekly meeting last night in the class-room of the Methodist church.

The monthly observance of the Lord's Supper was held at the Methodist church yesterday morning at the close of the sermon.

The local bowlers meet Dunellen on Lee's alleys tonight in a match game.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Elston Elliott, Richard Randolph and Harvey Clauson, of Clinton avenue, in two days' hunting bagged 26 rabbits and nine woodcock.

Mrs. Mary Thickstun has returned home from a visit with friends in Plainfield.

Mrs. Mary N. Pyatt is visiting friends in Oak Tree.

Mrs. Nathan Blackford is visiting friends in Plainfield.

Y. M. C. A. BOWLERS WIN FROM WESTFIELD

LOCAL AGGREGATION TAKES THREE STRAIGHT GAMES AT WESTFIELD.

Another victory was added to the Y. M. C. A.'s bowling team Saturday evening when it defeated the Westfield Club, which is generally considered one of the strongest teams in this vicinity. The local players took three straight games, though C. Ortleb, of the Westfield team, was high man with a score of 190. Koons bowled the highest score for the Y. M. C. A., making a 173.

The following was the score by games: Westfield—680, 690, 657; Y. M. C. A.—700, 732, 696.

After the match was decided, an interesting pick-up match was rolled between two ten-men teams, play being kept up until after 11 o'clock.

Big Masons Gather Together.

Dr. D. C. Adams and Jacob Kirkner, both of this city, were among the prominent Masons at a conclave of Washington Chapter, No. 16, Royal Arch Masons, of Elizabeth, Friday night, every officer of the Grand Chapter of the State as well being present. It was the chapter's thirty-eighth anniversary, and there were few companions who failed to be present. The degrees were exemplified, and after the convocation a banquet was served.

Paving Work Halted.

Work of paving the west side of Watchung avenue has been halted because of repairs now underway to the gas company's mains. The bricks were about to be placed when it was discovered that the mains were leaking badly and it was decided to place them in thorough repair before installing the permanent pavement.

Horse Show Entries.

Among those who have entered horses in the New York Horse Show which opens today in Madison Square is Miss Margaret W. McCutchen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, of North Plainfield. She has entered in the saddle class. W. J. Buttfield, also of North Plainfield, is entered in the class for pairs.

Thanksgiving and Turkey Land.

Under the auspices of the Woman's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, a supper will be given in the parlors of the church Wednesday night from 6 to 8 o'clock and at 8:15 the young folks of the church will give a musical entitled "Thanksgiving and Turkey Land." Mrs. William C. Hubbard is chairman of the supper committee, while Miss Ernestine C. Smith is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Basket Ball Season Schedule.

Manager Caboone, of the Y. M. C. A. basket ball team, announces the following schedule of games to be played in Plainfield this winter: Nov. 14, Rahway; Nov. 28, Brooklyn; Dec. 5, Newark; Dec. 12, Mt. Vernon; Dec. 19, Montclair; Jan. 9, White Plains; Jan. 16, Business Men; Jan. 23, Brooklyn Central; Jan. 30, Business Men; Feb. 13, Summit; Feb. 27, Summit.

Grant Club Winds Up.

The members of the U. S. Grant Club met Saturday evening and wound up the affairs of the organization. All bills were paid, the flag and large picture of President McKinley, owned by the club, were donated the borough school, and a vote of thanks was extended the officers. Adjournment was then taken subject to the call of President Dolliver.

Councilman Gloak Better.

Councilman William L. Gloak, who has been very ill the past few days with threatened typhoid fever, had a decided turn for the better yesterday. Though he is not yet sitting up, his complete recovery is assured.

Co. K's Fair Committee.

NATURE AT THE FAIR

ATTRACTIVE EXHIBITS THAT WILL INTEREST HUNTERS.

GREAT DISPLAY OF GAME.

Colorado Shows a Mimic Mountain Covered with the Fauna of the Rockies—New York State Has an Adirondack Camp.

St. Louis.—Man is by nature a savage. Civilization is at best but a thin veneer that is none too securely attached to the barbarous body-structure of the race. For some unexplained reason, the savage in man's mental composition asserts itself more forcibly in the autumn and winter months than during the rest of the year.

As soon as the leaves begin to turn, every healthy man in creation longs for a gun and a dog. If the longing could be satisfied by these two possessions, if a gun and a dog were all of it, man would be a very humane imbecile, instead of a very virile human entity. It is the something implied by the gun and dog that makes him both more and less than mere man. It is the love of nature coupled with the love of carnage.

To get out and kill something is the chief joy of the natural savage, whether he calls himself a savage or not. And so, as the summer begins to wane, the thirst for blood refuses longer to be stilled. The office man and the professional man, the financier and the artist all resolve themselves into one gigantic hunting club. They may have no other tastes in common, yet they can meet on the common ground of the chase. They are as brothers while they are slaying something.

The great Louisiana Purchase exposition, that contains a response for every taste and every desire in the entire human mind, has not forgotten the hunter-man and his weakness for the fascinating sport. In a score of places he may find exhibits that will recall to his mind the delightful experiences of forest and stream, and that will supply him with new ideas for future use.

There are no herds of deer roaming through the forests in the rear of the exposition buildings, waiting patiently to be shot, and there are no gamey fish in the lagoons and basin. Still there is much that is of interest to the huntsman. One of the state buildings is a typical hunting lodge. It was hewn and constructed in the heart of the Maine woods, taken apart and sent to St. Louis to be erected again that the visitors at the world's fair might gain an idea of the vast sporting resources of the extreme northeast corner of their country.

In the palace of agriculture is the log cabin that President Roosevelt occupied during the two years of his experience as a ranchman and a hunter. The palace of forestry, fish and game is filled to overflowing with mounted specimens of the sportsman's conquest, and implements of destruction with which similar specimens may be secured.

The Colorado exhibit is a mimic mountain on which all the fauna of the Rockies disport themselves, alert and still, as if they were pausing in anticipation of the foeman's coming. Here one may see deer, elk, antelope, the sturdy mountain goat and the amusing little prairie dog. Inside the mountain are other specimens, showing the possibilities of Colorado in the way of fowls and fish. The entire exhibit is a tempting bait held out to the visitor, who may have throttled his desire for the chase this year in order to see the greatest of all world's fairs, but who will surely want to go hunting next fall.

The exhibit that gets nearest the heart of the sportsman in the palace of forestry, fish and game is the one displayed by the state of New York. It is a typical hunting lodge, such as one meets with in the Adirondack mountains, and it includes a practically complete roster of the game of the state.

The building is constructed of logs, the cracks between the logs filled in with moss. This use of moss makes a much better wall than that which is chinked with either clay or plaster, and it is far more rustic and in keeping with the forest environment. The furniture of the lodge is all of native wood, hand-made, and the work of the Adirondack guides. The only bit of the decoration that was not produced in the state of New York is a pair of Navajo blankets that are draped above the fireplace.

This lodge is a copy of the smallest and coziest to be found in the state. There are others among the mountains of New York that cost as much as $100,000, and are provided with their own electric light plant and waterworks system. These larger lodges are owned by city clubs, and are the center of much sport during the game season.

The builders of the hunter's lodge at the world's fair took pains to give their exhibit as much "local color" as possible under the circumstances. In one corner of the rustic enclosure is a comfortable looking black bear, such as may be hunted—and sometimes killed—in the Catskills. We of the west are astonished to learn that there are bears in New York in the twentieth century. We are equally surprised to find the bear hunters walk on regular snowshoes in New York.

A leafless tree at one side of the cabin is alive with dead birds! Another in the front yard is in the same pradoxical condition. In these two collections are all the birds of the state except a few of the songsters. All the game birds, such as appeal to the palate of the epicure, are here, to say nothing of owls, eagles and vultures.

The last New York fox, that perished seven years ago, stands guard before the door, and under the tree are several fine specimens of the deer. There are four forests in the state where the herds of deer are being fostered by the government. In only two of these is shooting permitted, and there only under the strictest surveillance. In the Adirondacks a hunter is not permitted to kill more than two deer in one season. Some hunters do not kill that many in a lifetime, except in the stories they tell to their friends who were not present in camp, and from these the game is comparatively safe. On Long Island the shooting of deer is permitted but two days in the year, and the prospects for the huntsman in New York are better than ever before.

EMILY GRANT HUTCHINGS.

Likely to Be Busy.

The rising young surgeon who was at the telephone spoke into it substantially as follows, in a vexed, impatient tone of voice: "Now, see here, Maria. There's no use of you telling me dinner's ready. I shall not be at home to dinner, and maybe not till tomorrow morning. From my office window I can see that the college boys are assembling on the campus for their annual cane rush." Hanging up the 'phone he looked over his case of instruments again, placed his hat within reach and sat down to wait.—Boston Globe.

Similar But Different.

"Say, pa," queried the village editor's small son, "what is the difference between an amateur poet and a professional?"

"The difference, my son," replied the old man, "is that one writes for glory and the other writes for cash."

"Then they have nothing in common?" said the youthful information seeker.

"Yes, they have one thing in common," replied his father, "and that is their disappointment. Neither gets what he is after."—Chicago Daily News.

New Use for the Autos.

Mrs. Johnson—I wish I could think of something to keep my husband home nights.

Mrs. Smithson—Give him an automobile.

"He'd be out more than ever, then."

"No, indeed. My husband got one last week, and the doctor says he won't be out for six weeks."—Milwaukee News.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 1,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

STYLES FOR MADEMOISELLE

Smart Hats For the Small Girl—Beaver Chapeaus For Dress.

Among the prettiest of the new hats suitable for girls for everyday wear are the French sailor shapes made in rough, hairy felt, trimmed quite simply with knots and folds of velvet and one or two quills. Very attractive for the same purpose are the hats of smooth felt with the brim turned up all the way round the crowns, draped with folds of silk or velvet drawn up into two large choux, one on each side of the front.

Three cornered marquise hats in felt will be much worn by mademoiselle this winter. They are becoming to almost every face and require little in the way of trimming beyond a few wings and a knot of velvet.

Beaver hats are the smartest for dress occasions, and nothing is prettier than a soft, long haired white beaver adorned with draperies and choux of very wide white satin ribbon arranged with one long white ostrich feather curving gracefully around one side of the crown and drooping over the hair at the back.

In the picture will be seen a dainty frock for a girl of nine or ten. It is of embroidered white silk, but cashmere in a soft shade trimmed with silk braid exactly matching the cashmere would make an equally attractive dress. The silk frock has a lace yoke, which in the cashmere could be replaced by a tucked gulmpe of silk harmonizing with the waistband. The sleeves of this frock are particularly pretty with their plaited epaulets, short puffs to the elbow and close fitting cuffs. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION'S WHIMS.

Sleeves That Will Be Worn by the Modish Woman—Smart Girdles.

Sleeves are a vexed question in the sartorial world. The early models are generally more or less exaggerated, but are toned down later. For the moment there are several prominent features. The first is that, although some dressmakers are advocating large sleeves, the general trend is toward smaller effects, the same amount of material being used, but it is gathered and puffed into less territory. Then the short shoulder is being adopted, and this curiously narrow effect is strange after the wide dropping expanse across the chest. It is not, however, compulsory to stick to details of this sort, as there are lots of smart variations.

WHITE CLOTH WAIST.

There is a new girdle which is very stunning made of a wide coarsely woven braid, which encircles the waist and ties in a bow at the back.

Girls who are clever with their fingers will be able to amuse themselves this winter by making dainty waist belts out of ribbon of various widths and adorning them with quaint little flower rosettes, bobs and dangles. Deep belts in pompadour chine ribbon, with a ladder of small bows either at the back or front, will be very much worn and may be easily made at home.

Ribbon belts that come to a point in front and finish in the back with two or three upstanding loops, below which float long ribbon ends reaching almost to the hem of the frock, are very pretty and dressy.

Quite of the latest cult is the waist illustrated of soft white cloth. The shawl collar chemisette, choker and sleeves are of frills of tulle lace. The bloused double breasted effect in front fastens with tiny crystal buttons. The puffed sleeves are banded with cloth and decorated with buttons. The cellature is also of the cloth.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE

By EMERSON HOUGH

Author of "The Story of the Cowboy," "The Girl at the Halfway House," Etc.

Yet before noon of the day following the decree of the regent, which fixed the value of actions upon a descending scale, the news, after a fashion of its own, spread rapidly abroad, and all too swiftly the truth was generally known. The story started in a rumor that shares had been offered and declined at a price which had been current but a few moments before. This was something which had not been known in all these feverish months of the Messasebe. Then came the story that shares could not be counted upon to realize over 8,000 livres. At that the price of all the actions dropped in a flash, as Law had prophesied. A sudden wave of sanity, a panic chill of sober understanding swept over this vast multitude of still unreasoning souls who had traded so long upon this impossible supposition of an ever-advancing market. Reason still lacked among them, yet fear and sudden suspicion were not wanting. Man after man hastened swiftly away to sell privately his shares before greater drop in the price might come. He met others upon the same errand.

Precisely the reverse of the old situation now obtained. As all Paris had fought to buy, so now all Paris fought to sell. The streets were filled with clamoring mobs. If earlier there had been confusion, now there was pandemonium. Never was such a scene witnessed. Never was there chronicled so swift and utter reversion of emotion in the minds of a great concourse of people. Bitter indeed was the wave of agony that swept over Paris. It began at the Messasebe, in the gardens of the Hotel de Soisson, at that focus hard by the temple of Fortuna. It spread and spread, edging out into all the remoter portions of the walled city. It reached ultimately the extreme confines of Paris. Into the crowded square which had been decreed as the trading-place of the Messasebe system, there crowded from the outer purlieus yet other thousands of excited human beings. The end had come. The bubble had burst. There was no longer any system of the Messasebe!

It was late in the day, in fact well on toward night, when the knowledge of the crash came into the neighborhood where dwelt the Lady Catharine Knollys. To her the news was brought by a servant, who excitedly burst unannounced into her mistress' presence.

"Madame! Madame!" she cried. "Prepare! 'Tis horrible! 'Tis impossible! All is at an end!"

"What mean you, girl!" cried Lady Catharine, displeased at the disrespect.

"RUINED, RUINED!"

"What is happening? Is there fire? And even if there were, could you not remember your duty more seemly than this?"

"Worse, worse than fire, Madame! Worse than anything! The bank has failed! The shares of the system are going down! 'Tis said that we can get but 3,000 livres the share, perhaps less—perhaps they will go down to nothing. I am ruined, ruined! We are all ruined! And within a month I was to have been married to the footman of the Marquis d'Allouez, who has bought himself a title this very week!"

"And if it has fallen so ill," said Lady Catharine, "since I have not speculated in these things like most folk, I shall be none the worse for it, and shall still have money to pay your wages. So perhaps you can marry your marquis after all."

"But we shall not be rich, Madame! We are ruined, ruined! Mon Dieu! we poor folk! We had the hope to be persons of quality. 'Tis all the work of this villian Jean L'as. May the Bastille get him, or the people, and make him pay for this!"

"Stop! Enough of this, Marie!" said the Lady Catharine, sternly. "After this have better wisdom, and do not meddle in things which you do not understand."

Yet scarce had the girl departed before there appeared again the sound of running steps, and presently there broke, equally unannounced, into the presence of his mistress, the coachman, fresh from his stables and none too careful of his garb. Tears ran down his cheeks. He flung out his hands with gestures as of one demented.

"The news!" cried he. "The news, my lady! The horrible news! The system has vanished, the shares are going down!"

"Fellow, what do you here?" said Lady Catharine. "Why do you come with this same story which Marie has just brought to me? Can you not learn your place?"

"But, my lady, you do not understand!" reiterated the man blankly. "'Tis all over. There is no Messasebe; there is no longer any system, no longer any Company of the Indies. There is no longer wealth for the stretching out of the hand. 'Tis all over. I must go back to horses—I, Madame, who should presently have associated with the nobility!"

"Well, and if so," replied his mistress, "I can say to you, as I have to Marie, that there will still be money for your wages."

"Wages! My faith, what trifles, my lady! This Monsieur L'as, the director-general, he it is who has ruined us! Well enough it is that the square in front of his hotel is filled with people! Presently they will break down his doors. And then, pray God they punish him for this that he has done!"

The cheek of Lady Catharine paled and a sudden flush of contending emotions crossed her mind. "You do not tell me that Monsieur L'as is in danger, Pierre?" said she.

"Assuredly. Perhaps within the very hour they will tear down his doors and rend him limb from limb. There is no punishment which can serve him right—him who has ruined our pretty, pretty system. Mon Dieu! It was so beautiful!"

"Is this news certain?"

"Assuredly, most certain. Why should it not be? The entire square in front of the Hotel de Soisson is packed. Unless my lady needs me, I myself must hasten thither to aid in the punishment of this Jean L'as!"

"You will stay here," said Lady Catharine. "Wait! There may be need! For the present, go!"

Left alone, Lady Catharine stood for a moment pale and motionless, in the center of the room. She strode then to the window and looked fixedly out. Her whole figure was tense, rigid. Yonder, over there, across the gabled roofs of Paris, they were clamoring at the door of him who had given back Paris to the king, and France again to its people. They were assailing him—this man so long unfaltering, so insistent on his ambitions, so—so steadfast! Could she call him steadfast?

A quick, hard sob broke from her throat. In haste she flew, now to one part of the room, now to another, picking up first this article and then that which seemed of need. And so at last she hurried to the bell-cord.

"Quick," cried she, as the servant at length appeared. "Quick! Do not delay an instant! My carriage at once!"

CHAPTER XLII.

THAT WHICH REMAINED.

As for John Law, all through that fatal day which meant for him the ruin of his ambitions, he continued in the icy calm which, for days past, had distinguished him. He discontinued his ordinary employments, and spent some hours in sorting and destroying numbers of papers and documents. His faithful servant, the Swiss, Henri, he commanded to make ready his apparel for a journey.

"At six this evening," said he, "Henri, we shall be ready to depart. Let us be quite ready well before that time."

"Monsieur is leaving Paris?" asked the Swiss, respectfully.

"Quite so."

"Perhaps for a stay of some duration?"

"Quite so, indeed, Henri."

"Then, sir," expostulated the Swiss, "it would require a day or so for me to properly arrange your luggage."

"Not at all," replied Law. "Two valises will suffice, not more, and I shall perhaps not need even these."

"Not all the apparel, the many coats, the jewels—"

"Do not trouble over them."

"But what disposition shall I make—?"

"None at all. Leave all these things as they are. But stay—this package which I shall prepare for you—take it to the regent, and have it marked in his care and for the parliament of France."

Law raised in his hands a bundle of parchments, which one by one he tore across, throwing the fragments into a basket as he did so.

"The seat of Tancarville," he said. "The estate of Berville; the Hotel Mazarin; the lands of Bourget; the Marquisat of Charleville; the lands of Orcher; the estate of Roissy—Gad! what a number of them I find."

"But, monsieur," expostulated the Swiss, "what is that you do? Are these not your possessions?"

HAS CLEVER GANDER

BILL JOHNSON'S PET IS MOST AS WISE AS A SERPENT.

Maine Trapper Relates How He and a Wild Goose Became Permanent Chums and Inseparable Companions.

A correspondent of the New York World, writing from Bangor, Me., says that Jack Johnson, of Northeast Carry, is only a gander, but he's a tame one, highly educated, and has more friends than anyone else who visits Moosehead lake. Two winters ago he was discovered by his friend and master, "Bill" J. Johnson, flying about in a heavy sleet storm on Lobster lake, where Johnson was trapping. At first the trapper thought he would shoot the bird in order to vary his bill of fare, which for weeks had consisted of salt pork and venison, but, although tired and partially disabled, the gander was lively enough to keep out of range, flying away over Spencer mountain, but always returning to swim in a bit of open water near the outlet.

Then Johnson set a trap, and in a few days had the gander prisoner. But the dinner was given up, for the poor bird was as lean as a crow, and Johnson, instead of cooking it, took it home to camp and made a nest for it in an empty barrel just outside the camp door. There the gander was fed daily until, when fat enough to make a good dinner, it had become so tame and so friendly that the trapper couldn't find it in his heart to kill it. So the two became close friends, and a fine cozy winter they had of it. Johnson himself tells the story:

"When I broke camp and came back here to the Carry, Jack—I named him Jack after an old pardner—he hopped on the tote sled and come along with me. Down here to the carry he's learnt a lot more and there's mighty little going on that air bird ain't onto. Keeps run of the fishermen that come up here looking for me to guide 'em, and knows 'em all by sight. He goes out with me in my canoe, and likes to splash 'round in the lake. He can roll a log as well as any man on the West branch drive, and one of his best tricks is to get on a plank, spread out his big wings to the breeze and go sailing off down the lake, then flying back.

"When I go away he is lonesome, and when I come back he's always at the steamboat landing to meet me. Some folks pester him, with throwing sticks and things, and he is sore on them. When I am around he picks out all the fellers that has bothered him and goes for 'em tooth and nail, or with his wings and bill—and he's no slouch in a fight, let me tell you."

Johnson claims that Jack knows the game laws from end to end, and that he could give the wardens many a good tip if he wanted to give poachers away. Next winter Jack is going to learn the game of poker, which is a fine art in the Maine woods. "You may laugh," said Johnson, "but I'm darned if he ain't almost smart enough to do it."

"Well, sir, you'd never believe that a bird could pick up so much gin'ral information and so many smart tricks as that there gander. Why, knowing that ganders of the wild sort need a swim as much as they need grub, I used to give this one a bath every morning and then set it up on a bench 'longside the fire to dry. Hadn't done this more'n three or four times till that bird used to come tuggin' at the blanket on my bunk when I slept a little late, much as to say: 'Come on, now; how about my swim?' And after that I never had to set it up to dry, for it would hop up itself and flap its wings about before the fire to get good and dry, chattering away to himself all the time.

"Yes, sir; that bird could actually talk—in his way. None of your foolish gibberish that crows have over, but good, sensible talk, 'bout what was going on in the world. He knew a heap. Why, Sunday mornings and Saturday nights it used to sit on the edge of my bunk and swap goose stories with me, like a chum might, and I would talk to him like a brother.

"It made the winter pass mighty sight quicker'n if I'd been alone. He was a good watch-dog, too, for when anyone came around the camp at night he'd set up the almightiest hissing and honking you ever heard. I trained him to be a watch-dog, and he was right onto his job."

Rubber Tree Thrives for Years.

India-rubber trees which are tapped every other day continue to yield sap for more than 20 years, and it is a curious fact that the oldest and most frequently tapped trees produce the richest sap.

Why the Owl Looks Wise.

The wise look of the owl is caused by a physiological oddity, his eyes being fixed immovably in their sockets.

THE PUFFER AN ODD FISH.

When in Danger Swells Itself Up to a Size That Is Preposterous.

The funniest little fellow in salt water is the puffer, or swell fish. Fishermen call him the blow fish, says Nature.

When he is swimming around at ease, with nothing to alarm him, he looks queer enough, for the skin of his abdomen is all loose and wrinkled, and he has such a funny little tail and such ridiculous little fins and such a big, three-cornered head that he looks entirely absurd. His mouth, instead of being big and gaping, as most fish mouths are, is only a tiny round hole at the end of a pointed, conical snout. Out of this circular mouth protrude his teeth, like those of a rabbit.

He would be about as homely a fish as could be made if it were not for the beautiful orange and yellow and silver coloring that plays all over him.

But queer as he looks when he is at ease, it is only when he is frightened or excited that he becomes really funny. If he is hooked, for instance, he comes to the surface grinding those protruding teeth so that the sound can be heard a good many feet away. And then, as soon as the hand touches him, he begins to grunt hoarsely, and with each grunt he swells a bit, till within a few moments he has puffed himself so full of air that he is quite round and firm, like a ball. So thoroughly does he distend himself with air that when the fishermen hurl him at the water with all their force, as they often do, he will bounce just like a rubber ball.

If he is dropped into the water after blowing himself full of air he floats on it as lightly as thistledown, and he will stay that way until he has assured himself that danger has gone by. He does the same when he is pursued by other fish. And, as he floats almost entirely out of water, with only a little bit of his hard, spiny body sunk under the surface, very few fish can hurt him once he is inflated.

IN THE CHURCHES.

Storm Yesterday Interferred With the Attendance.

Despite the storm of yesterday there was a large attendance at the morning service in the First Baptist church and Rev. J. A. Chambliss, the pastor, delivered an interesting sermon. At night only twenty-five persons, including the choir, were present. Dr. Chambliss did not preach a regular sermon in the evening.

There were twenty-five persons present at the morning service at the First Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. C. E. Herring, preaching a regular sermon. There was no regular evening service, owing to the severity of the storm. Only eleven persons were present, and after a brief service the pastor dismissed his small congregation.

The service at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning was in the interest of young men, and the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, preached a sermon specially for young men. There was the regular evening service, although the attendance was small.

Death of a Child.

Margaret Traynor, the ten-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Traynor, of Grant avenue, died yesterday from a complication of whooping cough and bronchial trouble. The funeral will be held from the parents' residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 and interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

To Dine Colored Republicans.

In accordance with a promise made previous to election, Hamilton F. Kean, chairman of the Union County Republican committee, will give a dinner to the colored county Republican committee. The dinner will be given, probably, Friday night.

To Take Oath of Office.

The newly-elected city officials appear before Mayor Jenkins in the Common Council chambers tonight to take the oath of office.

—Use Press Want Ads.

—The Rasores Club will meet at the home of Mrs. W. D. W. Miller, of East Seventh street, tomorrow morning.

—Two good-sized electric lights have been placed at the new westbound station of the New Jersey Central at Grant avenue.

—Soprano, contralto and violin solos, trios, duets and readings compose the programme by the Ithaca Conservatory Concert Company at the Y. M. C. A. Hall on Saturday. See adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Alexander, of Vermont, are visiting relatives here.

The alter guild of Grace church has been strengthened by the addition of Mrs. William Pelletier and Mrs. Joseph M. Shellabarger.

Mrs. Edward Perkins has been chosen president of the Women's Guild of Grace church in place of Mrs. C. E. Brooks, who is unable to serve.

The sixth annual fair under the auspices of the Calvary Baptist church, will be held in the church for ten days, commencing Tuesday, November 22.

Richard H. Edwards, of Union Theological Seminary, will conduct the Young People's Association meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church Friday night.

Rev. T. E. Davis, of this city, formerly of Bound Brook, has been engaged to fill the pulpit of the Lamington church for one year, during the absence of the pastor, who is abroad.

The annual offerng for the work of home missions will be received at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday. The total gifts this parish last year for home mission work of all all kinds, were $13,966.

Rev. Scott Wallace, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, has called a meeting for tomorrow night for the organization of a society for the purpose of assisting the poor and needy and helping members who are sick.

Rev. Dr. William M. Lawrence, who is well known here for twenty-four years pastor of the Second Baptist church, of Chicago, has accepted a call to the pastorage of the North Orange Baptist church. In leaving Chicago Dr. Lawrecce told his congregation that he was leaving them because the solution of their problems required a talent different from that which he possessed. He will enter upon his new pastorage January 1.

Frightened Pony Causes Trouble.

Frightened by a swiftly passing automobile, a pony attached to a rig driven by Mrs. George Alcorn, of East Front street, turned around suddenly on Park avenue, near Martine avenue, this morning. Mrs. Alcorn was thrown out and was considerably bruised and shaken up. She was taken to the home of Howard Fleming where she soon recovered. The rig was slightly damaged.

In Honor of Gustavus Adolphus.

Under the auspices of the Swedish Lutheran church an enjoyable informal entertainment was given at the German Lutheran church on Grove street Saturday evening. The affair was well conducted and consisted of music and speeches. There was a large attendance and a fair sum was raised for the benefit of the church fund. The meeting was in honor of Gustavus Adolphus.

Warren County's Slump.

The Democratic majorities in the mossback counties of the State have shrunk, too. Warren was looked to for at least 2,000 for Parker, and the total is about 500, while the Assembly candidates gets no more than half that figure, the Democratic candidate for Surrogate getting still less. Hunterdon and Sussex also fall behind their normal Democratic majorities.—Newark Advertiser.

Warren County Editor Dead.

Josain Ketcham, editor and proprietor of the Belvidere Apollo, the leading Republican newspaper in Warren county, died at his home in that place Saturday from an attack of apoplexy. He was discovered in the bathroom in a dying condition by members of his family. Medical assistance was at once summoned, but no aid could be given.

Prof. Griggs' Last Lecture.

Professor Edward Howard Griggs will conclude his series of Shakespearean lectures Wednesday. His subject will be "The Final Attitude," from The Tempest. This lecture will make the sixth in the course through which the speaker has presented the humanity of Shakespeare, as the leading characteristic in the great dramatist's life.

Postoffice Wants Bids.

The local postoffice is soliciting bids for carrying the mail between this city and Gallia. They are to be opened next month and the award is to be made in time to allow the successful bidder to enter upon his duties soon after the first of the year.

Sermon to Odd Fellows.

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace church, will exchange pulpits with Rev. Charles Fiske, of Somerville, on Sunday morning, November 20. In the evening of that day Mr. Stevenson will preach a sermon to the local Odd Fellows in his church.

The Casino Concerts.

A large audience, composed of the lovers of high-class music, will greet the celebrated male chorus, known as the Meistersinger's, of New York, this Thursday evening.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS ORGANIZE

Officers and Committees Plan for Year's Work.

THE ATTRACTIONS

A Course of Life Humorous and Musical Entertainments Have Been Arranged For.

Since the appointment of the officers of the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Department, the plans for the organization have progressed rapidly, and the prospects for a successful season both in the athletic, the social and the religious work in the department are very bright. The officers are: Walter Caldwell, president; Harold Robins, vice president; Russell Morris, secretary. At a recent meeting of these officers together with Boys' Secretary Robbie, the following standing committees of the department were appointed to serve for the coming year: Social committee, Fred Smith, chairman, Donald Mortimer, Clarence Steiner, Theodore Sperry and Lawrence Edgar; outing committee, Charles Lane, chairman, James Fleming, William Baily, Willard Thorn, and John Schofield; membership committee, Weston Gavett, chairman, Charles Beeken, Raymond Hart, and Kenneth Stern; rooms committee, Roy Woodhull, chairman, Roy Whitall, Chester Denton and Russell Conroy; religious committee, Harold Robins, chairman, Russell Morris, Howard Freeman, John Rittenhouse, Stanley Robins; club committee, Russell Morris, chairman, Guy Fountain, Norman Loughlin, Edgar Freeman. The athletic committee will be composed of the gymnasium leaders of the department.

Already the committee have been at work on their various duties, and the athletic, as well as the social and outing committees have planned many enjoyable times for the juniors. There will be the usual athletic and gymnasium contests, including match basket ball games and bowling contests. There will be medals and other prizes offered for the winners in the gymnasium contests events. There are three boys' Bible classes in the department. The outing committee has arranged for trips, including interesting and instructive, every week, and several of these have already been enjoyed by the boys

An important feature of the boys' work which has been arranged by the social committee is the series of entertainments in the Boys' and Intermediate Course. These entertainments are to begin on November 18, and will be for the most part humorous and musical. There will be no lectures as were formerly included in the course. The following entertainers have been secured for the season: November 18, Emil Closs, humorist, pantomimist, impersonator and imitator; December 16, Lucius Perry Hills, humorist; January 13, Roltare, "Master of Magic;" February 17, John F. Dillon, laughing songster, dialect recitations and humorous; March 10, Bert J. Forrest, humorist, comedian, baritone and comic songster.

MR. MURRAY'S CONTRIBUTION TO BIBLICAL LITERATURE

"THE MESSAGE OF THE TWELVE PROPHETS," ITS TITLE.

Under the title of "The Message of the Twelve Prophets," the International Committee of Young Men's Associations has had issued in book form, a series of Biblical studies of the Old Testament, the compilation the work of William D. Murray, of this city.

The studies are arranged so that each of the prophets forms a book study by itself, covering one or more complete weeks. The book is intended for the use of Bilical students or those engaged in teaching and is said to be one of the most complete of its kind.

Mr. Murray states by way of introduction that "these studies were prepared originally for use in the author's Bible class of business men, and have been taught by him at various times. Out of each class which has studied them, one or more of the members has gone into Christian work; they have heard the call of God through the prophets of old. It is the earnest desire of the author that through this book the same call shall come to many more men, and that yet others, in large numbers, shall listen to the message to live a fuller and a richer Christian life."

TO DIVIDE FOURTH WARD

Petition May be Presented to Common Council.

IT HAS 1,350 VOTERS

Would Enlarge Representation in Council—Change May Be Desirable.

Following the last election many comments were heard regarding the advisability of dividing up the Fourth ward and establishing a Fifth ward. There are now three districts in that ward and the vote in each is constantly increasing each year, as was shown on Election day. There would be many advantages in having another ward, the chief of which is that it would divide the vote and permit the election officers to complete the count at an earlier hour. This year it was nearly 2 o'clock Wednesday morning when the vote in the Third district was returned to the city clerk's office, and, with the exception of the First district, where there was a machine, the other district was almost as late.

On Election day Roosevelt received 928 votes in the three districts of the Fourth ward and Parker received 422, a total of 1,350 votes for the entire ward.

With the establishment of another ward, there would be a larger representation in the Common Council, at least another councilman. Those who favor another ward say that no better time than the present is offered for the change and it is said that residents of the lower end of the Fourth ward will present a petition to the Common Council asking that body to take such action as will bring about such a division of the ward.

It has always been maintained that the present division of the ward districts are not advantageous to the voters. It is claimed that instead of Liberty street being the dividing line for the First district, Plainfield avenue should mark the division. There are voters living between Liberty street and Plainfield avenue who are nearer the First district polls than the Second, and that it would be a matter of great convenience to have the line changed. Those voters are now obliged to walk to Muhlenberg place to vote. As for the Third district polls they seem to be more centrally located for the voters than in the other districts. If a Fifth ward is made many of the present difficulties would disappear. Plainfield avenue could be used as the dividing line for the Fourth ward, while the Fifth ward polls could be established at some central point convenient to all the voters. No doubt if a petition is presented asking for a change the Common Council will surely take affirmative action regarding it.

VACANT SEAT IN COUNCIL

Candidates for Lee's Seat Among the City Fathers.

2ND DISTRICT'S CLAIM

Edward Mosher's Friends Active —Present Representatives Are From the First District.

Inasmuch as the Common Council has thirty days in which to fill the vacancy in that body caused by the resignation of Robert L. Lee, there has been no haste in selecting his successor. The Daily Press on Saturday intimated that Herbert W. Buxton, of Madison avenue, was among those talked of to take Mr. Lee's place. This announcement has caused some dissatisfaction among residents of the Second district of the Fourth ward, who believe that a man from that district should be chosen for the position.

It is argued that Councilman Clarence L. Murphy and Frank DeW. Randolph, members from the Fourth ward, live in the First district, and the Second district residents think it is time that they are represented in the Common Council, believing that it is only a right that is due them. Among residents in the Second district mentioned is Edward Mosher, of Elmwood place. He has lived in that district of the ward for many years, is thoroughly posted on affairs of the city and his friends claim that he would make a good representative.

Others argue that if a Second district man is not selected, one should be taken from the Third district, where a representative is needed. It is from this district that Mr. Lee was chosen, and residents there claim that the representation should be continued. It was expected that the Common Council would hold a caucus on Saturday night to select Mr. Lee's successor, but for some reason it was not. The vacancy will undoubtedly be filled at the adjourned meeting to be hheld on Monday night, November 28.

EDMUND SKIFF GIVES A PUPILS' RECITAL

MUSIC LOVERS LISTEN TO ENJOYABLE PROGRAMME.

The first recital given by Mr. Skiff's pupils last evening was an artistic success. The rooms were crowded and every pupil gave evidence of careful tone production and artistic training. Mr. Skiff spoke briefly in reference to voice culture, giving some of his ideals in the work. The women's chorus, which opened and closed the programme, sang superbly, the blending of the voices and the shading being unusualy good.

The programme in full was as follows: Chorus, "Rest Thee on This Mossy Pillow," Smart; "Morning and Evening Star," Aide, Dr. Emerson; "He Was a Prince," Lynes, Miss Agnes Bailey; "Song of a Heart," Tunison, Miss Nora Schenck; a "Under the Rose," Burr; d. "Red, Red Rose," Hastings, Miss Florence Conroy; duett, "Land of the Swallow," Massina, Miss Schenck and Miss Bailey; "The Nightingale and the Rose," Parks, Mrs. Stiglitz; "Enchantment," Marsoberoni, Miss Mary Edgerton; a. "I'm Wearin' Aws'," d. "Summer Noon," Miss Mable Smith; "Absence," Metcalf, "Song of the Armorner," Nevin, C. C. Gallup; "Marie," Jensen, Villanelle," DelAcqua, Mrs. Skiff; "Love the Pedlar," German, Miss Laura Gesswein; chorus, "A Meadow Song," Weigand.

Miss Alberta Waterbury played for the chorus, while Mr. Skiff directed. For the other numbers Mr. Skiff presided at the piano. The next musical was announced for Dec. 15.

Austin's Life is Threatened.

In the midst of a wild tirade against Ernest Austin, colored, and threats to shoot him if he could get a revolver, Price Fawcett, also colored, was arrested by Roundsman Flynn last night. Price's anger had cooled off this morning and he explained to Judge Runyon that he had gotten unduly excited and forgot himself. He was let go on suspended sentence.

—Carl Silbert, jeweler, is now to be found at his store on Somerset street, and also at his new store, 227 West Front street. His new store is stocked with the latest in gold, silverware, watches, diamonds, clocks, etc. This is just the place to have your clock or watch repaired, as his work is always guaranteed. Christmas is not far off and when it arrives don't forget to patronize Carl Silbert.

ANSWERS FRELINGHUYSEN

Plainfield Republican Says Mayor Needs No Defender.

SOUND ARGUMENTS

Points Out How Unjust North Plainfield is Treated by Somerset's Officials.

One of Plainfield's most prominent men, who is neither an office-holder nor a politician, has sent the following communication to The Daily Press:

Editor, The Daily Press:

Referring to Mr. J. S. Frelinghuysen's letter of Nov. 7, relative to his opinion of Mayor Smalley, I would preface my remarks by saying that Mr. Smalley needs no defender, his own acts and courageous words always hit home, as they evidently have in the case of Mr. Frelinghuysen, but the situation is so similar to our own where Elizabeth dominates, that I am led to think that Mr. Frelinghuysen, like all other would-be despots, does not realize that it is just as true today as it was one hundred years ago when our forefathers started the agitation of "No taxation without representation," that the American spirit for fair play will resent any and all unfair acts, and it is more than unfair when you realize the taxes paid by North Plainfield, and what she gets back in return.

You can drive through the country part of Somerset county, over some of the most magnificent stone roads in Jersey, but none enter or leave the borough other than a small portion of Mountain avenue. You find all streams and creeks well bridged, yet it took more than two years' work to force the Somerset Freeholders to build a new bridge at Girard avenue, a main thoroughfare between the city and borough. Discriminating facts like these can be furnished ad libitim, but they are sufficient to show the county spirit.

Mr. Frelinghuysen asks "Why the voting machines were placed in Plainfield by Union county officials," well, if he doesn't know all the rest of the State knows that they were placed there last year for the same reason they were placed in the borough this year, viz: to prevent independent voting, and Plainfield's answer was some 1,500 Republican majority for the city and some 1,000 Democratic majority for the county assemblymen, and the borough's answer this year was along the same lines, though unfortunately not so decided.

Whatever personal differences Mr. Smalley and Mr. Frelinghuysen may have, they must fight them out alone, but the latter cannot use them to cover the burden placed on the borough each year, nor explain the animus that is found in the county at large against the majority of the borough's best citizens, simply because they desire to annex themselves to a progressive city.

A Plainfield Republican.

THROWN FROM CAR.

Mrs. Agnes Head Badly Hurt Through Carelessness of Conductor.

Mrs. Agnes Head, of East Fourth street, is confined to her home with serious injuries received Sunday night by being thrown from a Fourth street trolley car. She was about to board it at the switch near Spooner avenue when the conductor, who was inside, gave the signal to start. She was thrown backward with great force, striking her head on the macadam and all but losing consciousness. The car in the meantime passed on.

With difficulty Mrs. Head made her way to the home of David Bowden on West Fourth street, and from there was taken to her own home. She is now in bed and under the care of Dr. Lufburrow.

MISS HENRY WEDDED.

Plainfield Girl the Bride of a Philadelphian.

Miss May Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry, of West Fourth street, and Edward Stransenbach, of Philadelphia, were married Sunday evening by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, at his home on West Front street.

The couple was accompanied by the bride's brother and sister, Samuel Henry and Miss Jennie Henry, who acted as best man and bridemaid. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Stransenbach departed on a wedding trip. They will reside in Philadelphia, where the groom is in the employ of John Wanamaker.

NO MORE TAX EXEMPTIONS

Court of Errors Sustains Supreme Court's Decision.

NOT CONSTITUTIONAL

Firemen and Soldiers Cannot Escape Exemption—A Special Act.

The decision of the Supreme Court of last November declaring unconstitutional the act of the Legislature exempting volunteer firemen and soldiers from taxation to the extent of $500, was affirmed yesterday afternoon in an opinion handed down by the Court of Errors and Appeals.

The opinion was by the court, and stated that the judgment of the Supreme Court was affirmed for the reason given by Justice Garrison in his opinion rendered when the case was decided by the lower court. The justices decided to affirm by a vote of 8 to 1

The case was that of Edward Tippet, a volunteer fireman of the borough of Rockaway, Morris county, against John C. McGrath, tax collector of the borough.

Holding the law to be unconstitutional, Collector McGrath endeavored to collect the full amount of taxes assessed against Tippet.

TRINITY COMMANDERY AUXILIARY ENTERTAINS

DELIGHTFUL MUSICALE IS GIVEN AT THE MASONIC HALL.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., a musicale was given in Masonic Hall last night, for the members of the organization and the commandery. There were nearly one hundred and fifty guests present to enjoy a programme of excellence. It was a varied one and included solos by Miss Millie Pottgieser, contralto soloist at Holy Trinity church, New York; Mrs. Grace E. Dutton, soprano, of New York, who substituted for Mrs. E. W. Bucknat, of New York; Charles Jones, baritone, of Yonkers, N. Y. In addition William E. MacClymont rendered several selections on the organ, including the William Tell overture. A feature of the programme were the humorous selections by W. W. Waters, the "original seltzer Waters."

As president of the auxiliary, Mrs. H. W. Marshall had charge of the affair, assisted by several committees. Mrs. William E. MacClymont was chairman of the entertainment committee, assisted by Mrs. Edward Cooley and Miss May Kirkner. As chairman of the reception committee, Mrs. D. C. Adams was assisted by Mrs. H. W. Marshall, Mrs. George M. Macintyre and Mrs. R. A. Meeker. The refreshment committee was composed of Mrs. Henry Woodland, Mrs. Hewitt, Mrs. W. B. Codington, Mrs. L. B. Woolston, Mrs. J. Hervey Deane and Mrs. R. A. Meeker.

Following the musicale, the guests adjourned to the banquet room, where a collation was served. The rest of the evening was devoted to social features.

SERIES OF CONCERTS.

Three Choral Entertainments to be Given at the Casino.

Under the direction of W. H. Miller, of this city, three concerts of exceptional merit will be given at the Casino, the first being on Thursday night, by Meistersinger's Male Choral Society, of New York, assisted by John McDonald, boy soprano, and Prof. Henri Knighton, violin virtuoso.

OFFICIALS ELECT TAKE OATH OF OFFICE

MAYOR JENKINS ADMINISTERS OATH TO HIS SUCCESSOR AND OTHERS.

With the exception of Mayor-elect Buckle, Councilman elect H. D. Hibbard and School Commissioner-elect J. B. Probasco, all of the newly-elected city officials appeared before Mayor O. L. Jenkins in his office last night and were sworn in. These included Councilmen R. L. Tolles, W. S. Tyler and Frank DeW. Randolph, together with the constables and other city officials.

Mayor Olin L. Jenkins.

Mr. Hibbard and Dr. Probasco were unable to be present last night and will appear before the Mayor tonight.

The new officials enter upon their duties January 1. Mayor-elect Buckle took the oath Saturday night.

Miss Waring Removed to Home.

Miss May Waring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Waring, of Park avenue, who was injured in an automobile accident at Elizabeth on Election day, and who has been detained at the Elizabeth General Hospital, was brought to her home yesterday afternoon. She was accompanied by Dr. G. W. Endicott, the family physician. Miss Waring was removed from the North Avenue station to her home in the ambulance. While it will be some time before she recovers from her injuries, her friends are gratified to learn that her condition is not as serious as at first reported.

Dr. Chambliss Selected.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, was today selected by the Plainfield Ministers' Association to deliver the sermon at the annual Union Thanksgiving service. It will be held in the Crescent Avenue church in the morning. Dr Zelie, Dr. Schenck and Rev. L. R. Howard were appointed a committee to prepare the programme.

Mrs. David Lewis Dead.

Mrs. David Lewis, of Millington, died at her home in that place yesterday. She was related locally and was well known in the city and borough. The funeral will be held from her late home tomorrow afternoon.

WOMEN STUDY POLITICS

Local Equal Suffrage League Hold Its First Fall Meeting.

PLANS FOR CONVENTION

Local Delegates Are Appointed to Annual State Meeting at Jersey City on November 21.

With a view to outlining the plans for the coming winter, and making preparations for the fourteenth annual convention of the association at Jersey City, the Woman's Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield held their first fall meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue. The meeting was the first since last spring, and was in every way a success. There was a good attendance, and the usual routine business of the league was transacted.

The officers of the local league for the coming year are Mrs. Florence Hall, president; Mrs. Isaac Miller, vice president; Mrs. Samuel Huntington, treasurer; Mrs. Harold Durar, secretary, and Mrs. C. L. Patton, corresponding secretary. The chief business of the meeting yesterday was the appointment of the delegates for the annual convention which will take place at Jersey City on Monday, November 21. The meetings will be held from 10 o'clock in the morning till 8 o'clock in the evening, and will include about fifteen speeches and discussions. Those who will represent the local league are Mrs. Steven Haff, Mrs. William H. Riely, and Mrs. Florence Hall, for seven years State president. The association consists of about twelve leagues from the following places: Plainfield and North Plainfield, Orange, Elizabeth, Essex County Political Study Club, Short Hill Political Study Club, Bayonne, Moorestown, Point Pleasant, Matawan, Ocean Grove, and Jersey City Political Study Club. The yearly business of the convention will include the appointment of committees for the ensuing year, and the election of officers, together with the reports of committees on the year's work.

In addition to other topics referring to the convention, the subject of the next year's officers was considered, and it was the unanimous vote of the local league to renominate Mrs. Minola Graham Sexton, of Orange, who has served the association well during the last year. In case Mrs. Sexton refuses the nomination, it is the pleasure of the local organization to nominate Mrs. Isaac Miller, of this city. It was decided at the meeting yesterday to hold the meetings monthly, the next one to take place on December 12 at the home of Mrs. William H. Riely.

Y. M. C. A. AUXILIARY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

MRS. HENRY M. MAXSON IS CHOSEN PRESIDENT.

With an increase in membership from seven to 178, which makes the organization the largest in the State, the Women's Auxiliary Association of the Y. M. C. A. held its second annual meeting yesterday afternoon. These officers were elected: President, Mrs. Henry M. Maxson; first vice president, Mrs. Stephen Cahoone; second vice president, Mrs. J. D. Phillips; secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Robbie; treasurer, Miss Lena Bass.

The committees of the association, which are six in number, will be appointed by the officers in the course of the month.

In addition to the routine work of the auxiliary, there was a general discussion on the plans for the fair to be given for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. Dec. 6, 7 and 8.

New Trolley Operations.

John L. Denman, chairman of the Springfield Township Committee, turned the first spadeful of earth yesterday in starting the work of constructing the new trolley line between Elizabeth and Summit. It is expected to have the line completed by June 1.

Trolley Cars Now Heated.

The local trolley cars, as well as the main line cars were supplied with heat yesterday for the first. The decided change in the weather made riding on the cars very uncomfortable and the company at once gave orders to start the heaters.

H. H. Smith, of Park avenue, opposite North avenue, sells fine home-dressed Jersey poultry, the best butter and fresh eggs. Give him a trial and you are sure to be pleased. Popular prices are charged and only the best poultry and dairy products are handled.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed" and when trial and tribulation comes, there is nothing like a bank account to help matters out. The City National Bank offers every inducement to depositors and pays interest. Open an account and note how easy it is to accumulate a "nest egg" within a short time.

With the approach of the holidays, L. Moraller & Son, the Park avenue jewelers, announce that they now have the advance designs in gold, silver and diamond ornaments. The season brings forth many new novelties and they are all at Moraller's in a bewildering array. Courteous clerks always in attendance to assist in making purchases.

HAPPY RESULTS.

Have Made Many Plainfield Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Plainfield citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Plainfield by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. W. W. Mills, of 86 Summit avenue, says: "I suffered at times with a severe pain across the small of my back and in my hips. If I did any lifting or stooping my back became lame and sore, and though I used plasters they only helped me for the time being. I was feeling very badly when I had my attention called to Doan's Kidney Pills. They were so highly recommended for troubles like mine that I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I felt their good effects in a few days. When I had finished the treatment my back was better and stronger and I had much more energy to attend to household duties."

OXFORD WON EASILY.

Babylon Handicap Feature at Aqueduct Track.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Oxford, backed down from 4 to 1 to 13 to 5, easily won the Babylon handicap for two-year-olds, six furlongs, at Aqueduct. Bank was the early pacemaker. In the stretch Oxford took the lead and won by two and a half lengths. King Cole closed very strong in the last furlong, beating Cairngorn a neck for the place.

Coy Maid, winner of the second race, equaled the track record of 59 3-5 seconds for five furlongs. By winning she scored her fifth consecutive victory. The track was heavy and the weather cold. Two favorites won.

Prizes at the Horse Show.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—At the horse show much interest was shown in the first class harness horses, owing to the fact that A. G. Vanderbilt's entry had won some prizes. High Tide had captured a blue ribbon, while Portia, driven by Mr. Vanderbilt, had taken a yellow ribbon. This team proved luvincible in the first class and won the blue ribbon, while Mrs. J. B. M. Grosvenor of New York, who had taken a second, won the yellow in this class with Captivation and Inspiration. The red ribbon went to L. L. Biddle of Bryn Mawr, Pa., with Hampton and Belgrade.

Cloche d'Or's Victory.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15. — The feature of Oakland was the victory of Cloche d'Or, a 60 to 1 shot, in the first race, Whoa Bill went to the post a 7 to 10 favorite and appeared to be winning when he bled and fell back. Favorites took three races, and the other two events went to well played horses.

McCarthy and "Dixie Kid" to Fight.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 15.—Papers have been signed for a fight between Jerry McCarthy and the "Dixie Kid" for the welterweight championship of the world. The fight is to take place at Baltimore on Dec. 7. The men are to weigh in at 142 pounds at 4 p. m. on the day of the fight.

Schwarzwald at Latonia.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 15.—Schwarzwald, heavily played, easily captured the steeplechase over the clubhouse course at Latonia. The weight proved too heavy for the odds on favorite, Thornhedge, and he barely got third money.

Actress Struck a Rock.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 15.—While bathing in the surf here Miss Isidore Rush, an actress, was caught by an immense wave and carried into deep water. Assistance was at once hurried to her, but she was unconscious when brought to shore. She remained unconscious for several hours and may die. She probably struck a rock. Milton Heriot, an actor, who endeavored to rescue Miss Bush, was rendered unconscious in the attempt. He was revived after vigorous treatment.

Storm Centered Off Cape Race.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—The fierce southern storm which started off the Florida coast on Saturday and swept up the Atlantic seaboard passed over the maritime provinces yesterday and last night had its center off Cape Race, Newfoundland. The storm in the provinces, particularly along the peninsula of Nova Scotia, was attended with terrific gales and an unusually low barometer, the glass at Halifax showing a mark of 28.6.

Schooner Went Down In a Gale.

PICTOU, Ont., Nov. 15.—The schooner Annie Falconer, owned and sailed by Captain Murney Ackerman of Pictou, went down in the gale Saturday night between the False Bucks island and Timber island. The Falconer was bound from Sodus Point, N. Y., to Pictou with coal. James Sullivan, the mate, after reaching land wandered away and when found by his mates was dead of cold and exposure.

A Revolt of Hottentots.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—Lieutenant General von Trotha, commander in chief of the German forces in German Southwest Africa, announces further defections among the natives. The North Bethany Hottentots, the general says, have revolted and killed four scouts, and the Versabaner Veltschoendrager Hottentots also are reported to be in revolt.

Smallpox at Ann Arbor.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 15.—Seven cases of smallpox have been discovered among the students at the University of Michigan. Six are in the engineering and one in the law departments. Health Officer T. B. Cooley reports that none of the patients is dangerously ill. All the students are being vaccinated and examined for symptoms.

Official Returns From Delaware.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 15.—The official vote of Delaware cast at the recent election is as follows: Roosevelt, 23,714; Parker, 19,360; Swallow, 607; Debs, 146; Watson, 51. Roosevelt's plurality is 4,354. The plurality of Preston Lea (Rep.) for governor was 2,752.

Japanese Loan All Taken Up.

LONDON, Nov. 15. — The subscription list for the new Japanese war loan will be closed at noon today, being already covered several times, though it is understood that applications have been nothing like so great as for the previous issue.

New Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The following fourth class postmasters were appointed yesterday: New York—Commack, David H. Ketcham; Randallsville, Edward W. Arnst. Pennsylvania—Briarton, Andrew F. Large; Mutzig, John F. Johanissohn.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Governor Odell Proclaims Great Material Prosperity.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING AND PRAISE

That Our People and Institutions Shall Continue to Work Out the Destinies of Mankind Should Be Our Prayer.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Governor Odell has issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

"There are no people who have greater cause for rejoicing than those of the state of New York. To the progress of our nation our citizens have contributed, and in its prosperity they have shared. Our harvests have been abundant, labor has been remuneratively employed, our commerce has increased, and in every direction our people have cause for rejoicing.

"In this material prosperity, however, we should recognize something beyond mere accumulation of wealth; beyond mere personal comfort. We should recognize in it the wisdom of God, who has thus given to us ability and means to aid in the furtherance of the cause of religion. That we have been the recipients of his bounty should fill our hearts with praise, and that our people and institutions shall continue to be the instruments for the working out of the destinies of mankind should be our prayer.

"That we may appropriately render thanks and entreat the aid of the Almighty for a continuance of his mercy it is proper that at the close of the year we should refrain for a time from secular occupation and pleasure, and for this purpose and following long established custom I do hereby designate Thursday, Nov. 24, 1904, as a day of thanksgiving and rejoicing. Let the people upon the day thus set apart repair to their respective places of worship and there join in thanksgiving and praise to an all wise God, who has bountifully blessed and greatly prospered us."

Washington Urges Simple Life.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 15.—In an address to the colored citizens delivered here last night Booker Washington said: "Not a few have predicted that on account of the recent election many members of our race would lose their heads, would become unduly pompous, self assertive and generally offensive. With all the earnestness that I can command I want to urge our people in every part of the country to disappoint those who have made such predictions by leading a life of increased usefulness, soberness and simplicity."

Liner Merion Still In the Mud.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—The American line steamship Merion, from Liverpool and Queenstown for this port, which went aground on Chester Island flats, in the Delaware river, fourteen miles below this city, during the severe storm of Sunday afternoon, was still fast in the mud at a late hour last night. The 1,000 passengers, who were compelled to remain on the big liner all night, were taken off by the river steamboat Columbia and landed at the American line pier in this city.

Kingston Isolated by Storm.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Nov. 15.—This city has been isolated from the rest of the world so far as communication by telephone and telegraph is concerned for thirty hours. Last night one telephone and one telegraph wire were in operation. The city has suffered severely from the storm, and the companies furnishing electric light and motive power were operating last night for the first time since Sunday afternoon. Trains on the Ulster and Delaware railroad were stalled.

Reading Cut Off by Storm.

READING, Pa., Nov. 15.—This city is slowly recovering from the effects of the storm. Trolley traffic throughout the city and suburbs was interrupted. Telephone and telegraph wires were disabled, and Reading was practically cut off from the outside world. More than 140 poles were snapped off on the East Penn railroad between Reading and Allentown.

Weinseimer Sentenced For Extortion

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Philip Weinseimer, former president of the Buildings Trade alliance, who was recently convicted of extorting $2,700 from Philip J. Essig, was sentenced to state prison for not less than one year and eight months nor more than two years and eight months by Judge Newburger in the court of general sessions.

A Sentence of Forty-two Years.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 15.—Robert Clayton, who was convicted of murder in the second degree last week in Mercer county court of killing his wife at Princeton, was sentenced by Justice Reed to state prison for forty-two years, thirty years for killing his wife and twelve years for attempting to kill his mother-in-law.

Higgins Indisposed.

BUFFALO, Nov. 15.—Frank W. Higgins has arrived in Buffalo. He has been indisposed since the election. He consulted Dr. Roswell Park, who said Mr. Higgins' condition was not one to excite alarm or even require treatment.

Whale Killed at Brunswick.

BRUNSWICK, Me., Nov. 15.—An eighty foot whale was washed ashore in the great storm here. The monster was brought up while the tide was highest and at low water was stranded on the flats, where it was killed with a rifle.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair and warmer.

FUSHIMI AT CAPITAL

Japanese Special Envoy at the White House.

AN ADOPTED BROTHER OF MIKADO.

Welcomed to America by President Roosevelt—Cassini Resigns Position as Dean For the Time Being.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Prince Fushimi, the adopted brother of the emperor of Japan, arrived in Washington last night at 5:30 and assumed for the first time since his arrival in this country his official personality as prince of the royal house of Japan. The prince comes as a special envoy from the emperor of Japan. He was met at the station by the third assistant secretary of state, Mr. Pierce, who, as the personal representative of the president, bade him welcome to this country. Mr. Hioki, the first secretary of the Japanese legation, and in the absence of the minister charge d'affaires, presented to the prince at the station Baron Kaneko, who is visiting in this country, and Mr. Pierce and Colonel Symonds, U. S. A. The prince thanked them for their cordial welcome and expressed the satisfaction he felt at being in the United States. The procession was then formed outside the car, and Secretary Pierce led the way, with the prince on his arm. The prince and party were driven to the Arlington hotel, where they will stay while in Washington. Preceding the procession of carriages were four mounted policemen, and surrounding the prince and the members of his party were bicycle policemen. In another carriage rode Chief Wilkie of the secret service.

The prince was presented to the president today. He wore his full uniform when calling at the White House and the state department, but wore civilian dress when calling on the foreign ambassadors. The president will return the call of Prince Fushimi this afternoon. On Wednesday Assistant Secretary Loomis will give a luncheon in honor of the prince at the New Willard Hotel. At the invitation of Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador who is dean of the diplomatic corps, Mr. Aspiroz, the Mexican ambassador, will act as dean during the visit of the prince.

Fate of Two Outlaws.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 15.—One outlaw is dead and another is in jail mortally wounded as the result of a desperate battle between cattle thieves and officers near Deeth, Nev. When called upon to surrender the outlaws began firing at the officers. The latter sought shelter, and for twenty minutes a duel continued. Finally McKelvey, one of the outlaws, sprang to his feet and fired. The shot was returned, and McKelvey fell dead. A few minutes later Winslow, another outlaw, surrendered and was found to be mortally wounded.

House Blown Up at Virginia, Minn.

VIRGINIA, Minn., Nov. 15.—A terrific explosion occurred in the rear of the residence of Mayor Fay, and the handsome building is a mass of ruins. No one was injured. Apparently dynamite was placed in the rear of the house with the intention of killing the mayor as well as wrecking his dwelling. For some time past the mayor has been waging a vigorous warfare upon the violators of the saloon law, and many threats have been made against him.

Three American Archbishops.

ROME, Nov. 15.—At the second consistory of the pontificate of Pope Pius X. the postulation of the pallium for three American archbishops took place here. The American dignitaries thus recognized were the Most Rev. S. G. Messmer, archbishop of Milwaukee; the Most Rev. Henry Moeller, archbishop of Cincinnati, and the Most Rev. John J. Glennon, archbishop of St. Louis. The Most Rev. M. F. Howley, archbishop of St. John's, N. F. was also preconized.

Wires Down at Burlington, Vt.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Nov. 15.—After being without communication with the outside world for twenty-four hours a telephone connection between this city and Boston was established at 9:30 o'clock last night. A storm of heavy, wet snow prostrated the telegraph and telephone wire service. Wires are down in many places, and it will be some time before the telegraph companies can resume operations.

Petition President For Curleys.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—A petition addressed to President Roosevelt requesting him to pardon State Representative Thomas F. Curley of this city and Alderman James E. Curley, who are in the Charles street jail, has been put in circulation. The Curleys were sentenced by the United States district court a week ago to serve sixty days for fraud in connection with civil service examinations.

Peace Treaty With Austria.

VIENNA, Nov. 15.—Bellamy Storer, the American ambassador, visited the foreign office here and approached Count Goluchowski on the subject of an arbitration treaty between Austria and the United States. Count Goluchowski replied that his government would gladly discuss a proposition of that nature and said that Austria-Hungary was now negotiating similar treaties with other powers.

Frozen to Death In Virginia.

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 15.—A special from Martinsville, Henry county, Va., says Thomas Richardson, a Henry county magistrate, aged fifty years, froze to death on the public highway.

MONUMENT UNVEILED.

State of Maine Honored Memory of Andersonville Prison Victims.

ANDERSONVILLE, Ga., Nov. 15.—The monument erected by the state of Maine in memory of its soldiers who died during the civil war in prison here has been unveiled. The day was an ideal one for the ceremony of dedication.

The unveiling was by Miss Walton of Augusta, Me., and Miss Postos of Andersonville. Governor Hill of Maine, who was prevented from being here by the illness of Mrs. Hill, was represented by Colonel Prescott of Maine.

Hon. S. J. Walton, chairman of the monument commission, presented the monument to the governor's representative. Levi P. Poop, a member of the commission, who was confined for ten months in Andersonville, was among the speakers. Other speakers were L. C. Morse, Judge E. F. Chase and Hon. W. T. Haynes of Maine. N. T. Purenton, private secretary to Governor Hill, offered prayer.

NINE SCOUTS KILLED.

Filipinos on Samar Coast Ambushed American Troops.

MANILA, Nov. 15.—News has been received here that nine scouts of the Thirty-eighth company and one American attached to the hospital corps have been killed in an ambush on the east coast of Samar.

Lieutenant Winfield Harper and thirty-nine men of Company F, Seventeenth United States infantry, were ambushed on May 9 last on the island of Mindanao. Two officers and fifteen men were killed and five were wounded. General Wood immediately started out to punish the ambushing party, and a week or so later he met the band, which was headed by Datto Olas, a Moro leader, and after a hard fight, in which a number of the Moros were killed, succeeded in breaking up the band.

Olas, with the remainder of his following, went into hiding.

New York For a Time Cut Off.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—With the passing of the severe storm, which prostrated telegraph and telephone wires in all section of the east, New York has turned her attention to reestablishing communication with the rest of the United States. Last night found the city with telegraph and telephone wires to the west, south, north and east, but this does not mean that the damage wrought by the storm has altogether been repaired.

President Halted Inquiry.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—After several spectators of the disturbance at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology on the night of the students' torchlight parade, Nov. 2, had testified here a letter sent by President Prichett requesting an adjournment until he could secure counsel to represent the Institute of Technology at the hearing was received. The request was granted.

No Separate Negro Presbytery.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The New York presbytery, the local governing board of the Presbyterian church, voted against the establishment of a separate presbytery for the colored race by an overwhelming majority at a meeting here. The vote followed a two hour debate, in which Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, John Cox, Robert Booth and others participated.

Cortelyou Will Take a Rest.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national committee, has arrived in Washington and is at his home in Washington heights. He will rest a few days and then return to New York, where he will close some business interests. After that is disposed of he will take a vacation.

Went Over Bank In Automobile.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 15.—Douglass Neare, a well known insurance man, was killed near Coney Island, west of this city, by going over an embankment in his automobile. He was running at a very high rate of speed. Miss Dolores Marlowe, who was riding beside Neare, was so seriously injured that she will die.

Congratulations From Manila.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Secretary Taft presented to the president the cabled congratulations on his election of Major General Henry C. Corbin, military commander in the Philippines. General Corbin cabled also that Douglas Robinson of New York, a brother-in-law of the president, was his guest in Manila.

Miles of Wire Down.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Business here is paralyzed as a result of the storm. All railroads were compelled to run trains without the aid of the telegraph service. Hundreds of poles and miles of wire are still down in this city and in the surrounding country.

Natives Plundered German Mail.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The postoffice authorities announce that all mail sent to Southwest Africa between Oct. 1 and Oct. 10, consisting of nearly 1,000 packages, was lost when the stranded steamer Edythe Hoyne was plundered by natives on the Liberian coast.

Killed by Live Wire.

HUDSON, N. Y., Nov. 15.—William Rowley, an electrician, while on a pole fifty feet in the air was electrocuted by touching a live wire while he was repairing the local fire alarm system.

Bennett In the Holy Land.

JERUSALEM, Nov. 15.—James Gordon Bennett and a party of friends, who are touring on Mr. Bennett's steam yacht Lysistrata in the Mediterranean, have arrived here.

AIRSHIP A FAILURE.

Francois' Flying Machine Gave Way In Midair.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—An accident brought the test flight of the Francois airship to an abrupt termination here after the flying machine had been in the air fifteen minutes, during which its dirigibility was not satisfactorily demonstrated, owing, the inventor said, to the absence of a rudder.

The airship rose to a height of about 100 feet. In the car were H. Hippolite Francois of Paris, inventor and builder of the airship, and H. Schneider, engineer.

Shortly after it rose a sharp breaking noise was heard, and a few seconds later one of the stern propellers struck the upper framework several hard blows, breaking the propeller and splintering several of the under supports. Francois signalled to those on the ground, and the airship was pulled down.

Thaw Says Whole Story Is a Fake.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Henry K. Thaw, who has been in St. Louis visiting the exposition, stopped in Chicago on his way east. He said: "No member or connection of my family in Pittsburg has stated anything or has anything to state concerning the recent newspaper stories about me. All rumors and reports purporting to emanate from Pittsburg during the past month concerning me are absolutely and unqualifiedly false. The $250,000 story is a deliberate fake. Miss Nesbit is a young American actress studying her profession and now home to see her family and friends. She has neither asked nor demanded anything from anybody in any way, and the $250,000 story is a falsehood from beginning to end."

Fire at Knoxville, Tenn.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 15.—The Lawson-McGhee library, a three story brick structure at the corner of Gay street and Vine avenue, was gutted by fire, leaving nothing more than the bare walls standing. On the ground floor of the building was a double store, occupied by the Vance Furniture company. The second floor was devoted to the public library, containing about 15,000 volumes, and the offices of the Commercial club. On the third floor was the Knoxville Business college. The fire originated from the furnace. Firemen saved the surrounding property only after a hard fight. The building was valued at $20,000.

Henry D. Curtiss Unconscious.

BRANFORD, Conn., Nov. 15.—The police have taken charge of the investigation into the sandbagging and robbing of Henry D. Curtiss, the superintendent of the Tidewater Trap Rock company, Saturday night. Mr. Curtiss remains in the same condition, the concussion of the brain being pronounced, although it is probable he will recover. Inspection of the ruins of the building of the company failed to show any deliberate attempt to wreck it with dynamite before the fire was set.

First Steamship Was Destroyed.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—In commemoration of the two hundredth anniversary of the construction of the first steamship a monument will be erected next year in Cassel in honor of Denis Papin, who is said to have built a steamer with which he started in 1705 on a voyage from Cassel for England. His sailors, believing their lives to be endangered, mutinied and destroyed the vessel, an engine cylinder of which is preserved at Cassel.

Fishburn Is Held For Murder.

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 15.—The coroner's jury in the case of Dr. Frederick Lefew, who died here from a knife wound in the breast received at the hands of Charles R. Fishburn, banker and broker, brought in a verdict that death was caused as above stated. Fishburn is in jail to await trial for murder.

TO CAPTURE MUKDEN

Oyama, Re-enforced From Newchwang, to Advance.

PORT ARTHUR MOATS HELD BY JAPS

Lord Selborne Urges Britain to Be Prepared For War—Kuropatkin In Strong Defense Position at the Shakhe River.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—A dispatch from the headquarters of the Third Japanese army in the field, before Port Arthur, says that by a general attack on the eastern fortified ridge the Japanese have gained the moats of the principal forts assailed. These were wider, deeper and stronger than had been supposed and were defended by caponieres or galleries running north of the Keekwan forts. The galleries were captured after desperate fighting under ground.

The Russians still hold parts of the moats, but the Japanese are engaged in sapping to dislodge them, after which the capture of the forts should be easy.

The casualties on the Japanese side in this engagement were 1,000.

Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, speaking at Bristol last night and referring to Russia's having granted Great Britain's just demands, said the crisis just experienced was an occasion for the country to take stock of its defensive organization, and in dealing with this question it was impossible to ignore the rapid march of the Russian empire toward the Indian frontier. It is useless, Lord Selborne said, for a business nation dealing with its liabilities to mince matters. Instead of a vast tract of impassable country separating the two empires Russia had two railways terminating at the Afghanistan frontier, only a matter of 400 miles from the Indian railway. He hoped there never would be war between the two countries, but Britons were bound to consider what the Russian military organization had succeeded in achieving in Manchuria at the end of 6,000 miles of a single track railway line and to govern British military preparations in India accordingly.

The latest indications from the war in the far east point to an early resumption of military operations on a large scale.

Field Marshal Oyama has received heavy re-enforcements from Newchwang and evidently is about ready to wage battle for the possession of Mukden. The Japanese are showing particular activity on their right flank, as if they were contemplating a turning movement from that direction.

General Kuropatkin has fortified his positions along the Shakhe river, and as he seemingly is prepared to accept a battle he doubtless has made dispositions to block a flanking operation.

According to the opinion of the military authorities, his left flank is secure.

A Mukden dispatch says that the Russian army is realizing more fully day by day the enormous task involved in driving back the Japanese. Great hopes, however, are placed on the Russian second Pacific squadron. The troops are now better fed than at any previous period, and the roads are in good condition, enabling re-enforcements to leave the trains at stations higher up the line and march to Mukden, thus relieving the pressure on the railroad.

WILL FIGHT TO BITTER END.

Count Cassini Makes an Emphatic Statement at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—"Russia will pursue the war in the far east to the bitter end—that is, until Russia has conquered."

These are the opening words of an emphatic statement made at the Russian embassy by Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador. Several times recently the ambassador in the name of his government has categorically denied the possibility of any intervention in the war, but the recurrence of rumors that the powers contemplated mediation has caused the ambassador to reiterate on behalf of his government its position regarding intervention or mediation of any kind.

The statement continues:

"I deem it my duty to reiterate what I have so often said, that Russia will not suspend in any case her military operations in the far east. All rumors and reports regarding the possible success of the direct overtures for peace which Japan is said to have made to Russia and regarding the mediation of the powers, in my opinion, are started for the purpose of convincing the public that the end of the war is close at hand. In this way it is hoped that the public may be led to believe that Japanese loans offer attractive investments.
